A black sign with white text is mounted on a stone wall. The sign has a decorative, arched top and contains the following text: "DIAMOND HILL HISTORIC DISTRICT", "Annexed 1870", and "National Register of Historic Places". The sign is surrounded by various plants, including purple and pink flowering bushes and a large green shrub. In the background, there is a black wrought-iron fence and a dense line of trees under a clear blue sky.
