NEWS OF THE WEEK

State—

The 1941 hunting season registered its first fatality in this section of the State Monday when Eugene Lynch, 16, of Franklin county, died Monday morning soon after he was shot while hunting squirrels a mile and a half from Rocy Mouknt. The youth, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lynch, died while enroute to a Roanoke hospital. He had a shotgun charge in the body near the lower left ribs and in the abdomen.

When fifteen new buses arrive on September 10, the remaining street cars in Lynchburg will join the has-beens in transportation along with buggies, carriages, etc. E. F. Lacy, manager of the traction and light company said the buses will go into operation on the West End Line, now served by trolleys, about October 1st.

A large part of the business section of Troutville, thriving Botetourt town on the Lee highway ten miles north of Roanoke, was destroyed by a fire last Thursday morning which gave all the property owners an anxious hour or so until firemen from surrounding communities brought the rapidly spreading flames under control. The damage was estimated at $20,000, with only a small part of the loss covered by insurance.

John Ryland Coleman, better known as "Rattlesnake John," of Nelson county, has announced that he will oppose the Democratic nominee, Robert Whitehead, for the House of Delgates, thus insuring a lively campaign. Mr. Coleman's nickname derives from his "agin the government" attitude, and for years he has run for various offices, sometimes against his own brother, just as a protest against everything that is. In 1931 he defeated the Democratic nominee for the legislature.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, one of the nation's largest apple growers, was host Saturday to more than 2,000 horticulturists from Virginia and several eastern States at his annual orchard picnic at Rosemont farm, near Berryville. Senator Byrd welcomed his guests and reaffirmed his faith in the stability of the orchard industry in the Appalachian area. A boxed picnic lunch, including fried chicken and country cured ham sandwiches, was served at noon by a corps of waiters in the orchard, which contains some 40,000 trees.

A Lee county grand jury Tuesday indicted five persons accused by the State of having part in a snake handling demonstration at a religious meeting in which one Liza Cooper was bitten. They are charged with felonious wounding. Those indicted included the preacher and four others who are alleged to have assisted in the rites.

Beer tax collections for August amounted to $384,724.89, an increase of $119,251.87 over the same month last year, the State tax department reported Tuesday. The August figure was under the July record of $376,909, however, but gave the first two months of this fiscal year a combined increase of $286,260 over the corresponding months of 1940.

Nation—

Four more members of the alleged spy ring rounded up by FBI several months ago entered guilty pleas this week before Federal Judge Marcus Campbell of Brooklyn. Of the 33 persons indicted, 14 have now pleaded guilty to one or both of the counts in the indictment. The remaining 19 are scheduled to go on trial this week. Most of the accused are natives of Germany or of German descent.

A railroad executive told a special Senate investigating committee yesterday that the gasoline situation in the east could be solved in two weeks by use of 20,000 railroad tank cars. J. J. Pelly, president of the Association of American Railroads, told the Senators that such a solution might be worked out at a conference called for today by the petroleum coordinator, R. K. Davis. Pelly said there are plenty of tank cars available to bring 200,000 gallons a week from the oil fields, which is more than the estimated weekly shortage.

Three children in Hempstead, N. Y., died yesterday when a U. S. army pursuit plane crashed in that Long Island town. The plane landed in a busy street and a sheet of flame enveloped the surrounding area when the gas tank exploded and caught fire and the children suffered fatal burns when the flame spread over them. The pilot, lieutenant Roy W. Scott, stuck with his disabled plane until the last minute, attempting to get it back to the landing field, but was forced to bail out when it had dropped to an elevation of 700 feet. He landed in a tree and was unhurt.

A survey by the Associated Press of the week-end-Labor Day holiday accident fatalities placed the total at slightly more than 600, but full reports are not yet in. During the same three days last year 514 persons were killed. Deaths on the highways, as usual, led all the rest, but drownings claimed 65 victims and about 125 died from stabbings, gunshot wounds, falls, plane crashes and other miscellaneous causes. An all time high was set for the holiday period this year.

German Advance Apparently Halted On Eastern Front

Russian "Scorched Earth" Policy Leave Little of Value for Nazis

Over against the usual victory claims coming out of Berlin, Moscow insists there has been no German advance in the past seven days. Indeed, the Red army command says that counterattacks have driven the invaders back on the central front where the Nazis are trying to reach the Soviet capital. According to Berlin, Leningrad, chief Russian city in the north and old Czarist capital, is about to fall, but Moscow says the invaders are no nearer than they were a week ago.

On the southern end of the long front the invaders have occupied all of southern Ukraine east of the Dneiper river except the city of Odessa, chief port, on the Black sea, which the Nazis beseiged nearly three weeks ago. At that time Berlin predicted the city would surrender in a day or two, but it is still in Russian hands, with the German making only slow advance, if any. The Reds report that life in the big port is almost normal, with all lines of business in full operation and even the theatres open and well patronized. The garrison, the size of which is not known, has been ordered to hold the city at all costs, and apparently is doing a pretty good job of it. Odessa can be approached by land only from the north and there only over a marshy terrain, bisected with water channels, and the Nazis have set themselves a hard job in its capture.

When this war broke out the Russians adopted the old time-honored policy of destroying everything as they fell back so as to leave the enemy nothing he could use, and all reports from the front indicate they are doing a more thorough job of it this time than usual. The invaders found the cities, towns and the countryside laid waste, with everything destroyed that could not be carried away by the retreating armies. The Ukraine, rich grain area, was expected by the Germans to yield food supplies, but, as one writer expressed it, a bird would starve to death trying to live off the country as the Red army destroyed everything as it fell back before the German advance. Crops that could not be harvested were destroyed, and all industrial plants that could have served the enemy in any way were demolished.

Typical of this "scorched earth" policy was the demolition of the great Dneiperstoy dam across the wide Dnieper river and the huge hydro electric plant which generated power for a large industrial area. To generate electric current and to improve navigation of the river, this huge dam and plant were built at a cost of $110,000,000 and was the keystone of the entire central Ukraine industrial center. It furnished current for 16,000,000 people in a 70,000-square-mile area, and was the joy and pride of the Soviet Union.

But the entire system—dam, power houses, locks, canals everything—was deliberately destroyed to prevent it falling into the hands of the Germans, who would have used it for some kind of war purpose. Elaborating on the "scorched earth" policy, a Russian spokesman said that when Germany overran countries in the west she was strengthened by the loot taken, whereas, even in retreat, the Russians are hindering the invader. "There in the west factories, supplies, ammunition and equipment were seized by the Germans, strengthening them," he said. In the occupied territory in France, for instance, the manufacture of planes and arms is going on in addition to what is being made in Germany. Here they get neither raw materials nor plants nor food supplies."

German hopes of seizing the Ukraine's crops "came to naught," the Red spokesman said. "The populace removed or wrecked tractors, combines and trucks and hid enough food for their own use. The Germans will get nothing in Russia," he concluded.

It is generally believed that the Germans, during the coming winter, will shift their main effort to the far south and attempt to reach the rich oil fields in the Caspian Sea area and in Iran, but if the Russians pursue the "scorched earth" policy there, as they doubtless will, the Nazis will find the fields wrecked, and useless for many months to come. It was announced in both Berlin and Rome this week that Mussolini had spent five days with Hitler on the eastern front and the report from the Italian capital stated that the talks were mainly about supplies, and oil in particular, indicating that the German war machine may be threatened with a shortage of this vital fuel.

Last Thursday the army of Iran, after making a three-day token resistance to the invading British and Russian forces, gave up the fight and a settlement has been arranged under which the German residents, the presence of whom brought on the trouble, will either be sent out of the country or interned, and the invading forces will take over protection of the oil fields and transportation system. Occupation of the country furnished a point of contact for the British and Russians and supplies can now be sent the latter through Iran, or old Persia.

To counteract this move of the Allies, Berlin is reported to be exerting pressure on the Turks to permit passage of German forces either through Turkey or Turkish territorial waters along the Black Sea coast. The outbreak of this war found Turkey allied to Great Britain and that alliance

Radford Honored at State Convention

DuVal Radford, who was recently appointed by the State Executive committee of the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia to fill the unexpired term of A. Guy Hope, National Committeeman, was unanimously elected to this office to serve the ensuing full two-year term by the State convention of the clubs held in Roanoke Friday and Saturday. Mr. Radford also served as toast master at the banquet on Saturday evening and introduced one of the main speakers of the evening, Brigadier-General James A. Anderson, head of the Virginia state highway commission. The other principal speaker, Fulton Lewis, Jr., Washington, D. C. radio commentator, was introduced by R. Nelson Dickinson, of Roanoke.

J. D. S. Morgan, president of the local county club, attended the two day session of the convention. Others present as delegates during all or part of the convention were Misses Hannah and Virginia Saunders, M. L. Richardson, Senator and Mrs. G. E. Heller.

Richard S. Wright, of Woodstock, was elected president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia, in the Saturday session. Other officers who will serve with Mr. Wright include Leonard K. Baber, Richmond; Garland Moss, Mecklenburg county; Page Morton, Charlotte county; and Walter I. Young, Alenandria, vice presidents; Lewis McMurran, Newport News, secretary; Jesse Wilson, Charlottesville, college secretary; Miss Addie Munsey, Bland, national committeewoman.

The question of age limit in the Young Democratic clubs which has been the source of much criticism was brought up at the convention on Saturday when a committee which has been studying the question for two years made its report. Clay Church, of Marion, presented the majority report of the committee which, after considerable discussion, was adopted by a voice vote.

The committe's recommendations for amendments to the organization's constitution provide that members of clubs chartered before January 1, 1943, (whose age limits are now 18 to 45,) can continue to be members in good standing until January 1, 1947, when the age limit will become 40. Members over that age then will be eligible to become honorary members. Members who join clubs after January 1, 1943, will have to be 40 or younger.

20 Men Leave for Camp This Week

14 Whites and Six Negroes Will Be Inducted Today And Friday

Twenty young men of military age have been notified by the local draft board to report to Bedford this week for induction into the army, fourteen whites to go this (Thursday) morning and six Negroes will leave Friday. The whites listed to go are: Samuel Carlton Bates, Marvin James Walker, Chester Powell Wright, Carl Lohmo Falls, Nelson Frank Marshall, Wesley Peters Nance, Hubert Wilson St. Clair, Zollie Allen Anderson, Charles Edward Harris, Theodore McKinley Thomas, Claude Milton Phillips, Steward Branzelle Loyd, Alfred Meadows Anderson, Robert William Thompson. The Negroes to report Friday are: Matthew Barlow, Mose Burrell, Edward Pullen, Maurice Wells, Robert Junion Williams, William Rudolph Wright.

It was stated at the board office this week that questionnaires have been mailed to most of the young men who registered in July and that a majority of them have been returned and are now awaiting classification by the board. The list of older men who registered last October has not been exhausted, but the old and new registrants were mixed so as to put the new on the same footing as the old, making young men who became of age before July 1st just as liable for service as those who registered nearly a year ago.

Members of the Bedford county draft board have expressed approval of the new plan for inducting young men into the army in the third corps area, which it is believed will be of great help and convenience to the men. The plan involves the use of traveling induction teams to replace the induction stations which now examine men who have been called by their local draft boards.

Under the new plan, traveling induction teams, composed of physicians and dentists, will be established to tour Virginia and Maryland, making it unnecessary for men drafted to report to the present three induction centers, Baltimore, Richmond and Roanoke. The team, by visiting a number of counties in each State, will shorten the distance the men will have to travel for their final physical examination.

Under the present method the men are examined by the local medical board and those certified for training are notified when to report for service. They are sent to the induction center in Roanoke, where another physical examination is given and the records show that about one-third are rejected for various reasons and most returned home. Some of the men, thinking they are definitely in the army, resign their positions, sell their car and otherwise make plans for at least a year's absence, only to find themselves rejected at the induction center. It is to avoid all this that the new plan has been decided upon, the object being, not to save money, but to make everything as easy and convenient for the young men as possible.

Thaxton Girl Killed in Automobile Crash

Miss Edith Jenkins Fatally Injured in Moseley Bridge Wreck

Miss Edith Jenkins, 19, of Thaxton, was fatally injured last Friday evening about 7:00 o'clock when the car in which she was riding was wrecked at Moseley Bridge, three miles west of Bedford. She was first brought to the John Russell hospital here, where it was found that she had suffered a severe fracture of the skull and, accompanied by Dr. J. G. Jantz, was taken in an ambulance to the University hospital, Charlottesville, but death occurred half an hour after arriving there.

Lester Montgomery, of Roanoke, driver of the car, was badly hurt and was brought to the hospital here. Miss Claudine Jenkins, sister of the girl killed, escaped serious injury. State Officer J. H. Barnes investigated the wreck and stated that apparently young Montgomery attempted to run around another car, driven by Barney Burnette, of Forest, and that the bumpers of the two machines became locked, throwing the Montgomery car off the highway into a field. The officer expressed the opinion that Miss Jenkins received the fatal injury when she was thrown partly out of the car, her skull being crushed when the rear wheel passed over her head.

Miss Jenkins was a daughter of Mrs. Bruce Burnette, of Thaxton, and was born in Floyd county.

The body was taken to Roanoke where funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Belmont Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Poole, and Rev. C. M. Roberson, of Thaxton, with interment in Fairview. Pallbearers were Thomas Oyler, Leroy Updike, Henry Cabell, Ellis Thomas, Dillard Hall and Clarence Stanley. Flowerbearers were Lois Burnette, Magdaline Hall, Edna Turner, Irene Smallwood, Vernelle Johnson, Frances Turner, Lois Canada and Elsie Campbell.

New Highway for Amherst County

An alternate route from Lynchburg to Natural Bridge was provided by the State highway department Saturday when ten miles of Route 130 was taken into the primary system. This mileage is from Pedlar Mill to Snowden and the road from Route 29, just north of Lynchburg, to Pedlar Mill is now under construction.

It has been known for several years that the highway department was looking for another route for the Lynchburg-Natural Bridge highway, particularly that section over Locke Mountain on toward Big Island for several miles. To eliminate this winding, dangerous road, surveys were made in Bedford county, but the action of the commission Saturday indicates it was not found and so the decision was reached to build along the route across the river which was advocated by Amherst county before the road over Locke Mountain was decided upon. The present route will not be abandoned, of course, and because of its attractiveness from a scenic standpoint will remain in popular favor except in bad weather.

Life Savers Receive Emblems and Pins

The life saving and water safety course given by the Bedford County Chapter American Red Cross and instructed by Richard E. Wood, has come to a close. Those attending the 15 class periods of 2 hours duration and passing the examination on class work, knowledge test, and practical work are the following: Randolph Brent, Senior Life Saver; William Marshall, Callaway Brown, J. D. Smith, Thomas Carneal, Jr., Raymond Karnes, Junior Life Savers.

Gus Welch Signs To Coach Roanoke

Gus Welch, colorful Indian who was a star football player at Carlisle and later coached colleges from coast to coast, agreed to terms to coach the Roanoke professional football team this week, Colonel John L. Godwin, business manager of the Dixie league entry announced.

Welch will report this afternoon and direct the Roanoke pros in a practice which will start at 5:30. Additional practice will be held Friday and Saturday afternoons, and Sunday morning and afternoon.

George Wolfe Furnishes Facts on August Weather

August being the sixth month of the old Roman calendar, was originally called, "Sextilis." The name was changed to August in honor of Augustus Caesar, who established law and order in Rome after the confusion and anarchy following the assassination of Julius Caesar.

Augustus Caesar became emperor after he conquered the combined armies of Mark Anthony and Cleopatra.

Getting back to the month of August, 1941, the Bulletin has gleaned the following facts from a report from the Elks National Home, who are the official local weather observers for Bedford County.

The average temperature for the month was 75½ degrees, which is normal. While we experienced many hot days during the month, this was offset by many pleasant, cool mornings. The highest temperature was on the 9th with a high of 97 degrees. The coolest morning was on the 14th, with a low of 47 degrees. Of rainfall, we had two and one-half inches, just two inches short of normal. Two rather severe electrical storms occurred during the month. The most severe was on the afternoon of the 12th,, when a man at Big Island was not fatally injured by lightning and a large ash tree at the Elks National Home was struck. On the night of the 26th there was rather a sharp display of lightning and thunder. We enjoyed 14 clear days and 17 partly cloudy days during the month. There were no totally cloudy days. The month closed dry and hot with high humidity. The thermometer regestering 95 degrees and the humidity 60 degrees.

Six Are Injured in Series of Accidents

Four Members of One Family Sent to Hospital by Crash Saturday

In a series of automobile wrecks in the past few days half a dozen people have been sent to hospitals for treatment, these being in addition to the fatal wreck at Moseley Bridge Friday. Mrs. Kerfort Padgett and three children, Christine, Jack and Gerald Padgett, were sent to the John Russell hospital Saturday evening for treatment of injuries received in a wreck at the Forks, a mile east of town on Route 460. Gerald Padgett suffered a fractured skull and was in a critical condition for several days, but is now recovering. Mrs. Padgett, who suffered severe shock, caused, it was thought by internal injuries, is reported to be improving slowly, but is still in the hospital. Christine and Jack were not badly hurt and were allowed to return home the following day after having received treatment for slight concussions and lacerations about the head.

State Officer Gordon Coleman stated that the wreck occurred when the car driven by Mrs. Padgett was struck by a machine driven by Ben Clarke, of White Marsh, Md., as she was making a left turn. The car was only slightly damaged, it was stated.

J. H. Tolker, of Richmond, was injured in an accident near Bedford Saturday when the car in which he was riding left the road and he was thrown against the window, suffering bad cuts on his arm. The wreck occurred, stated Officer Barnes, when the car got out of control while running around a truck.

John Fuqua, son of G. W. Fuqua, suffered a crushed elbow, broken collar bone and broken nose when he was hit by a car while walking along Route 460 just east of the Forks early Tuesday morning. He was taken to the John Russell hospital for treatment.

Officer Coleman, who investigated, said that the driver of the car which struck Fuqua is unknown, though he went to a house close by, following the accident, to call for a doctor and then drove away without giving his name. The injured man was picked up by another motorist and brought to the hospital.

Railroad Will Run Under Highway

For a number of years the railroads, with help from the Federal and State governments, have been eliminating grade crossings by building underpasses for vehicle traffic. At Blue Ridge, on the western edge of Bedford county, this usual process is being reversed by running the railroad under the highway. Ever since the Blue Ridge Stone Corporation began operations there the track over which stone from the quarry is hauled to the crushers has cut across the highway, and "Peg," the watchman, has been a familiar figure to motorists for a score of years. Traffic was never held up for more than a few minutes by the dinkie engine and train of small cars, but in building the new three-lane highway it was decided to do away with even this small interruption and a concrete tunnel for the train is now being built under the roadway.

Roanoke Livestock Market

Lambs, $12.20; veal calves, $13.00; fat hogs, $11.80; fat steers, $10.30; fat heifers, $8.95; fat cows, $7.50; fat bulls, $5@$8.80; stockers and feeders, $7.00@$10.00; fresh cows, $25.00@$75.00 head; old poor cows, $4.00@$6.20 cwt.

Schools all Set For Opening Monday

Officers Chosen By Association

At an organization meeting held in the court house yesterday afternoon, plans were completed for changing the former Bedford County Tuberculosis committee into a full fledged association corresponding to the state and national orgaizations. A constiotution and by-laws were adopted forming the Bedford County T. B. Association of Virginia. Mrs. Adelaide B. Mason, field worker for the state, and Miss Virginia Beckner, state nurse, were present at the meeting.

Officers were elected as follow: duVal Radford, president; Andrew C. Gleason, first vice-president; Mrs. W. O. McCabe, second vice-preident; B. D. Murray, treasurer; Mrs. W. W. Berry, Jr., executive secretary.

A meeting of the board of direcrectors, which is composed of the present county district chairmen, offioers and members at large (to be elected,) will be called in the near future in order to get active work in the county started.

Aluminum Campaign Nets 250,067 Pounds

The State Defense Council reported last week that Virginia went over the top in its scrap aluminum collection for national defense by contributing 250,067 pounds, when the quota was 240,000 pounds. Four of the eight defense regions exceeded their quotas, while the other four fell below the amounts it was estimated they should give. The Radford district, of which Bedford is a part, exceeded its quota by approximately 14,000 pounds.

J. H. Wyse, former resident highway engineer in Bedford and now assistant coordinator of the State Defense Council, praised the spirit of Virginians in giving their pots and pans in the interest of defense, and also commended the highway department for its part in hauling the piles of scrap metal from counties and towns to the various concentration points. "Everybody cooperated," he said. "The cities did a good job and the counties and towns did equally well."

Convictions Made By the Trial Justice

In trial justice court last Friday, Ira Kitchen was convicted on three charges of selling home brew and on each was fined $5 and given 30 days in jail. He noted appeals to the Circuit Court. The charges were preferred by State Officer E. A. Newman.

C. A. Huddleston, of Goodview, was convicted of shooting at Elsie, George and Herman Jordan, colored, on August 22 and was sentenced to twelve months in jail.

A study of the records of the trial justice court for August furnishes evidence that officers, both county and state, were active in their efforts to enforce the traffic laws, as more than three-fourths of all the criminal cases heard were on charges of breaking some traffic law. During the month out of a total of 59 convictions in criminal cases, 48 were for doing something unlawful with an automobile and in 14 other such cases the accused were acquitted for lack of sufficient evidence. That the laws covering speeding and reckless driving are being enforced so far as the limited number of patrolmen will permit, is shown by the fact that 20 of the convictions were for reckless driving or speeding.

In Mayor's court Tuesday Hanford Cardwell was convicted of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $25. The police testified that he flourished a gun during a quarrel Saturday night.

Wright Reunion to Be Held Sunday

After an absence of seventeen years, James A. Wright, of Enid, Oklahoma, is visiting relatives in the Stewartsville community and in honor of his presence the family reunion will be held there Sunday. Mr. Wright, now 80 years old, left Bedford 59 years ago, or in 1882, and his last visit to his old home county was in 1924.

Loans Available on Small Grain

The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration is now accepting applications for loans on fall grain. Loans up to $400.00 on the basis of not to exceed $8.00 per acre on wheat and rye and $6.00 per acre on other grains are available to those who are eligible for a loan. The rate of interest is 4 per cent. It is the policy of this office to cooperate closely with the AAA program and County Extension Service and to encourage the planting of the best type of seed.

Tyree C. Wright, Field Supervisor, will be at the county agent's office in Bedford on September 8, and 15 between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. for the purpose of accepting applications. If you are interested in a loan of this kind, and it is not convenient for you to meet Mr. Wright at that time, you can write him at Box 717, Lynchburg, Virginia. His office is located at room 310, Post Office Building, Lynchburg, Virginia.

S. S. HYLTON, County Agent.

Large Enrollment Expected by Board

County Schools Will Operate on Eastern Standard Time

All schools in Bedford county, white and colored, town and rural, will open for the 1941-42 term Monday, with indications that enrollment will be equal to if not larger than for the last term. As there has been some confusion respecting time and age, Superintendent A. G. Cummings wishes patrons in the county to understand that the the schools will be operated on standard time rather than on daylight saving time, and that beginners will not be enrolled unless their seventh birthday comes on or before February 1, 1942. The Bedford municipal school board, in charge of public schools in town, have a different ruling from the county board on the subject of age, and Mr. Cummings requests that parents of first year pupils in the county, give their cooperation by not presenting their young children unless their seventh birthday comes on or before February 1st.

The list of principals and teachers for both white and colored schools have been completed and is as follows:

BUILD A BRIDGE

At first there was no bridge.

On either side of the wide river people lived. But those on the far side and those on the near didn't know each other. They had no way to trade happiness or help or friendship. Each was the poorer because no highway lay between them.

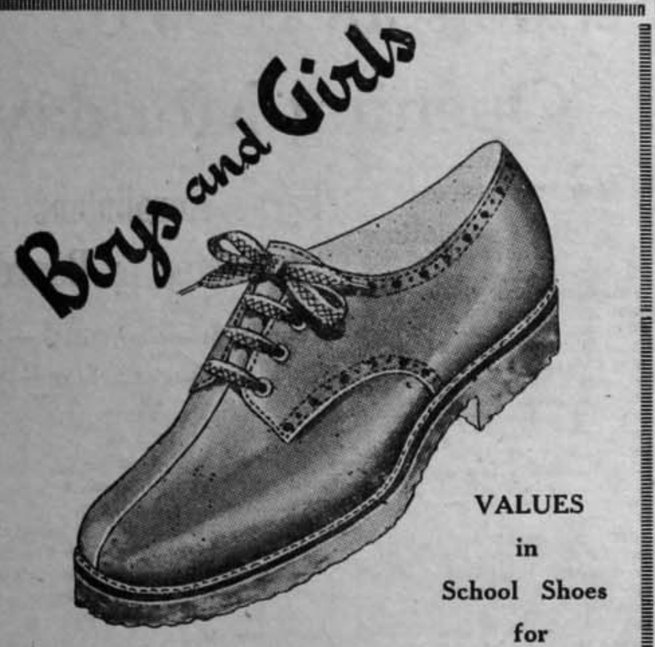

But a bridge builder came. Across the river, reaching to the far shore, he made his bridge—a thing of substance, solid and lasting. And at once the people on the far side and those on the near became one people. Across the bridge flowed an exchange of all the good things that each possessed. Over the bridge moved friendship, understanding, affection and mutual regard.

You can build a bridge too.

Send across your bridge a smile of happiness, a word of cheer, a bit of homey chat. Remember that the bridge runs two ways. Back across it will come multiplied all that you send.

Whether called lightning war or total war, it will undoubtedly bear application of General Sherman's remark.

College education for women is futile. If they're pretty, it's unnecessary; if they are not it's adequate.

ARE BABIES HUMAN

Are babies human?

Well, yes and no—and that goes for scientists as well as for parents, whose identity as "people" was questioned some years ago.

The question was raised recently at the Institute of the Society for Social Research in session at the University of Chicago.

The question is the basis of a long-standing argument between baby doctors and sociologists, with the latter winning the battle.

Dr. Ruth P. Koshuk of the University of Chicago sociology department said:

"It poses the problem of heredity versus environment."

The sociologists emphasize the importance of environment in creating the attitutes, habits and opinions of Snookums, contending:

"Man is not born human and what is called 'human personality' is built up slowly."

The modern child doctor contends that babies "are human beings," and in support emphasizes the individual differences among young children.

The parents? Right after Snookums has had his bottle and is cooing, father will soutly maintain he is definitely human.

Rabbit Keeps Dogs Away

Peter Rabbit, a 10-year-old carrot and grass eater owned by Clifford Bach of Tacoma, Wash., chases dogs. If a stray dog so much as puts his nose through the back fence, Pete backs up and sprays gravel in his face, then tosses a blow with his hindkickers. Mrs. Bach had to give a passer-by a glass of water one day when he saw the rabbit chasing a dog.

INDEPENDENCE

The 4th quarterly conference of the Huddleston Methodist circuit will be held here next Saturday, Sept. 6th, Dr. H. P. Clark, district superintendent, will be in charge of the services. We hope to have a good delegation from each of the other four churches; and we hope that each church will have a good report of the year's work and that the coming year will be even greater in spiritual work for the churches.

Mrs. J. D. Wood, who has been on the sick list for the past few weeks, is improving.

Mrs. R. L. Crouch and daughter Cora, of Roanoke, are visiting in the homes of R. W. West and J. D. Wood, and will visit other relatives.

Miss Beulah Laughon, of Lynchburg, is spending this week at her home here, on her vacation and will attend the tobacco festival at South Boston this week.

Sunday visitors at J. J. Laughon's were: O. G. Laughon and family, Willis Herndon and Albert Brown, all of Axton. R. T. Hackworth and children, Misses Dora and Margaret Body, all of Lynchburg; Ward Laughon, of Virginia Beach; Miss Katherine Tate of tLynchburg, Mrs. R. W. Lee and daughters, also Mrs. William Burton, all of Lynch's Station and Altavista; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Arthur, of Huddleston.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Crouch, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Newman and daughter, Phyllis, of this place visited relatives in North Carolina recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Woodford and children spent several days last week at Ocean View. On their return home they bought several unusually large watermelons right off the vines and treated all the folks to a watermelon feast on Saturday evening at their home near Huddleston, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Jesse Nichols, of Moneta. We extend sympathy to his family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. West called on the latter's uncle, Jim Johnson, recently.

Best wishes for the Bulletin and its many readers, both at home and in other states, as the Bedford Bulletin follows old friends wherever they go.

City Sucker

A New York City native, employed af the government arsenal, at Waternbet, N. Y., was encouraged by fellow workers to believe a large insect buzzing about the shop was a rare and valuable "steel borer"— capable of eating through metal. The New Yorker bought the insect for $15 from a co-worker who dared to catch it. The Union College professor to whom he tried to make a sale informed him it was an ordinary June bug.

HITLER RULES MOST OF EUROPE AS WAR ENTERS THIRD YEAR

Adolf Hitler at the beginning of the third year of war rules nearly all of Europe, including a piece of Russia bigger than pre-war Germany—but the Russian soil may prove to be quicksand.

In the second year of warfare the German luftwaffe failed to smash England or the royal air force in steady bombings that leveled whole sections of cities and buried thousands of victims. But Nazi troops overran Yugoslavia and Greece, occupied Rumania and Bulgaria, struck deep into Russia.

Reds Stood Firm

The Germans' attack on their treaty friend, Russia, on June 22, was sudden and without the usual German press buildups. After German troops crashed across the frontier, the world was told the Russians had harbored aggresive designs on the Reich.

The political props under Communist Russia did not collapse as the Germans had hoped. Nor did the Red army organization break down. Now the campaign promises to extend into the winter, since the British and Russians have invaded Iran to open a joint front and supply line.

Countless thousands of Germans and Russians graves and the skeletons of burned and bombed cities stretch eastward from Poland into the Russion interior. The Soviets continue to muster their military and civilian millions for a fight to the death.

Rumania, Hungary, Italy, Slovakia and Finland quickly joined this anti-Communist crusade. Spain and France have contributed a few volunteers. They—especially France—have contributed something else, an upsurge in the opposition to the conqueror.

Latest act in the drama of resistance to German rule within France was the shooting of Pierre Laval, (long the leader of the faction favoring complete collaboration with Germany) and three other collaborationists.

U. S. in Unique Role

The United States, in a unique nonbelligerant role, actively is aiding the British empire, Russia, China and a host of refugee governments while at the same time keeping a watchful eye on Japan.

The United States plans to hold both political and military staff talks in Moscow and Chunking. Both the United States and Britain made it clear that their aid to Russia did not acknowledge the Communist way of life, but was a realistic means of combating Nazi Germany.

Conquered European nations forced to work for the Nazi machine are stirring with unrest and rebellion. Hunger and hatred are the prod, sabotage the weapon. Reports of famine and pestilence increase.

The Vichy government of France is pledged to help Germany reshape the world and her allies believe France eventually will throw her military resources into the fight although the aged Marshal Petain has pledged never to do this.

Thousands of Frenchmen have been jailed, some executed, for defying Vichy and Berlin. Hostages have been seized for execution by German firing squads in any number the Nazis choose should the disorders and sabotage continue.

In one year the Vichy regime has killed the French parliament, broken with Britain, jailed former French leaders on war guilt charges, and instituted an authoritarian regime with British-hating Admiral Jean Darlan as vice-premier in full charge of the empire police and military forces.

Italy's Mussolini first tried and failed "to break Greece's back" in an invasion last October that back-fired into Albania. Not until Germany set her troops in motion last April did the little country collapse.

Italy Has Lost Ground

Since Italy entered the war along side Germany when France was down and bleeding, she has lost more than she has gained. Her east African empire fell to British arms. Her projected invasion of Egypt was routed across the sands of Libya with houdreds of thousands of her men captured or killed. German aid put her back at the western frontier of Egypt once more.

Her navy has been ripped apart by the British. German troops and officials are quartered on Italian soil, and the country long has been regarded by many as merely another Nazi captive.

The British tried and failed to help Greece and Yugoslavia last April. A pro-British coup d'eat in Yugoslavia seized power from a government that had agreed to join the axis. Little Greece had her hands full holding off a numerically superior Italian army. Germany conquered both Yugoslavia and Greecein less than a month.

Hitler's parachutist's next seized the island of Crete from British and Greek troops.

A pro-axis government seized power in oil-rich Iraq, and German planes utilized French Syrian bases to send aid to Iraq. The British and free French took over both Iraq and the Syrian mandates in brief campaigns.

The United States has taken long defense strides in the last year, acquiring naval and air bases in Iceland, Greenland, and on down the eastern coast to South America. Its first peacetime draft army has been raised, it has enacted the huge British aid bill as democracy's arsenal, has frozen axis credits, expelled German and Italian consuls and seized refugee axis ships.

One of its main contributions to the battle of the Atlantic has been the establishment of a U. S. naval patrol between here and Iceland.

Japan's action in taking over bases in southern French Indo - China brought swift parallel economic action by the United States, the Dutch East Indies and the British. They froze Japanese credits, severed relations on nearly all trade and warned Japan against further military pentration.

The Japanese had joined the axis on Sept. 27, 1940, and just before the German attack on Russia had concluded a friendship pact with their old enemy, Russia. Now the rare restive under these opposing commitments, and irked by American ships carying suplies to the Russian eastern Siberian port of Vladivostok—right on Japan's doorstep.

Jap Drive Bogged Down

The Japanese war with China is boged down—now in its fifth year. Chinese strength is growing with American and British aid. Prime Minister Churchill has pledged British aid to the United states in case of an American-Japanese clash.

The British have poured men and equipment into Singapore; the United States has put the Philippine army under U. S. comamnd and has deployed its naval strength in the Pacific.

American-built planes fly over Malayan jungles, over African wastes, over Berlin and soon no doubt they will be on the Russian front.

The bombers fly non- stop across the North Atlantic direct to the British fighting front.

Such is the picture two years after the European war began in Poland. Like the World war of 1914 to 1918 it steadily has spread, but otherwise there were marked differences at the coresponding stages of the two conflicts.

The 2-year mark i nthe World War found the allies and Germany locked in a disastrous war of position and attrition on the Somme river in France. Italy and Japan then were British allies. President Woodrow Wilson still clung to neutrality. Britain had just tested at the front her new secret weapon, the tank. The airplane was an infant war instrument.

The machine-gun invention of an American, Hiram Maxim, had stalemated the war into a murderous trench fight. The British, inspired by another American's invention, Benjamin Holt's farm tractor, conceived the tank as a menas of breaking the deadlock.

Ironically the Germans were to use the tank heavily 24 years later to destroy the French and British armies in Flanders.

Last Russian Effort

The Rusian general, Brusilov in August, 1916, began his spectacular offensive against Germany and Austria—the last major Russian effort to relieve the alies before exhaustion and revolution swept Russia.

The drive had brilliant initial results until Germany reacted and crushed it.

The allies then saw Russia's huge steamroller their biggest hope of victory. The same belief exists today although British leaders say such reasoning is dangerous.

The Germans now are reported buying skis, fur coats and other equipment for a winter campaign.

The snows and scorched-earth policy of the Russians once beat Napoleon, and the Russians today say the same policy will defeat Hitler.

DRIVERS ARE ASKED TO REDUCE DRIVING SPEED

Governor Price has recommended to local governing bodies and private business that they follow the state's example in reducing the speeds of their motor vehicles in the interest of conserving gasoline and promoting highway safety.

The governor has issued an executive order fixing maximum speeds for state-owned cars and trucks at 45 and 35 miles an hour, respectively, rates 10 miles an hour below the legal limits. The order of course, does not apply to the operation of such vehicles as police cars on emergency assignments.

He stated that the alarming rate of highway fatalities was a reflection upon the people and that reducing the speed of vehicles should tend to reduce the death rate.

Mr. Price said the eight regional defense councils would be requested to cooperate in soliciting statewide observance of the reduced speeds.

"I hope," he said, "that private industry and the public at large will fall in with this suggestion to reduce the speed of passenger cars to 45 miles an hour and of trucks to 35 miles-an-hour.

REMINDS US OF JACK AND THE BEAN STALK

A. D. Hollins, near Stewartsville, reports that when a thrifty looking bean vine decided to climb he staked it up. It soon reached the top of the stake and was such a fine specimen another stake was added, and when it hopped this one, a cord was stretched to the house top. At present the vine is reported to be 17½ feet high and has produced 307 large pods of beans. The variety is not known.

A birthday dinner was given Mrs. Ida Keesee at her home near Lynch's Station, Sunday, August 24, in honor of her 67th birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Keesee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Keesee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thelsie Cundiff and family, Mrs. L. B. Cundiff, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thelsie Keesee and child, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Keesee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keesee and family, Jack Roberts of Bedford, Enos Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hall, Miss Rosa Hall and Mrs. Mary Roach.

A Skunk Tale

When one of the farm women near Union continued to find the cream skimmed off milk in jars placed in a cooling box at a spring house, she wondered. She put the crocks on a table, and still the cream disappeared even though she covered the crocks with a plate. She decided to watch. She heard a plate fall and hurrying to the spot saw four young skunks on their hindlegs lapping cream. The thieves, which the woman described as cute, hastended into a nearby den.

One of the biggest differences between dogs and men is that when a dog doesn't like you he never lets on that he does.

Sarver Reunion

A Reunion was held at the home of George H. Sarver, of Goodwins Ferry, Va., Sunday, August 31st. Dinner was served picnic style, consisting of every thing good to eat. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sarver, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sarver, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sarver, Mr. and Mrs. Everette Scott and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Minor Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. French Long and two daughters, and Evelyn Kerr, all of Goodwins Ferry. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spangler and child, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Gillaspie and two children, of Rich Creek. Miss Jean Light, Christiansburg. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sarver and two children and Gerlean, Gertrude and Douglas Sarver, of Parrott. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Server and two children, Mrs. Harry Regula, of Youngstown, Ohio, Miss Fannie Sarver, Roanoke; Walter Sarver, Camp Pendleton; Mrs. R. N. Willard, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Elon Johnson and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Johnson, Mrs. Harry Goins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sarver, Appomattox; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sarver, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter and two children, Mrs. Henry Phillips and two children, Carl Sarver, Miss Helen Sarver Bedford, Route 2 and Mrs. Evie Ruff, Bedford.

Powell Reunion

On August 23 Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powell and family, of Bedford, Route 1, gathered at the home of their son, Raymond Powell, near Huddleston, for a family reunion, having all their children and grandchildren present; the first time all the family have been together for five years. Those present: Leslie Powell, of Fort Story; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Powell and two sons; Misses Estelle and Irene Powell, Thomas and George Powell, Olin Wheeler, Mrs. W. C. Eubank and two sons; Henry and Richard St Clair, all of Bedford; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Powell.

Late in the evening a delicious picnic supper was spread and every one enjoyed the many good things to eat, consisting of chicken, pickle, sandwiches, pies, cakes, salads, fruit and watermelons.

At a late hour all returned to their homes, declaring they had a most delightful time. It was a real surprise to Raymond, who knew nothing of their coming.

Hold Seay Reunion

Descendants of David Patterson Seay and Amanda Kidd Seay held a reunion Sunday at Sunnyside Farm, Route 1, Lynchburg, hame of the youngest son, John Daniel Seay, and Mrs. Seay. Picnic dinner was served on long tables under the beautiful oak trees.

Robert Amonette offered a prayer for continued health of the group and Frank Cash gave reminiscences of old times, concluding with a poem called The Old Mill and dedicated to the old water mill owned by David Patterson Seay. Members of the family recalled happy hours spent in the mill and at the stream which turned the great water wheel during their childhood. Announcement was made concerning the death of Lord and Lady Stamp in London and the destruction of their home by a bomb. Lady Stamp was related to the family on the maternal side.

Plaques were presented the children of Mr. and Mrs. Seay by one of the grandchildren, Mrs. Katherine Seay Padgett. These plaques were made of wood carved with wheat and clover to represent "Sweet as clover and ripe with age," as applied to the recipients. The date and "Seay Reunion" were burned into the wood. Of the eight sons and daughters present from the original family of 13, the youngest was 67 and the oldest was 88 years of age. They were Mrs. Harriet Cash, of Monroe, Mrs. D. H. Wright of Coleman Falls, Mrs. Susie Baldock, of Lynchburg, Mrs. Bettie P. Bibb, of Coleman Falls, Mrs. Fannie Burford, of Lynchburg, J. L. Seay, of Lynchburg, R. L. Seay of Washington and J. D. Seay of Route 1, Lynchburg.

Also present were 73 grandchildren and great-grandchildren and nine visitors. The reunion brought together descendants living in six states and the District of Columbia.

Recreation Areas Closed.

Cave Mountain and Green Pastures Recreation Areas located on the Jefferson National Forest were closed for the present season on Labor Day, September 1. Both of these areas were opened on June 15 and the large attendance during the summer months indicated that the public enjoys and appreciates this use of the National Forests. Swimming and picnicking were popular as ever and use of the tent camp areas was larger than any previous season. Current maintenance work will be carried on during the fall and spring and necessary improvements made for the 1942 season.

Why Not Try it in Bedford?

W. D. Pharmer, a jeweler, in Pittsfield, Mass., doesn't like pigeons.

He read that pigeons didn't like snakes.

He made a half-dozen gaily painted wooden snakes and placed them near pigeon nests on his roof.

MANY NEW THRILLS AT LYNCHBURG FAIR

The largest fair ever held in Central Virginia and the greatest midway ever seen in this section will be in Lynchburg at the American Legion Agricultural Fair to be held at Textile Field for the six days from Monday, September 15th to the 20th. Entries for the exhibit displays have been pouring in steady at the Fair office at 625 Main street and Mrs. Stanhope Johnson, director of the flower show claims that her exhibit will be the largest floral show ever seen in the south with over six hundred entries to date. Then again, several of the nurseries and florists will have unique rock gardens and exhibits never before presented here at any fair. Tuesday will be Patriotic Night with noted national speakers on the program and Wednesday will be a V for Victory Celebration for the school children. All children will be admitted free on the fair grounds from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. and the admission to all the big rides and shows will be reduced to only five cents. There will also be a amateur milkmaids "milking contest," a huge style show and a masked costume parade on Saturday afternoon.

Art Lewis Shows, "World's Largest Midway," will arrive in Lynchburg on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 14th in their own special, all-steel train of double length railroad cars. This big midway with twenty monster ridding devices and a score of world"s fair tented theatres has been modernized, streamlined and neonized, with more new sensational innovations than any other show on earth. Many new thrillers will be seen on the ride plaza with the Rocket, fastest ride ever built; Spitfire, the crazy ride, the Flyo-Plane that bounces you in the air like a rubber ball. There will also be sensational free acts presented twice daily at the Fair. Stars of stage, screen and radio will be featured in the huge canvas theatres. This big show which will be the largest ever to appear in this section will be open afternoon and night during the duration of the fair at Textile Field, week of September 15th to the 20th.

THEN AND NOW

A good many years ago, before advent of the automobile made improved roads imperative, a farmer from the Moneta section dropped into our office one particularly bad winter morning and we naturally wanted to know what brought him to town in such weather. Had a load of tobacco he wanted to sell, he said, and volunteered the further information that it took six horses to get him here, which brought from us the rejoinder that with an improved road two horses would have been sufficient. All road improvements in those days, if any, were financed by a property tax, and with this fact doubtless in mind our farmer friend came right back with a statement to the general effect that he had six horses, needed them on the farm, and they had nothing else to do but pull that load of tobacco through the mud for ten or twelve miles, which was cheaper than paying taxes to build a good road.

There was logic in his viewpoint at that time, but it is a far cry from that day to the present era of almost universal good roads. Two horses can, and often do, pull loads of tobacco and other produce from farm to market, but mostly the hauling is done in car or truck and the whole day required for the journey twenty-five years ago has been reduced to thirty or forty minutes. We sometimes wonder if the residents of rural Bedford ever allow their minds to wander back to that period of universal bad roads and compare conditions then with the roads they travel over today. They should if they don't, because it will serve as a reminder of the vastly changed and improved means of travel over what they had just a few years ago. In particular the change should be kept in mind when one is tempted to grumble and find fault because the roads are not even better.

In no other one phase of life covering the past quarter of a century has there been such a revolution as that in roads. In the pre-automobile days there were a few rock, or macadam roads in the State, all the earlier ones being constructed by private corporations which taxed the traveler so much per mile for its use. Outside of these the public roads were just plain dirt and just as little as possible were spent on them to keep them passable. Farmers paid their road taxes by working a few days on their district roads and let it go at that. Even up to just a few years ago all the county roads and much of the primary system was just dirt, most of them closed to traffic during the worst of winter weather or whenever rain at any season fell for a few days.

When one drives over the secondary roads of Bedford county today he can hardly realize the tremendous change that adoption of new methods of treatment has wrought. Instead of just continually dragging and scraping the dirt roads to try and keep them in shape, the highway department started making use of the material right at hand all over the county. Rock crushers were sent in and before the people hardly realized what was happening stone had been placed on all the main county roads and when these were finished the treatment was spread to the lesser traveled routes and now one can scarcely find a road in Bedford county which has not been improved with some kind of surfacing that will keep it fit to travel at most any season of the year. The dust, of course, could not be eliminated, and that is disagreeable, but mud has been almost completely banished and that confers benefits which completely overbalance the dust on a dry day.

With this first phase of road improvement almost finished, it was the expected and natural thing for the highway department to make another step forward in dealing with secondary roads, and that is the surfacing of the main arteries of county travel with the same material used on the primary roads. A little work of this nature has been done in Bedford county, but the program is now being expanded and will be continued to the limit that State appropriations will permit. When work planned for the present fiscal year is completed the county will have around seventy-five miles of this type of roads which, when added to the primary routes, gives the county a transportation system reaching into all the main geographical sections of the county. The change in our roads, from almost totally bad to almost universally good, in such a short period of time is one of the miracles of the age, and our people should keep this in mind when they are tempted to find fault and "cuss out" the resident engineer, the supervisors or the State highway department.

HUMANE WARFARE

Two dispatches which have come out of Germany in recent weeks would arouse amazement in the minds of people whose processes of thought are normal if they failed to keep in mind the abnormality of the German intellent. These particular reports on German view points are so utterly at variance with what one would reasonably expect in the circumstances that it would be impossible to reconcile them except on the ground that they reflect the typical German mental attitude toward all happenings or events affecting everything with which that peculiar people are even remotely connected or in which they have any interest.

In the light of her modern history, Germany is the last place in the world one would expect to lodge protest against any style of warfare other nations might adopt or against the use of the lands of weaker people, and yet we find Berlin whining about "humane war" and getting quite angry about the British and Russian occupation of Iran, or old Persia. The fact that German hands are foul with crime and bloodshed on both these scores apparently is given no thought by the German press and public. If one accepted the word of German leaders that nation would be looked upon as a paragon of virtue, guiltless of any wrong toward her neighbors or of the use of any but the fairest means in her dealings with them, in peace or war.

From Berlin comes the statement, made by no less a Nazi leader than Goebbels, that "all this bombing of civilians could have been avoided by really humane warfare," which makes one wonder if the Germans really are simple minded themselves or just act on the theory that all other peoples are foolish enough to believe what they say. In the early days of this war Germany controlled the air over Europe with her thousands of fighting and bombing planes. Britain was strictly on the defensive and had to take a lot of punishment, while unable to strike back. Nazi leaders couldn't envision the day when the tables would be turned and British cities were bombed without mercy. War was deliberately made upon the civilian population with the thought that British morale could be broken and the nation made to sue for peace. For months British cities were made the targets of high explosive and incendiary bombs in a systematic campaign to wipe them out of existence. Nothing was spared by the vandals. Cathedrals, churches, abbeys, schools, hospitals, convents, homes and apartment houses were laid in ruins. Up to July, this year, 41,488 civilians had been killed and 53,498 had been wounded, and property destroyed to the value of hundreds of millions of dollars by agents of destruction sent over by Hitler. It was great fun in those days; the British could strike back only feebly.

But, quite inconceivably to the Germans, the Royal Air Force has grown to a parity with that of the enemy and it is German cities which are now being laid waste by bombing planes of the English and Russians. The English are making use of American planes which go over enemy territory at a height so great they can neither be seen nor heard and are out of the reach of German fighting planes and anti-aircraft guns. The land of the Nazis know nothing until the bombs begin dropping, and their morale appears to be cracking under the strain. Now the Nazis are beginning to whine, to talk about "humane warfare." A people whose hands are red with the blood of thousands of innocents are not exactly in good position to prate of mercy.

Likewise when the British and Russian occupied Persia the howl of righteous indignation which came out of Berlin was positively sickening.. The occupa- was denounced as a "treacherous attack on a small nation," and was evidence of the "depths of Churchill's hypocracy" in his dealings with smaller countries. "Never in the history of mankind," the Nazis charged, "has there been a case of such unlawful and imperialistic aggression. The nations of the world will now realize the worth of Anglo-American declarations and assertions." More slop was poured out of the same pail, but this suffices to point Nazi reaction to the Russion-British move in the Near East.

Does Germany really believe that the neutral world, or even right-thinking Germans, have forgotten the deliberate rape of all the small countries of Europe. Do Hitler and his band of thieves and international thugs harbor the delusion that the murder and rapine which marked the destruction of the Czechs, Poles, Danes, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians, Yugoslavs, and other innocent people of the small nations, have passed from the memory of Americans and other neutrals, or even the memory of the decent, high-minded residents of Germany itself? Never in modern history has any nation so utterly disregarded the rights and liberties of the people of other countries as has Germany during this war, and yet German leaders have the unspeakable gall to criticise the action of the British and Russians in moving, with a minimum of bloodshed, to protect their vital interests in a small country against agents of Berlin who only awaited the opporunity to wreck those interests. Here are a people who have killed and looted the innocent for two years without ceasing trying to look with virtuous indignation on the acts of some one else, and making a miserable failure of it. The Nazis are not fooling anybody outside of Germany, and we seriously doubt if much wool is being pulled over the eyes of the residents of that gang-ridden land.

ASKED TO SLOW DOWN

It was announced in Richmond ten days ago that, beginning immediately, all State own cars and trucks would be slowed down ten miles per hour below the limits set by State law governing speed on the highways. Now Governor Price, through an appeal addressed to boards of supervisors, the councils of cities and towns and other public officials, has urged that steps be taken to bring all privately operated cars and trucks to the reduced speeds adopted by the State. Failure of the public to fall into line will, we are convinced, result in some action by the Virginia General Assembly at its next meeting to arbitrarily impose reduced limits upon all drivers.

Two reasons are set forth by the Governor for slowing down and both have considerable merit. More moderate speed will conserve gasoline and, more important still, will promote highway safety, and both these are much to be desired at this particular time. Reduction of speed on the highway was the first suggestion made for saving gasoline, but no one paid any attention to the request and other means had to be adopted. Passenger cars, held to a maximum of 45 miles per hour and trucks to a maximum of 35 miles, would have made any other regulations unnecessary, as the reduction in speeds would have resulted in a sufficient saving of fuel to meet the situation. It was an extremely reasonable request. Americans have simply gotten into the habit of driving at high speeds when there is no necessity for it. Good roads and high-powered cars make speed an easy habit to form and most of us gradually worked up to a point where 60 miles an hour or better was considered normal. And it is just a habit, a very costly and dangerous one, and all of us would be much better off, financially and physically, if we slowed down to the speed the Governor has requested. We would lose negligible time, on short trips in particular; would enjoy the going much better, and would not be on a nervous tension at the end.

All statistics covering automobile fatalities show conclusively that the high rate of speed at which most of us travel is the leading factor in the climbing death rate. Proportionate to the number of cars in use, the number of wrecks is no larger than in former years, but fatalties during the past two years have shown an alarming increase. When a car wrecks at a 45 mile an hour speed the chances of are better than even that the occupants will escape fatal injury; at 60 miles or above the scales are tipped decidedly against the driver and his passengers. The higher speed vastly increases the probability of fatal injury in case of accident, and for our own safety and for the safety of others on the highways and streets we would do well to act favorably on Governor Price's request that we slow down.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

EYE TO EYE

One of the potential gains of large importance from this meeting lies in the opportunity Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have had to look into each other's eyes while preparing to meet certain emergencies.

Mr. Roosevelt has publicly declared that the safety of the United States may be endangered by military operations far from our shores and that attack upon this country may have to be repelled far from our shores. On that principle of action, he placed troops in Iceland and the people have given their approval. On the same principle of action, he must be prepared to deal with Japanese encroachments and the consequent threats to Thailand, Singapore, Dutch East Indies, Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. Our economic and military security would be gravely imperiled by Japanese conquest of any of these areas. But, plainly, any swift decisive action on our part must be taken in concert with Great Britain. The value of the clearest understanding between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Chruchill of each other's mind must be evident. The same is true with respect to the growing danger to this country, at Dakar and elsewhere, from the latest French surrender to Herr Hitler. —Baltimore Sun.

CUT IN INSTALMENT BUYING

Why did the President order the Federal Reserve System to put the brakes on instalment buying of automobiles and the more expensive conveniences of housekeeping?

The President acted, first, because there will not be enough of certain metals, of rubber and of various other "strategical commodities" to meet the requirements of the armed forces and at the same time to permit the unlimited manufacture of automobiles, electric refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and the like. If there are not enough materials for all demands, government needs must be met first. The army and the navy must have what they require. One way of reducing consumer demand is to make buying harder. Many who will purchase if they can do so on instalments will go without when they have to wait to pile up cash. To require them to pay cash, or to make large payments over a short period, is to decrease the demand.—Richmond News Leader.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

As you know I've been on a vacation. Little Alice and I wandered over considerable territory and learned quite a lot—most of it printable. First of all we learned, despite former evidence to the contrary, that sailboats do sail, eventually. I was definitely skeptical about the whole business, but having been assured that we would have no more "boom" trouble, the sails were ready to be hoisted any minute and there was a fair breeze, it looked like a good money bet. Anyhow I'm a reasonable sort of person and far be it from me to condemn even a sailboat on first trial, even though that trial lasted two days.

We were only three strong this time and I must confess that I had definite qualms over the fact that our former flotilla of speed boat and canoe was lacking. After all that speed boat came in very handy to tow us back to shore before and I felt that we were definitely burning our bridges behind us in not having it. One consolation, however, was that the former "dinky," the bottom of which resembled a seive, as I mentioned in a former account, had been replaced by one of a more substantial nature.

As it turned out I need not have worried about these little items for some time to come, for hardly had we started "put-put-putting" down the river (the engine had once more been coaxed to run, but barely) we met trouble in the shape of the law. Now as I've mentioned before, I'm not nautical. I know nothing of the regulations covering water travel, but it seems that they are many. My friends were not so ignorant, however. The sailboat owner gave a groan when he first spotted the gray coast guard cutter with a boat tied up alongside, its owner engaged in talk with a very official looking person and looking very unhappy.

When I questioned him as to the cause of his perturbation, he explained that he had never gotten around to painting the required numbers (kind of like having a license tag, I assume) on the bow of the sailboat. He had had the boat six months. A small discussion then took place among the three of us as to whether or not to turn tail and run back into shallow water where the cutter could not follow and paint the numbers on real quick like. Before we could do anything, however, the coast guard hailed us and gave orders to pull up alongside. We pulled up and, to make a long story short, we stayed pulled up for about three hours.

Not only did we not have the numbers on the bow and no extra fire extinguisher, but my friend, the owner, had left his ship's papers at home. If these papers were not located there was nothing for the coast guard to do but tie us up for good. I saw all visions of sailboating vanishing forever, and was not a bit surprised. The coast guard was a good sort, however, but a stickler for technicalities. My friend's honest face did not get him to first base. He was allowed to go home after the papers—but under guard. The other two of us stayed on the sailboat which remained tied up to the coast guard cutter, under threat of not being allowed to move at all if the papers were not found. Fortunately they were and after spending another hour painting the numbers on the bow, we were at last ready to sail —and did. Can you imagine that? The boat actually moved across the water with sails billowing and no noise of engine or smell of gasoline. It was fine. I might as well admit that I was and am finally sold on sailboating, in spite of all false starts.

I think, however, that the incident that really won me was when later, after sundown, our nice breeze failed us and we once more were "beca'med." It was a starlit night and there were phosphorescent lights in the water. The sails did not hang limp, there being just enough air to keep them stretched out. As we sat with the water lapping gently around us, a boat with an outboard motor came by. Although it was some distance away, voices aboard it could be heard quite plainly. "Look at that sailboat," we heard one man exclaim. "Isn't that a beautiful sight?"

Now, I ask you, have YOU ever been part of a beautiful sight? It's a very elevating feeling.

Yours truly,
PRINTER'S DEVIL

KANSAS BLACKSMITH MUSICAL GENIUS

When a wrench in the hands of L. E. Stump, a Chanute, Kansas, blacksmith, slipped as he adjusted the brakes of his car, it launched him on a revolutionary set of chimes.

The chimes are to be revolutionary not because they will be made with automobile brake drums, but because they will be played like a piano, with chords having over and undertones.

Four years ago he began his project after the fractious tool caused a full, pure note from the brake drum. Since then, he has sought to construct his musical instrument from fifty-four brake drums and hopes to have the chimes ready to play carols this Christmas.

Stump estimates that he has inspected several thousand brake drums in his search for pure tones. Finding the middle notes of the range was easy, but he still is confronted with the difficult task of obtaining bass and treble chimes.

Even after he finds a satisfactory drum, Stump must mount it and devise levers and fulcrums so that a key may be struck in a piano keyboard, to move a hammer three-quarters of an inch and strike the chime. This is quite a sizable job, considering he must get fifty-four brake drums inside an upright piano box.

Stump says he has tried unsuccessfully to change the tone of brake drums by cutting or machining them down to less thickness, but nothing helps the tone. Either the drum has a pure note or it is useless for his purpose.

Until the instrument is complete, no one will be permitted to hear it play and it will be kept as secret as possible, according to Stump. Altho musicians tell him there is no perfect set of chimes, he hopes to perfect his.

ROANOKE FAIR REAL OLD-TIME EVENT

The Roanoke Fair will open at Maher Field in Roanoke on Monday noon, September 8, and will continue through the week until midnight, September 13, according to the announcement of John L. Godwin, President of the Roanoke Fair, Incorporated.

Mr. Godwin promises a real old time agricultural Fair featuring a cattle show, 4-H Clubs, Poultry exhibit, farm produce and home economics.

Heading the life stock department this year will be R. A. Farrier, of Newcastle, Va.

Other Department heads will be as follows:

Richard B. Oglesby and Miss Frances Kesler will supervise the "Live at Home Exhibit" of the Farm Security Administration.

William G. Martin will act as Superintendent of the Poultry, Rabbit, Pigeon and Water Fowl Department.

Mrs. L. J. Dollman will, as usual, handle the Department of General Home Economics, assisted this year by Mrs. C. W. Lanford.

Mr. E. M. Jones, who will superintend the Farm and Garden Crops Department, will be assisted by Mrs. Elsie Lester. Mr. Jones will also have charge of the newly created 4-H Club Show Department, in which substantial premiums will be offered for baby beeves, fat lambs and fat pigs.

On the Midway will be the Dodson's World Fair Shows with 34 shows and rides. This is a 32-car railroad show carrying 400 people.

The Grandstand Show to be presented each afternoon and evening will include a musical revue with many beautiful girls, a high diving and several other thrilling and circus acts. Smith's Superba Band has again been engaged to provide the music. There will be a fire works display each night.

One of the principal attractions obtained for the Fair, according to Godwin, will be the largest horse in the world known as Brooklyn Supreme.

The general admission at the gate entitles patrons to bring in their cars, attend the Grandstand show, and see the fire works without additional cost.

The Fair will occupy the west end of Maher Field and the west stands are being moved back for use as the grandstand in the temporary football field, pending the completion of the stadium.

Tuesday will be children's day on which all children under fourteen years of age will be admitted to the grounds free up to five o'clock in the afternoon. The cattle will also be judged on that day and all boys and girls belonging to Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs, regardless of age, will be admitted free up to five o'clock in the afternoon.

Thursday will be Roanoke Day and Fraiday Roanoke County Day.

The Fair Management invites you to come and bring all your children. There will be plenty of space for parking; the facilities for your comfort are adequate.

OWNER MAY SAVE WEAR ON AUTO TIRES

Commenting on the government's program designed to conserve America's stocks of rubber in the interest of national defense needs, P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, expressed belief that "there will be enough tires for those who need them if everybody helps and something unforeseen does not develop."

In a public statement issued at Akron, Ohio, Mr. Litchfield outlined several steps by which tire users may get a maximum amount of mileage and at the same time cooperate with the government in its defense program.

Gives Warning

His advice to car owners included: A warning against automobile speeds in excess of 50 miles an hour because tires wear out 62 per cent faster at 70 miles an hour than at 50;

The need for weekly checks on air pressure in tires because pressure which is too low breaks down sidewalls while pressure which is too high wears out the center of the tread;

Frequent inspection of brake adjustments and wheel alignment to avoid spotty wear causing "dragging" the tire.

Rotation of tires every 2,000 to 3,000 miles—that is, switching the left front to the right rear and the right front to the left rear:

The rotating of tires which have good sidewalls but worn treads. (This procedure enables tires to give thousands of miles of additional service at low cost.)

He urged that tire buyers purchase goods of first quality because such tires have demonstrated that they give more miles a dollar than cheap tires and that they use less rubber a 1,000 miles.

Mr. Litchfield gave indorsement to the national program of rubber conservation and asserted that while his company would co-operate fully it would at the same time make every effort to prevent a tire shortage.

Late Summer Menu

Here is an excellent menu for late summer or early fall, topped off with with a dessert made from summer oranges.

Fresh Fruit Cup
Deviled Ham Loaf with Mustard Sauce
New Potatoes with Browned Lemon Butter
Succotash
Salad of Mixed Greens with Cucumber and Red Radish Slices
French Dressing
Orange Chifon Pie Coffee

Deviled Ham Loaf

1½ lbs. lean pork shoulder, ground
1½ lbs. smoked ham, ground
1½ cups milk
1 whole egg
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 cup cracker crumbs
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and form into a loaf. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1½ hours. Serve with:

Mustard Sauce

1 tablespoon flour
¼ cup butter or substitute
½ cup boiling water
1 beef extract cube
½ cup prepared mustard
¼ cup sugar
2 egg yolks, beaten
½ cup fresh lemon juice

Cream flour and butter together over low heat. Add boiling water, beef cube, mustard and sugar. When slightly thickened, carefully add the egg yolks. Cook 10 minutes. Remove from flame and add lemon juice, stirring well. Serve at once.

Orange Chiffon Pie

1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Mix sugar, beaten egg yolks, salt and orange juice in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and cook until thickened, 10 to 15 minutes. Add softened gelatin and grated orange peel to hot mixture. Stir and cool. Add lemon juice. When mixture begins to thicken fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into prepared 9-inch shell of orange pastry or a crumb shell made of a dry flake cereal, wafters or crackers. Chill in refrigerator until firm enough to cut. Serve with or without whipped cream.

Corn Again

You may remember that a short time back we were raving slightly about the Golden Bantam corn that we had in our garden. Well, we've just learned something new—it is the only corn with eight rows and it never has more or less. It seems, however, there are a number of similar corns on the market which are frequently mistaken for the true Golden Bantam. Since all of ours is gone and we certainly never thought to count the rows while we had some on hand, we'll never know whether or not ours was the real McCoy. Anyhow it was good.

If the corn you are purchasing has twelve to sixteen rows of kernels, it may be Golden Giant; if twelve or fourteen rows, it may be Golden Sunshine; if from ten to fourteen rows it may be Golden Cross Bantam. But if it has eight rows, it is the real Golden Bantam probably the sweetest of all corns. Watch the rows of kernels when next you pick corn from your dealer. Many corns advertised as Golden Bantam are delicious. Some you may prefer to Golden Bantam; but if you really want Golden Bantam you must purchase ears with eight rows of kernels.

While on the subject of corn, it might be wise to say that sugar and not salt should be added to the water in which it is cooked. Salt toughens the corn. It should be used when the corn is eaten (if desired) and not while it is being cooked.

Food Judging Tips

How expert are you in choosing cantaloupes? Do you judge them by pressing your thumbs into top or bottom? If so, you'll pick many a "soft" melon that has been softened by earlier "pressers" and yet is far from ripe. Choose cantaloupes by smell. Get the aroma that comes from a passing truck of ripe melons and you will have the one you want.

When a pineapple is ripe, a gentle tug on one of the top leaves will loosen it from the fruit. If the leaf needs force to come loose, pass on to another pineapple.

Did you ever press an egg to your closed lips as a test for freshness? Many do this religiously, claiming that when they hold one end of a fresh egg to their lips for a couple of seconds, the cold feeling becomes a warm one, while the other end of the egg remains cold to the lips indefinitely. The air chamber at one end of a fresh egg aecounts for this. When the chamber breaks, we have another story.

Upside-Down Ham Loaf

Melt a little butter and three tablespoons of light brown sugar in a heavy iron skillet and completely cover the bottom with half-inch rings of unpeeled apples. Cook until the fruit is slightly browned. Grind one and a half pounds of ends or trimmings of boiled ham and mix with two eggs, one and a half cups of soft bread crumbs, two tablespoons of prepared mustard, and one tablespoon of grated onion. Spread this mixture evenly on top of fruit and pat down. Bake in a mederate oven about forty minutes. Pour off surplus fat and turn the loaf onto a heated platter and garnish with parsley or watercress.

Lemon Refrigerator Cake

24 marshmallows, cut fine and soaked 30 minutes in
1 pint whipping cream
2 tablespoons gelatine, softened 5 minutes in ½ cup cold water
1½ cups sugar brought to a boil with 1½ cups water
½ cup lemon juice

Add sugar syrup to gelatin mixture. Then add lemon juice and cool. When beginning to stiffen, fold in marshmallows and cream which have been beaten stiff. Pour into an 8 or 9-inch springform, lined with 18 to 24 ladyfingers. Chill 6 to 8 hours. Serves 12.

Variety in Sandwiches

Sandwiches are as important to a picnic as pink lemonade to a circus and peanuts to a baseball game. You needn't worry about sandwich monotory if you try these sandwiches fillings, geared to the 1941 picnic season:

1. Equal portions chopped cooked ham, beef liver and celery. Moisten with salad dressing or mayonnaise.
2. Sliced tomatoes spread with salad dressing and minced onion.
3. Diced cucumbers, cream cheese and Brazil nuts. Add salad dressing.
4. Half as much chopped ripe olive as yellow cream cheese. A dash of minced onion. Thin with cream.
5. Tuna or shrimp salad with a few nuts and minced green olives.
6. Chopped peanuts, green peppers, celery and mayonnaise.
7. Chopped prunes, nuts and white cream cheese on graham bread.
8. Chopped carrots, pineapple, celery and nuts. Thin with salad dressing and spread on graham bread.

(When several kinds of sandwiches are included wrap in transparent tissue so they will be easy to identify.)

The FASHION FROCK of the WEEK!

Designed American—for Americans

As worn by June Lang

Popular Young Screen Actress

This week's fashion demonstrates how a tailored frock of simple lines can be distinctively styled, yet retaining all the smartness this type of frock demands. It is all done through the clever designing and placing of the pockets. Note the two over the shoulder—edged with wide double stitching and side entrance. There are two pockets to match over the hips.

The waist has a new sleek little belt and the skirt has those lovely long pleats that emphasizes slimness and adds so much to the slender silhouette. Ornamental buttons are used to a good style advantage. The back is vent-pleated from yoke to waist and is gathered at the yokeline and waistline in a blouse effect. The fabric in a dress of this kind is all important. This one is made up of a diagonal knit rayon in a covert green shade. A rich rust shade is also good.

News From The Nation's Capital

The creation of a super-board headed by Vice-President Wallace has been created by Mr. Roosevelt to determine how the nation's supply of materials, power, fuel and other commodities shall be divided between military and civilian needs, with the understanding, of course, that defense requirements have priority. Formation of this board followed criticism that there have been overlapping functions and frictions between defense agencies. The new agency, a White House statement said, will have power to channel materials into various lines of production, always with the object of seeing that army and navy demands for all classes of materials are to be fully satisfied before any allotment is made to civil requirements.

A record-breaking revenue bill, digging deeper into the pockets of all present taxpayers and adding 6,000,000 more persons to the list of income tax payers, was approved Friday by the Senate Finance Committee. Chairman George of the committee estimated the bill, provided all its provisions are accepted by the House, will add $4,000,000,000 to the government's income, and the prediction was freely made that next year the tax bill will be made even higher. The income tax base was broadened by lowering exemptions on single persons to $750 and married people without dependants to $1,500, the present figures being $800 and $2,000. Thus a single person earning $800 will pay a tax of $3.00 under the new bill whereas heretofore he has paid nothing. A married man with no dependents and a $2,000 income will write the government a check for $42.00, while under the present law he pays nothing. Whether these new provisions will be retained in the law depends on House adoption of Senate amendments and it can be taken for granted that pressure will be exerted on House members to make them vote against the bill as adopted by the Senate.

Rear Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, bluntly opposed plans for building a new oil pipe line from the Louisiana fields to the esatern seaboard when he appeared as a witness before the committee. "That pipe line will take 750,000 tons of steel for which the navy has immediate use," he said. "I'd rather build tankers than pipe lines; if that's not satisfactory, then I'd rather build barges. I don't know where they can get 750,000 tons of steel, but if it's coming from the navy or our ships, I'm against it." He suggested the barges be built of reinforced concrete.

The Senate Finance Committee turned down, 15 to 2, a proposal to incorporate in the new tax bill a provision for paying a pension of $30 per month to all persons unemployed, though it was stated by committee members that their vote did not necessarily mean they were opposed to such a pension, but were against its inclusion in the present tax bill. Under the plan favored by the committee a $20 minimum would be made effective next July and rising to the $30 figure in 1944, the committee urging that it be paid to every American citizen who has retired from gainful employment at or after the age of 60," except those receiving old age insurance benefits.

The committee also proposed that payroll taxes paid jointly by employer and employee be increased to six per cent by January 1, 1944. Under the present law the payment is only one per cent, with the scale rising to a total of six per cent in 1949.

Spokesmen for American labor pledged the country's workers to unremitting efforts for the downfall of Hitler in declarations made Monday, the third Labor Day since war broke out. Expressions of determination to uphold Great Britain and her allies and of awareness that dictatorship mean death to trade unions keynoted a nation-wide broadcast, which was climaxed by the President's Labor Day address. Americans generally are hoping that labor has seen the light and that there will be no more strikes in vital defense industries. Speaking on the program also was Ernest Bevin, British minister of labor, who appealed from London for unity of all workmen against "this monster who would destroy them."

Senator Harry F. Byrd, still insisting that production under the defense program is lagging dangerously, Monday called for "fundamental replanning and basic reorganization of the defense program. We have the choice of a shorter war in Europe, providing we speed up our defense production." To attain this goal, he urged an end of strikes in defense industries, replanning of the defense effort in relation to civilian needs, an abandonment of the foolish doctrine of "business as usual," and the appointment of an executive head of the program with authority and power to reorganize the whole set-up and get things done.

In his Labor Day talk to the nation Monday President Roosevelt, reminding Americans of their constant readiness to fight for their rights, declared that "We must do our full part in conquering the forces of insane violence let loose by Adolph Hitler."

"There has never been a moment in our history," he said, "When Americans were not ready to stand up as free men and fight for their rights. The fundamental rights of Americans, established by their forefather on the field of battle, are again threatened by Hitler's violent attempt to rule the world."

Once more he scorned the doctrine of appeasement. Appearers and nazi sympathizers, he asserted, have asked him to become a modern Benedict Arnold, to betray a devotion to freedom, churches and country, this was his reply:

"This course I have rejected—I reject it again.

"Instead, I know that I speak the conscience and determination of the American people when I say that we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his nazi forces."

Troubles Come in Bunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clauch, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had a lot of trouble in two weeks. First their home was destroyed by fire, along with all their furniture and clothing. Then Mrs. Clauch, while moving a small-caliber rifle at the home of her parents, accidentally shot herself in the leg. A few days later their little son had a serious operation. Finally their cow died.

The bride gets carried over the threshold, but after that she does all the picking up.

Brighten Your Kitchen With Gay Crochet

"ALL work and no play makes Jack a dull boy"—so why not a little frivolity in the kitchen to make your day brighter? You'll find the making of these gay potholders a grand tonic for tense nerves and muscles, because there's something about crocheting which brings complete relaxation. With six balls of mercerized knitting and crocheting cotton in two colors, you can make two each of these whimsical kitchen necessities, called "Sugar and Cream", "Petticoat Fever" and "Merry-Go-Round." Directions for crocheting these potholders may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, specifying design #9225.

Hunting Creek H. D. Club

The Hunting Creek Home Demonstration met August 26 at the home of Mrs. Violet Goff, with 14 members present and 2 visitors. Our president opened the meeting with a prayer. Everyone is still being urged to bring any old or new garments for the British relief. Our club was also asked for each member to make a skirt for this cause. Mrs. Booker was sent as a delegate to Blacksburg. Mrs. Astor Tomlinson gave the demonstration on "Care of Hose." She gave the many helpful ways in which to follow in buying hose. Every member was asked to bring their yearly report of the work they have done to our September meeting. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. We adjourned to meet with Mrs. Penn Turpin in September.

Fairview H. D. Club

Fairview Home Demonstration club met August 20, with Mrs. H. P. Walker, with 7 members and 2 visitors present. The meeting was opened with scripture reading, all joining in the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. H. W. Cobb. Mrs. Walker gave a very interesting, and instructive demonstration on hosiery. Miss Wimmer described the new cotton hosiery now on the market, to replace the silk shortage; much discussion by members followed. Refreshments were served and the meeting closed with group singing led by Mrs. Atkinson. Fairview wishes Miss Wimmer success in her coming school term. We enjoyed having her with us this summer.

SEED MORE COVER CROP

One of the biggest contributions that farmers can make to the national defense effort this fall is to seed more acres now to winter cover crops to protect and build up soil resources, says William R. Walker, chairman of the Bedford County U. S. Department of Agriculture defense board.

The national, state and county USDA defense boards are encouraging the largest possible planting of winter cover crops to: 1. Conserve essential plant food elements including nitrogen; 2. Provide or supplement winter feed for dairy and meat animals; 3. Cover the land with small grains, (except wheat), rye grass, vetch, etc.,and so retard erosion; 4. Expand winter legume seed production.

"The ability of leguminous cover crops to add nitrogen to the soil is well known, and all cover crops will conserve plant food by preventing leaching and erosion," says Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wichard. "In addition to the use of cover crops, farmers can help to conserve by using all farm sources of plant food such as barnyard mature and crop wastes."

Secretary Wichard points out that despite the outstanding progress made in the use of winter cover crops, the need now is more urgent than ever to expand the acreage since conservation of soil resources is vital to national defense.

It will be necessary to make the available supply of leguminous winter cover crop seed go as far as possible and to increase the use of non-leguminous crops, he said, and suggested that farmers with soil conserving crops from which seed can be harvested can help themselves and their neighbors by making the best use of this source of supply.

Bedford County AAA office has available several thousand pounds of Rye grass seed to be used in meeting the above suggestions. This seed is to be taken out of the Soil Conservation checks similar to the lime and phosphate at the rate of 5.6 cents per pound. Farmers can fill out their farm plan and make requisition for this material and can take it back with them. Farmers are getting this grass at the rate of about 500 pounds per day and the supply on hand will probably be exhausted within the next few weeks. County Agent S. S. Hylton recommends this grass very highly as a green manure crop to be turned under early next spring for the tomato crop. A number of farmers have already secured this seed for this purpose.

Worms Causing Sheep Damage

The County Agent treated two flocks of sheep last week in which approximately 50 per cent of the old sheep and lambs have died with worms. This pest seems to be causing more damage this year than usual and sheep growers who have not been treating their sheep regularly should give their flock a treatment of blue stone and nicotine or the new improved sheep treatment "phenothiazine." While phenothiazine treatment costs about 8 cents per head it is far more effective than anything that has been used heretofore. Sheep that have been regularly treated should not require more than three treatments a year of this material. The material can be secured from the County Agent's office or the veterinarian in Bedford at the same price.

Sheep should be wormed before the breeding season so that the ewes will be in good condition. Flushing of the ewes before breeding will be an excellent practice which gives a crop of lambs of approximately the same age, rather than coming in over a long period of time during the winter and spring. To flush the ewes the flock should be put on a fresh green pasture from two to three weeks before breeding.

Time to Cull Poultry

The laying flock of chickens should be culled during the first half of September. Culling them removes the unprofitable birds.

The County Agent will be glad to hold culling demonstrations in a number of communities if flock owners are interested.

Harry L. Moore, Extension Poultryman, Blacksburg, Va., and S. S. Hylton, County Agent, visited the farm of Mr. H. S. Deiters of Sedalia, yesterday. Mr. Deiters is raising broilers by the battery system. This is a new system of poultry raising in this county. The battery system is being used extensively in other sections of the county.

Fertilizer Being Delivered.

The Bedford County AAA Association has already taken orders for 2,151 tons of lime. A large portion has been already delivered to farmers by the Rockydale Quarries of Roanoke. Two cars of phosphate has already been unloaded amounting to 120,000 pounds and two additional cars have been ordered for delivery. Orders for 237,000 pounds of phosphate have been placed. Several thousand pounds of rye grass seed have also been delivered to farmers for fall seeding.

Applications for payment for the 1941 program are being typed by the AAA office and will be ready for the farmers signatures within the next few days. Farmers will be urged to fill out their 1942 farm plans at the same time that they sign their application for payment if their plans haven't already been completed.

Communications from the State Office last week gives the impression that phosphate will be hard to get a little later on and farmers who are to use this material as grants of aid in the soil building program should fill their applications out immediately.

Defense Board Holds Meeting

The first meeting of the USDA Defense Board met in the County Agent's office Monday, September 1, 1941. This Board is composed of William R. Walker, chairman, S. S. Hylton, Secretary; W. M. Bradley, representative for Farm Credit Association; L. R. Smith, Forestry Service; Leonard B. Shelton, Farm Security Administration; W. H. Walton, Rural Electrification Administration and C. E. Bass, Soil Conservation Service.

This type of Defense Board is set up in each County in the United States and its function is to help promote the National Defense Program as it affects local counties. The function of the Board of Bedford County will deal largely with fitting local agriculture into the defense picture. The first duty performed by this Board was to investigate farm equipment in Bedford County and fit its needs for farm machinery for the coming year.

EXHIBIT FEATURES AT VIRGINIA STATE FAIR

The seventeenth annual show of dahlias grown by members of the Virginia Dahlia Society will be held in the dahlia building at the Virginia State Fair September 22 to 27. Judges this year will be George Fraser, Willimantic, Connecticut, and George Masson, Trenton, New Jersey, both of whom are ex-presidents of the American Dahlia Society, and Dr. Herbert L. Dozier of U. S. Department of the Interior, who lives at Cambridge, Maryland.

In addition three members of the National Dahlia Society of Washington, D. C. and three ladies from local garden clubs will assist in the judging. This year, for the first time, a cash prize of $25 is to be offered for the best seeding dahlia shown. This is open to any grower in North America.

Another attraction at the fair will be a life-size dairy cow and twin calves sculptured out of creamery butter, executed by J. E. Wallace, noted butter sculptor. The group will be exhibited in a specially built refrigerating unit 18 feet long by 9 feet high with a doubled plate glass window, 9 by 5 feet.

Bigger the Cow—More Milk

Larger cows give more milk, according to Max Meyers of the department of agricultural economics at Cornell, N. Y. Each 100 pounds increase in size of dairy cows means an annual increase of about 600 to 800 pounds of milk to the cow, it was revealed. The study comprised more than five hundred dairy herds in five New York counties.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT is a tasty liquid that most children will welcome whenever they need a laxative. What's more important, it has the same main ingredient as BLACK-DRAUGHT, its older companion. Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief from the familiar symptoms which show a laxative is needed. Comes in two sizes: 25c—50c.

GOODVIEW—DIAMOND HILL

The health of our community is O. K. at present as no one is on the sick list.

still exists, though Berlin a few weeks ago induced the Turks to sign a non-aggression pact, and the country now finds itself trying to remain neutral while completely surrounded by forces of the warring powers. By following the coast line of Turkey on the southern shore of the Black sea the Germans, apparently hope to reach the seat of the Russian oil industry at Batum, though at present Russian warships dominate that set and will continue to do so unless the Turks can be induced to permit German and Italian ships of war to pass through the Dardenelles.

Reverting again to the situation on the Eastern front, Berlin papers of Tuesday, including the one owned by Hitler, while boasting of German victories, admitted that the Russian campaign had been "tough" thus far. Hitler's paper stated that "on the threshold of the third war year we look forward with absolute confidence. It is a battle for existence or non-existence. We all know it and therefore will fight until ultimate victory is ours."

A Moscow radio broadcast Monday, picked up in New York by the N. B. C., said that German casualties on the Russian front now total $2,500,000, including 1,000,000 killed.

"DEADBEAT" BILLBOARD IDEA COLLECTS DEBTS

Clem Pizzutelli, of Monongahela, Pa., grocer and nemesis of deadbeats, who threatened to post on an 8x24-foot billboard the names of customers owing him money for more than a year, let it be known that his collection idea is going over in a big way.

In fact, he was willing to enlarge on that, thusly:

"It's one of the best things that ever happened in the country."

Vowing he would wait no longer for 700 delinquent customers to pay a total of more than $20,000, Pizzutelli announced his plan a month ago.

Erects Billboard

At a cost of $150, he erected the billboard on a lot in this industrial city near Pittsburgh. By registered mail he notified his bad accounts they'd be posted in 30 days unless they forked over.

Results were immediate. Customers flocked in, obliging him to work overtime. Chuckled the fifty-six-year-old once-wealthy proprietor, who has suffered financial reverses:

"Even some who didn't owe me came in. That shows how the billboard worried them. I told them they were paid up long ago. Others paid on bills I had forgotten myself."

Collected $554

He sends out 20 registered letters a week. No one will be posted on the first deadine of August 28—they all showed up, with a week to boot. Eighty-four persons, four times the first "quota," came through so far. Proceeds to date: $554.

Pizzutelli said he has received 100 letters from various parts of the nation complimenting him on his idea. Other merchants said they would try it.

A Missouri barber reported that even without trying he collected 75 cents a man owed him for five years. The frightened client rushed in with the price of a shave and haircut saying:

"I don't want you to do like that Monongahela grocer did."

What will Pizzutelli do with the money he collects? He retorted:

"I'm gonna pay my debts."

OBITUARY

M. P. Johnson

Montilons P. Johnson, 69, prominent farmer and business man of the Goodview community, died Friday afternoon in a Roanoke hospital, where he had been a patient for some days. He had not been well for some time, but his condition was not regarded as serious until a short time prior to the end, and the news of his death came as a shocking surprise to friends in Bedford county.

Mr. Johnson was a native of the county, but was engaged in railroad work during the active years of his life, but more than twenty years ago retired and returned to the county to make his home. He represented Chamblissburg district on the Board of Supervisors for several terms, was always helpfully interested in the public affairs of his community and state, and was particularly active in his work for better educational facilities and better roads. He was a member of the Chamblissburg lodge of Masons and of the Methodist church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, and the following sons and daughters: Gordon H. Johnson, Moneta; J. A. Johnson, Bedford county; William Johnson, Roanoke; Oscar Johnson, Waynesboro; Leonard Johnson, Norfolk; Leslie Johnson, U. S. army; Mrs. B. E. Craighead, Roanoke, and Mrs. Estel Hensley, Russell county; a sister and a brother.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and burial was in the cemetery at Parrish Chapel with Masonic honors. Active pallbearers were J. G. Johnson, W. G. Johnson, E. R. English, O. Goode, Marvin Stinson and Julian Stinson.

Mrs. H. B. Reynolds

Mrs. Marietta Bay Moore Reynolds, 81, died Sunday, August 31 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. G. Apperson in New York City, with whom she lived. Daughter of the late Colonel Joseph Moore and Mary Agnes Gibson Moore, of Rockbridge County, she was born in Lexington October 8, 1851. In 1870 she married Howard Barker Reynolds of Bedford County. Mr. Reynolds died in 1904. She was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Reynolds is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Apperson, of New York; Mrs. Leita MacLeod, formerly of Lynchburg, now of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. M. E. Siler and Mrs. John Sholes both of Richmond; 13 grandchildren, 36 great grandchildren and four great-great grandchildren.

Jesse L. Nichols

Jesse Leonidas Nichols, 72, died at his home near Moneta, Sunday afternoon, after an illness of several weeks. He was born in Bedford County, the son of Jesse C., and Almira Johnson Nichols.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary L. Nichols, and the following children: Mrs. B. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. O. Carter and H. L. Nichols, Roanoke; L. C. Nichols, Pulaski, and Mrs. T. E. Hicks, Moneta; a brother, S. R. Nichols, Moneta, and two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Turner and Mrs. W. J. Ashwell, Huddleston.

The funeral was held from Patmos Methodist Church at 2 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. J. W. Smith

Mrs. J. W. Smith, 81, died on August 25th at her home in Hartwell, Ohio. She is survived by her husband; two sons, Sam G. Smith, of Lynch Station and Claude Smith, of Cincinnati, Ohio; two half-sisters, Mrs. Ada Hunt, of Halifax County, and Mrs. Charlie Hutcherson of Gladys. She was a member of Lynch Station Baptist church, where funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. R. Leckliter and Rev. R. L. Camden, were held on August 28th, with interment in Mount Hermon cemetery.

Active pallbearers were T. J. Wilerson, H. L. Bragg, C. E. Hall, R. D. Smith, C. A. Cresdy and Reynolds Dowdy.

Mrs. Thomas Berry

Word has been received in Bedford of the death of Mrs. Thomas Berry, a native of this place, which occurred in California on August 22nd, death coming suddenly from a heart attack. She is survived by four daughters and three brothers, Bowyer, Jamie and George Campbell.

Mrs. Berry was before marriage Miss Lillian Campbell, and was a daughter of the late Judge J. Lawrence Campbell and Mrs. Lillian Bowyer Campbell, and was connected with the Burwell and other prominent Bedford families.

Funeral and burial were in California.

J. William Powell

J. William Powell, age 75, died on Friday, August 8, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jno Linkenhoker, near Lithia. The following children survive: Mrs. John Linkenhoker, Lithia; Mrs. W. R. Moseley, Buchanan, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Roanoke; Mrs. Mary Joyce, Walnut Cove, N. C., Ira Powell, Buchanan and Gilmer Powell, Roanoke.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday afternoon at the Lithia Methodist church with interment in the family cemetery near the Peaks of Otter. Pallbearers were all grandchildren and flowerbearers were grand children.

Mrs. R. W. McKinney

Mrs. Emma Shepherd McKinney, 54, wife of Robert W. McKinney, died Wednesday morning at a Roanoke hospital, following a very brief illness. She became sick Sunday and in a few hours her condition had become so grave that she was taken to a Roanoke hospital for treatment, but survived only three days. She was a native of the county and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ryan. Funeral services will be conducted from the Christian church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock (daylight saving time).

Infaont Harris

Virginia Lee Harris, seven-month-old daughter of Millard and Dollie St. Clair Harris, died last Friday in a Lynchburg hospital, following an illness of only a few days. Funeral services were conducted at the home of R. E. Taylor Saturday and burial was in Longwood.

Infant Morris

Andrew Morris, Jr., infant son of Andrew J. and Ruby Newman Morris, died at the Depot streetTuesday morning. The body was taken to Evington where burial was made in the family cemetery.

Daniel Webb

Died, at the EElks National Home, Sept. 3, 1941, Daniel Webb, aged 75 years. Brother Webb arrived at the Home October 17, 1939, and was a member of New York, N. Y. Lodge B. P. O. Elks No. 1. The remains were shipped to Freehold, New Jersey for burial.

One Way to a Man's Heart.

Franklin Rose, Pineville, W. Va., better known as Uncle Tank, has a sign in his window that says "Cook Wanted," but he may have to change it to "Lonely Hearts Club—Apply Within."

"I put that sign there in the window some time back," says Uncle Tank," and a woman come along and was hired. My wife's brother was visiting us, and the first thing we knew he'd upped and took her away—as his wife.

"I got out the sign again and soon hired another woman—much older than the first. Then my brother—he's 80—come to visit, and I'll be doggoned if he didn't up and propose. She said 'yes,' and I lost another cook.

"I'm going to leave the sign in the window even after I've hired another cook. I figure there's a lot of fellors around here that are getting mighty tired of batchin."

She—"Thanks for the hug."
He—"The pressure was all mine."

SERMONETTE

"What The Bible Means," by Rev. H. F. Hilgerman

Text: Second Peter, Chap. 1:19—"And we have the word of prophecy made more sure; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed beloved in the Lord. Grace, mercy and peace be unto you from God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost."

The text is from the pen of the Apostle Peter, who speaks of the word of prophecy as being made more sure, because of the Christ having lived, died and risen again Jesus said, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away."

Light Shineth

There are more isms in the world than ever before. To follow them blindly is very dangerous. But thanks be to God, who hath given us a sure word, the word of God, a light shineth in a dark place. Let us give heed to it by the examination of the topic, "What the Bible Means to Me."

It is a true word giving enlightenment about God and man, sin and redemption and the Christ way of life.

When reading the word of God sincerely, God speaks to the heart. Without guidance from above man drifts about without hope and God in the world. But when God appears in the heart all life's problems are sanctified.

Wilber Grenfell, the heroic and successful missionary of Labrador, writes, "People will laugh at me, when I say I have always had great joy in seeing what the Bible has to say on any practical point. But I never knew any big life problem yet about which the Bible did not say a wiser thing than any of the other sources. The Bible is God-inspired and in turn inspires to godly living. Paul says in Gal. Chap. 1:12, "For I neither received it from man nor was I taught it but by the revelation of Jesus Christ."

Bible Gives Facts

The Bible gives the facts about sin and redemption. All men are sinners and heirs to misery. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. Many a languishing one has confessed on his deathbed that sins had accumulated to mountain heights. Pitiful is the state of a guilty conscience. It drives to fear, agony, self-condemnation, suicide. Blessed is the man, who knows the remedy for sin. Socrates (400 B. C.) is quoted as saying that the gods may forgive sins but he didn't know how they could. But the one who knows the crucifixion history of the Christ believes it and lives by the power of it and can rejoice singing, "Happy day, happy day, when Jesus washed my sins away, when Jesus takes the love of sinning out of the heart."

Give the Bible a chance it will produce the Christ-like way of life. Having learned of the character of Jesus and how it changed and transformed the lives of the disciples, one can appreciate the willingness of many enquirers, "Master I will follow Thee. It is good to be here with Thee."

Kindness Obliterated

Because Farmer Jonathan Bodwell, of Tilton, N. H., was ill in a hospital, 27 fellow members of the grange helped him out the other day by doing his mowing.

The 30 loads of hay they pitched into his barn were so heavy the barn collpased, killing eight cows.

So now the grange members are making plans to help rebuild the barn.

RATES FOR Memorial Notices

Memorial notices are inserted at rate of ½c a word. When sending in memorials count the words and send the proper amount of money (or stamps) to ensure it being published.

Rides that run a mile a minute—rides that toss you around in the air—thrillers that even the young folks can't take, will be but a few of the features with the Art Lewis Shows opening in Lynchburg week of September 15th at the American Legion Fair. There is the Rocket, which travels at the unbelievable speed of a mile a minute and is claimed to be the fastest ride ever built. The new Spitfire, called the crazy thriller, and gives you all the sensations of riding in an aeroplane. Other new rides are the Twister which swings and tosses you around like a rubber ball, while the Flyer gives you the sensation of floating high in the heavens. The three "Sky-High Feeris Wheels pictured above still remain one of the big favorites.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

State—

Nearly 400 children in Warwick county, all residents of Ferguson Park, a navy housing project, were denied admission to the county schools last week and an effort to find a solution to the problem is now being made. The school superintendent of Warwick said county officials felt it "was not fair" to taxpaying residents of the area to allow children of parents living in a "tax free naval reservation to attend schools financed through taxes levied on the residents."

Colgate W. Darden, Jr., who won the Democratic nomination for Governor in the August primary, filed his expense account last week as required by law the report showing that he spent a total of $5,438.80, which was more than was spent by his two opponents combined. Senator Vivian Page put out $2,484 trying to get the nomination, while Senator Hunsden Carey spent $1,453.12.

Traffic on the Virginian railway was held up for about two hours Sunday morning when a freight engine was deralled near Goodview, a few miles west of Moneta. No one was injured and a wrecking crew got the locomotive back on the rails without any undue loss of time and the train, traveling east, resumed its journey.

The State police will begin checking the 2,450 school buses in Virginia for mechanical defects on October 1st to insure the safety of school children to the greatest extent possible. The survey will be made under the supervision of M. D. Baldwin, division safety engineer, with the cooperation of the State department of education. Twelve State troopers will be assigned to make the check and the various counties will be notoified if any unsafe vehicles are found and owners will be required to put their vehicles in safe condition.

Replying to a charge that the Western State Hospital, Staunton, is a "sobering up station for alcoholics," Dr. J. J. DeJarnette, superintendent, stated that he considers what has been done and is being done at the institution "constitutes one of the best pieces of work in the State of Virginia regarding alcoholics." He stated that six thousand cases had come under his observation, many of whom had been permanently cured, but he expressed the opinion that the State should have a separate unit for the treatment of this class of patients.

The State Republican executive committee last week rounded out the ticet for Staote offices by selecting John H. Hickman, of Bath county, as the party's candidate for attorney general. Joseph Ewing of Newport News was nominated for this position at the convention held in Roanoke, but declined the honor, making it necessary for the State committee to select some one else. The convention named Former Senator Benjamin Muse, of Dinwiddie, as the candidate for Governor, and I. C. Wagner, of Covington, for Lieutenant Governor.

Revised statistics from the accident division of the State police show that 637 persons have been killed on Virginia highways and streets so far this year, as compared with 449 deaths for the same period in 1940. It was pointed out by the police that if this pace is continued for the rest of the year the fatalities would number more than 1,300 persons, a gain of 41 per cent over the 1940 toll of 852. Colonel Battle, head of the division, said that every method allowed by law to weed out the careless drivers and take them off the road is being used, but apparently with little effect.

Nation—

It was announced in Washington this week that Mrs. Norma Ward Lundeen will receive $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, Senator Ernest Lundeen, of Minnesota, in an airplane crash at Loyettsville, Va., August 31, 1940. The damages were provided in a consent verdict in her suit against the Pennsylvania Central Airlines Inc. Lundeen was a passenger on the air liner which crashed in a storm while enroute from Washington to Pittsburgh. Miss Reva Turner, daughter of Mrs. George Turner of Huddleston, was also one of the victims of the disaster.

Announcement was made in Washington Tuesday by the president of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen that on September 15 at 6 a. m. members of the five operating brotherhoods will go on strike. The strike was voted by the 19 railroad unions in a vote held last Friday after negotiations with railway management had broken down. The unions are demanding a flat thirty per cent increase in pay. However, there will be no strike on the 15th. The law requires the President to appoint a fact-finding board within thirty days and no legal strike can be called until thirty days after this board makes its report.

Tobacco Meeting At Court House

The regular monthly meeting of the dark fired tobacco growers of Bedford County will be held at the Court House Saturday, September 13, at 2 o'clock, daylight saving time. M. K. Green, Field Agent, will be present. All tobacco growers, both members and non members, are invited to attend this meeti.ng

Fifteen More Men Leave Here Today

As part of the 19th call for men for army training, fifteen young Bedford men will leave here this morning for Roanoke where they will be formally inducted into the U. S. Army. As is the custom of the board, some business or professional man will talk briefly to the men in the courthouse and explain why it is now necessary for the United States to call up and train men for military service. duVal Radford, local attorney, spoke to the white selectees who left for training last Thursday and the following day, when several colored men left for camp, the speaker was Rev. Fred Clarke, pastor of Washington street Baptist church. A. J. Carper, chairman of the board, stated this week that the board would be glad to have relatives and friends present to see the young men off, and expressed the opinion that it would be a good idea for citizens generally to show their interest in some tangible way for the encouragement of men called up for training.

The men who are leaving this morning are: Henry Gardner Bush, Woodie Jackson Orange, Walter Davis Maxey, Raymond Atkinson, John Dennis Byers, Everett Roscoe Wood, Woodrow Wilson Murray, Woodrow Wilson Martin, Landon Woodrow Overstreet, Billy Davis Orange, Harry Marshall Sligh, William Otey Overstreet, Horace Andrew Bragg, William Buford Burnette, Harry Leftwich Franklin.

State selective service headquarters in Richmond announced this week that Virginia would be required to furnish 2,658 men in the 20th call, covering the month of October. Of this number 2,002 will be white and 656 colored, and dates for induction set are, for whites October 1st and 9th and Negroes October 10th and 18th. This is the third largest call Virginia has received, being exceeded only by those for April and June. The number of men Bedford is to supply has not been given out.

It was pointed out last week by the Virginia director of selective service that registrants of 28 years and older still have certain obligations and responsibilities under the selective service act even though they may be deferred. The change in the law making 28 the maximum age does not release men of that age from operation of the act and these men still have certain obligations to perform, it was stated. They must file answers to their questionnaires and otherwise obey the regular selective service procedure.

A registrant's age is not considered until it is determined by his local board whether he is to be deferred on other grounds. Failure of a man in the over-28 group to comply with selective service regulations is a criminal offense, just as is failure of any other registrant to do so.

Athletic Program Starts at B. H. S.

The football season for Bedford high school starts on tomorrow (Friday) night at Salem at 8 o'clock on Roanoke College field. Last year the local team was defeated by a very strong Salem team by the score of 41 to 0. About all that the present team hopes to do is keep the score somewhat lower than that. Two weeks later the Otters journey to South Boston to play the third of the series between the two schools in recent years. This is also a night game. The Otters have won both games against South Boston and on the basis of percentages stand to lose this year.

In between these two very hard games comes the first home game with Holy Cross Academy of Lynchburg. No one here knows much about the strength of this new rival, but it meets South Boston Friday night and the Otters should then be able to make some guess at least of its strength.

There are plenty of letter men on this year's team, but some were only substitutes last year and some are playing in new positions, and with a new quarter back, Nelson Johnson, calling the signals in place of veteran Sherrill Coleman and passing and kicking in place of Gamiel Draper, and Bobby Wright carrying the ball in place of David Draper—just how this new combination is going to work under the pressure of strong opposition remains to be seem.

Last year in the game with Salem the Otters received the ball on the kick-off and made six first downs before losing the ball on a bad pass from center with a Salem man falling on the ball at about the Bedford 35 yard line. From that point on their game was defensive rather than offensive. Defensive play never wins games.

Fifty high school pupils indicated Tuesday morning that they wish to secure a bus to go to the Salem game. If they show up with the transportation money there will be a good delegation from Bedford as many of the fans in town have also indicated the intention of seeing the game.

More detailed information concerning the individuals in the team will be given in next week's write-up, so that the fans may have something more on which to speculate what the Otters will do this year.

Students' season tickets are on sale again at $1.10 and adult season tickets, for all regularly scheduled football, basketball and baseball games will again be on sale at $2.50.

Marker Placed in Courthouse Yard

Carries Historical Data on The Early Days of The County Seat

"Bedford. This place became the county seat of Bedford when it was moved from New London in 1781. First called Liberty (incorporated in 1839), the town changed its name to Bedford City in 1890 and to Bedford in 1912. A third courthouse, built in 1834, was replaced by the present building in 1930. The Union General Hunter, with his army, passed here in June, 1864, and repassed on his retreat." Meaning on his way to Lynchburg and back again a day or two later.

The above is the inscription on a historical marker placed in the extreme southeast corner of the courthouse yard last Thursday by representatives of the State Commission on Conservation and Development, the erecting operation attracting the usual crowd which gathers to watch another crowd at work, and the marker itself has attracted considerable attention since. It is set in concrete to guarantee against wobbling, and the lettering is of a size easily read. The man in charge, however, was devoid of humor, making serious rejoinder when ye editor strolled over and asked if approval of the marker had been given by Massachusetts and North Carolina, these two States having made blanket claim to all historical distinction connected with early America. However, he obligingly handed us a neatly typewritten story of the marker program of Virginia and if you want to find out what is being done just read on; otherwise stop here:

Each Virginia city or town will have a state historical marker within its corporate limits, giving a brief history of the municipality, N. Clarence Smith, chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission, has announced.

Baptist Pastors-Laymen to Meet.

A conference of the pastors and laymen of the Strawberry Association will be held at Bedford Baptist church on next Tuesday, September 16, beginning at 10:30 a. m., day-light saving time. The conference will be opened by M. O. Harvell, who will lead the devotional. At 10:40 a. m. P. A. Anthony and A. W. Connelly will discuss "Experiences in Evangelism," and reports of revival meetings will be given by pastors and others. Representatives of every church present will join in this discussion.

At 11:25 a. m., President R. L. Randolph will speak on "Facing a New Associational Year." The Rev. E. S. Vaughn will deliver the sermon at 11:40 a. m., after which there will be a recess for luncheon. Each person attending the meeting is expected to bring his own lunch.

The afternoon session will be opened by a devotional led by J. E. Sassaman at 1:30 p. m. This will be followed by a discussion entitled "What Part do You Take in Preaching Services?" led by Dr. H. P. Clause and participated in by all layment as far as they will do so. At 2:00 p. m. there will be a discussion of "Every Member Giving" in connection with the fall canvas. R. L. Camden will speak on the the "How" of it and H. M. Fugate the "How's" of it.

World - Wide Communion Observance

The local Ministerial Association this week went on record as approving and endorsing the World Wide Communion observance again this year as it did last year. The world wide observance of this sacred festival has been set for Sunday, October the 5th and it will be a high day in all the Christian churches around the world.

It is a beautiful and significant thing that though the world is an armed camp today yet Christians in all the nations will meet and celebrate the Lord's Supper and lift a preyer that all earnest minded efforts towards building a better world will succeed.

In America the observance of this day is being sponsored by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America through its department of Evangelism and it is stated that if the Churches will rise to this great opportunity that is before them an attendance like unto the Easter attendance will be the result. More will be published from time to time concerning this Day.

Schools Opened For New Term Monday

Reports From County Indicate Normal Enrollment At All Schools

The 1941-42 term of county and town schools got under way Monday and reports so far received at the Superintendent's office indicate that a total enrollment of around 6,000—4,500 white and 1,500 colored—can be expected. At the Bedford public school up to yesterday there had been enrolled 298 pupils in the high school, or about half a dozen less than last term, and 288 in the grades, which is about the same as last term, though only 34 pupils entered the first grade as beginners, which is somewhat below normal. With a number of schools yet to report, the white enrollment is 3,921, and when all have been heard from the number will be shoved up to not less than 4,500, in the opinion of school officials.

The consolidated school at Stewartsville, J. A. Johnson, principal, again leads all county schools in number of pupils, the enrollment this year being 585, of which 442 are in the grades and 143 in high school. Again that school is badly overcrowded, its facilities being taxed to the limit to care for all the pupils, and still there are several one-room schools in the territory served which want to close and send their students to Stewartsville.

Montvale has the second largest enrollment among county high schools, that institution having 311 in the grades and 185 in high school. The enrollment at other consolidated schools is: Huddleston, 286 in the grades and 125 in high school; Big Island, 258 in the grades and 91 in high school; Moneta, 281 in grades and 105 in high school; New London Academy, 181 in grades and 28 in high school; Boonsboro, 205 in grades and 77 in high school.

Liberty Academy, elementary school operated in the old academy building for grade pupils in Central district, O. T. Bonner, principal, reports an enrollment of 401, which is somewhat larger than last year. New faculty members of this school are: Katherine Gower, Springfield, Tenn.; June Sisk and Helen Wattts, Lynchburg; Verner Quillen, Gate City, and Elizabeth Prilliman, Martinsville. Those returning for 1941-42 are Mrs. Madeline Driscoll, Rustburg; Edith Moreland, Radford; Nell Boswell, Bracey; Anna Kate Givens, Newcastle; Virginia Johnson, Moneta; Frances Bryan, Crewe; Mary Wright, Abingdon; Anne Montgomery, Lebanon; and Kathleen Ranson, Farmville.

Another Crow Tale By a Bedford Man

Walton Brown, from up Shady Grove way, says Lawrence Witt doesn't know everything about crows. He says he had a pet crow once that was a jewel of a pet but was full of tricks. He says one day he laid a new package of cigarettes on the table in the sitting room, with windows open on each side. The crow made a sweep into one window, grabbed the package of cigarettes and flew out of the other window and lit on a dead tree just above the pig lot. After a few moments deliberation the crow opened the package, looked at it and then picked out the cigarettes one by one and dropped them to the pigs, who had a great time picking them up and eating them.

Timber Ridge Church To Have Homecoming

Timber Ridge Baptist church will observe Sunday, September 14, as Homecoming Day. All present members, former members and friends are invited to attend the services which will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning, Eastern Standard time. The Rev. R. D. White, a former pastor, will bring the morning message.

Former members who belonged to the choir 20 years ago are expected to sing a couple of selections, "old songs we used to love." Mr. Hough, superintendent of the Baptist orphanage, is expected to be present and to bring with him three Bedford county children who are there. Among the former pastors, who have been notified of the homecoming and who it is hoped will be able to attend although word has not yet been received from them, are Rev. P. A. Anthony, Rev. R. L. Chadwick, Rev. H. B. Jennings, Rev. R. L. Camden and Rev. L. D. Craddock.

Picnic lunch will be served on the grounds with time enough to renew old acquaintances and enjoy Christian fellowship together.

Several Injured in Week-end Wrecks

Traveling Salesman Suffers Broken Legs in Wreck West of Town

In an accident at the east entrance to Montvale Sunday evening James Kasey and Katherine Harris, colored, of Blue Ridge, suffered severe lacerations and bruises, but half a dozen or more other people in the cars involved escaped serious injury. Officer Gordon Coleman stated that Harry Powers, of Vinton, traveling west, attempted to make a left turn and became mixed with the car driven by Kasey. Both men were booked on reckless driving charges.

Curtis J. Duncan, of Blue Ridge, suffered a broken clavicle and cuts and bruises in an accident near Salem. He was thrown from a motorcycle on a country road, it was stated.

Howard Gamble, representative of the Annis Fur Company of New York, had both legs fractured in an accident just west of Bedford about 11 o'clock Sunday night, when the station wagon he was driving got mixed with a car driven by Miller Scott. He was taken to a Lynchburg hospital for treatment. Officer Bryon Witt, who investigated, said the wreck occurred when Scott attempted to make a left turn into a side road and was sideswiped by the Gamble car in passing. The latter was thrown out of control, ran over a bank and hit a tree.

In the car with Scott were Misses Carolyn Burnette, Rebecca Saunders, and Jean Brettschneider, none of whom were hurt. According to a statement made by Gamble the station wagon he was driving contained $40,000 worth of furs, but the stock was not greatly damaged.

Scott was booked on a reckless driving charge and he will be tried in Mayor's court on September 19th.

Cars driven by Hammett L. Saunders, of Roanoke, and J. W. Lancaster, of Thaxton, collided near Body Camp Sunday afternoon, each car being damaged in the amount of about $50. In the car with Mr. Saunders was his father and Mr. Lancaster had as a passenger his brother, James M. Lancaster, but none of the four men was hurt.

A car owned by the NYA and driven by a young man whose name could not be learned caught fire on Route 460, a mile west of Big Otter, Saturday afternoon and everything about it that would burn was destroyed. Another car was badly damaged by fire the same day on the Moneta road just out of town. The car was driven by a young man from Montvale named Noell, it was stated.

Warren Dooley suffered a severe injury to his knee Saturday night when a horse he was riding slipped and fell in front of the postoffice, the knee being caught between the animal and pavement. He is being treated at the John Russell hospital.

A. A. Rucker Heads Red Cross Drive

The 1942 American Red Cross roll call for the Bedford County Chapter will be headed by A. A. Rucker as chairman and J. D. S. Morgan, vice-chairman, it was announced yesterday by G. E. Heller, chapter chairman.

"Every enrollment can be considered this year as a direct contribution to the national defense program, to the rendering of vital services on Bedford's domestic front and to the alleviation of suffering abroad," Mr. Rucker said in accepting the leadership of the fund raising campaign. "We are confident," he said, "that the challenge of the November Roll Call will be met by our community in fullest measure."

The Roll Call will open on Armistice Day, November 11, and will close November 30, Mrs. Basil D. Murray, executive secretary of the Bedford County chapter, said.

Copperhead Strikes Boy on the Foot

Eugene Hackworth, small son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hackworth, of the Huddleston community, was brought to Bedford last Friday for treatment of a copperhead bite suffered that day. While playing near the home the boy saw the snake just in front of him and attempted to jump over it and was struck on the bottom of the foot by the reptile as he was in the air. He received medical attention soon after being bitten and is recovering nicely. Mr. Hackworth stated that he had just been over the spot with his team and thinks this probably irritated the snake and the little boy just happened along at the wrong time and was bitten.

Annual Budget is Adopted by Council

Y. D.'s Plan To Hold Large Brunswick Stew

Plans were laid for holding a brunswick stew during the last week in September, probably on Saturday, Sept. 29, at a meeting of the program committee of the County Young Democratic club Tuesday night. Miss Frances Turpin, of Big Island, is chairman of this committee and the meeting was held at the home of duVal Radford.

J. D. S. Morgan, president of the club, states that various committees will be appointed this week to undertake the work of putting on the brunswick stew and that a meeting of the chairman of these committees will be held Monday night at his home to discuss more definite arrangements. It is hoped that the county recreation park and lake can be utilized for the picnic. Tentative plans include invitations to State and district officers of the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia in order that the local club members may have an opportunity to meet these officials.

There are 207 members of the local club at present.

Gas Stations to Close On Sunday

As will be noted in an advertisement of gasoline dealers in this section, practically all stations will be closed on Sunday until further notice, beginning next Sunday, September 14. This step has been taken to help meet the threatened shortage of gasoline on the eastern seaboard, and is regarded as necessary despite recent measures adopted to meet the situation.

Canners and Packers Are Being Inspected

Inspectors of the wage and hour division of the federal department of agriculture are working in this section, with headquarters in Roanoke, and all establishments engaged in canning or packing fresh fruits and vegetables on a commercial scale are being given the once over. Seven men, working under Chief Inspector Robert P. Lane, are covering this territory to see that all provisions of the federal law are observed.

Mr. Lane states that although canners and packers are well informed on the law so far as the minimum wage of 30 cents an hour and overtime provisions of the act are concerned, the inspectors are finding that many do not understand the record-keeping requirements. For instance, he said, "Many canners pay peelers on the piece-work basis, which is perfectly all right, but the records must show the number of hours worked each work day and the compensation must not fall below 30 cents an hour for the time worked."

The wage-hour law makes certain exemptions for those engaged in canning or packing fresh fruits, chief of which is the exemption from the overtime provision of the act. Canners and packers are not required to pay time and a half overtime beyond forty hours a week, but can work their employees any number of hours for a period of fourteen weeks without paying the overtime penalty. In addition to this fourteen week period a partial exemption is granted whereby employees can work an additional fourteen weeks up to twelve hours a day, or 56 hours a week.

A dispatch from Washington under date of the 7th says the wage-hour administration has extended the above exemptions to an additional group of employees in canneries and packing hours, this group being composed of workers who handle, label, stamp, and box canned goods in plants, bonded and consolidated warehouses.

Entertainment Planned For St. Stephen's Benefit

A field day and supper will be followed by a dramatic entertainment for the benefit of Saint Stephen's Church, Forest, Saturday, Sept. 13, at the home of Mrs. Daniel B. Henderson, Triviura, Bellevue, Bedford county. The church has reopened this summer after having been closed for more than 20 years except for special occasions. It now has a regular rector, Rev. George Ronald MacClintock, and is undergoing repairs.

Elaborate plans made for the afternoon and evening include games and sports from 3:30 to 6:30 p. m.; supper 6:30 to 8 p. m.; play, at 8:30 p. m. Miss Louise Radford is in charge of reservations for supper. In case of inclement weather out of doors games will be cancelled but other events will be held indoors.

"The Grasshopper," a tragic cantata by Innes Randolph and directed by Charles M. Abbot, will be the dramitic presentation of the evening. Mrs. Jeanne Heald Anderson will play musical accompianaments.

Estimated Revenues Placed at $257,503

Provides for New Library And More Money for Schools and Streets

Mayor J. W. Gillaspie submitted to the Council Tuesday night his budget for the fiscal year which began Sept. 1st and it was adopted and provides more money for schools, street improvements, and other causes, and estimated receipts from all sources are larger than for any previous year. Total revenue is placed at $257,503.61, which includes the balance of $16,489.65 in the town treasury at the end of the last Fiscal year on August 31st.

As has been the case for the past twenty years or more, the town's electric system is the largest revenue producer, the amount estimated to be derived from that utility being placed at $145,000, or about $15,000 more than was caried in last year's budget. However, as the sale of current increases the amount which must be purchased from the Appalachian Company likewise grows, and the estimate of the Mayor on the amount the town will have to buy this fiscal year is placed at $30,000, though that figure may not be reached if the flow of James River is more normal this year than it was last year.

The water system is estimated to yield $30,000, or slightly more than last year. Revenue from all sources for town schools is estimated at $35,661, less than half of which, or $15,300, is derived from property taxes. Other sources of school revenue and the amounts are: State appropriation $9,150; State aid for home economics, $545.00; State aid for travel, $100.00; State aid for industrial arts, $916.00; tuition, $6,800.00; rents, $50.00; refunds for expenses of Negro Training School, $2,800.00. Town license taxes are estimated to yield $7,000.00; fines and costs in Mayor's court, $3,500.00; State tax on bank capital and surplus, $2,122.96; district and state street fund, $8,730.00; ABC board profits, $4,500.00; material and labor sold, $2,000.00; amount collected from electric lines (new work), $2,000.00; Service deposits, $500.00.

In expenditures the electric department takes the lead when the $30,000 for the purchase of current is counted in, the total running to $67,040.00, actual operating charges, plus cost of materials and the $5,000.00 emergency fund, being placed at $37,040.00. Schools take the second largest slice from the budget, the mayor estimating the cost of operating the town's educational system at $47,490.00, which is approximately $12,000 above school revenues, which difference is made up from regular town funds.

Other items of expense listed include: Administration, $12,115; Water department, $8,310; streets, $33,120; sewers, $4,500; police, $10,010; fire department, $2,380; insurance, $1,706.88; public welfare and charity, $1,624.50; motor vehicles, $6,010; interests on bonded indebtedness, $11,116.94; yearly maturing bonds, $21,004; service refunds, $500; sinking fund for retiring bonded indebtedness, $5,000; contingency fund, $16,576.29.

A new library building is provided for in the budget, $9,000 being set aside for that purpose, and the budget also carries $999.50 to cover operating expenses of the library during the year. The Council some months ago purchased the old Board property on North Bridge street as the site for the new library and later acquired a lot in the rear of that property from Mrs. C. L. Ayres. In addition to these, are Bedford Library Association deeded its building and lot to the town, the whole comprising an area sufficient for any further development that may be called for.

By unanimous vote the Council imposed the usual tax of 80c on the par value of the capital stock of local banks, this being 80 per cent of the statte tax. Under the law the whole amount of the levy would go to the State treasury should the locality fail to impose a tax.

To enlarge the play ground in the rear of the Bedford high school, the Council voted to purchase from Mrs. E. W. Connell a plot of land, containing nearly an acre, price being $1,200. This plot of ground was not included in the sale of her property to J. W. Hayes and was offered to the town by her agents, and was purchased because in the opinion of the Council it was desirable to own it as a protection to the school grounds.

To fill the vacancy on the municipal board of health created by the resignation of Dr. R. H. Hartwell, the Council elected Dr. W. G. Hardy.

Changes in Hours At Public Library

A change in hours is announced for the Bedford Library, under which the practice of keeping open Tuesday night of each week is abandoned, effective next week. During the summer months the library has been kept open that one night in each week for convenience of the public, but it is not regarded as necessary during the fall and winter. Next week the library goes back to the old schedule under which it will be open two days each week, Thursday and Saturday, from 4 to 6 p. m.

Both Sides Still Claiming Victory on Eastern Front. New Incidents Bring United States Nearer to War

As has been the case since the first day of the war on the Russian front, the situation is more or less confused by the contradictory reports sent out from warring capitals. No day has passed that Berlin did not proclaim victory, and Moscow, while admitting constant German advances, still talks bravely of eventual victory and dwells on the details of German losses in men and materials. But despite the confusion and the fact that German armies have occupied immense stretches of Russian territory, it cannot be overlooked that the four vital points—Leningrad, Moscow, Kiev and Odessa—at which the German offensive has been aimed are still in the hands of the Reds, even though they may now be hard-pressed.

The war which Hitler expected to win quickly is now in its twelfth week, with the Red army, somewhat battered it is true, still fighting as stubbornly as ever. The rainy season has already set in, slowing down the German oil-driven war machine, and winter is just around the corner, and this is not going to help the invader either. Apparently the German high command is concentrating its forces on the northern end of the long line for the capture of Leningrad, second Russian city in size and only port on the Baltic. Its fall would greatly simplify the German problem, as it would eliminate the only possible base for the Russian Baltic fleet which alone stands in the way of use by the Germans of the water route to northern Russia and for supplying aid to the Finns. Leningrad is also one of the chief manufacturing centers of the Soviet Union, and its loss on that ac-

GOD'S MINUTE.

For Bereaved Friends.

In Thy wisdom, Whose ways are past finding out, Thou hast appointed our dear ones unto tears. Thou has called them into sorrow's Gethsemane, where great loneliness and anguish wring their hearts. Grant, Father, that they may meet Jesus there. This is all that we can pray. Our blundering lips cannot comfort them and our blind eyes cannot discern the purpose of Thy providence. But, O Father of love, draw these sorrowing ones close to Thyself in the person of the sympathetic Saviour. Through their tears may they see Jesus. There is no comfort but i nThee, O God Triune; may all who weep find Thee. Be Thou companionship for their perplexity, strength for their weakness and courage for their new life of bereavement. Show them that all Thy plans for Thy children include two words. Reveal unto them the tenderness and humaneness of Thy sympathy; comfort them as those whom a mother comforts. This we ask in the name of the Saviour Who sorrowed and wept. Amen.

"MARK" FALLS ON HITLER; FIGURES BACK UP VERSE

"Here is wisdom. Let him that has understanding count the numbers of the beast for it is the numbers of a man and his number is six hundred three score and six."— Revelation, xiii, 17.

This is the famous "mark of the beast" verse of the Bible. It has been referred to many times when the "mark" hsa been placed upon word figures, especially in times of world revolutions and wars.

Nobody knows where it originated, but numerous Virginia persons are telling how Adolf Hitler has come in for his "mark." As discussed the "mark" falls upon Hitler in a comparatively simple way.

The plan is this:

Use the English alphabet, giving the number 100 to the letter "A," 101 to "B" and so on through the 26 letters.

It will be found that the letters "H-I-T-L-E-R" will be 107, 108, 119 111, 104 and 117, totaling 668— "six hundred three score and six."

Fashion Joins the Vlitzkrieg via The First "V for Victory" Dress

Now the first "V For Victory" dress joins up with the wild-fire "V" campaign launched by Prime Minister Churchill. Millions of women all over the unoccupied world will soon be making and wearing this new "V" dress designed by the Simplicity Pattern Company of New York. Patterns for the "V" dress are on their way to 7,500 stores across the United States. More, with sewing instructions in Spanish, are winging their way to department stores in the 21 Latin American republics. Others are bound for England and Australia. Miss Josephine Johnson, 1940 glamour debutante, chose this version of the "V" dress, made up in light grey wool. It has V-shaped shoulder sections outlined in bold red applique, V-shaped pocket flaps embroidered with the opening notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony — three long and one short, the equivalent of the gallant letter "V" in Morse code.

LIGHTNING VICTIMS ARE RATED CARELESS

Writer Gives a Number of Rules Of Safety

It is easy to be killed by lightning if a person wishes to be careless, but it is wholly unnecessary; 400 persons are killed each year by bolts but in most cases they are unconsciously imitating Ajax, the hero in mythology who defied the lightning. Most of the habits of lightning are known and it is possible to be entirely safe in the most severe storm.

Ninety per cent of the fatalities occur in rural sections. For the country as a whole, one person in 338,000 is killed by lightning. If the population were evenly divided between city and country, the lightning mortality rate in the country whould be one in 187,500 persons, and in the cities one in 1,687,500.

Lightning is not uniformly deadly in all parts o fthe country, according to Dr. P. O. Bellashi, Westinghouse research engineer, who has investigated more than 100 case records of persons killed and has produced more than 400,000 strokes of man-made lightning for testing electrical apparatus at the Sharon, Pa., high-voltage laboratory.

The safest parts of the country are the Pacific Coast States and the industrialized Eastern States. The most dangerous areas are those of the Southern States. In New Mexico, Arizona, Mississippi and Georgia the fatalities are 10 persons to each 1,000,000 of population. In California, where lightning deaths average one in two years ,the rate drops to 1-100 of this figure, or 0.1 a 1,000,000.

On the basis of his experience, Dr. Bellashi has complied these safety courses, suspend outdoor games, do not ride bicycles or horses and don't operate exposed machines such as tractors.

Avoid shelter under trees, particularly isolated trees.

Stay away from poles, masts and other exposed objects pointing skyward.

Get away from beaches, swimming pools and fishing ponds before the storm breaks if you can.

If working in a garden or open field go indoors.

Avoid exposed locations on hill tops or ridges; head for depressions, valleys, dense woods or the bottom of hills or cliffs.

When posible take shelter in large buildings; avoid small camp cottages, booths, sheds and small open barns.

Stay in your car if an electrical storm suddenly develops while you are motoring.

Keep away from wire fences, wires of all kinds, metal objects and pipes.

Stand clear of stoves and pipes in the kitchen or cellar and shun the chimney and fireplace.

Stay away from the attic. Don't stand near a window or door, particularly when it is open. Choose a place preferablyy near the center of the room.

The Empire State Building is a monument to the falsity of the statement that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. It has been struck hundreds of times and occupants of the building were not aware that it had been hit. The heavy steel frame conducts the current harmlessly to the ground.

Dr. Karl B. McEacheron, head of the General Electric Company's high-voltage laboratory, has been using the Empire State tower as a lightning trap and has photographed many of the flashes that have struck it in the last five years. The work has been expanded this summer, Dr. McEacheron reported a few days ago to the American Institute of Electric Engineers at its meeting in Toronto.

For four years pictures were taken of the flashes from a room on the thirty-ninth floor at 500 Fifth Avenue, nearly a half mile north of the Empire State Tower. This summer an additional station has been set up on the roof of the Printing Crafts Building at Thirty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue, nearly a half-mile to the west of the tower. By getting pictures simultaneously from the north and west, a three-dimensional model can be made of the structure of the lightning flashes.

In the five-year study 112 lightning flashes have been recorded by the two cameras at the Fifth Avenue observation post. One is designed to take a still picture in the ordinary way and the other is provided with the earth's magnetic lines of force and appear as a shower on the east side of the lightning flash. Dr. E. C. Halliday, an associate of Dr. Schoenland, has investigated this expected distribution and found it does not exist, he reports in a communication in the current issue of "Physical Review."

Dr. Halliday's work raises a doubt as to whether the cosmic rays observed result from the lightning flash. This opens a question as to whether the cosmic rays may be the cause of the flash. Our present teories of how lightning is generated are weak in a number of aspects, so there is considerable doubt as to whether they represent the correct picture of what happens in a thunder cloud.

PRESIDENT'S MOTHER PASSED AWAY SUNDAY

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, 86, who lived to see her only son become President of the United States, died Sunday noon at the ancestral Roosevelt home overlooking the Hudson river.

Death came at 12:15 a. m. of an acute circulatory collapse, resulting pricipally from her advanced age. The first intimation of her declining health came last Friday when President Roosevelt left Washington for Hyde Park to visit his mother whom he said he wished to undergo a physical checkup.

Mrs. Roosevelt died while her son—the 32nd President of the United States—was preparing an address of major importance to the world, scheduled to be broadcast from the White House in Washington Monday night.

It was announced officially that the address, expected to deal with the new tension in German-American relations, would be postponed until 9 p. m. (EST) Thursday. It will be carried from the White House my major American networks and rebroadcast to the world in 14 languages.

Dr. Scott L. Simth, the family physician, announced that Mrs. Roosevelt had been unconscious for 12 hours preceding her death and that her condition had not become alarming until Saturday evening.

Even at her advanced age she was extremely active, attending many charitable functions and state occasions. She had spent the summer at her cottage on Campobello Island, New Brunswick, leaving August 31 for Hyde Park.

Both the President and his wife were with his mother when she died. They had spent the last night at her bedside.

Her greatest joy was her son, whom she referred to occasionally when speaking in public as "my son, the President." Although noted for her extreme energy and activity, she preferred to avoid the limelight, but if she could lend herself on any occasion in a manner to "help Franklin," she usually did.

She had watched her son take command of a country in the depths of depression and lead a fight for domestic recovery perhaps unparalleled in the nation's history. Then she saw him become a spokesman of democracy opposed to the advance of totalitarianism in a world at war.

Once in 1939, when she sailed for Paris, she was asked if she were not afraid of war. She replied:

"I don't know. I suppose so, but if it comes I'll live through it. And if not—" she shrugged and smiled.

Mrs. Roosevelt had been a widow since December 8, 1900.

Although her hair was white and her face showed some sign of her age, she was a handsome woman, retaining much of the singular beauty which had caused friends in her young womanhood to label her and her four sisters "the five beautiful Delano sisters."

Mrs. Roosevelt will be buried in the yard of St. James' Episcopal Church in Hyde Park, where the President's father was interred.

Mrs. Roosevelt not only lived to see her only son become President of the United States—the 32nd—but also lived to see him shatter all precedent by being elected to a third term in the highest office in the land.

She was born September 21, 1854, the daughter of a long line of merchants in the Far East trade. Her father was Warren Delano, who engaged in banking and commerce. Her marriage to James Roosevelt October 7, 1880 joined her to a line equally aristocratic.

Only 20 miles separated her Hyde Park estate on the Hudson river from her girlhood home "Algonac" near Newburgh, N. Y.

Mrs. Roosevelt's death came only two weeks from what would have been her 87th birthday anniversary, which by family tradition was observed at the Hyde Park estate.

Smokelss Stove Invented

When Neal Van Hoose's soft-coal mine near Belleville, Ill., was shut down by restrictions imposed by the stringent St. Louis anti-smoke ordinance, he resolved to do something about it.

Now he's announced the invention of a downdraft stove which not only will burn any type coal, including the very poorest, according to the Ringelman chart for smoke density, without smoke, but also will heat the average home on about half as much coal.

Van Hoose's stove is U-shaped. The draft passes down through the coal in the hopper while the fire burns upward.

He estimates the stove can be manufactured to retail for about $30.

It's a funny thing that a shower of rain can't freshen up people like it does the flowers and trees.

FAMILY REUNIONS.

Williamson Reunion

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R .E. Williamson, near Body Camp, Sunday, August 24th, their annual reunion. Over one hundred people were present. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson have eleven children, twenty-five grand children and four great grandchildren, all of whom were present.

A bountiful dinner, consisting of ham, beef, pork, mutton, chicken, cakes, pies and all the trimmings, was spread on a forty-five foot table with "Mommy" at the head and "Poppy" at the foot.

In the afternoon, contests were held, Mrs. Mack Crowder winning the prize for being the oldest person present and Kenneth Updike, the youngest present. Other contest winners were Mrs. Albert Witt, Mrs. Bryant Johnson, Henry Lloyd, Onie Williamson, Betty Johnson, Shirley Mae Witt, Bobby Updike and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williamson. Music was furnished during the day by the Williamson String Band, consisting of Harry, Theo and Mike Williamson and Edison Skinnell. The table was again spread for supper, after which every one left, reporting an enjoyable time spent, and their desire to make this an annual occasion.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williamson; Mike Williamson; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Williamson; Mr. and Mrs. Onie Williamson and daughter Geraldine; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Skinnell and children; Mrs. W. B. Reunion of English Family

Sunday, August 31, 1941, the descendents of the late Marcus DeLafayette and Elizabeth Johnson English journeyed to the old homestead in Bedford County to spend the day together. It was a beautiful day, though somewhat hot, but on reaching the old place, talking over past memories, treading childhood paths, sitting on the lawn in the shade of old trees, viewing the lovely landscape of the majestic peaks of Smith's Mountain, watching the rippling waters of Staunton river sparkling in the sunshine like millions of diamonds, heat was forgotten and happy greetings were exchanged.

Guests were arriving continuously from 10 a. m. until past noon. Every child of the above mentioned couple was present except the oldest, the late Mrs. Eugie Blount; also a large number of grandchildren and great grand children.

Following are the children and grandchildren present: Zora English, Morris and husband; R. D. Morris and children, Lynchburg; Melvale English Miller and husband, Dr. W. B. Miller and children, Charleston, W. Va.; Belle English Wade and husband, W. E. Wade, Arlington; W. B. English and wife, Ola Yeatts, and son, Altavista; George P. English and wife, Nolia Law, and children, Leesville; Juanita English Hughes and husband, E. Gaither Hughes, Appomattox; Emma English Burnette and son, Leesville; Dr. O. Kyle Burnette and wife, "Tippy", Culpeper; M. S. English and wife, Margie Blount, and children; Georgie English and wife Eva Woody; Rocky Mount; Myrtle English Motley, Danville; Augusta English Saunders and husand, R. M. Saunders, and Aubrey Saunders; Madeline Saunders Holdren and husband, William Holdren, Moneta; James D. Garland, Bricen and Wellford Saunders; Vivian Saunders Snipes and husband, Earle Snipes, Washington, D. C.

The Blount grandchildren present were Beba Blount, G. M. Blount and wife, Mrs. J. F. Hatcher and husband, J. G. Blount and wife, F. D. Blount and wife, Mrs, A. L. Angle and husband, Carey Blount and Errol Blount, Roaonoke; the great grandchildren present were Betty Gay and Jimmie Ray Holdren, Moneta; Margaret Ann Saunders, Washington; Winifred English, Ramsey Ann English, Julia Ruth, Billy and Bobby Parcell, Rocky Mount; Betty English Motley, Danville; Justine Blount, Douglas and Wayne Blount, Roanoke.

It is interesting to note that the oldest grandchild, Reba Blount Lavender and the youngest, Annette English were present.

At 1:00 P. M., a sumptous dinner was spread in the shade of the old trees. After lunch, pictures were taken of all descendents present.

Among the friends of the family that were present were the following: Jim Burnette, Moneta; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Carbett Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, Willie Mitchell, Abner Anthony and others.

Descendents of the English slaves present were; Rose English Leftwich, Punch English, Daniel Thomas and Roxie English.

As the sun neared the west the guests departed, having spent a joyous day together and hoping to be reunited again next year.

DeWitt Family Reunion.

It was a glorious occasion Aug. 31, when all the children and grandchildren of the late J. L. DeWitt gathered for their second annual reunion. Those present included J. M. DeWitt and family, Miss Gladys DeWitt, George DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cunningham, all of Lynchburg; Mrs. E. R. Crawford, of Madison Heights; and C. M. DeWitt and wife, of San Antonio, Tex.

Yours truly was privileged to be present at two picnics the same day. Both by the DeWitt family. One was held at Snowden, the other at Madison Heights.

There was plenty of entertainment afterwards. The three sons are musicians and did an outstanding job of entertaining with songs both old and new.

"YOURS TRULY."

MARTIN REUNION

The sixth annual reunion of the Martin family will be held at the Staunton Baptist Church on Sunday, Sept. 21, 1941. All relatives and their friends are invited to come.

Firemen Embarrassed

Sometimes it is not the heat of the blaze that makes a fireman's face red. The other day in Great Falls, Mont., firemen were called to a local hotel to entinguish a burning mattress and pillow.

On the bed was a woman, in night attire. The firmen blushed, sprinkled water on the bed and left.

A woman used to be a lot more thoughtful and considerate of her husband when she thought he was the only one she would ever get.

WHY

DO SOME BUSINESSES PROSPER WHILE OTHERS FAIL?

- Assuming basic soundness of an enterprise, and adequate capitalization, the main reason for its success or failure in normal times is the quality of its management.
- Alert business men, realizing this fact, ally themselves with a progressive bank; use the bank's facilities for obtaining information and advice; borrow from the bank whenever credit is the wise and profitable course.
- If your business needs money, we will be glad to consider your application for a loan.

OBITUARY

G. W. Johnson

George William Johnson, retired business man and one of the oldest residents of Bedford, passed away at his home on Oak street Sunday afternoon, following a comparatively brief illness, though his health had been failing for several years. He had reached the ripe old age of 84 and up to a few weeks ago was able to come over town and was mentally alert and interested in current affairs and news of the day until a short time before the end came.

Mr. Johnson was born and reared in Bedford county, was a son of the late George Johnson and Caroline Hatcher Johnson, and was widely connected throughout the Southeside. When a comparatively young man he entered into business partnership with his brothers-in-law, the late L. R. Gills and C .W. Gills, and for a number of years was engaged in the mercantile business in Rocky Mount. Nearly half a century ago the firm opened a store in Bedford and later the second store was opened and Mr. Johnson came to Bedford to aid in the active management, and made his home here until his death.

Mr. Johnson was one of the organizers of the Bedford Can Company, and was secretary-treasurer of the enterprise. After successful operation for a number of years, the plant was sold to the Continental Can Company and following this deal he retired from active business life, though he maintained a wholesome interest in the business life of Bedford until his death.

Mr. Johnson was a life-long member of the Methodwist church and to the work of this denomination, and to all Christian causes, he gave devoted and unselfish service. During the active years of his life he served the church here as official and member of the choir and until just a few weeks before the end came he was regular in his attendance upon Sunday school and church services. He was quiet and unassuming in manner, but possessed a strong force of character which was felt by all with whom he was thrown in contact and few men of Bedford have exerted a larger influence for good than he. By young and old alike he was held in high regard and by those whose lives intimately touched his the word veneration best describes their feeling toward him. He was a good and just man and the world is better for his having lived.

Mr. Johnson was twice married and is survived by two children of his first marriage, Mrs. A. R. DiCicco, of Los Angeles, Caliofrnia, and Mrs. Robert L. James, of Bedford, and by his second wife, Mrs. Coral J. Burnette Johnson, also of Bedford.

Conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Douglas, assisted by Dr. G. H. Spooner, Dr. J. H. Grey and Dr. H. P. Clause, funeral services were held in the Bedford Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and the body was placed in the family vault in Longwood cemetery. Active pallbearers were R. E. White, W. R. Phelps, T. P. West, Frank Scott, W. A. Fitzpatrick and E. L. Wingfield.

Honorary pallbearers were F. Ford, C. D. Vaughan, W. N. Stone, E. D. English, Watts Burks, McHenry Nance, G .C. Luck, W. P. Hicks, Frank Mitchell, J. L. Borden, Dr. M. P. Rucker, J. A. Hogan, J. A. Funeral was conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at Shady Grove church, conducted by Rev. C. E. Derby and interment was in the family cemetery.

Surviving are his daughter, five grandchildren, one neice, two nephews and one uncle.

Active pallbearers were: Howard Foster, A. M. Light, Fred Kenneth, James Goad. Johnnie and Garland Neighbors. Honorary pallbearers and flowerbearers were Roy Carter. Lewis Bowling, Tyree Brown, Tazewell Boothe, Otis Watson and Frank Crowder.

In the book of life are memories
Of the happiest moments I've known
And recorded in love is the blessing
Of a wonderful Father, my own.

Bright homes are often saddened
With loneliness and loss,
Death takes away a loved one
And leaves a heavy cross.

Oft and oft my thoughts will wander
To your grave so far away,
Where I laid you, dearest Father
A few days ago today.

More and more each day I miss you,
Friends may think the wound will heal
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within my heart concealed.

ready under way, with a number of cities and towns in western and southwestern Virginia already so marked. It is estimated, however, that several years will be required to complete this phase of the marker program. Markers will be erected as fast as funds are made available for the project, Chairman Smith stated.

The city and town markers are a part of the state-wide system of historical markers. This system, now fourteen years old, was the first system of state markers to be started in the United States. A number of other states have patterned their systems after Virginia's, though none of the states have as many markers as Virginia, which has already erected nearly 1,400 along the principal highways of the state.

For the more rapid traveler, the Conservation Commission has prepared a booklet entitled, "State Historical Markers of Virginia," which gives the text of all the markers. Through a system of numbering and lettering, which can be caught easily by the passing eye, the motorist can read the inscriptions from the booklet in his lap without the necessity of stopping his car at each marker. If one desires to stop and read the markers, he will find that parking turnouts have been erected at many of the markers for the convenience and safety of the motorist.

Something New in Reuions.

Down in Virginia we are famous for our family reunions, but out in Indiana they have sprung a new one. Recently the Montgomery county "Marys" had their 20th annual reunion. Any woman or girl whose first name is Mary is eligible to belond and attend. At the 1941 reunion there was a record attendance.

News From The Nation's Capital

All the excitement about a shortage of gasoline on the Atlantic seaboard begins to appear to have been "much ado about nothing." In Washington many congressional and business leaders maintained from the start that there was no shortage of gasoline and that all the restrictions imposed were useless, but whether that was true or not, it now seems quite clear that if there was in reality a shortage no intelligent effort was made to meet it. After a lot of talk and threats of drastic action, representatives of the railroads told the country that plenty of railway tank cars were available to haul 200,000 barrels of oil daily from the fields to the seaboard and almost immediately the oil companies fell into line and the problem seemed solved. Rail transportation is more expensive than by water, of course, but the railroads offered to cut their rates in half to meet this objection.

To refute repeated charges that production of aircraft is away behind schedule, figures were released last week showing that manufacturers of military planes delivered 1,854 fighters and bombers during August, which was an increase of 394 over July. Officials did not disclose how many of the planes went to England and how many to our own army and navy, nor did they disclose how many of each type was delivered. The total was the highest production in any month this year and the increase over July was the greatest increase shown in any one month.

By the top-heavy vote of 67 to 5, the Senate last Friday passed the $3,583,900,000 revenue bill—the biggest tax measure in history and one which it is estimated will add nearly five million more Americans to the income tax roll. The Senate bill carries $367,500,000 more than the bill as it passed the House, and now goes back to the last named body for consideration of these increases. Administration leaders believe the lower house will vote foor the bill as it passed the Senate. for the bill as it passed the Senate. isting income tax rates and imposes new ones on both individuals and corporations, would lower present personal exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single individuals.

Supported by President Roosevelt but bitterly attacked by Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.), and several other senators, the lowered exemptions are expected by the treasury to yield $303,000,000 annually in revenue and to require 4,911,000 additional persons to file income tax returns. However, it is estimated that because of various deductions, only 2,256,000 additional persons actually will have to pay taxes.

The bill would levy a 10 percent rate on bottom bracket incomes subject to both the 4 per cent normal tax and a 6 per cent surtax. Rates would range upward to 81 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000.

The measure also raises existing corporation taxes and applies new surtaxes of 6 per cent on net income up to $25,000 and 7 per cent on income over that figure.

It levies a score of miscellaneous, or "nuisance" taxes on everything from footballs to furs, furnaces to phonographs.

Congressional economy advocates hail the Byrd amendment to the tax bill as one of the most effective steps yet taken to curb non-essential spending. In a two-way attack on the issue, Senator Byrd obtained Senate approval of a tax bill amendment providing for the setting up of a joint congressional and executive department committee to make a "full and complete" study of all expenditures with a view to recommending reductions in non-essentials.

Final approval of the Byrd tax bill amendment must gain acceptance of the House through conferenee, and its ultimate fate is still problematical.

The latest proposal by Byrd is only one of many he has advanced in his constant campaigning for economy. Last year, during consideration of the 1940 tax bill, he forced a vote on a proposal to "authorized and direct" the President to bring about a 10 per cent horizontal reduction in all non-defense outlays.

Administration leaders, however, by a close margin of two votes, were able to modify his proposal by striking out the words "and direct," leaving the amendment only "authorizing" the reduction.

Byrd contending that the President already had such authority and that the language was therefore meaningless, himself made the motion to kill the amendment entirely.

Cat Chums With Goldfish

A white Persian cat owned by Mrs. D. Montgomery, of West Point, Miss., fraternizes with Mrs. Montgomery's goldfish. When Tabby gets thirsty, she drinks from the fish bowl. The fish swim to the surface to watch.

Once Mrs. Montgomerys' tiny pet turtle climbed out of the bowl. The cat, Mrs. Montgomery says, gently picked it up with her mouth and dropped it back.

SUNVALLEY SERENADE

Making even the snow hot, Glenn Miller and his orchestra play seven new smash hit tunes in the latest 20th Century-Fox hit, "Sun Valley Serenade," which stars Sanja Henie and John Payne, Milton Berle, Lynn Bari, Joan Davis and the Nicholas Brothers complete the featured cast of the entertaining film which starts Thursday, September 11, at the Liberty Theatre; and also pdays Friday and Saturday at the Bridge.

Got More Than She Expected

Mrs. Lucy Martin, of Chester, Pa., got quite a shock when she opened the front door and reached for the milk. The milk was there but so were 29 bottles of whiskey— full and untouched.

Two Negroes robbed a taproom and left the liquor on Mrs. Martin's step when they nearly were apprehended, police revealed.

Melon Grower in a Pickle

Joel Neuenschwander, near Berne, Ind, thought he planted an acre of cantaloupes last spring.

The vines grew rapidly, despite dry weather. Showers brought the plants along nicely.

Then Mr. Neuenschwander wanted to show a neighbor his melon patch. The first vine they came to had a pickle on it.

"Must be a pickle in here by mistake," Mr. Neuenschwander said.

Scheme Didn't Work

To thwart thieves, Farmer Max Russ, of near Agawam, Okla., tucked a dummy into bed at his watermelon stand last night before attending a show.

When he got back, he found that an automobile had crashed into the stand, scattering his melons and wrecking the cot where he ordinarily would have been sleeping.

Best friends were amazed in woman's improved looks... new energy...pep!

A marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, underweight, sluggishness and loss of appetite —all by two important steps—

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunates who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overtaxing worries ... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection ... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number ... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength ... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat ... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality ... pep ... become animated ... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again

Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food ... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color ... this makes for greater strength ... color in your cheeks ... resistance against disease attacks.

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Stewards of the Main Street Methodist church last Monday night it was agreed upon to adopt the fourth Sunday, Sept. 28th, as the date for the annual home-coming of the congregation. Inasmuch as that Sunday is always observed especially as Young People's Day, this added feature will bid fair to make it a day of genuine significance in the life of the church.

The resiodence of Miss Emma Minor near Thaxton, leaked and the other day she had some workmen repairing the roof, when it was discovered that lightning had struck it some time recently, but she was unaware of it. The bolt evidently went about half way down the chimney, and then burst through the side away from the house. If it had gone in the other direction it probably would have set the house on fire.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

In tribute to the memory of George W. Johnson, who departed this life on Sunday, September 7, 1941, the Board of Directors of The Peoples National Bank of Bedford adopt the following resolutions:

That throughout his entire service as a director of this bank George W. Johnson displayed a fidelity to that trust, a wisdom in counsel, a courage in action and a loyalty to its interests that have sustained the best traditions of his bank and have been an inspiration and example to his associates;

That his active and unselfish service in all movements for community welfare evidenced a devotion to his community and its people that marked him as one of Bedford's most useful and public-spirited citizens;

That in his personal contacts with his fellow men he exhibited a thoughtful courtesy and consideration, a generous friendliness which held for him not only the esteem, but the sincere affection, of those who knew him;

That in his passing the Town of Bedford has sustained a community loss; The Peoples National Bank of Bedford has lost a faithful and efficient official and the members of this Board have each lost a sincere friend whose memory they will cherish and revere;

That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Board; that a copy be published in the local papers and that a copy be mailed to the widow of our deceased friend, with the assurances of the sympathy of the members of this Board in her bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear father and uncle, J. H. Brown, who departed this life two years ago Sept. 9, 1939.

We will not mourn or grieve too deeply
We'll think of you as just away;
Free from pain and free from sorrow,
Where the skys are never gray.

As we travel slowly onward,
Passing millstones one by one,
God will lead us safely over
When our earthly course is run.

You have journeyed on before us,
Through it's only for a while,
We miss your pleasant greetings
And your tender, loving smile.

But we know you will be waiting
At the gateway bright and fair,
And will greet us some glad morning
As we join you over there.

MARRIAGES

Agee—Meador

Miss Josephine Elizebth Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis V. Meador, of Vinton, became the bride of Louie Bond Agee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton C. Agee, of Roanoke, at 10 o'clock, September 5, in St. Andrew's church, Father T. B. Martin officiating.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and roses. Mrs. W. P. McPhilamy played several selections of wedding music preceding the ceremony which included The Rosary, Ave Maria and the wedding marches.

Mrs. Agee was attired in a street-length blue dress with dark blue velveteen trim and blue accessories. She carried a white prayer book showered with gardenias.

Miss Mary Louise Meador, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a beige suit trimmed in brown velveteen and her flowers were a nosegay of talisman roses. Irving Routt was best man for Mr. Agee.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained at a wedding breakfast at their home honooring the bridal party.

Burks—Thomas

Miss Edith Marion Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Thomas, of Check, and William Perry Burks, son of Mrs. W. L. Burks, of Roanoke, were married on Sept. 6, the ceremany being performed in the parlor of the First Baptist church, Roanoke, by Dr. Walter P. Binn.

The bride was attired in a soldier blue costume suit with soldier blue and black accessories, and her flowers were a corsage of orchids.

Miss Jessie Thomas, sister of the bride and only attendant, was attired in a butterfly wine dress with black accessories and her flowers were a corsage of talisman roses.

Watson Burks, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dan Lindamood and Kerford Key.

Out of town guests who attended the wedding were: Miss Erma Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tredinnick, of Cedar Grove, N. J., Dr. J. G. Walker, of Richmond; Mrs. J. L. Burks, of Bluefield, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Burks, Mrs. Malcolm Moon, Mrs. Walter Mitchell, of Covington; Miss Beatrice Marshall and nephew, Ed Marshall, of Bedford.

Kendrick—Tuck

Miss Lois Maybelle Tuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Tuck, of Leesville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roley Kendick, of Huddleston, were married here on September 4th, Dr. H. P. Clause performing the ceremony at the Baptist pastorium.

Holdren—Viar

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Viar, of Lynchburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mamie Grace, to William Terry Holdren, which took place yesterday at noon at the home of Rev. A. J. Ponton, who officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Holdren will live at 1600 Grace street in Lynchburg.

Approaching Marriage

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Calvin Cronise, of Buchanan, to the marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to William Vincent Reynolds, of Vinton, on Wednesday, September 17 at 8 p. m. at the Wheatland Lutheran Church.

ARMY MORALE

A great deal has appeared in the daily press in recent weeks respecting the low morale of the young men in the military training camps, and the alarm felt in official quarters over the situation appears to be justified by the facts. Only in rare instances, of course, is there any open rebellion among the thousands of young men called up for training, but neither is there apparent any great amount of the enthusiasm one would expect to find among men when the security of their country is threatened. Most of the trainees, to be perfectly frank about it, are in camp because the law demands that they be there, and that is not a healthy condition of affairs in a period of danger.

Various reasons have been ascribed for this mental state of men called to the army. As we view it none of these can be classed as more than contributory causes, but in fact, are merely evidence of the spirit of discontent. To get at the bottom of the trouble one must go deeper, search for the fundamental reason which prompts the youth of America to regard with indifference the threat to national safety which has grown out of the present world crises. In no period of American history has the nation's manpower failed to make patriotic response in times of peril, and we are not fearful it will fail now if proper steps are taken to dissipate the fog which makes clear vision of the real situation uncertain and doubtful. The men in training are indiferent, or suffering from low morale if you prefer that style of expressing it, mainly for two kindred reasons. First, they do not have a clear idea of what is involved; and second, this failure to obtain a clear mental picture derives from the failure of our educational system in properly impressing upon the minds of American youth what the American way of life really means to the individual and why it is the patriotic duty of Americans to defend and preserve it against all threats from without or within. One man called to camp for training states that he "has been astonished at the general ignorance among the soldiers of the simple facts of American history and tradition," which briefly, but pointedly, gives the truth as to why the men in camp are suffering from "low morale."

For generations we have placed the wrong emphasis on the freedom and liberty guaranteed by the constitution, with the result that American youths have absorbed the dangerously erroneous idea that they are a law unto themselves, are under no obligation to the country, owe to it no duty or service. This frame of mind is not so much an indictment of American youth as it is of our educational system. We believe our young people are fundamentally sound, as much so as in any previous period in the nation's history, but their understanding has become dsitorted because their minds have not been trained in the right conception of American history and ideals. Indeed, it would be somewhat unreasonable to expect young men to display enthusiasm, to give evidence of patriotism, when, until the crisis appeared, little or no effort had been made to plant in their minds an understanding of the principles upon which their country is founded and why those principles mean so much to each of them personally.

The whole truth of the matter is that the youths of this country have been allowed too free a hand in their own training and we are now harvesting the fruits of that mistaken policy. The young of well-to-do parents have been spoiled by the granting of too much ease and freedom from responsibility and those from poorer families have been coddled by a paternalistic government into the false belief that the country owes them a living. Under such circumstances one can well understand the lack of enthusiasm so manifest in the camps and among young men of military age, the wonder being that they are meeting the situation as well as they are. We imagine that the attitude of young Bedford county men is typical of the attitude of the young the country over. They are responding to the call to service without protest or undue efforts to avoid it, but also without that enthusiasm which can manifest itself only when there is complete understanding of the issues involved. Patriotism, duty to country, obedience to the law, are things which have never been stressed in the training of American youth, and without knowledge and appreciation of these fundamentals of good citizenship there can be no great enthusiasm in the country's service.

ABOUT THE STATE POLICE

Governor Price has proposed a reduction in the number of game wardens, a proposal with which no one with even a remote knowledge of the aims and objects of the game and fish department will agree, but it seems to have found some favor with the editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. The latter, however, does not think the Governor has gone near far enough and offers as an amendment the proposal that all the game wardens in the State be fired and the reason given for this drastic step has drawn the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch into the argument. The Richmond editor, noting the fact that fifty new officers will probably be added to the State traffic force by the coming session of the General Assembly, wants the work of the wardens turned over to the traffic cops, "which would make it much easier," he says, "for the state troopers to do a good job of enforcing the State game laws, where only a poor one is being done at the present time."

The Norfolk editor, in dissenting from this heresy, expresses the hope that the incoming administration will not even consider such a suggestion, a hope which is shared by most people interested in either the department of game and fish or in the maintenance of law and order in Virginia. The Ledger-Dispatch, while confessing a benevolent outlook on the practise of using the State police force for "emergency duties not connected with highway patrol," expressed the conviction that "it would be a dangerous departure from the fundamental duty of the state police force any continuing assignment which would compel it to serve as a force of game wardens."

That statement of the case about sums up the sentiment of most Virginians on this subject because experience has taught that certain laws cannot be properly enforced by ordinary, or general, policing, and that only by establishing a force and assigning certain specific duties can desired results be obtained. We fear our Richmond contemporary has only very limited knowledge of conditions throughout Virginia touching law enforcement, and especially the game, fish and dog laws, which are under the jurisdiction of the department of Game and Inland Fisheries, or the rather wild suggestion noted above would not have been given expression. And likewise, the knowledge of Governor Price about this particular department of the State government appears to be distressingly meagre, or he would not now be proposing a reduction in the number of game wardens.

The Bulletin is not so ill advised about the operation of this department as to make a general defense of its policies and their method of execution, but is well enough informed to be sure that more wardens, not less, are required for a minimum enforcement of the laws over which it has jurisdiction. In our judgment the department badly needs a housecleaning. Its control should be taken out of the hands of politicians and its executive personnel could likewise be changed with large benefits to the conservation cause, but to reduce the number of wardens or place the duties they now perform into the hands of the State traffic force would be suicidal. Should that step be taken all game, fish and dog laws might as well be repealed at the same sitting, as they would be only so much deadwood on the statute books.

This paper has always favored a state constabulary of not less than 300 men for the general enforcement of law, but organized and trained into groups, with each group having a particular assignment. The activity of these groups, however, would not be limited to the enforcement of just one set of laws. If those assigned to traffic duty ran into some other violation they would make the arrest and appear against the accused in court, and so on through the entire organization. Under the present system the State and localities have a veritable multitude of officers, but lax enforcement because there is no central authority or cooperative effort. The game warden would never think of arresting a speeder or drunken driver; the traffic cop ignores the man hunting or fishing without a license and the unlicensed dog; the ABC force is interested only in apprehending those who break the liquor laws, and most local officers never fool with any special laws or the violators thereof.

It is a rather crazy system and we wonder why Virginia people tolerate it, but as bad as it is it is better than could possibly be had under the proposal of either the Governor or the Times-Dispatch, especially touching the game department. Both the Governor and the editor have overlooked the important fact that this department is supported entirely by those who hunt or fish or own dogs and that, its revnue being derived from these particular sources, the law requires that it be spent for the enforcement of the game, fish and dog laws. That is, it is in a quite distinct manner set apart from the balance of the State government, and those who bear the expense natually want the revenue expended in such manner as will benefit them most, namely: For the conservation and protection of game and fish and to weed out dogs on which no one will pay the tax. To illustrate what would probably happen if game wardens were eliminated we cite the operation of this last law. There is no particular reason why enforcement of the dog law should be placed in hands of this department except that it had come to be recognized that unless some one officer was charged with seeing that the tax was paid no revenue could be expected from this source. Dog taxes in Bedford county amount to more than $5,000 a year, of which the game department gets only 15 per cent, and enforcement of this one law alone justifies, even makes necessary, the employment of a warden. But leaving revenue out of consideration altogether some method of controlling the dog population and of preventing the spread of rabies requires the almost full time and attention of one man in a county the size of Bedford.

We join with the Ledger-Dispatch in the hope and belief that the incoming administration will sponsor no radical changes for the game department. It would, as stated above, benefit from certain reforms and a general reorganization, but the fundamentals should be not disturbed.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WARTIME PUBLICITY

Every so often somebody in public life raises a howl that there is a censorship of the doings of the nation in its national defense program. To meet this chronic kick, the War Department arranged a tour for eight editors of metropolitan dailes. The visitors were taken to five ordnance plants east of the Mississippi and were given an almost complete run of each. They were encouraged to ask questions and were given prompt answers as to production, cost and time schedules.

One of the editors, Hamilton Owens, of the Baltimore Sun, recounting his experiences, expressed tremendous surprise in headway made, and summed it up like this: "But the main point is there is no friction. The set-up, whatever its shortcomings from the ideal point of view, is clearly working out as far as production goes. The accomplishments to date are so tremendous, the promise for the almost immediate future so enlivening to the spirit that the necessary result is a quickening of national pride. One gets the feeling that the sluice gates are being opened, slowly, perhaps, but inevitably, and that in a little while, a very little while, there will be such a flood of production that it will make all our previous efforts seem a mere trickle by comparison."

The unbounded enthusiasm of Mr. Owens was shared by the other editors, who were impressed with Uncle Sam's production methods and confident of the ultimate outcome. This personal tour is typical of the way that the Army conducts its business. It has nothing to hide from the American people; in fact, wants the people to know exactly where the Army stands at every moment. Also, the tour helps to dissipate the slanders and lies which have been spread by the confusionists and defeatists and the isolationists who are continuously preaching that anything we do now will be too late. Maybe we have not been too prompt in our preparations, but most assuredly we are not too late.—Trenton (N. J.) Times.

MORE LIGHT ON OIL

Recent events have done nothing to clear up the muddled state of public opinion concerning the gasoline situation in the Eastern States. President Roosevelt holds out hope of an easing in the shortage next Spring, and Price Administrator Henderson, while taking steps to hold gasoline prices in check in the East, remarks that those dealers who have raised prices must have been "misled by unjustified fear of drastic restriction." Meanwhile Petroleum Coordinator Ickes and his associates seem disposed for the moment to slacken their warnings of a shortage, but Congresssional critics have reiterated their suspicions that the oil shortage has been exaggerated to drum up increased public consciousness of the war and its implications. In all this there has been no response to the widespread demand for a more exact statement of the real facts.

Under the circumstances the decision of the Senate Commerce Committee to conduct an inquiry into the troubled oil situation is a desirable step. If a real shortage is close at hand, it is important for the public to become convinced of that fact as soon as possible. If the shortage has been exaggerated and the curtailment efforts bungled, the errors had best be exposed. Whatever the true facts with respect to oil, there will be other genuine shortages calling for voluntary public sacrifices in the future. A full examination of the mistakes made in dealing with the gasoline problem may provide a guide to better methods when other shortages have to be met.—New York Times.

FAVORED DARLINGS

"Disgraceful" is the adjective applied to strikes by the Army Ordnance association. The association condemns them as a blot on the defense program.

The public generally has a stronger word than disgraceful for defense strikes, and the adjective generally accompanying the word is a profane one. To the public a defense strike, especially over some trumped-up-pretense, seems traitorous.

If a person were to hamper operation of the draft law by word or deed he would be placed in a strong jail as a traitor. If he were to do anything to interfere with production at a defense plant he would be roughly collared and put under the jail, and rightly so. But he can strike until his tongue hangs out and that's all right.

The favored darlings in this emergency are the defense strikers. They must be petted, coaxed, cajoled and highly paid. You know what would happen to them under a dictatorship, don't you? Yet, by their actions they help the dictators, give much aid and soothing comfort to the enemy. Every time Hitler hears of a munitions plant or a factory making ships or war materials shut down by a strike it gladens his dirty soul.—Charlotte Observer.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

While Little Alice and I were roaming around in the Norfolk area a friend of mine offered to take me through the training camp at Fort Storey, if I were interested. I was. Most of the lads in the National Guard from Lynchburg are in this camp and it was one of these who showed us around. I was especially interested in the service club, having been told that one of the reasons that the men in the various camps are dissatisfied (see Boss' editorial on this subject) was because of the lack of amusement facilities.

The service club had a soda fountain and a large recreation room on the first floor and a library and several smaller rooms on the second. The library had a fair selection of books. There seemed to be few magazines. The lad who was showing us around complained that there was really nothing for them to do in the way of amusement. He said that they needed ping pong tables and bowling alleys for indoor recreation. I pointed out that the proximity of the beaches should count for something in the way of entertainment, but he said that the amusements at Virginia Beach were too expensive for army pay.

The camp has an individual beach of its own and the men in training are allowed to go in swimming here on Wednesday and Thursday in the afternoon. There is a movie at the camp, but the tickets are 20c each. This did seem a bit steep to us. With the large crowds that they draw for every showing, five cents would certainly cover the costs of putting the movie on and probably provide a profit as well. But as I understand it, in principle, no profit is supposed to be made on the camp movies. I thought that there was really good grounds for complaint there, in general.

When we went in there were about 15 or 20 men clustered about the soda fountain, one or two walking aimlessly about, and about five or six in the library and reading rooms upstairs. There had been a band concert earlier in the evening, we learned, and the crowd had just dispersed. However, the thing which struck me rather forcibly was the fact that although there are supposedly three hostesses connected with the service club, not one did we see during our tour of the place. Where they were, I don't know, but it is certain that not one of them was on hand at that time and since these hostesses are being paid pretty good salaries to be just what the name indicates, it looked like somebody was falling down on the job. I don't know anything about the duties of hostess in service clubs, but it seems to me that as long as the club is open at least one of the three should be on hand.

An amusing incident occurred during our tour of the camp which I hope is not typical of army precautions. The soldier boy had his pass which had to be exhibited at about six different gates to as many guards. Each guard examined it, looked somewhat dubious and then said, "Well, I guess it's O. K.," and allowed us to go through. As we were leaving the camp and exhibited the pass for the last time, our escort happened to look at it himself. "Good heavens!" he ejaculated and showed us the card. Instead of the pass, he had been exhibiting a membership card to some athletic club of which he was once a member.

Yours truly,

BEDFORD, ROUTE 4

We are having real hot weather but it is fine for saving hay and cutting corn and tobacco. The ladies are about through with their canning for the good old winter days ahead.

We are glad to say Mr. Jim Johnson, who has been on the sick list, is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Madge Howell, who was operated on at John Russell last week, is getting on nicely.

We are very sorry to hear of the illness of Howard Claytor and Brown Angle and hope for both a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Ollie Angle with Mrs. Eddie Miller, of Bassett, recently visited their sister, Mrs. Bertha Martin, at G. T. Joseph Hospital, Parkersburg, West Virginia. She has been there three months and has been very ill,, but is improving slowly.

Miss Mattie Goode is spending a while with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Goode.

Davis Goode has entered Lynchburg College as a student; much luck to him in his career.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Austin and daughters, Stella and Sallie, were Sunday evening guests at Clay Goode's,

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Witt, of Roanoke, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Olander Witt.

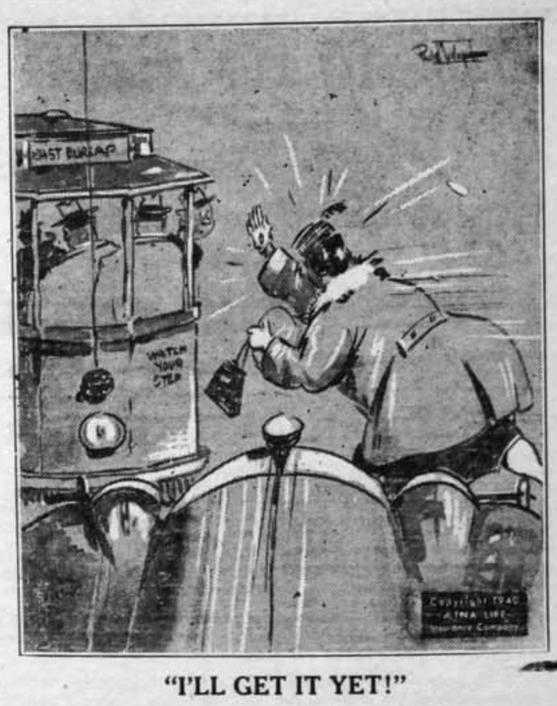

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wright and daughter, Fay, of Lynchburg, were Sunday afternoon callers at Mrs. Ollie Angle's. Adolph Miller, of Roanoke, Mr. and Mrs. William Kirby and Misses Elizabeth and Audrey Angle also were visiting there.

Dinner guests at A. M. Angle's Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Cutshaw and Mr. Charles Citty .

Mrs. Eliza Hughes who spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Roberts, has returned home.

Lightning Does Odd Stunt

Two campers near Watertown, N. Y., finished putting together a jigsaw puzzle on a metal card table and then went to a window to watch a lightning storm outside.

A blinding flash filled the room. They turned to find the table collapsed and the puzzle on the floor still perfectly fitted together.

He Will Remember

TODAY, he's just a little boy watching a fast freight thunder by. He doesn't realize, of course, that that freight train is carrying — not just freight — but fuel for the lamp of liberty and freedom.

But tomorrow — when he's a man — he'll remember those trains. He'll know, then, what an important part the American railroads played in shielding the great flame of democracy from the blackout of barbarism.

In the battle of mass production on which our national defense depends, the mass transportation of the railroads is a vital element. Never before has adequate, dependable railroad transportation meant so much to the people of America. Never before have railroaders had a greater opportunity to serve their country.

It's a big job—and it's getting bigger all the time. How big it will eventually become, no one knows. But we do know this—

So far, the railroads have met every transportation need. And they will continue to meet every need as long as it is humanly possible to do so.

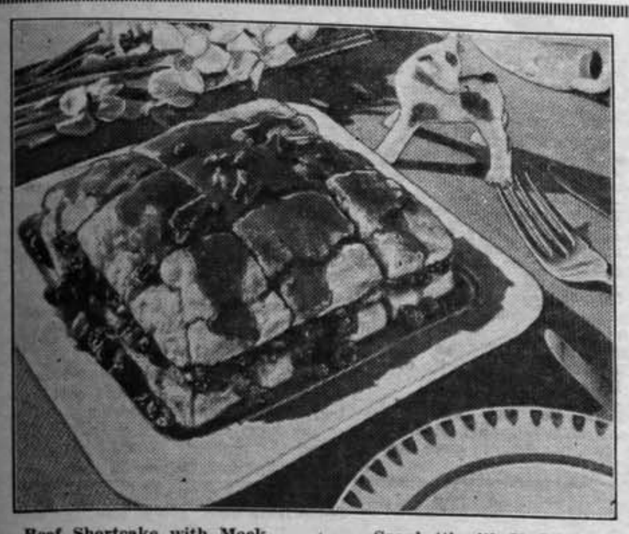

So far, the nation's loyal army of one million railroaders has shown that it has the experience and the ability to handle the multiplying transportation demand. And every railroader will continue to do his utmost to keep the cars rolling from forests, farms, and mines — to factories and plants — and to ports and Army cantonments.

In the saner world of tomorrow, millions of American boys and girls will remember —gratefully — what we do now!

Beef Shortcake with Mock Turtle Sauce

Filling for Shortcake

2 tablespoons shortening or butter
¼ cup onions, chopped
1 pound beef, ground
¼ teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
½ can tomato soup

Cook the chopped onions in the melted fat until soft. Then add the ground beef and cook until brown. Mix with the tomato soup and seasonings and heat well.

Baked Shortcake

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoon butter
2/3 cup (approximately) milk

Sift the flour, measure, add salt and baking powder and sift again. Cut in the shortening, then add the milk by adding a small amount at a time until a stiff dough is formed. Roll out the dough in a piece about 9 x 9 inches square. Put into a buttered baking pan and bake in a hot (450 degree F.) oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Split the baked shortcake, butter while hot and spread the meat filling between the layers. Replace the top half of the shortcake. Cut into slices about 3 inches square and serve a hot sauce over the top.

Mock Turtle Sauce

1 can condensed mock turtle soup
6 tablespoons water.

Ham a la King on Cheese Shortcake

1 cup flour, sifted
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or shortening
2 tablespoons grated cheese (sharp)
6 tablespoons milk

Sift flour, then measure. Combine sifted flour, baking powder and salt and sift again. Cut in the shortening and add the grated cheese. Then add the milk and mix with a knife until a soft, but not a sticky, dough is formed. Turn out on a floured board; knead lightly and roll or pat ½ inch thick. Cut with a 2½ inch round biscuit cutter and bake in a hot (450 degree F.) oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

Ham a la King

1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1½ cups cooked ham (cut in ¼ inch cubes)
½ pimiento (cut in strips)

Empty the cream of mushroom soup into a saucepan and mix well, then stir in the milk. Add the diced ham and heat. The strips of pimiento should be added just before serving, and the mixture just stirred enough to distribute them. Split the shortcakes, serve a spoonful of "Ham a la King" on the bottom halves of biscuits and serve remaining "Ham a la King" over the top. Serves 4.

Spaghetti with Sizzled Beef

Fry:
4 oz. dried beef until crisp in
2 tablespoons butter
Have ready
1 large (24-oz) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce

Place in layer of spaghetti in individual casseroles, add a layer of the dried beef, then top with remaining spaghetti.

Grated Parmesan cheese

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 minutes.

Note: Cooked macaroni in cream sauce with cheese may be substituted for the spaghetti.

Yellow Tomato Preserves

4 lbs small yellow tomatoes
3 lbs. sugar
½ cup boiling water
1 lemon—juice and rind

Wash and dry the tomatoes; prick each one in five or six places. Stir the sugar in the water until dissolved; add tomatoes and cook until clear. When half done, add the lemon juice and rind, sliced very thin. When the fruit is clear, remove it with a skimmer. Put in small jars, filling them two-thirds full, then boil the syrup tfast for a few minutes longer, until thick and syrupy. Fill up the jars, cover with a cloth until the next day. Then seal and set away in a cool place.

Apple Chutney

3 quarts sliced apples
3 lemons, sliced and seeded
2 chili peppers, seeds removed
1 quart brown sugar
1 quart cidar vinegar
1 quart dates, stoned and chopped
1 pint terragon vinegar
2 lbs. Sultana raisins
1 tbsp. ground ginger
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. salt
1 onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic

Chop the apples with the lemons as the acid will help to keep the apples from turning dark. Mix the ingredients. Boil until apples are soft and stir the mixture occasionally with a fork. Pack while hot in sterilized jars, partially seal and process for 30 minutes in boiling water, covering jars. Complete the seals and store in cool place.

Apple Rings

Four large apples, cored and sliced ½-inch thick, 4 tablespoons shortening, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Melt shortening in frying pan, add sugar and stir until slightly caramelized. Add apple rings and saute until golden brown on both sides. Serves six.

Pork-Noodle-Tomato Casserole

2 cups uncooked wide noodles, broken up
2 small onions, minced
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 cups canned tomato juice
2 cups finely grated American cheese
4 cups coarsely ground cooked pork
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Saute onion in butter in a skillet until tender. Add remaining ingredients and the noodles and mix thoroughly. Pour into a greased 1½-quart baking dish, and bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 degrees F. for 40 minutes. Serves 6 generously. To serve 2 or 3, make ½ this recipe.

Puffy Omelet

8 eggs, separated
¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
½ cup water
2 tbsp. salad oil or fat

Beat the egg whites stiff with a hand beater or an electric beater at high speed. Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; add the salt, pepper, and water, and beat thoroughly. Fold the egg-yolk mixture lightly but completely into the egg whites. Meanwhile heat the salad oil or fat in a skillet, tip the skillet to grease the sides and the bottom evenly. Then turn the heat to low and add the omelet mixture. Cook over low heat until well puffed and golden brown on the underside—about 9 minutes. Then set in a moderate oven of 350 degrees F. for 5 minutes, or until the surface seems set when pressed with the finger.

Now loosen the sides of the omelet with a spatula, cut through the middle—at right angles to handle of the pan—without cutting all the way through. Then fold the omelet carefully from the handle to the opposite side of the pan and turn onto a hot pletter. Serves 6.

Spoon Bread

Use Institute-approved half-pint measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

4 cups bottled milk or 2 cups evaporated milk and 2 cups water
1 cup fine water-ground cornmeal
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
-¾ tsp. salt
4 eggs, well beaten

Scald the milk in a double boiler. Gradually stir in the cornmeal and cook until the consistency of mush. Add the butter and salt, and pour over the wellbeaten eggs, gradually while stirring. Pour into a greased or oiled 1-½ quart baking dish. Bake in a hot oven of 425 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Serve at once with plenty of butter. Serves 6. To serve 2 or 3 make half this recipe.

Basic Recipe

To revive the fresh, juicy tenderness of dried Limas, soak them in cold water form 6 to 8 hours. Drain Cover with boiling water and cook slowly until tender (about 30 minutes). Add salt after 20 minutes cooking. (This basic recipe applies to either large or baby Limas.)

Savory Lima Soup

2 cups cooked, dried Limas
2 tablespoons chopped carrot
4 cups or 1 quart milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 slices onion
2 tablepsoons butter or
1 teaspoon salt bacon fat
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Put Limas through food chopper. Heat milk in double boiler, add Limas. Heat fat in frying pan; add onion and carrot and cook 5 minutes. Add to hot mixture, cook 10 minutes, then strain. Add salt, pepper and parsley.

Cream of Lima Saup

1½ cups cooked, dried Limas
1 tablespoon fine minced parsley
1 cup top milk or thin cream
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
½ small onion, sliced

Rub Limas through a coarse sieve. Melt butter, add onion and cook 5 minutes; remove onion, add flour to remaining butter; stir until smooth, add salt and pepper, cream and pureed Limas. Bring to boiling point. A little whipped cream placed in bottom of each cup before pouring in soup is always an improvement to cream soup. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

Farm, 4-H and H.D. Club Notes

WHEAT ACERAGE TO BE MEASURED BEFORE SEEDING

Instructions from the State Office has just been received by the local Triple A office that the wheat growers can have their acreage measured for this coming fall seeding, thus eliminating any posibiltiy of over planting and also permitting the farmers to seed right up to their allotments without incurring a penalty. Predetermination of the acreage is important this year because no wheat can be destroyed to bring the acreage within allotments.

The cost of predetermination of acerage will be $1.00 for the first field and 25c for each additional field or subdivision. Applications for these measurements must be in the county agent's office not later than September 24.

Dark and bright tobacco acreage will also be measured before the crop is set in the field, and applications may be made now for this work.

TRIPLE A ELECTION TO BE HELD THIS MONTH

Instructions from the State Triple A office have just been received at the local office that elections for selecting community and county committeemen must be held between now and the first of October. Arrangements are being perfected for the nominating meetings in each district. Instructions call for ten nominations from which the three commiteemen and two alternates are to be elected for each district. Ballots containing the names of the different nominees will be mailed to every eligible voter, and the ballots are to be returned to the local office without payment of postage by the voter. Eligible voters will also be notified of the place and date of the nominating meetings, and urged to be present to nominate committemen for the coming year.

Full instructions as to the nominating meetings, county election, etc., will be given in the columns of this paper, possibly next week.

Two carloads of 20% phosphate, forty tons each, arrived in Bedford Saturday, and were unloaded by farmers Monday and Tuesday. These were the third and fourth cars ordered by the Triple A. A fifth car has already been ordered, and the sixth car will be ordered sometimes this week. A large amount of this phosphate is going on pastures. Ruben Coles, a colored farmer near Cifax, placed his order for phosphate and lime, stating that part of each was to go on his pasture. He is thoroughly sold on the profitability of improving pastures along with cropping.

Time to Cull Poultry.

Farm flocks should be culled this month. Since feed costs will be high, loafers should be removed from the flock and put on the market.

Farm Plans Being Signed.

The time for signing farm plans for 1942 has been stepped up from April 15 to November 1. Farmers should bear this in mind and not overlook filling out this plan as quickly as possible. Several hundred farm plans have already been filed out and signed, and between two and three thousand tons of lime, and five cars of phosphate have already been ordered and part of it delivered. There is possibility of a shortage of phosphate a little later on and also possible rail shortage may prevent filling late orders.

FORMER BEDFORD WOMAN REACHES ADVANCED AGE

The following item, dealing with a former Bedford woman, is taken from the Roanoke Times of Sunday:

Old in years, but young in spirit is perhaps the best description of Mrs. Hugh Payne Humphries, who lives in the Rich Patch section of Alleghany county. Mrs. Humphries passed her 91st birthday anniversary several months ago. She is hale and hearty, and has a keen zest for living.

Born Mary Margaret Craft in Bedford, in 1850, Mrs. Humphries spent her early years in Craig county and located with her parents in Alleghany county before the beginning of the War Between the States. She recalls Averill's raid and remembers that two of her brothers traded their coonskin caps for union army officers' hats.

"Right pretty they were," remarked the aged lady as she sat on her front porch recently and recalled happenings.

"The boys were coming down the road on their way to the mill," said Mrs. Humphries. "They met the officers who were leadin gthe raid. Will and George were wearing coonskin caps they had made for themselves. The two officers drew rein and offered to trade their army hats for the boys' caps. The trade was made, and I still think that Will and George came out best."

Mrs. Humphries resided in the Rich Patch section at the cross roads for many years until her home burned in 1936. Since then, she has been living with her daughter, Mrs. Rosie Lee Simmons, a quarter of a mile from the old home place.

Mrs. Humphries works in the garden, attends to the chickens and finds time to read her Bible every day. (She has read it through eight times, she says.) In addition, Mrs. Humphries sings in the choir of the Mountain Valley Methodist church near her home and is a regular attendant at the services.

COMMUNITY CHURCH AT VILLAMONT ELECTS

The Villamont Church Members association held its 19th annual meeting Friday night in the Villamont church, preceded as usual by the annual supper given by the Woman's Guild for its members and friends.

At the business meeting reports were given by the officers of the Community Sunday School and the Woman's Guild. The board of directors elected is composed of B. A. Williams, chairman; A. H. Gemmell, vice chairman; L. C. Powell, secretary and treasury; M. E. McAfee, C. W. Montgomery, J. B. Baskerville, D. W. Ayers, J. P. Roudabush, S. S. Lynn and Dr. Knowlton Redfield.

This organization was organized 19 years ago by members of different denominations to further Christian religion in the community. Through its efforts the Villamont church was erected and a union Sunday School and Woman's Guild organized and continues to flourish.

At present, regular services are held twice a month by the Rev. J. W. Bolick, of Montvale. Bishop Robt. C. Jett and Dr. A. R. Berkley of Roanoke, each hold a service there once a year.

PINE RIDGE

Dear Editor and readers, its been so long since I have written to the dear Bulletin. I hope you will spare me a little space in your paper.

Well, the general health of this little burg is fine at present. All the children are looking forward to a successful new school year.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mrs. Walter Bowling in the death of her father, Mr. W. L. St. Clair.

Miss Evelyn Foster is spending a while with homefolks.

Miss Ruby Quarles, of Roanoke, spent the week-end with home folks.

Mrs. T. A. Boothe, Mrs. Hugh Boothe and sons, Jewell and Jeryl, Mrs. W. L. Callahan and Mr. Carl Boothe visited Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carter in Roanoke Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quarles and children spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Quarles.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gibbs and children, of Bedford, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Bowyer.

Miss Nadine Merricks, of Roanoke, spent one day last week with Mrs. J. H. Carter.

Let's hear from all correspondents more often, especially the writer from Troutville, as your letters are read with interest by

TROUTVILLE, ROUTE 1

The health of this community is good at this time, with the exception of Mrs. Mattie Meadow, who has been ill for some time and her condition is serious.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones of Mr. William B. Cook; and also to the bereaved one of Mr. William L. St. Clair. May the Lord comfort and bless each one.

VA. STATE FAIR OFFERS DAZZLING ENTERTAINMENT AT RICHMOND, SEPT. 22-27

The Fair's 1941 bill promises to eclipse all the sterling entertainment programs of the past. Not a single one of the fourteen acts, picked from the cream of the country's circus and vaudeville circuits, but deserves headline rating and is so different as to bring delight to every spectator.

The glamorous Roxyette Revue, musical extravaganza with company of 60 people; Christie Brothers elaborate Cavalcade of the Circus, an entire circus of 7 big animal acts; Terrell Jacobs, famed wild animal trainer with his troupe of lions and tigers, hit of Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus; Seven Flying Otaris in flying exchanges; The Honey Troupe of six artists in teeterboard acrobatics; Dixon Brothers, unorthodox acrobats; Olive Miles & Co., uproarious synthetic cow; Paul Mix, champion trick roper; Five Queens and an Ace, aerialists 100 feet in the air without safety devices; Will Morris and Bolby, deluxe clowns; Frank Cervone and his band and others.

There will be two complete shows before the grandstand daily, matinee and night, with fireworks display nightly.

The World of Mirth Shows will crowd the mile long Midway and the championship Auto Race meet will bring the week's entertainment to a climax Saturday afternoon, September 27th.

THE MARINE INFLUENCE as worn in Hollywood by June Storey

Glamorous Star of the Screen

This patriotic trend in fashions has been accepted by milady and more and more one will see frocks and dress details displaying the influence of some branch of our fighting forces. This week's fashion is from the Navy. It is designed on the middy-and-skirt motif in two pieces. The sailor collar is nudged at the front by a crisp taffeta looped tie matched to taffeta kerchief peeping out of the pocket on the bodice. Tucks through the middle fit in to form a trim slim waistline and there's a cuffed bottom and cuffed sleeves to the youth-giving middy. Deep, step-out pleats are carefully tailored in the skirt front. The duo-colors, too, help to make the patriotic effect. The middy top comes in a brilliant red. The skirt in a navy blue. The fabric is a rayon serge.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

There has not been any news from this community for so long that I guess anything will be news. Things aren't very exciting but a few folks are doing things.

Mr. H. D. Gross started out Monday morning on a nine months journey with his yellow wagon. We know the children are all smiles—school days again.

Mr. Lawrence Webber called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Mason on Greens Mountain August 30, and what do you think?

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Webber, nee Miss Lorene Drewery. We congratulate them and wish them many long, happy years of married life together.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Gross and daughter, Olive, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webber and son, Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown and daughter, Ella Rose, and Mr. Fred St. Clair all took a flying visit to Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Virginia Beach and Ocean View last week. They all reported a nice time and we guess some nice swims. Reuben and Henry had a little barrel rolling trouble but they seem to have escaped without serious injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin St. Clair and little daughter of Portsmouth, spent the fourth week-end with relatives in the community.

The surprise birthday party given Mr. Carey Foster on Monday night, Sept. 1, was attended by a large crowd of young people Music was furnished by Zella and Alfred Lawhorn and Joe Shanks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gross and son, Lilburn, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Gross and daughter, Gloria, and Mr. T. E. Lantz visited friends and relatives in Lynchburg last Sunday.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Edward Thomas in Catawba Sanitorium Sept. 8. We extend deepest sympathy to the relatives and friends.

Misses Mary Elizabeth and Gloria Mae Epperley have been spending some time at the home of their uncle, H. D. Gross.

Mr. and Mrs. U. W. Giles and children and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Giles and children visited at the home of C. O. Creasy Sunday.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. M. H. Bowyer. Hope she will soon be on her feet again. Her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Foster spent two days with her last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gray and family of Riverdale and Mr. T. W. Eanes of S. E. visited at the home of S. G. Gray Sunday.

Miss Annie Foster, of Blue Ridge, spent a few days last week at the homes of Mr. W .T. Foster and Mrs. Lillian Foster .

Tootsie and Billie Love, of Martinsville, who have been spending some time with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Aliff, returned home the fourth Sunday to begin school Sept. 4.

Mrs. Maynard Moses of Salem visited home folks Sunday.

count would be a heavy blow. Further in German hands the city would be converted into another jumping off place for Nazi armies for the conquest of all northwestern Russia.

Even Berlin reports say the Red defenders are fighting stubbornly and in their attacks upon the strong fortifications surrounding the city the Germans must be losing heavily, but despite this and despite unfavorable weather conditions the assaults are carried on without cessation. The German campaign for Leningrad begins to take on the aspect of desperation, a determination to win regardless of cost because failure to win would imperil the whole German cause. After twelve weeks of bitter fighting the invaders, according to Berlin, have penetrated to within twenty-five miles of the city, and failure now would be a confession to the world, and to the German people, that the German army is not invincible after all, that it can be stopped. That would be a blow that Hitler and his gang could not survive.

Berlin announced Tuesday that Leningrad, by the capture of a key position to its defense, is now surrounded, not only sealing the fate of the old Czarist capital but putting in peril all the Russian forces fighting in the north by cutting them off from their base of supplies. Both London and Moscow deny the German claim. The Red capital, in fact, makes the counter claim that the invaders are being pushed back farther from the city. The Red command has organized the more than three million inhabitants of the city for its defense, and assurance is given that plenty of food and ammunition are on hand for a long fight. If the Germans are forced to house-to-house fighting, granting they reach the city, one of the bloodiest episodes in history is about to be written.

Tuesday the Reds proclaimed as their greatest victory of the war against Germany the routing of eight Nazi divisions, totaling about 115,000 men, on the central front. The Germans were smashed in a 26-day battle that ended Monday in a victory for soviet arms when Red army units regained the town of Yelnya, 40 miles east of Smolensk, the official announcement said. This was the first time in the two years of war that German forces have been driven out of any major position once they had gotten a foothold. Not only were they driven out, Moscow said, but what is left of them now is in disordered retreat toward the west.

Moscow also reported that counter attacks at Leningrad had relived the pressure on that city, and that at Kiev and Odessa the situation remains unchanged, all attempts of the invaders to advance being beaten back. Whether the Moscow reports gives a true picture of what is going on is something for each one to decide for himself, but the fact remains that, outside the southern Ukraine, the Germans have made no great gains at any point in the past six weeks. And so far from the Reds showing any signs of giving up the fight, they are planning now for next year's campaign and announce that nine million men are now in military service and more are being called to the colors.

British and Russian bombing planes continue to hammer at Berlin and other German cities, and London announces that in recent days the most destructive raids of the war have been made on the German capital. This has aroused great indignation among German officials and the press and Britain is charged with waging war on civilians, no regard being paid to the fact that more than 50,000 civilians have been killed in England by German bombers. The squawks coming out of Germany furnish pretty good evidence that English bombers are doing a good job.

America was brought nearer to the conflict by several incidents of the past week, all of them involving attacks on American ships. The first of these occurred last Thursday when a German submarine fired torpedoes at the U. S. destroyer Greer, en route to Iceland with mail for the American garrison on that island. The Greer fortunately was not hit and immediately retaliated by dropping depth bombs, and then followed a search of the attack area by British and American ships and planes, but apparently the sub escaped, at least long enough to wireless Berlin about the incident.

In giving out a report of the attack, the navy department stated that it was made by a German U-boat and was unprovoked. Surprisingly, Berlin admitted that the sub fired torpedoes at the Greer, but claimed that the American boat started the trouble by attacking the submarine. There the matter rests for the time being, with each side claiming the other was the aggressor.

The second incident, this one even more serious, occurred later when German bombing planes sank an unarmed American freighter in the Red Sea. Presumably the ship was carrying war supplies to the British in Africa and the near east and it is believed the bombers were operating from German bases in Crete. Following collapse of the Italian resistance in east Africa, Washington announced that the Red Sea and other waters in that area would no longer be regarded as a war zone, this having the effect of opening them to American shipping. Berlin, in admitting the sinking in the Red Sea, said President Roosevelt had acted "hastily" in removing these waters from the war zone and that German and Italy could not agree. It was further stated in the German capital that notice had been given that vessels entering the Red Sea were subject to attack, and that there would be no change from that policy.

President Roosevelt was to have broadcast to the nation Monday night, but on account of his mother's death the address was postponed to Thursday night, and it is generally believed he will deal with these incidents and set forth America's policy as to freedom of the seas at that time. News of these attacks stirred the nation as no other incidents of the war have up to their occurrence, but Washington refused to become greatly excited and among administration leaders there was a disposition to regard the incidents as insufficient to justify war. In Berlin denial was made that any general order had been given to attack American ships, but the German press stated that Washington was attempting to force some incident which would arouse the American people to demand war. If Roosevelt declares for freedom of the seas, as did President Wilson twenty-five years ago, and can get the backing of Congress the chances of this country becoming involved in the war will be vastly increased. Germany, it is plain, had rather America would not become involved, but she will not likely abandon her submarine and bomber blockade of Britain to keep the United States out. If she must attack United States ships to prevent supplies from reaching England she will almost certainly do so, but Hitler will go the limit in other respects to keep this country from actively lining up with his enemies.

The German position was clarified by an official statement to the effect that all shipping, regardless of what nationality, entering the German-defined war zones will be attacked. The war zones established by Berlin include Iceland and surrounding waters and all approaches to East Africa and the Near East, and it was within these zones that the late attacks were made. Washington declines to accept the Berlin viewpoint and insists on the right of American ships to use these waters, which means that unless somebody backs down war between the two countries is only a matter of time, and probably a short time at that.

ROANOKE MERCHANTS OBSERVE "RETAILERS FOR DEFENSE WEEK"

The week of September 15-20 will be "Retailers For Defense Week" in Roanoke and thousands of other communities throughout the nation.

During this week the retailers of America will sound a patriotic call for unity among the American people in support of the Defense Program, and demonstrate the important part played by the retail stores in serving the American consumer during the present national emergency.

Retailers For Defense Week is not a sales promotion idea. It is purely a good-will effort to bring retailing into the closest cooperation possible with the public and the government. It is the retailers' opportunity for unselfish, patriotic leadership * * * to increase public confidence in retailing.

The Retailer's Pledge

1. To practice and to preach the doctrine of "Our Country First and Foremost."

2. To act as "Purchasing Agent for Public," and in that connection:

a. To prevent, as far as possible unwarranted increases in the price of merchandise.

b. To eliminate any unfair trade practices which may tend to injure the public.

c. To eliminate all "scare" advertising, particularly that which says or implies "Buy now because prices are rising."

d. To keep consumers informed as to the causes of price increases, likewise such changes in quality as are made to avoid increase in price.

e. To aid in the development and distribution of substitutes for such materials as are urgently needed for national defense.

f. To develop simplification of merchandise types so as to eliminate waste and thus free labor and materials for national defense.

3. To maintain retail employment at the highest possible level, consistent with the needs of national defense.

4. To give every possible encouragement to employees who wish to serve their country.

5. To disseminate to consumers such defense literature and information as the government may desire to have distributed.

6. To cooperate with manufacturers so that merchandise may be informatively labeled.

7. To help the U. S. Treasury sell Defense Bonds and Defense Stamps.

8. Last but not least, to help unify the people of our country through our advertising, display and consumer appeal—in support of our defense program.

Old Lestorich, an uncomplimentary husband who used to appear in an Austrian paper, said to his wife: "If nature had made me an ostrich, perhaps I could eat you cooking."

"That would be fine," answered his imperturbable wife, "then I could get some plumes for my hat."

VOLUME XLVII NO. 25 — BEDFORD VIRGINIA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 18, 1941 — 8 Pages — $1.00 Year

NEWS OF THE WEEK

State—

Colgate W. Darden, Jr., Democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, was operated upon for appendicitis in Norfolk Monday, and reports from the hospital say he is recovering nicely, and he expects to be out in time to attend the budget hearings in Richmond next month. He had suffered from recurrent attacks for the past year and decided not to defer removal of the diseased appendix any longer.

The Hampton Roads regional defense council, headed by Major Raymond B. Bottom, has urged Governor Price to establish a speed limit of 35 miles an hour for all highways with a traffic density in excess of the standard for that road. The council also pointed out that conditions in the Norfolk area as the result of increased traffic due to activities of the defense program require three times the number of State police usually located there, and the motor department was asked to established 24-hour a day patrol.

Tobacco markets in the famous Old Belt opened Tuesday to dispose of a crop estimated at 240,490,000 pounds of bright tobacco, which is about 15 per cent less than last year's crop. Prices on the opening day were somewhat higher on all the markets than those of 1940 and tobacco men look for this increase to be maintained despite the fact that the quality of the leaf was adversely affected by bad weather conditions during part of the growing season.

It has been announced in Richmond that the navy recruiting station there will be supplied with a list of men throughout Virginia who have been placed in class 1-A by selective service boards. Navy recruiting officers will make an effort to see as many of these as possible and give them an opportunity to volunteer their services in the navy for the period of the national emergency. The navy department is conducting a nationwide recruiting campaign to bring into the service men sufficient to man the new ships of war as they are completed.

All gifts of the more than 400 churches of the Presbyterian Synod of Virginia totalled more than $1,500,000 the past fiscal year and for the seventh consecutive year showed an increase over the preceding year, the finance committee told the 154th annual synod meeting in Richmond last week. Total contributions reported were $1,626,231, which represents a gain of $123,171 over the 1940 total.

Hot, dry weather in the first half of August damaged growing crops in Virginia and as a result smaller yields are expected, the State department of agriculture reported this week. Production of corn, wheat, barley, rye, buckwheat, potatoes, sweet potatoes, hay, tobacco, cotton and peanuts is expected to be smaller than the 1940 yield, while production of oats, apples and peaches larger.

Dr. Samuel M. Wilson, Lynchburg child specialist, was found dea din a gas-filled room at his home in that city Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson was away from home and when the maid could not arouse anyone upon her arrival she called the police and entrance was forced. Gas from a small stove in the bedroom filled the house and it was evident that it was a case of suicide. Dr. Wilson had been in bad health for several years.

Liquor prices at State stores, boosted the first of this month as the result of higher production costs, are in for another rise the first of October as a result of new federal taxes. The new tax bill voted in Washington hikes the tax on hard liquor another dollar, bringing the total tax to four dollars, which means that the stores will have to revise their prices upward one dollar per gallon. In the olden days what was termed "good licker" could be bought for one dollar a quart; now that amount is only the tax.

Meeting of Baptist Pastors and Laymen

After taking a summer vacation, the monthly meetings of laymen and pastors of Baptist churches embraced in the Strawberry Association were resumed this week with a meeting at the Baptist church Tuesday with most of the congregations represented. In the election of officers Rev. C. M. Roberson was named chairman; Dr. H. P. Clause, vice-chairman; L. W. Gammon, treasurer; and J. E. White, chairman of the program committee.

The morning sermon was delivered by Rev. E. S. Vaughan, and the devotional was led by Rev. N. T. Loflin. Revs. P .A. Anthony, A. W. Connelly and others reported on revival services held during the summer. During the afternoon session a talk on the cooperative program was made by Rev. T. L. Richardson, and the devotional exercises were led by Rev. J. E. Sessaman, of Stewartsville, a new pastor in the association. It was announced that the October meeting will be held at Coopers Cove church in Franklin county.

Rev. Coonnelly to Preach at Shady Grove

Rev. A. W. Connelly, of Thaxton, will preach at Shady Grove Baptist church on the fourth Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Everybody in the community is invited to attend.

Otters Make Good Showing First Game

Lose to Salem Friday But Score Two Touchdowns In Night Game

(By O. A. THOMAS, Athletic Director)

The Bedford Otters had their "baptism of fire" on last Friday night. The squad of 28 and about 150 fans went to Salem for the season's opener with Andrew Lewis High School team. This was the second year that the Otters opened with a class "A" team. At this time it may be a good idea to explain this "class" business. Most of the established teams in the state belong to the Virginia Literary anu Atheletic League, an organization which corresponds to a "conference" among the colleges, and high schools in some states. The schools in the League are clasified according to high school enrollment; Class D being those schools with less than 150 enrollment; Class C those from 150 to 300; Class B being those with 300 to 750 enrolled; and Class A those with more than 750. In Classes B and C the state is divided into "districts" and each team expecting to try for championship of district or state must compete with every other school that wishes to compete, before it can be a champion team. Bedford, having a high school enrollment of less than 300 is a Class C team. Since there are not enough Class C schools in district VI for a full season's schedule the Otters have to play some games out of their class, and, incidentally, find it necessary to play one or more games each season with teams that do not belong to the

Baptists to Take Religious Census

In connection with a Sunday school enlargement campaign, the Bedford Baptist church will take a religious census of the entire town of Bedford Sunday afternoon, Sept. 21. We trust that every one will cooperate so that we may have accurate information. Many of our young people will be engaged in taking this census and a cordial reception of them will be appreciated.

District Governor Talks to Local Club

Dr. A. M. Showalter, of Christiansburg, district governor of the 186th Rotary district, composed of forty clubs in Virginia and Tennessee, made his official visit to the Bedford club last Thursday and was the guest speaker at the meeting at Liberty Academy that evening. He devoted himself to a discussion of the aims and objects of Rotary International in general, and of the functions of a local club in particular, as set forth under the three main headings: International Service, Club Service and Community Service.

After reminding the club that wars in the old world have to a large extent disrupted the Rotary organization abroad, the speaker stated that this throws an added obligation upon clubs in the new world to carry on and to support clubs in the warring nations, especially those which have been overrun by the Germans. He reminded Bedford Rotarians that club members in parts of Europe are suffering hardships and that through club or individual gifts something can be done to add to their comforts. Dr. Showalter, in discussing local activities, stressed the importance of supporting local movements of community interest and benefits, and especially those of a character-building nature.

Dr. Showalter is president and chief surgeon of the New Altamont hospital at Christiansburg and a charter member of the Rotary club at that place.

Hotel Committee To Meet Tuesday

The Bedford Hotel Committee will meet Tuesday, September 23, at p. m. in the Supervisors Room to hear a report of the Hockenbury System, Inc., concerning a possible hotel development in Bedford.

A notice sent to members of the committee by J. W. Gillaspie, chairman, and Bolling Lambeth, secretary-treasurer, urged all members of the committee to be present for this meeting.

The Bedford Bedford Hotel committee was formed in the early part of the summer after the Commercial Association had called a meeting of Bedford business men to consider the possibility of building a new hotel here in Bedford, a matter which has been recognized as a community need for sometime. At the time of the first meeting, the committee discussed the matter for several hours and decided to retain the Hockenbury system to make a survey relating to the possibity of such a development.

During the summer this survey has been made and a report is now ready for presentation to the committee. It is expected that the committee will take some action on the hotel situation at the meeting next Tuesday night.

Moneta Boy Killed By Runaway Team

Jack Whitworth Meets Instant Death Beneath hoofs of Frightened Animals

Jack Whitworth, 18-year-old boy of the Moneta community, met instant death last Thursday morning beneath the hoofs of runaway horses while he was helping his brother-in-law, Otey Walker, harvest the hay crop on the farm of June Byrd, near Radford church. Young Whitworth was raking up hay with a team of horses and was thrown between them and beneath their flying hoofs when they suddenly became frightened at something and started to run. The boy was dragged about 300 yards before the team was stopped and was dead when picked up by the men who had gone to his rescue. Other men working in the field could not say what had frightened the horses as they saw nothing unusual preceding the runaway.

Young Whitworth was a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Whitworth and besides his parents is survived by the following brother and sisters: Thomas Whitworth, of Altavista; Miss Lillie Whitworth, of Roanoke; Mrs. Lonnie Ayres, Miss Katherine Whitworth, Miss Reba Whitworth and Mrs. Otey Walker, all of Moneta.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. L. Coffee at Radford Baptist church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial in the family cemetery. Active pallbearers were Davis and Herman Byrd, Jasper Martin, James Thurman, Woodrow and Houston Lynch. Honorary: Orie Lynch, Roy Pasley, Buck Paggans, Edward Brown, Wilbur Martin, William Mitchell, Moorman Mitchell, L. D. Brooks, Calvin Byrd and Frank Martin. The floral tributes were borne by Misses Frances Byrd, Juanita Scruggs, Bessie Ayres, Nellie, Lizzie and Fannie Mitchell, Gracie Pasley, Dorothy Fielder, Clarice Mayhew, Ruth Mitchell, Gwendolyn Cundiff, Thelma Poindexter, Edna Mayhew, Carrie Byrd and Mrs. L. D. Brooks.

Board Hears Report On Sanitary Work

At the meeting last Thursday of the Chamber School Board several members made on the installation of sanitary systems in Huddleston, Brook Hill and Thaxton schools, showing that satisfactory progress is being made, though some delay was occasioned by inability to obtain necessary materials promptly. At Huddleston a force of men is engaged in converging the flow of three small springs into a central reservoir to supply the school with water, but several weeks will be required to complete the job. While all the springs are small, it is believed that by building a concrete reservoir which will hold 12,000 gallons enough water will be obtained. It is estimated that they will furnish around 5,000 gallons a day during the five days the school will be open each week.

Discussion revolving around the various school bus routes in the county took up considerable time, as this is one of the most important problems with which the board now has to deal. The extent to which the bus is used to haul children to school and back to their homes can only be realized when it is known that all the one and two room schools in the county have disappeared except five, and probably all of these will be abandoned within a few years. The consolidated schools have simply absorbed all the smaller institutions, and the board has found that the change not only gives the pupil improved opportunities, but it costs less to operate buses than to pay teachers. Liberty Academy, for instance, eliminated more than twenty small schools in Central district. Fifty-seven buses are now in operation in the county, some of them making two trips daily, all but one of which are privately owned.

Chairman A. S. St. Clair reported the sale of Franklin school, near Stewartsville, to Charles Foutz, and the board authorized the sale of Allen Mountain school, located on the Peaks road four miles from Bedford.

The Bedford County Education Association, composed of public school teachers, has voted to support W. T. McCullough to succeed himself as vice-president of district F of the Virginia Education association. He is principal of the Robert E. Lee High School, Lynchburg.

American Legion Brunswick Stew Friday, Sept. 26

The Howard E. Board Post 54, American Legion, will give its annual brunswick stew on Friday, September 26, from 6:00 to 9:00 p. m. Day Light Saving time. The date was set at a meeting of the Post last Friday night. Members of the Bedford Fire Company, band, county board of supervisors, mayor, town council, Virginia Protective Force and those boys who attended the Boys' State at Blacksburg will be guests of the Post at the brunswick stew.

New officers were installed at the meeting Friday night and G. E. Murray gave a report of the convention which he attended in Alexandria.

Machine Shop to Be Organnized at Bedford High School

Classes in machine shop and aircraft sheet metal work are to be organized Monday night at the Bedford High School at 8:00 p. m., daylight saving time. No age limit is imposed in this program. All persons from 17 years of age and up are eligible. The program is financed through National defense funds and is expected to be of ten weeks duration.

Additional equipment will be obtained through the State Department for the machine shop. There will be 7 machine lathes available for class use. Equipment for the aircraft sheet metal course was purchased from the same source this past summer. This class will be similar to the one taught during the summer.

The classes are to be limited to 20 students each. All those interested in taking the course are requested to come to the meeting Monday night, September 22.

Commercial Ass'n Monthly Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the Governing Board of the Commercial Association, a resolution was passed instructing the secretary to inquire into the nature and extent of the operation of school stores in the public schools in Bedford County. Several members of the Board that the school stores in some communities were carrying unnecessary stocks of goods resulting in competition with licensed merchants.

Other business taken up by the Board included the passage of a resolution asking permission of the Town Council to permit a committee from the Commercial Association to appear before the Council in regard to the water situation in Bedford. Consideration was also given to the suggestion of a truck line highway around Bedford but action was postponed pending obtaining information from the Highway Commission.

The Board set November 12 as the date for a general membership banquet. The annual dinner to be held in November will be for the benefit of the general membership throughout the town and county, and for the hearing of reports from officers on the progress of the association's work.

Postoffice Janitor Injured By Fall

Grat Rosazza, one of the caretakers at the postoffice, is in the John Russell hospital for treatment of a broken hip and broken shoulder suffered last Friday afternoon when a ladder on which he was standing fell at the postoffice. He was engaged in cleaning the walls of what is known as the lookout when the ladder began sliding on the floor and before he could jump it came down with a crash and overturned one of the mailing tables, catching him beneath the wreckage. He did not fall a great distance and those who saw the accident were surprised at the nature and extent of his injuries.

An ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital immediately, where examination revealed that his right hip and right shoulder were broken and almost immediately the hip was placed in a cast to insure proper healing of the break. He will probably not be able to return to work for a couple of months.

Seeking Damages For Fatal Wreck

Administrator of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fizer Asking $10,000 for Each

Trial of the suit of the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Nettie Fizer against Mrs. Grace Boone, executrix of the estate of C. W. Boone, is being heard in Roanoke county court, $10,000 being the amount of damages asked. The action was brought by C. E. Fizer, administrator of his mother's estate and also the estate of his father, Clarence B. Fizer, both of whom were killed when the car of Dr. C. W. Boone, in which they were passengers, was wrecked on the night of December 23, 1939, when it crashed into a concrete bridge a short distance north of Roanoke. The plaintiff has also filed a notice for judgment of $10,000 in the death of Clarence Fizer.

This suit is of interest to many Bedford people because Mr. Fizer was a native of Bedford county, being a son of Mrs. Sallie Garrett Fizer and the late Charles H. Fizer, and was born and reared in Goose Creek Valley, above Montvale. Dr. Boone went to the home of the Fizers in Roanoke on the night of the fatal accident and invited them to go riding with him and in the crash that followed a short time later four people were instantly killed, the dead including Mr. and Mrs. Fizer, Dr. Boone and Mrs. G. R. Powell, the latter a sister of Mrs. Fizer. Mrs. F. F. Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fizer, the fifth occupant of the car, was badly injured. In his motion for damages the plaintiff alleges that on the night of the fatal accident Dr. Boone was driving "in wilful and wanton disregard of the safety of his guest passengers."

Chickens Going Defense Minded

War is the talk of the day, and it seems that chickens are becoming wise to the fact that everybody must help in "defense." The other day Mrs. J. E. Manley, of Big Island, killed a chicken and upon cutting the gizzard open she found seven cartridges of the 22 calibre type. This ought to leave an impression on us that we all ought to do our part.

Trial Justice Court

Charlie Walker, colored, was given a hearing on an unusual charge Monday in trial justice court and because it was apparent that he had acted through ignorance no penalty was imposed, though he was required to pay costs of the proceedings and refund a sum of money he had accepted illegally. During a period of unemployment he received benefit checks from the unemployment compensation commission and when a check came after he had found a job with C. O. Hatcher, orchardist, he cashed that one also and pocketed the money.

During trial of the case it was brought out that about 75 people in Bedford county are now receiving unemployment benefits and this was the first case since the law was passed that a Bedford man accepted compensation after returning to private employment. He was required by the court to pay the costs and refund the money received from the commission.

Pete McKinney, tried Saturday, was fined $100 and given 30 days in jail for driving while intoxicated and an additional 30 days was imposed for operating a car after his driving permit had been revoked. He appealed to the Circuit Court from the verdict of the trial justice.

Police Take Up Abandoned Car

A car which had been parked on South Bridge street since Saturday afternoon was removed by the police Monday morning and placed in a local garage, and later the man in whose name it is registered was notified as to where he could find his car. The police state that whoever parked it here left the ignition key and a tank filled with gas, but up to yesterday the police had received no notice that the car had been stolen. It is registered in the name of E. C. Campbell, Madison Heights, but no reply has been received from him since he was notified as to the whereabouts of the car.

Playground Scene at Stewartsville School

The youngsters in the above p cture were snapped at the Stewartsville school last week shortly after school opened. Contrary to popular belief, they seemed to be enjoying themselves hugely and did not appear to be at all sorry that school had begun. The young acrobats are H rdy Eugene Palmer, Donald McClain, James Buford Burnette and Warren Lewis Dickerson.

Will Name Men to AAA Committees

Y. D.'s Complete Arrangements for Party at New Lake

The Young Democratic Club of Bedford county has set Saturday, October 4, as the date for the brunswick stew which it is planning to give at the new county lake. The affair was postponed for a week on account of the decision of the American Legion to have their party on Friday, Sept. 26, J. D. S. Morgan, club president stated.

At a meeting Monday night of the various committee chairmen appointed to take care of arrangements for the brunswick stew, final plans were completed. All Young Democratic Club members are invited to attend free of charge. There will, however, be a charge of 25c for each non-member guest. The club members are privileged to invite as many guests as they please on this basis.

Ryland Thomas has been appointed chairman to secure hillbilly music for the occasion.

Large Crowd Attends St. Stephen's Benefit

About 400 persons, of all ages, attended the jubilee festivities given for the benefit of St. Stephen's church at Bellevue Saturday night. The festival was held at the home of Mrs. Daniel B. Henderson at Trivium and started about 3:30 in the afternoon with races and contests and ended that night with a Virginia reel on the lawn to the music of a string quartet.

During the afternoon Bill Hodges won the potato race, Miss Martha Watts and Jimmy Gleason, the badminton contest, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henderson, the tennis trophy. Richard Price, of Roanoke, was champion in the horseshoe pitching tournament and Mrs. W. C. Wilcox was awarded the door prize.

following which an operetta, "The Grasshopper," was performed on the side porch. Mrs. E. L. Carrington, Mrs. Mitchell Strother, Dudley Holt, Charles C. MacLeon, Charles Abbot and Scaisbrook Abbot took the leading roles.

4-H Judging Teams to Go to State Fair

Two 4-H judging teams plan to go to the State Fair in Richmond to compete in the State contests Tuesday, September 23.

The crop judging team, consisting of Earl Kern, Elbyrne Watson and Joe Laughon, attended the Crop Judging school at Rustburg last Saturday, where they received training in the judging of corn, wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, and hay. Teams from five other counties attended this school, as well as the county agents and specialists.

Tuesday the Dairy judging team, consisting of Henry Ross, Clinton Craghead, and Carlton Dudley, visited the Mountain View Farm, owned by Senator Glass, near Lynchburg, the epileptic colony and F. S. Loyd's farm, where they studied judging purebred Jersey, Holstein and Guernsey cattle.

Mr. Turner will accompany these judging teams to the State Fair next Tuesday, and it is expected that other club members from the county will go, as the 23rd is the special 4-H club day at the Statte Fair.

Revival Services At Parrish Chapel

There will be a series of revival services starting Friday night, Sept. 19, at Parrish Chapel. The pastor, Rev. L. P. Foley, will be in charge of the services, which will begin at 7:45 p. m. Eastern Standard time. The pastor hopes that everyone in the community will make a special effort to attend these services, and calls attention to the need of a renewal of our religious life at this particular time.

Specialist Decides to Locate in Bedford

Dr. W. C. Moomaw, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, who has been in Bedford for several weeks looking over the field, has definitely decided to locate here for the practise of his profession. He leased the W. R. Saunders home on the Liberty Academy grounds some days ago and this week closed a deal for three second floor office rooms in the building on East Main street, occupied by the ABC store. Dr. Moomaw will open the offices as soon as his equipment can be installed.

Dr. Moomaw was reared in Roanoke and is a brother of Ben Moomaw, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. In early life he resided in Bedford county for several years, and his father at one time owned an estate near Goode. After returning from France at the close of the world war, Dr. Moomaw practiced in Petersburg for eight years, going from there to New York state, where he was established for fourteen years in a suburb of New York city, from which place he came to Bedford.

Dates Fixed For District Elections

Increase in Number Makes New Arrangement of Districts Necessary

Arrangements have been completed for holding nominating meetings for community committeemen for 1941-42. It was necessary to increase the number of Triple A committees from 7 to 10, and for this reason the Triple A communities will not follow the district lines in every case. Chamblissburg, Lisbon and Charlemont magisterial districts will remain as heretofore. Staunton District has been divided into two Triple A communities as follows: North Staunton, includes all the district lying north of the road extending from Radford Ford by Radford Church, Wilkes Store, down to Harry Ayres' home, thence along the highway to W. T. Carter's on the Stone Mountain road, by Providence church, and on to Hayden's Bridge. South Staunton community includes the remainder of Staunton District.

Central magisterial district has been divided. All farms north of route 460 form North Central community. South Central community extends from route 460 where it crosses Big Otter River and follows Big Otter to the junction of Little Otter, then we Little Otter to Claytor's Mill, a lows the highway from sta Johnson's, Ephesus, Pecks Ch Franklin's Store, and out 24 to Be Camp, where it contacts the Staunton District line, and following that on up Mob Creek and Goose Creek, and following Chhamblissburg and Lisbon district lines to 460 west of Bedford.

Bellevue community follows the district line north of 460, and extends south of 460 along Big Otter to where the old rock pike crosses Big Otter, thence along the rock pike to Kelley's Store at New London, thence up route 127 to where it intersects Forest district line, following district line

Forest Triple A community includes all of Forest magisterial district, and a small corner of Otter north and east of the old rock pike and route 128 toward Forest.

Otter Community includes all of Otter District that has not already been included in South Central, Bellevue and Forest Communities.

The meetings for these elections will be as follows:

Tuesday night, Sept. 23 at 8 p. m.—Brookhill school, Bellevue community; Forest high school, Forest community.

Wednesday night, Sept. 24 at 8 p. m.—Montvale high school, Lisbon community; Stewartsville high school, Chamblissburg community; Moneta high school, N. Staunton community.

Thursday night, Sept. 25 at 8 p. m.—Bedford Court House, South Central community; Kelso CCC Camp, North Central community; Sedalia Grange Hall, Charlemont community.

Friday night, Sept. 26, at 8 p. m.—Patmos school, South Staunton district; Wade school, (near Walton's store) Otter community. All meetings will be on eastern standard time.

48 is October Quota For Bedford County

The local draft board has been advised by selective service headquarters in Richmond that Bedford county's quota of men for October has been fixed at 48, 41 whites and 7 Negroes, and preparations will be pushed to have sufficient men ready to meet the demand. The whites are scheduled to leave on October 4th and the colored will be sent to camp on the 10th.

A. J. Carper, chairman of the board, stated yesterday that of men classified up to this week there are about fifteen in class 1-A, and the local medical board examined a class of 53 registrants last night and out of these it was believed that sufficient will be had to fill the quota after the final weeding out by the board at the Roanoke induction center. The 41 men who will leave here on the 4th is the largest number sent to camp from Bedford in one group, and the increased demand for men for training is taken as a reflection of the growing seriousness of the war situation as America is affected.

Revival Services at Mentow Baptist Church

Class Reunion

The 1939-40 classes of Huddleston Hi met Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Woodford for their annual reunion. It was a beautiful day and every one seemed to take advantage of it and had a wonderful time. A most wonderful selection of food was spread on a beautiful decorated table, and it was found that the class members still had an apetite for good food.

After the delicious food was consumed and songs were sung, farwells were made, and classmates went on their seperate fields of work. Plans were made to meet again next year on the second Sunday in September at Huddleston High School. The class members present were: Welford Franklin, Adrian Creasy, Marshall Creasy, Marie Creasy, Kenneth Nichols, Isabelle Nichols, Beulah Murphy, Claytor Hall, Harry M. Turner, Drewey Woodford, Frank Graves, Bobbie Hancock, Dewey Leftwich, Clarence Stinnette, Richard Kesler, Earl Martin, Pauline Cundiff, Fay Nichols, Ruth Hillsman, Lucille Carter, Ethlyn Graves, Minnie Woodford, Winifred Robertson, Maxine Ashwell, Jack Fariss, Dawson Reynolds, Frances Turner, Rudolph Ashwell.

Included among the visitors were: Ann Morgan, Frank Morgan, Anna Langhorne, Carolyn Ford, Georgia Wood, Kathryn Williams, Lavora Woodford, Gertrude Wilson, Thelma Coffey, Samuel Coffey, Dassie Nichols, Duval Johnson, Elmo Mitchell, Richard Carter, Ovid Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Stinnette, Euna Woodford, Glenn Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nichols, Margarett Thompson, and Miss Schenk.

SHADY GROVE

Mrs. Willie Quarles has been sick, and out from work at the factory for several days. Those visiting her last week were Mrs. Pearl Brown, granddaughter, Janie St. Clair, Mrs. Minnie Garner, Dr. and Mrs. Quarles and Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Quarles.

Great sympathy goes out to the Gray family on the death of the oldest one in the family, Mrs. Sue Hess.

Those visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garner recently were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wheeler; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Saunders and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garner and daughter, June; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and daughter, Dr. Quarles and Griffin Quarles.

Some may enjoy the daylight saving time but not I; it has the women up before daylight too much.

Mrs. Bertha Saunders recently fell from the top of the stairs to the bottom with a lamp in her hand. The oil caught on fire and if her folks had not rushed to her rescue the house and all might have been burned. She was right painfully bruised.

Grandma Wade is looking forward to her birthday, the first Sunday in October. All her friends, neighbors and kindred are invited to come and bring lunch and enjoy the day with her.

Hubert Powers had the bad luck to run into a truck; tore his car to pieces Friday night and hurt him some.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burkholder have gone back to Vinton for the winter to be handy for the children's school.

The tomatoes are getting small and factories will soon be closing.

Cutting corn and getting in wood will be the next project around here.

I will ring off as news is scarce.

BETSY JANE

BEDFORD, ROUTE 4

We are glad to say the health of their section is fairly good at this time.

Visiting is the order of the day among the ladies, as they are about through with their canning and putting up jellies, jams etc.

Mrs. G. B. Whorley and daughter, Ruth, Mrs. Watson Whorley and Mrs. Ollie Angle spent one evening last week with Mrs. Alvah Reynolds.

Mrs. Whorley and daughter spent Friday evening with Mrs. Ollie Angle.

Miss Ruth Creasy spent last week in Roanoke with relatives.

Austin Goode, who spent a week recently with his parents on Huddleston, Route 2, was accompanied back to Camp Meade by Doris, Benny and Marie Goode, Dorothy Wilkes, Faith Witt and several others and all enjoyed the trip fine.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nicholson and two grandchildren, of Chester, Pa., and Mrs. Sid Brizendine, of Roanoke, called on their cousin, Mrs. Ollie Angle, last week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Holdreon, nee Miss Sadie Roberts, who were married last Monday in Bedford; we wish for them a long and happy life.

Private Joseph E. Goode, who has completed a course in mechanics at the U. S. Air technical school at Chanute Field, Ill., is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Goode, on Route 4. He expects to go to Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado, to continue his work as army airplane inspector; good luck to to you, Joe, wherever you go.

Jack, Ruby and Earl Spradlin have gone to Blacksburg to take up mechanical engineering in the air corp. We hate to see so many of our boys leaving, but hope they will have the best of luck in their undertaking.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Ollie Angle were Rev. H. N. Whitten, of Goode; Rev. Charlie Trout, of Roanoke, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Inge, Mr. Clay Goode, R. H. Roberts, of Huddleston. Mrs. P. H. Johnson was a visitor in that home Saturday evening.

Come on folks with your items as we are always glad to hear from every one. PANSY

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The death of Brother George W. Johnson is a distinct loss to our class, of which he had long been a member. Though engaged in other duties in the school, his interest never flagged, and he was always ready to respond to any call made upon him.

A quiet, unassuming christian without guile or hypocrisy, an humble follower of the Holy Christ, his life was well spent and peacefully ended, his faith undisturbed and unmoved. He leaves a name unsullied and a pathway marked by many kind deeds.

We record this short expression of our esteem and assure the members of his family of our sincere sympathy.

Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Class Book and a copy be sent to the family. COMMITTEE.

Of Dr. Spooner's Bible Class, M. E. Sunday School.

"I trust we shall be able to make you feel at home?" said the hotel manager to the guest.

"Don't trouble yourself," was the reply, "I don't want to feel at home. That's why I came here!"

Amazing results in improving the looks... boosting vitality... pep!

Weak, run-down people suffering from sluggishness, underweight, poor digestion, lack of appetite now may restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize the body with rich, red blood.

If you are one of those unfortunates who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overtaxing worries... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again

Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color... this makes for greater strength... color in your cheeks... resistance against disease attacks.

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

AXIS POWERS WARNED BY THE PRESIDENT

In an address broadcast to the world last Thursday night, President Roosevelt firmly warned the dictator powers that "no matter what it takes, no matter what it costs," German and Italian warships will be sunk on sight if they enter waters vital to American defense. In this warning the president voiced the American answer to recent attacks on American shipping and pledged the protection of the United States navy to any merchant vessel "of any flag" plying those waters.

"No act of violence or intimidation will keep us from maintaining intact two bulwarks of our defense: First, our line of supply of materials to the enemies of Hitler, and second, the freedom of our shipping on the high seas," the President said.

His address to the nation and to the world had been preceded by the sinking of an American ship in the Red sea, an attack on an American destroyer which was carrying mail to Iceland, and the sinking of another vessel by a erman submarine off the coast of Greenland. The President spoke slowly, clearly and quietly, raising his voice only occasionally to emphasize statements setting forth the American position respecting depredations of the axis powers outside war zones as fixed by Washington. The President stated the American position when he said, with strong emphasis, "We have sought no shooting war with Hitler, and we do not seek it now, but neither do we want peace so much that we are willing to pay for it by permitting him to attack our naval and merchant ships while they are on legitimate business."

Mr. Roosevelt did not define what areas are embraced in what is considered waters "vital" to American defense, but it is generally accepted as covering the entire western hemisphere, including Iceland, and the entire Pacific and other eastern waters. Subsequent to the President's address, orders have been issued by the navy department to all ships of war to "shoot on sight" any German submarines of warships found in this "vital defense" zone, which is virtually a declaration of war, or certainly a declaration that will lead to war unless the axis powers back down. Further attacks on American ships, naval or commercial, in water considered by Washington as being part of the "vital defense" area cannot well fail to lead to open war. The situation was made even more strained by an official announcement in Washington that steps have been taken to give American navy protection to ships carrying lend-lease supplies to Britain at least as far as Iceland, which means American convoying in waters which Germany has classed as a war zone.

The Japanese government, faced with the necessity of making decisions that may fix the empire's course for a generation, apparently has moved to place the army under control and prevent military and other terroristic violence that might deflect it from its chosen path, says a Washington dispatch. The Japanese assumed a very belligerent attitude in the spring and summer, but warnings from America and Britain, plus advice from the Japanese ambassador in Washington, appears to have had a sobering effect and the Japanese government is looking for ways of maintaining peace. The military clique has dominated the goverment for several decades and is now in favor of carrying out its ambitious plans of conquest regardless of American and British action, but the government appears to have at last summoned up courage to defy the war lords in the interest of peace.

The Senate oil investigating committee has reported that the alleged east coast gasoline shortage is only a myth and attributed it to the "over enthusiasm" of federal officials. The committee recommended that all restrictions on gasoline sales be removed at once. Officials of the interior department, including Secretary Ickes, differ violently from the findings of the committee.

American aid to Russia will be full and quick and will continue until "Hitler is crushed," was the word coming from a conference between President Roosevelt and his newly appointed supply mission to Moscow. It was made known that all kinds of war supplies, from planes to raw materials, would be sent to Russia in a continuing stream, and the belief was expressed that shipments would eventually be of such volume that it would enable the Russians to take the offensive for a crushing blow that would bring defeat to German arms.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, who is a real "dirt farmer" by the way, repeated again this week his oft-made statement that American food will eventually defeat Hitler. Urging farmers to cooperate with the government's 1942 farm program, which is designed to furnish the nation with a record food supply, the secretary said that when the conquered people see plenty of food going to Britain it will give them courage to rise up and fight for freedom. He said there will be need for larger production of certain things, particularly meats, milk, poultry and vegetables, and called on farmers to adjust their plans accordingly. "We are planning," he said, "to send the British during 1942 dairy products that will require between 4,000,000,000 and 5,000,000,000 pounds of milk; about 500,000,000 dozen eggs; 18,000,000 pounds of poultry meat—chicken for the most part; almost 1,500,000,000 pounds of pork and lard. We have promised to send almost 125,000,000 tons of fruit, and more than 2,500,000 cases of canned vegetables."

Reynolds—Wilson Reunion

The third annual reunion of the Reynolds—Wilson families was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Reynolds Sunday, September 14th. Picnic luncheon was served at tables set up under the trees near the roadside on the lawn. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Royston H. Reynolds and son; Mr. and Mrs. Culver Hudson, of Big Island; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaughn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Henry, of Roanoke; Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Powers and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sines and family, of Bedford; Mr. and Mrs. Massie Hudson and family, Mr. Shelley Shepherd, of Sedalia; Mrs. Jim Collins and daughter, Miss Deane Reynolds, Mr. Dan Hudson, Mrs. Malvin DeWitt and children, all of Lynchburg; Mrs. Cephus Abbott, Mrs. Bill Hawks and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Reynolds and family, of Perrowville; Mr. and Mrs. Hildon Abbott and son, of Forest; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell and family, Mrs. Blanche Walker. John Blackmann, Charles McCoulough and Mr. and Mrs. Nuckles, all of Greenlee; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reynolds and son, Larry, of Big Island; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wilson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds, Mr. Jim Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Council Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reynolds and children, Mr. J. B. Reynolds and sons, Lynwood Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fifer and children and Mr. Charles Fifer, all of Charlemont.

Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Broomfield called in the afternoon. Everyone departed, declaring what an enjoyable day it had been and all hope to meet again next year.

ONE OF THE CLAN

Mrs. R. T. Russell

Mrs. Virginia Tate Russell, 68, wife of Robert R. Russell, died in Sept. 10 at her home near Forest.

Mrs. Russell was born at Shadegap, Pa., the daughter of George Tate and Mrs. Isabella Hudson Tate. She was one of the the oldest members of Quarker Memorial Presbyterian church.

Besides her husband she is survived by ten children: Edmund J. Russell, of Forest, Mrs. B. G. Callahan, of Lynchburg, Mrs. J. B. Call, of Richmond, Mrs. L. P. Hurt, of Richmond, Mrs. Arnold W. Hurt, of Bethesda, Md., Mrs. J. N. Williamson, Mrs. E. J. Davis and Mrs. Martin Rast, all of Roanoke, and Mrs. Elizabeth May and Mrs. C. S. Moore, of Washington.

IN MEMORIUM

The Board of Stewards of Main Street Methodist church paused in the program of its business session on Monday evening, Sept. 8 to pay tribute to its oldest member, George William Johnson, who passed to his heavenly home on Sunday, Sept. 7, 1941.

Brother Johnson had served as the efficient secretary of the Board for forty-one years and during that span of time he had not missed a meeting save when detained by illness or absence from home. His example of faithfulness was not confined to the Board of Stewards, for he had served also as secretary of the Quarterly Conference, treasurer of the Sunday School and member of the choir. He had often been a delegate to District Conference and pastor and people alike well knew that whatever task was assigned him woud be done with painstaking care and exactness.

The calm course of his accumulated years could have had as its foundation stone nothing less than a deep and an abiding faith. And to this faith he added virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness; and to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, charity. Surely a God fearing and godly man has walked in our midst the allotted span of years and more, and like a smooth and polished mirror has reflected truly the spirit of life and truth and devotion which shine in perfect splendor in Christ.

The morning, noon and early evening of his life had been filled with constructive work, but he was never too busy to have his share in the task of his church. In the twilight of his day, his heart grew weary of its ceaseless labor and family and friends were forced, though reluctant, to know that the shadows of evening were falling fast and night for him drew nigh.

We share with his family and host of friends the sorrow at his going, but we do not sorrow as those without hope. Rather, we rejoice in the memory of the sterling qualities of his life. May his kindly and Christian example ever inspire and challenge us till the celestial doors which just now have swung open to let him enter in may also give an abundant entrance to us when our brief day is done.

To the love and compassion and tender keeping of our Heavenly Father we commend his loved ones and his friends. In the absence of his body, but in the presence of his spirit we shall carry on.

Wm. R. PHELPS,
W. W. BERRY,

R. W. Catlin.

Robert Willard Catlin, world war veteran and former town manager of Bedford, died at his home in Farmville on Sept. 11th, following a lingering illness. After a long period of failing health he underwent an operation some months ago, but this failed to relieve the trouble and his family and friends were forced to abandoned hope for his recovery.

Mr. Catlin was a son of W. E. Catlin, of Bedford, and was born in Norfolk, where he spent the early years of his life. After graduating in engineering at V. P. I., he took a course at Boston Tech and was employed in Massachusetts for several years after completing his education, and during the world war he served as a lieutenant in the aviation corps.

Mr. Catlin came to Bedford in August, 1924, to accept the position of town manager, to which he was elected by the council upon the resignation of C. T. Venable, and continued in that capacity here until August, 1930, when he went to Farmville to take a similar position, remaining in that town until his death. During the six years he handled the various departments of Bedford's town government, Mr. Catlin displayed rare ability, good judgment, and tact in dealing with the public and was personally popular with Bedford people. During his stay here many improvements were made to the water and electric systems and street work was given the impetus which led to many improvements. In particular he led the movement which eliminated the bottleneck at the bridge over the railway and the vast improvement there, both from safety and beauty standpoints, was due to his initiative and perserverance. His splendid work in Bedford was continued in Farmville, where he was serving his eleventh consecutive year as town manager.

Mr. Catlin was a member of the Baptist church and of the Masons and Odd Fellows fraternities and the Lions Club of Farmville.

Mr. Catlin is survived by his wife, who before marriage was Miss Martha Wells, of Bedford, and two daughters, Mary Kay Catlin and Ruth Catlin; his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Catlin, of Bedford; two sisters, Mrs. Sterling Woody, of Hopewell, Va., and Mrs. George Lyle, of Radford, and one brother, John Catlin, of Bedford.

Funeral services were held at the home in Farmville Saturday afternoon and burial was in the cemetery in that city.

Mrs. Cora E. Wood

Mrs. Cora E. Wood, widow of the late W. P. Wood, died last Thursday afternoon at her home near New London, following a brief illness. She was 78 years old, a native of Bedford county and a daughter of the late F. A. Cobb and Eliza Nance Cobb. She was a member of Bethlehem Baptist church.

THE OTTERS MAKE A GOOD SHOWING

League. The advantage of being in the League is that all member teams adhere to certain fixed eligibility standards.

The absence of strong enough "C" teams nearby has forced us to make long trips of 80 to 100 miles two or three times a season. Even then, for the past two or three years, if the Otters meet teams of approximately equal, or greater strength, they must go out of this class. This year we have been able to schedule a game with only two Class C teams in the District VI and one of these was cancelled about a month ago. Six class B teams were solicited for a game, after that cancellation, and not one had an open date to play us.

A few interested "fans" criticize us rather freely for not playing all hard games rater than playing some teams that do not show strength enough. If our opponents in our Class and District are not strong enough for the Otters that is unfortunate but nothing that we can help; we must play them if they are contending for the championship; and if we can't get better teams on the schedule then we must take weaker ones.

The cancelled game was to be played here on Friday, Sept. 19 with Valley High School of Hot Springs. The date was filled last week with Holy Cross Academy, of Lynchburg who lost to South Boston on Friday night by a narrow margin.

The Otters showed up well in the Salem game. The team was largely an unknown quantity before the game, but after it was over we feel that we have another good team. Bedford has an enrollment of about 290 while Andrew has over 1,400, in the high schools. Probably every one interested in reading about that game read Mr. Hammersley's account in Saturday's Roanoke Times. Our statistics were not exactly the same as his but in all important particulars his story was an accurate account of the game.

Here are a few figures that may be interesting:

The Otter starting line averages 159 pounds; the four backs average 170. All of the members of this team were either regulars or substitutes last year and made foot ball letters. Last year the difference between Salem and Bedford, according to the score, was 41 points; this year it was 19 points. In other words, in 1940 we were defeated 41 to 0; this year 31 to 12. Those 12 points were made by J. S. Meador on a pass and run of 60 yards, and a score by Nelson Johnson following a hike of 29 yards. Bedford gained 169 yards on running plays to Salem's 187 and garnered 8 first downs to Salem's 16.

The schedule for the season follows:

Friday, Sept. 19—Holy Cross, here, 3:30 p. m., E. S. T.

Friday, Sept. 26 — South Boston, there, night game.

Friday, Oct. 3—Open date.

Friday, Oct. 10, E. S. T.—Jefferson JV's here, 3:30 p. m.

Saturday, Oct. 10—Vinton, there afternoon.

Friday, Oct. 24 E. S. T.—Buena Vista, here, 3:30 p. m.

Friday, Oct. 31—Waynseboro, there, afternoon.

Friday, Nov. 7, E. S. T.—Christiansburg, here, 3:30 p. m.

Friday, Nov. 14—Glass JV's here, or Roanoke College, 150 pounds team; place not settled.

SOCIAL EVENTS

D. A. R. Meeting

Franklin Raflo was guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Peaks of Otter chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held at Crystal Farm, the home of Mrs. Hamilton West, near Thaxton, Monday afternoon. Mr. Raflo's subject, "World Revolution Comes to America," was in keeping with the program for the year adopted by this organization and which will center about the theme "Obligations of the United States as a World Power."

Mrs. G. P. Parker, historian, presented some interesting facts about Hollins College, which she pointed out was born in Liberty, but was moved to its present location in 1839. This fact was brought to light through a letter written by Miss Annie Lowry's grandmother, Elizabeth Steptoe, to her mother while she was a student at the school which was then known as "Liberty Female Seminary." The principal of the school, Edward William Johnston, purchased land at Hollins and moved the school in March 1839. It was then known first as the "Roanoke Female Seminary," but later became the "Valley Union Seminary," a co-educational school. Hollins College developed from this last named institution. When the seminary was located in Bedford it occupied the site on which Carder's Funeral Home now stands. The original building, however, was burned in 1851.

The historian also read a bulletin from the Smithsonian Institute which said that it was thought that the name "Otter" which is ued so much in this county probably came from the Indian name "atari" or "ottari" which means "high hill" or "mountain," rather than from the prevalence of this small animal at any time. The name of Big Onion and Little Onion Mountains are thought to be a corruption of the names Big Injun and Little Injun.

Committee Meeting

A meeting of the "coordination committee" of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Monday night at the home of Miss Grace Nichols. Other members of the committee are Miss Lois Updike, chairman; and Miss Virginia Saunders. Mrs. Francis Parks, president of the club, was also present. Material was prepared for the club's year book. The programs planned by the committee will stress defense and democracy of the United States.

Bedford Book Club

The first fall meeting of the Bedford Book club was held Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Oliver. Mrs. C. H. Rucker, chairman of the program committee, outlined the program for the winter which will be centered around the study of the collection and distribution of news. The initial talks in this program were given by Mrs. Berry Elliott, whose subject was "Milestones in the Progress of Collecting and Distributing News," and Miss May Wilkinson who told how news correspondents and press agencies serve the public.

Discuss Work of Order

A discussion of the work of the order and a talk by Mrs. J. D. S. Morgan on the Masonic marker near Pleasantsville were included on the program at the meeting of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons club of the Liberty chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Friday night. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. T. May with Mrs. John L. Calhoun presiding. Miss Susan A. Early, honorary member, was among those present.

Entertain at County Club

Miss Betty Bridges and Richard Brydges, of Big Island, entertained at the Boonsboro County Club Tuesday night of last week.

Present were Misses Shirley Downey, Jean, Elizabeth and Rachel Harlow, Frdedie and R. C. Paxton, of Big Island; Misses Gwen Hardy and Jean and Mary Alys Plunkett; Homer Bryant, George Meeks, Alfred Vaughn, Spot Foster, Bruce Taylor and Tom Morrison, of Lynchburg; Misses Anne Miller, Imogen Claytor, June Weinbrg, Jean Delaney, Mary Lydia Lyle and Nell Hatcher; Allan Ford, Bob Scott and Frank Johnson, of Bedford.

THREE PARK STREET HOMES BURGLARIZED

Three homes on Park street were broken into Sunday night, but the total loot of the thieves was only a few dollars in cash, three watches and one coat, the owners reported to the police. The homes robbed were those of William Drumheller, Cecil Wright and George Kendall, none of whom were at home, and all were entered early in the night. Mr. Kendall told police that he was absent for only a few minutes, driving up town to mail a letter, but upon his return found that some one had broken in and searched his home.

At the Drumheller home a wire screen was removed and the window forced and the same procedure was followed at the Wright home. At the Kendall home entrance was made through a rear door. Mr. Drumheller reported that a watch and a few dollars in money were missing; the loss of Mr. and Mrs. Wright was listed as two watches and a coat, while Mr. Kendall stated that so far as he could tell nothing was missing from his home. The thieves took away a quantity of clothing from the Wright home, but apparently thought better of it and these articles, along with Mr. Wright's pocketbook, empty of course, were found Monday in the cemetery. So far the police have no clue as to the identity of the thieves.

A. W. ROBBINS WILL BE BULLETIN NAVY EDITOR

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, A. W. Robbins of the Bedford Bulletin has been made Navy Editor, to help the Navy in giving ambitious local young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean Navy" offers them for technical training and advancement as they serve their country in its emergency.

According to an announcement made public in Washington, a limited number of additional men between the ages of 17 and 50 will be given a chance, by enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve, to get to the top, with big pay, in jobs which by their aptitude and as a result of examination they the show themselves fitted, from among nearly 50 different trades and vocations. These include such callings as aviation machinist, dental technician, photographer, diesel engineer, radio technician, electrician, welder, storekeeper, and baker. Enlisted men may also also qualify for commissions as officers.

Beginning this week, the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men for training. These men will be sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will be given regular Navy pay and the Navy's free schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," said Secretary Nnox.

As Navy Editor, Mr. Robbins has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

NEW YORK DRIVER OUTSPEEDS OFFICER

After a wild chase from the Forks, through Bedford and over Route 460 west to Bonsack, a car bearing a New York license tag finally made its escape Tuesday night, though Officer Coleman does not yet know why the car was wanted. Over his radio he received word to pick up a car bearing a New York license, no license number given, and when such a car came along the officer started out after it. It was evidently the right car, as the driver began picking up speed when he discovered the officer's car behind him and kept far enough ahead throughout the chase to keep the officer from getting his license number.

Driver of the wanted car went through red lights at Peaks and Bedford avenue, then turned down Depot street and reached Main at Fourth street, where he put on full speed and gradually left the officer behind. As further evidence that the driver is familiar with roads in this section, he left 460 at Bonsack to avoid going into Roanoke, where he doubtless knew officers were waiting for him. It is believed that the only charge on which the car was wanted was reckless driving in Lynchburg, though the man at the wheel may have been wanted elsewhere on some other charge and was determined to avoid arrest.

NAVY WANTS YOUNG MEN

To man the two-ocean navy the United States is now building the services of many thousands of young Americans will be required. In addition to the customary recruiting officers and the posters displayed in front of all federal buildings, the navy department has embarked upon a newspaper advertising campaign in the effort to reach and interest young men in enlisting in the navy. The Bulletin will carry this series of advertisements, the first one appearing in this issue, and we bring it to the attention of Bedford boys and men who will be affected by the draft and who may wish to serve in the navy rather than in the land forces.

Service in the navy, if only for one enlistment period, offers many advantages that should appeal to young men who are ambitious to learn a trade or calling to which they can devote themselves in the future. It is part of the navy program to search out the peculiar aptitudes of the individual and give each the variety of training he is best qualified to receive and make good use of, both during his time of service and after his retirement to private life. The navy is willing and ready to furnish young men training worth not less than $1,500 in the first year alone, and which will teach the enlisted men to become experts in the trade or vocation for which each is best qualified. This training gives opportunity for development of all the skills and talents which the men know they have, but which they have lacked the time, equipment and opportunity to develop. When you enlist in the navy you have forty-five trades and vocations to choose from, the list including aviation machinist, printer, photographer, painter, bandmaster, stenographer, electrician, pattermaker, pharmacist mate, metalsmith, shipfitter, baker, signalman, optical mechanic, dental technician, bugler, radioman, boilermaker, aviation metalsmith, turret captain, seaman, carpenter, bomber, ordnaceman, molder, yeoman, steward, bombsight mechanic, boatswain, quartermaster, torpedoman, aerographer, diesel engineer, fireman, diver, parachutist, welder, storekeeper, cook, musician, gunner, etc.

Most young men know that when they enter Uncle Sam's service their starting pay is only $21 a month and this is somewhat discouraging. If they would investigate further they would find that the navy's pay increases rapidly if one is willing to stay in the service and work for promotion. By the end of your first enlistment you can be earning $126.00 a month, all of which is in the clear, as you will have no worries about grocery bills, rent, insurance, doctors' and dentists' bills, all of which are extra, paid for by the government. In addition you are learning a trade or vocation at which you can work if you should decide to retire from service. And the navy confers another large benefit which should not be overlooked by those who look ahead and want their old age made secure. When you want to retire the navy will take good care of you. After twenty years' service you may transfer to the fleet reserve with half pay, which is increased after ten years. After thirty years' service you may retire on three-quarter pay and you can count on the checks coming in every month for the rest of your life.

Even if the United States manages to avoid involvement in the present war, the state of emergency will last for several years, which creates the certainty that all young Americans who can pass the army and navy tests will be called upon to serve in some branch of the country's armed service. If you prefer the navy and want to take advantage of the peculiar opportunities it offers you will have to volunteer, as the draft law applies only to the land forces.

Read the advertisements as they appear in the Bulletin and if you are interested and want more information, fill out the coupon attached to the advertisement and send it to this paper, or you may call at the Bulletin office in person if you prefer.

BEDFORD'S ROAD PROGRAM

When the localities present their claims to the highway commission this fall at hearings on the allocation of funds for the next fiscal year Bedford county will be, so far as present indications go, in complete unity on what the commission will be asked for in the way of improvements to the primary system. Already, in fact some months ago, the Board of Supervisors, the county's representatives in the General Assembly, the Chamber of Commerce through its officials and directors, and prominent citizens over the county, reached an agreement on what projects would be recommended for improvement in the year beginning July 1, 1942, and unless the unexpected happens and somebody tries to dump over the applecart, no projects outside those agreed upon will be presented to the commission.

The program locally agreed upon includes four projects, one on north side of the county and three on the south side, and while it may appear to cover a lot of territory yet, considered as a whole, it is rather modest in the light of the fact that in the allocation of some three millions of surplus road funds a few weeks ago nothing was given to Bedford county. What is said here about this surplus fund is not to be taken as protest, because most Bedford people acquainted with the situation will endorse the action of the commission in using this fund to make needed improvements to some of the main traveled routes in Virginia. But the very act of using this entire fund on such routes should in the nature of things make available more money for those lesser traveled routes, such as are comprised in the Bedford program.

The four projects for which the Bedford group will seek funds are Route 43 toward the Peaks; completion of Route 122 from near Hendricks to Staunton river, a distance of about two miles; extension of improvement on the eastern end of Route 24 to Big Otter, and retention of the convict force on the western end of this same route until connection is made with Route 122. All these come under the heading of gap-filling jobs, as each of them will serve, if adopted by the department, in joining up the route and for this reason will go a long way toward giving Bedford county a system of highways which will furnish an outlet to a great majority of the people. This is especially true in view of what is being done to hardsurface some of the county's principal secondary roads.

Route 43 is entitled to favorable consideration because it not only serves a rich agricultural section, but it is Bedford's only direct connection with the Blue Ridge Parkway and the county's most famous scenic attraction, the Peaks of Otter. Grading of the parkway has about been completed from James river to a point near Villamont and even in its unfinished stage it is being traveled by hundreds of people weekly. The Board of Supervisors, the Chamber of Commerce, our representatives in the General Assembly, have agreed that work should be started on this road now so that when the parkway is completed people from this area will have better access to it than over the present narrow, torturous road.

Completion of Route 122 in Bedford county will be requested because this short unimproved gap has stood as it is for several years while chief attention has been given to that part of this route lying in Franklin county. No one has protested against this because more work had been done on the road on our side of the river than on the Franklin side, but now improvement in the two counties has been about equalized and the time has arrived when it is appropriate to ask the commission to finish the route in Bedford so that it will be open all the way to Rocky Mount when improvements on the Franklin side have been completed.

Route 43 has been improved to the Campbell line at Leesville, with a branch line running to Huddleston, and the road between this point and Moneta is now being surfaced. Route 24 has been improved eastward from Route 43 for several miles, starting at Gillaspie, and the commission will be asked to extend the improvement to Big Otter, beyond which a short distance connection is made with a good Road leading toward Lynchburg. The filling of this gap will mean a great deal to a large section of southeastern Bedford county, giving access to the Hill City, where many of the people trade, in addition to the routes leading to Bedford and Altavista.

It is desirable that the gap between the completed section of Route 24 and Route 122 be completed next year, otherwise it would leave this highway with a dead end, or in a condition where it would serve a strictly local purpose only. On the other hand, if work is continued until connection is made with Route 122 an improved outlet to Roanoke and the west is supplied to a large section of Southside Bedford, and it will also add immensely to the transportation facilities serving the county seat. All the southwest section of the county could reach Bedford over an improved road and there is no doubt that many people of that area who now seldom come here because of road conditions would do some of their trading in Bedford if this gap was filled.

Altogether it is a well rounded, conservative program which the various interests of the county have agreed upon, one which we believe will have the backing of a great majority of the people of the county and town, and one which will commend itself, we trust, to the highway commission when funds for the next road year are being distributed.

CONGRATULATIONS

In its issue of September 9th the Hudson Dispatch, published at Union, Hudson County, New Jersey, announces the promotion of John Mitchell from the position of managing editor, a place he has filled for fourteen years, to that of editor-in-chief. The announcement carries the following brief history of Mr. Mitchell's connection with the Dispatch:

"Mr. Mitchell has been a member of the Hudson Dispatch editorial staff for 26 years, with the exception of 2½ years, 1925-1927, when he was with the New York Daily News and the Elizabeth Times.

"Mr. Mitchell came to the Hudson Dispatch as a reporter from the Perth Amboy News in 1915, covered West Hoboken, then West Hoboken-Weehawken, later the courthouse and politics. He enlisted at the Old Fourth Regiment Armory Dec. 12, 1917. After the World War he returned as courthouse reporter, then successively became assistant city editor, city editor and managing editor."

Mr. Mitchell is a former Bedford man, a brother of Mrs. V. H. Payne, and received his initial training in newspaper work in the Bulletin office. By reason of this fact we have followed his career in his chosen field of service with a great deal of interest, and no little pride. The Dispatch is one of the leading dalies of northern New Jersey and the former editor, Haddon Ivens, was not only prominent and able in the newspaper field, but was a recognized authority on literary matters. To be called up to fill his place carries no little distinction, and we extend congratulations to Mr. Mitchell on the attainment of this honor, certain that the Dispatch will suffer no loss of prestige from the change.

LEGISLATIVE QUIZ

Q. Is legislation much influenced by oratory?

A. Not much.

The foregoing item is from the 58-page quiz booklet recently compiled by Representative Patman of Texas and entitled "Our American Government—What Is It? How Does It Function?" Copies are now on sale by the Government Printing Office; price one dime. We've already ordered our copy because any time that an explanation of Congress—much less of the whole government—is offered for ten cents, brother, it is time to act quickly.

The question-and-answer quoted above indicates that Representative Patman is going to let down at least one or two strands of Congressional hair. Legislation is "not much influenced by oratory."

Well, then, dad blame it, what is legislation influenced by? We won't know for sure until our copy of Mr. Patman's pamphlet arrives. Meanwhile we'd like to ask ourselves a few questions—sort of carrying on until the mailman comes:

Q. Is Congressional legislation influenced by expert testimony?

A. Not much. General Marshall testified that it was imperative for Congress to extend the terms of service of draftees for the duration of the emergency. The Senate limited extension to 18 months. The House did likewise and was successful in this by the perilous margin of one vote.

Q. Is legislation influenced by public opinion?

A. Not much. Public opinion is particularly ineffective when the people are scattered, unorganized, and inarticulate. Note: Bob Reynolds and Burt Wheeler.

Q. Is legislation influenced by religion or religious principles?

A. Only to the extent that each Congressional session is opened with a prayer.

Q. What is legislation influenced by?

A. Legislation is influenced by the organized, self-seeking, pressure groups of the nation. It is influenced by the paid lobbyists of these groups. It is further influenced by trades and log-rolling between these pressure outfits. The making of laws is influenced, somewhat by President Roosevelt, but only to the extent that he can apply pressure.

Q. Would a worthy law, one that would benefit or protect the vast majority of the American people, have a chance of being passed by Congress, even if it were opposed by most of the pressure groups?

A. No.

Q. Why?

A. Oh, come now; let's not be naive.—Charlotte News.

NEW SHIPS

Chairman Land of the Maritime Commission pointed out the other day that we are now prepared to produce ships twice as fast as we did 23 years ago. To those who recall the accomplishments of the shipbuilding industry during and after the first World War Chairman Land's claim may seem hard to believe. Yet the truth is the shipbuilding program today is virtually at the point reached when the Armistice was declared in 1918. For the bulk of our emergency shipping at that time was not ready for service until after the end of the war.

It is true that we built some 2,300 ships during 1917-1921 and that in comparison the present program of some 1,300 ships to be finished by the end of 1943 is numerically smaller. But the rate of production today, as Chairman Land rightly stresses, is the important thing. In 1939, when the shipbuilding industry showed signs of life for the first time since the post-war boom, 28 new merchant vessels were launched. Last year the output rose to 53. This year it will probably be close to 125. And during both 1942 and 1943 between 500 and 600 new ships are expected to be put into operation.—Washington Post.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Fort Storey, which I mentioned last week, was not my only contact with the army training camps while I was away. In Laurel, Md., the civic organizations of the town have established a recreation center for the boys at Fort Meade. On the Saturday night that I was in that vicinity they were giving a dance for the boys and knowing that most of those who have gone into training from the Bedford National Guard are at Camp Meade, I decided to drop over and see how things were doing. There were about 100 soldiers there, but not a Bedford face did I see among the goup. Apparently those who did leave camp hotfooted it home and the others were on duty.

It was interesting to see this civic club, however. One of the boys took me over it and I found that it was somewhat on the lines of the one at Fort Storey, but much more completely equipped. This club, for instance, had ping pong tables, fair-sized library and the dance was held in a gymnasium equipped for basket ball practice. The lad who was showing me around said that there were bowling alleys at the regular club, run in connection with the camp. The dances and the club at Laurel, however, are sponsored locally. Girls from Laurel, College Park and other outlying towns attend them. Each girl or group of girls has to be accompanied by a chaperon. There are no dates with the army lads to attend the dance. If one of the boys has his eye out for a particular lass, he has to wait on the dance floor and spot her when she comes in.

The night I was there it seemed to be the cooks' night off. Every other soldier I talked to said he was attending the army cooking school. One tall, sleepy-looking fellow from Richmond drawled out that the demerit system had just been installed that week and that he had three already. He got the first demerit that was given at the camp, he said. "Man came around to inspect and said my bed wasn't made up properly," he related with an injured air. "I was in it," he added thoughtfully, after a moment.

Two of the cooks with whom I talked were neither trainees nor volunteers, but regular army men of three-years standing, who had been sent to Fort Meade to attend the cooking school. They invited me to eat dinner at the camp the following day, promising chicken and all the fixings and a tour of the culinary section of the camp, but I couldn't make it.

It was interesting to note the difference in the attitude of these two men and that of the trainees. The former had many, many complaints which they made loudly and often. They griped about the army, about the camp, about the sergeants. One was given the impression that they were about the best thing in the army—and certainly the best cooks that ANY army ever produced. Among the trainees, however, one was impressed by the total lack of enthusiasm of any sort. They were there and that was all. There was no life in the crowd. Most of them said that they did not like army life, but none of them complained. I think that I would have felt better if they had. They did not seem to make either the worst or the best of the situation, but were rather completely indifferent.

Putting this visit alongside the one to Fort Storey, I came to the conclusion that the talk about increasing recreation facilities is all right, but that this is not the fundamental cause of the listless attitude described above. What we need, I believe, is what we have tried to avoid—more fanfare. We have tried so hard to avoid any sort of hysterical displays that I believe we have gone to the other extreme. It's not the treatment at camp but the send-off at home, that I believe is at the root of the trouble. Think it over.

PRINTER'S DEVIL

INDEPENDENCE

The Quarterly Conference at this place was good. Each church on the charge was well represented and each one had good reports.

Dr. Clarke preached an excellent sermon as usual. We hope to have him back another year, as superintendent of the Lynchburg district.

Mrs. Bettie Newman and daughter, Melba, of Roanoke, spent last week-end with one of her old school friends, Mrs. J. J. Laughon, of this place.

Mrs. W. G. Woodford and children were last Sunday afternoon visitors at J. J. Laughon's.

Mrs. C. A. Newman is improving slowly. We hope she will soon be well again.

Mrs. R. L. Crouch, of Roanoke, spent last week with her granddaughter, Mrs. Eldridge Laughon.

Bob West, of Ossipee, N. C., spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. West.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Crouch, Mrs. R. W. West, Misses Viola and Frances Wood and Joe West called on Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Newman last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cox with four car loads of their friends from Lynchburg, ate a picnic lunch at their farm home at this place last Sunday and spent the afternoon together.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Proctor, of Roanoke, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wood.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes With Cream Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon chopped onion
5 slices bread
½ teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
6 or 8 firm, ripe tomatoes

Remove crusts from bread and cut bread into cubes. Cook the chopped onion in the butter until soft, then add bread cubes, salt and pepper and mix together. Wash tomatoes, remove stem ends and scoop out pulp leaving the shell about ¼ inch thick. Cut a gash in the bottom of each tomatoes. Fill tomatoes with bread and onion stuffing and place in buttered baking pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Serve with Cream Sauce. Serves 6 to 8.

Fresh Tomatoes Filled with Salmon-mon-Celery Salad

6 or 8 firm ripe tomatoes
1 can (16 ozs.) salmon
1 cup diced celery

Slice the stem end from the firm, ripe tomatoes. Scoop out the tomato pulp leaving a shell about ¼ inch thick. Turn upside down to drain. Drain salmon and remove all dark skin and bones. Combine salmon and diced celery.

Special Dressing for Salad

2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of pepper
1 cup salad oil
½ cup vinegar
¾ cup tomato soup

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Add ¾ cup of the Sepcial Dressing to the salmon and celery mixture, then mix. In each tomato pour 1 tablespoon of the Special Dressing, then fill tomatoes with salmon-celery salad and chill. Garnish with mayonnaise, watercress or parsley.

For top of tomato mix 2 tablespoons of the Special Dressing with 4 tablespoons of mayonnaise. Serves 6 to 8.

Dinner Menu I

Spanish Hamburger Casserole
Hearts-of-Lettuce Salad
Crusty Rolls
Applesauce on Sponge Cake
Milk Coffee or Tet

Spanish Hamburger Casserole

1 8 or 9-oz. pkg. macaroni
1 cup minced onion
½ cup minced green pepper
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 lb. bottom round or chuck of beef, ground
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons grated cheese
1½ cup hot, well seasoned, medium white sauce
½ cup canned tomatoes

Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water until tender; then drain. Saute the onion and green pepper in the salad oil until tender. Add meat, and cook until meat has lost its red color, stirring frequently. Add salt and pepper. Add 4 tbsp. of the cheese to the white sauce: then gradually add tomatoes, stirring constantly. Arrange alternate layers of macaroni, meat and tomato sauce in a 2-qt. casserole. Sprinkle with 2 tbsp. cheese. Bake, uncovered, in moderately hot oven of 400 degrees F. for 40 minutes. Serves 6 to 8 generously.

Dinner Menu II

Breast of Veal with Vegetables
French Bread
Vanilla Rennet-Custard Dessert
(Topped with diced oranges)
Ginger Cookies
Milk Coffee or Tea

Breast of Veal with Vegetables

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level

2 lbs. boned veal breast
¾ lb. sausage meat
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons fat
2 sliced medium onions
1½ cups cold water
8 pared medium carrots
1 No. 2 can peas

Lay veal on a flat surface, and spread with sausage meat. Roll up like a jelly roll from one end. Tie with string, and if necessary skewer ends with toothpicks. Roll in the salt and pepper; then brown in the hot fat on all sides in a Dutch oven. Next add onions and water; cover, and simmer 1½ hours. Add carrots (also 6 pared, medium potatoes if desired), and continue simmering, covered, about 45 minutes, or until tender. Remove meat and carrots to a hot platter. Add the peas, with liquor, to the pan gravy; then thicken and season if necessary. Serves 6.

Ham Souffle

3 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely chopped, cooked ham
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2 eggs
Few drops of onion juice

Make a white sauce by blending flour and melted butter thoroughly, adding milk gradually and stirring until smooth. Cook until thickened, then remove from the fire and add egg yolks slightly beaten. Add the meat and seasonings desired. Then fold in the egg whites, beaten stiffly. Pour into a buttered baking dish and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about twenty minutes. Serve at once.

Meat Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
1 pound ground pork
1 cup fine bread or cracker crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk or meat stock

Have beef and pork ground together. Beef neck, shank or chuck and pork shoulder are economical cuts for grinding. Combine ground mat with bread crumbs and seasonings. Moisten with slightly beaten eggs and milk or meat stock. Pack into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done, about one and a half hours.

Ways to Vary Meat Loaf

1. Season with ketchup or chili sauce.
2. Lay bacon slices over top for added flavor.
3. Use tomato juice as the liquid instead of milk or meat stock.
4. Arrange a row of hard-cooked eggs through center of loaf, lengthwise, so that when cut each piece has a slice.
5. Lay slices of mild cheese over the loaf before baking.
6. Use different meats for a loaf. Ground lamb makes an excellent loaf. Or use a combination of veal and fresh pork. For a very different flavor in meat loaf, use a combination of smoked ham and fresh pork, ground together.

LAUREL BRANCH

Our school of Falls opened Sept. 8th. We have Mrs. Ollie F. Hamm back with us again to serve another term.

Misses Beatrice and Myrtle Williamson spent the week-end with Mrs. J. A. Wade.

Those visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wade Saturday night were Mrs. Z. E. Wheeler and children, Mrs. D. P. Williamson, Misses Alma, Helen, Beatrice and Myrtle Williamson, Emma St.-Clair, Messrs. Sherard Stevens, Dolph and Nelson Wade, Roy Powers and Nathan Williamson.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lawhorn and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lawhorn Sunday were Mrs. Z. E. Wheeler and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Estelle Lawhorn, Mrs. G. W. Brown, Misses Uldine, Mary Jane, and Jean Lawhorn, Isabelle and Hilda Stevens, Messrs. Walter Lawhorn, Abe Quarles, John Spradlin, Harry St. Clair, Berkley, Duane, Versal and Kenney Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Williamson, of Montvale, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a baby girl named Norma Ann.

Mr. Marvin St. Clair, of South Carolina, is spending a few days with home folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. E. Wheeler and family spent the week-end with home folks near the Peaks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thomas and son called on Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Williamson Sunday at Montvale.

On September 1st a number of folks gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thomas as a complete surprise party in honor of Mr. Thomas' birthday. Refreshments were served and at a late hour all departed wishing him many more happy birthdays.

The men around here are busy picking tomatoes and cutting corn but the tomatoes wont last much longer and they will soon get a rest.

Well, as news is about to give out I'll stop. Let's hear from all writers.

MEETINGS NEXT WEEK

Home Demonstration Meetings

Tuesday, Sept. 23—Hunting Creek, 2:00 p. m.

Wednesday, Sept. 24—Bedford 2:00 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Russell Overstreet; Mrs. Frank Hubbard and Miss Fannie Hopkins, assistant hostesses.

To Attend Training Meeting

A 4-H Club Training meeting will be held for agents at Miss Davis' office in Lynchburg, Thursday, Sept. 25th. After this meeting, Mrs. Atkinson will call a meeting of 4-H Club leaders and have a county Planning meeting.

New H. D. Club Organized

The Home Demonstration Agent met with a group of ladies at the home of Mrs. N. H. Robertson, Friday, Sept. 12th, and organized a new club, the Emmaus H. D. Club. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Roy Shrewsbury; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Robertson; secretary-treasurer and reporter, Miss Zula Nance; leaders Mrs. N. H. Nance and Mrs. Louise Nance.

There were nine present at the meeting. The club was organized with the following members (others to be added later) Mrs. Roy Sherewsbury, Mrs. T. O. Nance, Miss Zula Nance, Mrs. Louise Nance, Mrs. Charles Robertson, Mrs. T. H. S. Willis and Mrs. N. H. Robertson. Mrs. W. A. Saunders mother of Mrs. N. H. Robertson, was also present at the meeting. Mrs. Atkinson gave a demonstration on "The Buying of Coats." They will probably have a representive at the Coat School to be held in Bedford, October 21, 22 and 23rd. Hostesses for the next three months: October, Mrs. Roy Shrewsbury; November, Mrs. Charles Robertson; December, Mrs. T. C. Nance.

The regular meeting date will be the fourth Thursday in each month. The October meeting will be held on that day but the November and December meeting will be held on another date on account of both falling on a holiday. Dates will be arranged to suit the hostesses. A Christmas party will be planned for the December meeting.

4-H Club Recreational Meeting

A recreational meeting for the 4-H clubs was held September 12 at Liberty Academy, with 42 present. Leaders, agents and State Short Course delegates were invited. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Turner, Mrs. Lela C. Atkinson, Mr. G. W. Padgett, Mrs. Taylor N. Fellers, Mrs. R. F. Powell, Mrs. Joe Kern, Henry Walton, P. D. Holland, Jr., Charles King, Billy Rowlett, Roy Kern, Aubry Dooley, Billy Owen, Marcus Woodford, Kenneth Crouch, Jimmie Hicks, Morcelle Coffey, Charlotte Rowlett, Earline Anderson, Ruby Wright, Earl Kern Marjorie King, Eloise Terrell, Helen Robertson, Virginia Wade, Louise Watson, Evelyn Zimmerman, Edith Owen, Vernie Coffey, Martin Overstreet, Betty Jean Keys, Jane Padgett, Eva Padgett, Eddie Ruble, Margaret Overstreet, Frances Ruble, Nadine Barksdale, Jeanne Ferguson, Frances Austin, Dorothy Watson and Raymond Overstreet. This meeting was held for the purpose of preparing club members to take the leadership of recreation in their own clubs. Several new songs were sung, both quiet and active games were played. Miss Morcelle Coffey furnished music for the occasion and games were led by Mrs. Taylor Fellers, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Turner and Mrs. Atkinson. A very enjoyable time was spent. A future meeting will perhaps be held some time next month at which time all club members will be invited.

Achievement Days in October

Both the 4-H Clubs and the Home Demonstration Clubs will held Achievement Days sometime in October. The dates have not been arranged yet. All club members are urged to get all reports of their year's work up-to-date and report to their club secretaries this month in order that they may be up the club reports for Achievement Days. Good work has been done and it is every club member's duty to see that it is reported. Club leaders and officers are responsible for collecting these records and if every member will do their part you will save them and the agent a great deal of worry.

Cifax H. D. Club Organized

The agent met with the Mt. Herman Missionary Society at the home of Mrs. K. D. Johnston, Monday, Sept. 15th, for the purpose of organizing a H. D. Club in the Cifax community. The following officers were elected: Mrs. C. A. Noell, president; Mrs. C. J. Owen, vice-president; Mrs. P. A. Fellers, secretary-treasurer-reporter, Mrs. K. D. Johnston and Mrs. J. Lewis White, project leaders. Besides the officers, other members are: Mrs. T. G. Hawkins, Mrs. F. J. Leftwich, Mrs. Alvin Wood, Mrs. F. E. Abbott, Mrs. Emma Williams and Mrs. L. M. Marshall. The club will be called the Cifax H. D. Club and will meet regularly on the fourth Friday of each month. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. A. Fellers. Other women are invited to join the club. The demonstration for October will be on "The Selection and Care of Hose."

Nicopolis Ladies Interested

The Home Demonstration Agent met with the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Nazareth Church, at the home of Mrs. P. A. Fellers Monday, Sept. 8th, for the purpose of explaining the work of the Home Demonstration Clubs in the county.

MARRIAGES

Albergotti—Burks

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wellington Burks announce the marriage of their daughter, Hallie Katherine, to Emmett Reed Albergotti, of Roanoke, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell Albergotti, of Orangeburg, S. C. The marriage took place Monday morning at 10:30 at the home of the bride's parents, Monsignor James Gilseman, of Our Lady of Nazareth church, in Roanoke, performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the two immediate families.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a costume suit of R. A. F. blue with brown accessories, and a shoulder corsage of orchids. There were no attendants.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burks, parents of the bride, entertained at a wedding breakfast.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Albergotti will be at home at 355 Highland avenue, S. W. in Roanoke.

Rothlein—Gallagher

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Gallagher, of Lynchburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Mae, to Benedict G. Rothlein, son of Mrs. Kate Rothlein and the late Mr. Rothlein. The ceremony took place in the chapel of First Baptist Church Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. George D. Heaton, D. D. officiated.

The bride wore a blue sheer woolen dress with dubonnet accessories, at her shoulder was an arrangement of white orchids.

Wright—McCormick

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the Becker sisters, 412 Carmalt St., Cincinnati, Ohio, when Miss Christine Wright, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wright, of Bedford, became the bride of William Roger McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCormick, of California, Ky. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James C. Zuch, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church, Cincinnati. Only a few immediate relatives and friends were present.

The bride's dress was of soldier blue alpaca crepe, while the groom was dressed in a suit of medium dark blue. After the ceremony, refreshments were served by the Becker sisters, in whose home, the bride resided for two ears.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCormick were students of God's Bible, Cincinnati, and are much loved by their many friends in that locality. The happy couple will be at home after a few days, at Mullins, W. Va., where they are engaged in ministerial work.

We predict a bright future for this splendid young couple, and a harvest of souls as they labor together for our Lord Jesus Christ.

Krantz—Krantz

John Clifton Krantz, Jr., of Bedford, and Cordie Rebecca Krantz, of Huddleston, were united in marriage in Yanceyville, N. C., on Saturday night, Sept. 13, at 7 o'clock.

The groom is a son of J. C. Krantz, and the bride is a daughter of J. L. Krantz. The groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilkes, were the only attendants.

Smith—Hooper

Miss Doris Mae Hooper and Harry Smith, Jr., botoh of Bedford county, were united in marriage by Dr. Harry P. Clause, pastor of the Bedford Baptist church, at the pastorium, Saturday morning.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hooper and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith. of Route 3, Bedford.

Holdren—Roberts

Miss Sadie Elizabeth Roberts and Virgil Hewitt Holdren, both of Evington were married Monday morning by Dr. H. P. Clause at the Baptist pastorium.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewell Holdren.

Catron—Dent

Mrs. Dora Fralin Dent and Wiley P. Catron were married September 10 in the Belmont Baptist parsonage by Dr. E. D. Poe, pastor of that church.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Catron will be at home in Bonsack.

Overstreet—Kirk

Mrs. William Lloyd Minton, of Roanoke, announce the marriage of her daughter, Miss Virginia Proffitt Kirk, to Eugene Davis Overstreet, son of Emmett Rucker Overstreet and the late Mrs. Overstreet.

The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock Wednesday, September 10, in the home of the Rev. E. D. Poe.

Dunaway—Heck

Miss Nealie Byrie Heck, of Bedford, and Alva William Dunaway, of Wayesboro, were married September 2 by the Rev. D. B. Walthall at New Providence Presbyterian church manse. They will reside in Waynesboro. Mr. Dunaway formerly lived at Brownsburg.

Engagement Announced

LAWN PARTY AT JETER CHAPEL

There will be a lawn party at Jeter's Chapel on Saturday night, Sept. 21, starting at 6:30 o'clock. Everybody invited to come and help make the event a success.

Will Name AAA Committeemen

floor their candidate for delegate and alternate to the county convention at which will be elected the county committee. From the nominations farmers will confirm by balloting a panel of four nominees. The four persons receiving the most votes will be declared nominated. At the same meeting there will be oral nominations for community committeemen and alternates and from these a panel of 10 will be confirmed by secret ballot. The name of any person may be entered for both the panel of delegates and committeemen.

After receipt in the county office of the results of community nominating meetings each eligible voter residing in the community will be sent a business reply envelope, a certificate of membership, and a ballot on which will be listed in alphabetical order the names of the four nominees for delegates and alternates, and the 10 nominees for community committeemen and alternates. From these farmers are to choose two individuals as delegates and alternates, and five as community committeemen and alternates.

The person who receives the highest number of votes for delegate will be declared elected, and the second highest will be alternate. The person who receives the most votes for community committeeman will be chairman, the second vice-chairman, the third regular member, fourth first alternate, and fifth second alternate.

Immediately after the community elections are complete the delegates from every community will assemble for a discussion of the articles of association and the nomination and election of the chairman, vice-chairman, third regular member, and first and second alternates of the county committee. Each office will be voted on separately and by secret written ballot. Nominee must receive a majority of the total votes cast before he is declared elected.

The first item of business for the newly elected county committee will be the election of a secretary and a treasurer, for whose satisfactory performance the committee is responsible.

State and District Officers Invited to Brunswick Stew

Party to be Held at New County Lake Saturday Afternoon Oct. 4

Officers of the state and district Young Democratic organizations will be invited to attend the brunswick stew which will be staged by the local Young Democratic club at the county lake on October 4, according to a recent announcement of the president, J. D. S. Morgan. J. C. Goodwin, chairman of the sixth district, and Stuart B. Carter, former chairman of the sixth, have both accepted the invitation. All club presidents and other prominent young Democrats in the Sixth District are being invited. The object of this, Mr. Morgan stated, was to allow the members of the local club who were not able to attend the state convention in Roanoke to become acquainted with their district and state officers. It is hoped, he said, that a large number of the members of the Bedford club will take advantage of this opportunity.

The brunswick stew will be free to all members of the Bedford County Young Democratic club. If anyone wants to join the club at this time, his membership will be good for the entire next year and for any local clubs functions during the remainder of this year. Club members may bring non-member guests if they like, but there will be a charge of 25c for each of these.

The brunswick stew is being held on Saturday afternoon, October 4, beginning at 4:00 o'clock.

State officers who are being invited and many of whom are expected to attend are: Richard S. Wright, Jr., Woodstock, president; Leonard K. Baber, Richmond; Garland Moss, Chase City; Walter I. Young, Alexandria; and R. Page Morton, Charlotte Courthouse, vice-presidents; John A. Currie, Richmond, executive secretary; Lewis A. McMurran, Newport News, secretary; Miss Addie Muncy, Bland, national committeewoman; Archie C. Berkeley, Richmond, treasurer; Jesse B. Wilson, Charlottesville, college secretary.

All of these officers were newly elected at the convention in Roanoke during the last week in August. Richard S. Wright succeeded Franklin Daniel, of Lynchburg, who has also been invited to attend the Bedford County party and is expected to be present. duVal Radford, local club member, is national committeeman for the state organization.

Speeder Convicted In Mayor's Court

Owen Phillips, owner of the car which State and town officers testified raced through Bedford in disregard of red lights or traffic rules on the night of the 16th, was tried m mayor's court Monday and fined $100 and given 30 days in jail, from which verdict he appealed to the Circuit court. The car, which eluded officers between Bedford and Roanoke, was located by the police in the latter city and at the trial Gordon Coleman and Byron Witt testified it was the same car they chased for several miles. Phillips admitted ownership of the car, but denied that it had been driven through Bedford on the night in question.

The trial of Alfred Gill, colored, charged with shooting a woman and man Tuesday night of last week, was also set for trial Monday, but was postponed because all the witnesses could not be present. Gill, it is alleged, took several shots at Elsie Cole at a house in the colored section, wounding her in the leg, and William Otey, also colored, was shot twice when he appeared on the scene, purely by accident he says. One bullet hit him in the foot and the other in the leg, but none of the wounds inflicted are very serious.

In trial justice court Saturday Marvin Saunders was convicted on two charges, driving while intoxicated and assault and battery, the penalty for the first being $100 fine and 30 days in jail, suspended, and on the second charge the fine was $10.

Navy Recruiter to be In Bedford Tuesday

C. I. Posey, Torpedoman First Class, of the U. S. Navy, now stationed in Lynchburg on recruiting duty, will be in Bedford on Tuesday, Sept. 30, at the amory in the court house, to confer with prospective recruits for the Navy. He invites all eligible men up to 50 years old to confer with him, if interested, on the above date.

Notice to Advertisers

Due to the recent advances in all materials necessary to the operation of our business, we find it imperative to the conduct of sound business to advance our advertising rates slightly above those that have been in effect for the past several years. Consequently, beginning November 1, 1941, rates on all types of advertising will be raised 5c an inch.

Circulation coverage and service determines advertising rates of a newspaper. This very moderate advance merely brings our rate near the level of other weekly newspapers of comparative circulation coverage before advertising rates in general began to advance. Investigation of this suggestion will convince you that we still maintain a lower rate based upon circulation coverage, than a majority of the weekly newspapers of the State.

Street Improvement Projects Completed

The street improvement program for the year has about been completed and an resume of what has been done was made this week by Mitchell Bower, town engineer in charge of streets. In addition to black-top treatment applied to some of the main thoroughfares by the Sam Finley Company, a large number of other streets have been resurfaced with asphalt and stone by Mr. Bower and his force of street workmen, the total covered by both classes of work being slightly more than five miles, or the largest mileage treated in any one year in the history of the town. The budget for the fiscal year which ended August 31 carried $26,000 for street improvement and while much of the work was not completed until after that date it was all financed by last year's budget. The budget for the current year carries $30,000 for streets, but not much of this will be spent until next summer.

The streets given the Finley treatment included Longwood from Peak street to Oak street, the one block of the last named street from Longwood to Baltimore avenue, and about 500 feet on this last thoroughfare; Crenshaw street from Main to the corporate limits, East Main street from the end of the bricks to the corporation line, and a section on Westview avenue. The total distance of all these projects is slightly more than two miles.

The streets resurfaced with asphalt and stone included Railroad avenue, Quarles, Judd, Madison, Greenwood, Monroe, Adams, Jackson, Elm, Lakeview, Pine, Bedford avenue, and in addition to the resurfacing program a number of other streets received patch work to fill hollows or remedy bad places. Mr. Bower stated that to carry out the program 34,000 gallons of asphalt and 1,500 tons of stone were required, this, however, not including the work done by the Finley company. The summer's work put practically every street in town in good shape for the winter, and the plans for next summer call for putting an asphalt surface on the brick on East Main street and a number of other major projects which, when completed, will make Bedford streets as a whole as well paved as any town in the State.

Ownerless Horse is Picked Up by Police

If any Bedford farmer or other resident of the county or town is minus one bay mare about 15 years old they can find their missing animal in Harry Bush's pasture. Mr. Bush is in charge of the stray horse purely by accident and he hopes the job will be very temporary. The police asked him to take charge, the request resulting from the fact that they had the horse on their hands, with no use for her and with nothing to feed her on.

The lady horse was spotted by the police about 12 o'clock Monday night calmly strolling down Bridge street, sans saddle, bridle, rider or any other trappings, and, thinking the owner could not be far behind, took her in charge, and when said owner failed to appear their charge was transferred to Mr. Bush. The latter voices the opinion that the horse belongs to some of the horse-trading gentry who were in town Monday and was overlooked when they departed for the next trading mart.

Three are Injured At Moseley Bridge

In a mix-up between a buggy and automobile at Moseley Bridge early Sunday night the car seems to have come out second best, its three occupants all being sent to the John Russell hospital for the treatment of head injuries. Two colored men, Fox Watkins, of Halifax, and Chester Williams, of Bedford, Route 4, were treated for broken noses, and Williams in addition suffered a fracture of the upper jawbone and had several teeth knocked out. The woman, Katherine Early from Goode, was discharged after treatment for a cut chin, and she also had several broken teeth. The occupants of the buggy were Landon and John Carner and Jack Harris, none of whom were hurt and the only damage to the buggy was a broken rear wheel. The car, following the collision, went into a ditch and finally came to rest against a bank.

The wreck was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Dillard Shields, who said that Williams was at the wheel of the car, while the reins on the horse pulling the buggy were held by Landon Carner, of Bedford, Route 2.

Five Captured in Blue Ridge Raid

C. E. Williamson and J. M. Arrington, deputy sheriffs of Botetourt county, and H. D. Smith, State ABC officer, made an early morning raid Wednesday in the Blue Ridge section and came out with two copper stills which were in full operation at the time of the raid.

Some 1,000 gallons of mash and 40 gallons of liquor were captured and five men who gave their names as C. N. St. Clair, 65, Wilson Atkinson, 26, Waldo St. Clair, 30, C. H. Johnson, 40, and Tom Hopson, 75, were lodged in jail at Fincastle charged with the illegal manufacture of ardent spirits. The big distillery was found in operation on the mountain top immediately back of the Blue Ridge Spring hotel.

Bedford Otters Win First Home Game

(O. A. Thomas)

The first home game and the second of this season was won by the Otters in rather easy fashion by defeating a fast, tricky but light team from Holy Cross Academy in Lynchburg. After the beating they got in Salem this game provided an opportunity to polish up some of the plays that failed to work so well against Andrew Lewis, and get ready for the all-important inter-district game at South Boston on tomorrow night at 8:30, daylight saving time.

In the game on Friday the Bedford backs had the opportunity to measure their strength and accuracy in passing and driving through the line, both of which were fairly well done. Spectators were aware, however, that the team was not inspired in its play as it was in Salem and did not do well either in line plays or kicking. In fact in the latter the play was uniformly weak, while the greatest strength shown was in the air attack, Johnson to Meador and O'Donohoe.

While the Holy Cross team was unable to make many gains against the Otter first team they were in turn too strong for the Otter second eam and made their only score while the entire second team was their opponents. Holy Cross had some well planned tricky plays and on several occasions were able to make substantial gains. No statistics on the game were compiled and it is therefore impossible to give more than the score, which was 40 to 7.

The game on Friday night of this week is claiming the serious attention of Coach Painter and the entire squad for the reason that this is in all probability the game that will settle the championship in two of the state's eight districts and lead directly to the chance at the state championship. If the Otters are defeated by South Boston they will right then be out of the state championship fight regardless of future games. They feel, therefore, that they must win this game but with slim chances, since South Boston is gunning for them.

Forty-Six Enroll In Training Class

Forty-six men were present Monday night at the Bedford high school for the meeting which had been called for the purposes of enrolling men and boys in the national defense sheet metal and machine shop training classes. J. L. Borrden, principal, and S. A. Cravotta, vocational director, presided, and explained that classes in aircraft sheet metal work would begin Monday, September 29, and the machine shop class will open as soon as new equipment arrives, the date to be announced later.

Twenty-six of those attending the meeting expressed their preference for aircraft sheet metal work and they were told to report at the high school shops Monday to take aptitude tests. The balance of those attending preferred training in the machine shop and the class roll will be announced when the machine shop class starts work.

All classes formed under the national defense program will be in session fifteen hours each week. Classes will open at 7:0 and end at 10:00 each evening from Monday through Friday. Out-of-school boys and young men who may be interested in receiving this training should apply immediately to either Mr. Borden or Mr. Cravotta at the High School.

New Doctors Take Over V. D. Clinic

Dr. M. P. Rucker and Dr. J. G. Jantz in Charge for Next 3 Months

The venereal disease clinic, sponsored by the Bedford Lions club and the Bedford branch of the American Association of University Women is now entering its seventh month with a splendid record of achievement behind it. Local doctors, working in pairs, give their services free, and the physicians in charge for the third quarter are Dr. J. G. Jantz and Dr. M. P. Rucker. Those previously serving were for the first quarter, Dr. R. H. Hartwell and Dr. D. H. Robinson, and for second quarter, Dr. T. P. West, and Dr. E. L. Johnson.

Records of the clinic show that 67 persons are listed as having received treatment at some time since the clinic opened six months ago, and of these from 35 to 40 are making a serious effort to have their systems cleansed of syphilis, as they rarely ever miss a treatment. There are a few more who are still under treatment but are not regular in their attendance upon the clinic. Some of the original 67 have been dismissed by attending physcians; some have moved away from Bedford but have requested letters from those in charge of the clinic in order that they may continue the treatments at their present locations, and some have dropped out entirely.

While all this makes a creditable showing, neither the sponsors or the doctors are satisfied with the progress being made. Unless Bedford, town and county, runs contrary to all statistics on the prevalence of syphilis, it is pointed out, the number of those who have applied for treatment represents only a small fraction of those infected, and a new effort is being made to locate and interest the hundreds of Bedford county people who need the treatment. The number applying for blood tests has dwindled to one or two a week, and unless more of those infected can be interested the clinic must eventually close for lack of patients. In all probability there are more than 1,000 people in Bedford county with syphilis in their blood, many of them not aware of this dangerous fact, and when the clinic was promoted here for control and eventual eradication of this disease it was hoped by the sponsors that the campaign would receive aggressive support, especially from those who stand in need of treatment.

Persons who think they may be in need of treatment and who have not the means to pay for such treatment should consult their family physician and request that they be referred to the clinic.

American Legion Brunswick Stew

Tomorrow night, Friday, Sept. 25th, will be a gala night at the Fair Grounds when Howard E. Board Post 54, American Legion, will stage their annual Brunswick Stew and night of gaity and good fellowship. Col. Jordan, of the Veterans' Facility, from Roanoke; Charlie McCloud, from Lynchburg; Jimmy Thompson, from Rustburg and other prominent Legionnaires will be there.

Supervisors Hold A Short Session

The Board of Supervisors Monday had one of the shortest sessions in recent years and made a visit to the county farm following an early adjournment.

At request of Trial Justice J. Callaway Brown the board amended the county ordinance relating to drunken driving to make it conform to the State law on the same subject. The State law was amended at the last session of the General assembly to permit courts, in certain instances, to suspend the jail sentence upon a second conviction for drunken driving, but until the county law was amended Monday the local courts were governed by the old law under which the jail sentence was mandatory upon second conviction for this offense.

As the hesult of a claim from the Lynchburg fire department for a run to Bedford county to put out a burning automobile, the board instructed the Commonwealth's Attorney to advise Lynchburg that in the future no payment would be allowed for trips to Bedford county unless a dwelling or some other building was on fire. The claim against which the Board balked was for a fire in which the county has no interest, as the burning car, it is understood, did not belong to a Bedford man.

The board has a contract with the city under which the fire department there responds to alarms from Bedford county in territory adjacent to Lynchburg, and the action taken by the Board Monday was merely for the purpose of defining the kinds of fires the board will pay for having put out.

Homecoming at the Methodist Chuch

The annual "Home-coming" day will be observed by the congregation and friends of the Main Street Methodist church next Sunday.

Letters have been sent to the membership urging all members as far as is possible to be present at the services of the day. Special music is being prepared for the occasion. The pastor, the Rev. James B. Douglas, plans to preach both morning and evening. The hours will be 11 in the morning and 8 in the evening, both by daylight saving time.

Of course all visitors and strangers are cordially invited to be present. Come.

The Promotion Day exercises of the Sunday School will be held in connection with the 11 o'clock church services in the main auditorium of the church Sunday.

This feature of the service will consist in the awarding of Bibles to those in Primary department who are promoted to the Junior department and the awarding of certificates to those of the Junior department who are promoted to the Intermediate department.

This part of the program will occupy but a minute or two and yet it is felt that it will be a very significant addition to the Home Coming services. All of the parents and friends of these boys and girls who are to be promoted are cordially invited to be present.

TIME OUT FROM HAY MAKING

Board Lists Men For October Call

The Bedford county draft board responding to the call for 48 men from this county to meet the October quota, have listed 41 whites and seven negroes, the first to leave on the 4th and the last on the 10th. More men have been sent up for training from Bedford county in several other months since the selective service law became effective, but never before has so large a group left at one time as will leave here on the 4th, and the board is preparing a slightly more elaborate send-off than is customary. Eight of the men to leave on the 4th are from the ranks of the young men of 21 who registered on July 1st. The white men slated to leave are: David Haden Whorley, Otho, Benjamin Hawkins, Walter Clifton Overstreet, Pat Malloy Witt, Harry William Scott, Lewis Wallace Talbott, Scott Alvin May, Herbert Otey Gray, William Clayton Douglas, Glenn Henry Dooley, William Walker Quarles, Charles William Hawkins, Paige Rush Walker, Clarence Richard Judd, Cecil Floyd Gregory, Edward Massie Foster, William Frederick Kropff, Jr., Lional Brooke Mattingly, Thomas Littleton Overstreet, Lloyd Edgar Creasy, Grayson Mitchell, Louis Earl Walters, Roy Archer Mayhew ,Grover Keith Carter, Richard Kenneth Gregory, Frederick Wagner Lindsay, Evans Henry Almire, Samuel Rucker Martin, Walter Bruce Langford, Herman Lewis Jones, Garrett Warner Craig, Lawrence Ellis Witt, Melvin Ray Overstreet, Daniel Webster Doss, Jr., Houston Lynch, James Pershing Blount, Robert Edwood Quarles, Maston Board Snyder, James William Dudley, Wilmot Howard Thomas, Landon Thomas Skinnell, Harry Thomas Enbank, Benjamin Ewell Vaughan, James Kelly Guthrie, Jr., Lawrence Benjamin Hawkins.

The eleven colored men who will leave on the 10th are: Addison Cobbs, Jr., Robert Preston Reynolds, Jesse Collie Hurt, George Albert Calloway, Raymond Jones, Matthew Jones and James Henry Holt.

Under a new ruling, notice of which has been sent to all selective service boards ,men who are being discharged from the army after one year of service and who are within the 21-35 age bracket must register under provisions of the selective service law and, presumably, are subject to the draft law under which they can be sent to camp for a year's training. Within a few months members of the first national guard units called up for training will be returning home, but under this ruling will have to register with their local board. The ruling also applies to men discharged from the armed forces of teh country State Draft headquarters are advised upon the discharge of any man from service and immediately the draft board in the home county of the discharged man is so notified and in turn the local board advises the returned soldier or sailor that he must register under the selective service law.

However, the discharged men may volunteer for enlistment i nthe nationguard of their home states. If the individual enlists in the National Guard of Virginia or the enlist reserve corps to complete his service as required by statute, he will be placed in Class 1-C as a member of "land and naval forces" and will not be called for further duty with the army unless the unit in which he enlists is again inducted into service. The whole procedure appears to be somewhat complicated and all men discharged from the armed forces should call at their local draft board office and find out just whaere they stand.

VPF Maneuvers to Be Held Sunday

Three companies of the 7th battalion of the Virginia Protective Force will hold their first maneuvers Sunday in the vicinity of Graves Mill on the boundary line between Bedford and Campbell counties, the battalion being composed of the Bedford company, Owen D. Keeler captain, and two companies in Lynchburg. The companies will assemble in their armories at 9:30 o'clock, go to Graves Mill in their own cars and reassemble in a field opposite the home of Dr. H. P. Brown.

Beginning at 10 o'clock, the men will practice extended order drill by squad, platoon and company.

Company 72 will occupy Haystack Hill at 11 o'clock and defend the position from the other two companies which will make up an attacking force.

The maneuvers will be made realistic as advance dressing stations for each company will be set up under the direction of the battalion medical officer. No ammunition will be used.

At noon the attack will be halted and the soldiers will eat lunch on the lawn of the Graves Mill farm.

Battalion officers said the attack will be carried out in easy stages and there will be frequent rests in order that the men will not become tired out in their first field maneuvers.

The companies will reassemble at 2 o'clock on a large field near the mill for close order drill by squads, companies and platoons. At 2:45 o'clock a battalion parade will be held.

The public is invited to be present to watch the maneuvers, it was announced.

Montvale Installs Training Course

Montvale High School has installed a defense training course and all out of school youth between the ages of 16 and 26 who desire to take this training are requested to register immediately so that the class be organized and work started without undue delay. Those interested should see H. D. McKee, school principal, or Jim Peters, agricultural instructor. The class will start active work October 1st and a wood-working course will be the first undertaken and will last ten weeks. Other courses will probably be taken up at the conclusion of the first one.

Committee Meets; Discuss Possibility Of Building Hotel

Report of Hotel Developing Company States Conditions Here Favorable

Meeting for the second time to discuss the possibility and feasibility of building and operating a new modern hotel in Bedford, a committee, composed of men from a cross-section of Bedford's business life, heard a report from a representative of Hockenbury System, Incorporated, a hotel developing company, Tuesday night. This company was retained by the committee at its first meeting, held during the early part of the summer, to make a thorough investigation of local conditions and report back to the committee as to whether proposed plan of building a new hotel would be a sound business proposition.

The report, as read by Mr. Stoll, president of the Hockenbury System, Incorp., was very favorable to the plan. The first step in the investigation, he pointed out, was to make a survey of the sentiment of the town as to the need of a new hotel. Out of 75 questionnaires sent out, he said 73 were definitely of the opinion that the town needed a modern hotel. General conditions in the town such as retail outlets, local features (Elks Home, for instance) and its location upon various main highways were then taken into consideration. After a thorough study, Mr. Stoll said, his company was of the opinion that a hotel would be a good business proposition and recommended that one be built for not more than $120,000, $65,000 of which, it was suggested, should be raised by the sale of stock locally and the remaining $55,000 by a bond issue.

The recommendation in regard to the type of hotel to be built read as follows: "We recommend to build at this time a hotel not to exceed 35 rooms but to so build it that when the time comes it can be easily added to." Other qualifications included were that it be a two-storied, fire resistant construction; every room with bath. Since the proposed hotel would only be two stories, no elevator was recommended, but the plans did call for a coffee shop, seating 50, a banquet hall, seating approximately 125 and an "adequate lobby." The hotel would be "strictly modern and attractive in design."

Mr. Stoll said that at least seven sites had been located in town which would be well-adapted to the building of such a hotel as described above.

At the conclusion of the report, Mayor J. W. Gillaspie, acting chairman of the committee, called for an expression of opinion. Everyone present agreed that the town needed a hotel and that it would be a great asset. Many, however, feared "that it is not a good time to build" since

Going Back to Standard Time

Mayor J. W. Gillaspie announces this week that the town offices and all departments of the town government will go back to eastern standard time at midnight on Saturday, September 27th, and it is expected that all the town's business houses and industrial plants will do the same thing. Requested so to do by the Federal and State governments, the town and most of the business houses went on daylight saving time early in August, but because there was not universal conformity with the request some confusion has resulted, and most people will welcome the news that after the present week everything and everybody will be operating on the same time.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Floyd County Man

J. S. Weeks, 72, prominent Floyd county farmer, died Sunday in a Roanoke hospital from injuries received a month ago when he was attacked by a cow at his home. The animal pinned the elderly man against a post and inflicted internal injuries which finally caused his death.

Mr. Weeks was a brother of Sam T. Weeks, of Bedford, who went to Floyd county to attend the funeral, which was conducted from the Church of the Brethren at Willis Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

To Observe World Communion Sunday

Much interest is being manifested throughout the Christian world in the approach of the World Communion Sunday, the second observance of which will be held the first Sunday in October. All of the local churches have voted to participate in this celebration, not as a union service, that is not the purpose of it, but rather each local congregation seeking to have all of its members present at its own Communion Service on this date. A fuller announcement of this will be made next week.

Huddleston Man Has Oddity in Pig Litters

W. J. Ashwell, who lives near Huddleston, reports an oddity in a pig litter. He has a young sow with ten pigs, now over a month old, and all of the pigs are males. Who can beat that?

What happens when a glamorous heiress engaged to a man almost as rich as herself decides that she can marry without love? You'll find the answer in Maysie Greig's absorbing new serial, "Pathway to Paradise." Don't miss the first installment in The American Weekly with Sunday's Washington Times-Herald, now on sale.

Best friends were amazed in woman's improved looks... new energy...pep!

A marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, underweight, sluggishness and loss of appetite —all by two important steps—

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunates who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overtaxing worries ... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection ... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number ... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength ... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat ... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality ... pep ... become animated ... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again

Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food ... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color ... this makes for greater strength ... color in your cheeks ... resistance against disease attacks.

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

LOCAL DEALERS UNVEIL PLYMOUTH MODELS HERE

The Peoples Garage, Plymouth dealers in Bedford are holding the first public showings of the new Plymouth models. The new models are not called "1942 models," but instead are identified as "Plymouth's Finest" in introductory advertising announcing the public showings here. The ability of the auto industry, born of continuous engineering research, to quickly adapt optional materials in place of materials required for Defense, — and at the same time give the public more durable, more economical and better looking cars—is strikingly demonstrated in these new Plymouth models.

One example of this application of optional materials is the wider use of Amola steel. The developement of Amoal—a high quality steel requiring no imported alloys—came about through years of research in Chrysler Corporation laboratories. When first introduced a few years ago on Plymouth coil springs and transmission gears, Amola proved its ability to outperform any other alloy. Wider use of this time-tested metal—produced entirely from already developed resources in the United States—is made in a number of basic advancements in Plymouth's structural design.

Low, Wide and Massive

The first thing noticeable about the new Plymouth cars is how much lower they are. This wide, low, massive appearance is particularly impressive on the street. There are two lines, the Plymouth Deluxe and Plymouth Special Deluxe. Special Deluxe models come in eight body styles; the Coupe (3 Passenger); 2-Door Sedan; 4-Door Sedan; a Club Coupe with full-width rear seat and extra legroom for 6 passengers; Convertible Coupe; a Town Sedan providing added custom style and individuality; and a Station Wagon. The first three are also available in the Plymouth Deluxe line.

The effect of unusual lowness is achieved by lower roof lines and a long, 117-inch wheelbase, at the same time retaining normal headroom. The lowered center of gravity gives increased stability to the ride Also, the safety all-steel body is widened to enclose and conceal the running boards, keeping them clean and free from ice and snow. Stepping in or out of the car is easier than ever. The low floor is level with the running boards. There is no raised sill to step over or to make cleaning difficult. Seats are unusually spacious, and in sedan models are exactly the same width both front and rear. Front seats are adjustable over a five-inch range.

95 Horsepower, New Economy

Savings in fuel consumption and lower costs of operation are coupled with the greater performance of a 95 Horsepower engine that delivers 10% more power, and at the same time, even better economy than before. With this engine design Plymouth engineers have met the special needs of today, that of helping motorists conserve the nation's fuel supplies. Increased output of 95 horsepower is obtained at a lower engine speed—3400 rpm, which is a considerably slower rate than that of many automotive engine of today. This added horsepower at lower speeds permits the use of a lower rear axle gear ratio (3.9), which also allows the engine to run considerably slower and make fewer revolutnions per mile. This gives increased economy in fuel and oil, and in lower upkeep costs.

Improved smoothness of engine operation is attained with a heavier, more perfectly counterweight crankshaft, equipped with a special vibration damper.

These new Plymouth pistons are much lighter in weight than the old order of cast iron pistons, and impose much less load on the bearings. They are especially designed with chilled iron ribs reinforcing the piston walls to make them exceptionally strong and free from distortion caused by the heat of fuel combustion.

Roadability Improved

Also important in improved basic design, is Plymouth's super - rigid double channel frame. This is longer and more massive than the previous frame, carrying the entire body at a lower level so that the car hugs the road even better than before. Smooth level riding quality of Plymouth models is now even more pronounced—particularly on curves and over bad stretches of rough road—through the combined action of special design features such as extra long wheelbase, scientific weight distribution, big front coil springs, equalizing force of a front end sway eliminator; effective spring control by four direct acting, aero-hydraulic shock absorbers; positive, easy steering control through a high steering ratio; long rear springs and the equalized, low-frequency action of balanced springing.

Continue "Safeguard" Wheel

Noteworthy in the cause of safety is Plymouth's "Safeguard" wheel. Introduced a year ago, this improvement has since proved to be science's greatest advance in safety wheel design. Safeguard wheels are designed to guard against danger of blowout or puncture by holding the tire firmly in place, instead of permitting it to be crushed down between flanges of the rim or thrown off one side of the wheel. Centrifugal force helps the wheel.

keep the tire from going completely flat, so that any driver can easily control the car while bringing it to a safe stop.

Another safety aid is the increased effectiveness of Plymouth's Safety-Signal speedometer, mounted directly in front of the driver on the gracefully tapered instrument panel. Airplane-type numerals make accurate reading of the speedometer easy at all times, and for after-dark visibility without glare, all instrument dials are edge-lighted at night.

The entire dial of Plymouth's speedometer changes color when illuminated, showing green while car speed remains below 30 miles an hour, then changing to amber from 30 to 50, and turning to a warning red at speeds in excess of 50 miles per hour. Notable operating quietness of the Plymouth models, to make motoring more restful and enjoyable on trips of any kind, is obtained through rubber body mountings, rubber insulation of rear springs, rubber insulation in the steering mechanism, five different kinds of body insulation—plus the well-known Plymouth Floating Power engine mountings.

Upholstery Colors Harmonize

Separate parking lamps are an integral part of the grille design, Headlamps, of the latest "Sealed Beam" type, are streamlined into the front fenders. Nnie body colors are offered on all body types in both Plymouth lines, and in addition two special colors for Convertible Coupes only, at no extra charge. For even further variety, most of the standard colors are available in six diferent two-tone combinations on all 2-Door and 4-Door Sedans, and on Club Coupe models in both lines at slight extra cost. Upholstery in Deluxe models is a new, long-wearing pile fabric that is easy to clean, in a pleasing taupe shade. For Special Deluxe models there are two upholstery colors, one basically blue and the other basically green, to provide color harmony with the particular body color selected for the exterior. Choice of broadcolth or pile fabric is optional for either of the two Special Deluxe interior color schemes. Body color options available as standerd for all Plymouth models include Marine Blue, Chevron Blue, Gunmetal, Airway Gray, Battalion Beige, Artillery Green, Pilot Green, Cruiser Maroon and Black. Two aditional colors for Convertitble coupes only are Charlotte Ivory and Sumas Red.

Montvale Hi-School Notes

Montvale High School opened on Sept. 8, 1941, and at present has a total enrollment of 530. There are 17 members of the faculty. Miss Dorothy Nover, Lelia Strickland, Charlotte Stevens and Mr. Peters are new members this year.

Organization of Club

All students in high school, sixth and seventh grades who are interested have become members of some club. The following clubs have been organized: Art, Dramatics, Home Economics, Model Airplane, Handicraft, Folk Dancing and Glee Club. These clubs meet for one hour each week. Students who do not care to take part in any club join the study hall or reading group.

Community League

The Montvale community League held its first meeting for this session at the high school on Thursday, Sept. 18, with a large number present, Mrs. W. J. Wilkerson, president, appointed standing committees for the year and many new members were taken in. Mr. Peters, the instructor in charge of the shop, made a very interesting talk on his work. Following the business session a reception for the teachers was held in the new shop building which was open for inspection at this time.

Seventh Grade Organization

The seventh grade has organized their group. The following officers were chosen for the first month: president, Jackie Thomas; vice-president, Bobby Parker; secretary, Lenwood Wheeler; treasurer, Doris Newman.

Sixth-Seventh Grades Organize

The students in the combination sixth and seventh grades elected these officers for their group: president, Harrison Holland; vice-president, Garland Metz; secretary, Gladys Fitzgerald: treasurer, Janice Newton.

Physical Inspection Completed

All grades have completed their physical inspection. This inspection showed many studnets have defective teeth.

It is hoped that parents of these children with bad teeth will have the defects corrected.

School News

The first grade has enrolled 21 boys and girls (18). They are busy learning to work, to play and to sing.

The third grade has 19 boys and 20 girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were in Roanoke Saturday.

Celebrates 89th Birthday

Quite a number of children, grandchildren and the latest great grandchild, little Richard Kingsley Nance, gathered to honor Mrs. Mary Huddleston, Wednesday, Sept. 17, on her 89th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carner brought her the largest cake ever served on the place, decorated with 89 candles by a Roanoke bakery. Every one present had plenty of cake and punch served by Mrs. Rucker Ashley. Mrs. Sam Carner, Mrs. V. W. Huddleston, Mrs. Howard McManaway and Mrs. Lewis Huddleston. The honoree was the recipient of numerous cards, present, etc. She has resided on the same farm since 1875.

PHILLIPS SECRETARIAL COLLEGE HAS A GOOD ENROLLMENT

Seventy-nine young men and women have entered Phillips Secretarial College during the first three weeks of Fall Term. Advanced registration indicates the total September new enrollment will reach 100, the largest in history.

The demand for skilled office workers has reached the highest peak in history during 1941. At September 20 the calls for skilled employees through the College Employment Department was 50 per cent ahead of the record for the entire year of 1940. Seventeen Phillips students accepted positions in business or government offices during the first nineteen days of September.

The students who have entered the College during the first three weeks of September include: Dorothy Wilkes, Virginia Bell, Mary Elliott, from Bedford; Edward Arrington, Elizabeth Day, Hilda Day, from Big Island; Pauline Oliver, Eleanor Maupin, from Boonsboro; Mattie Winfree, from New London.

Fitzpatrick Reunion

The seventh annual Fitzpatrick family reunion was held last Sunday at Bethlehem Methodist church, Moneta, around 200 of the family and friends being present at the all-day session. W. R. Bowens, of the faculty of the State Teachers College, made the principal address.

Robert Wardrep, of Radford, led the group in singing and F. B. Fitzpatrick of Radford, acting president of the organization, gave a scripture lesson and discussion of various points of family history. A picnic dinner was served on the church lawn.

CARDUI

HUDDLESTON, ROUTE 2

As we have seen no news from around our little town for so long, I guess the readers think we sleep all the time, but such is not the case, for we all have to get up early to go to work, and by daylight saving time, too, so you see we are industrious little critters.

The ladies are kept busy canning, preserving, and trying to lay up food for the winter, while the men are cutting hay and firing tobacco, canning tomatoes and such work as they see fit at the season.

The health of our community is fairly good with the exception of Mr. Irvine Roberts, who continues to improve slowly.

Mr. N. C. Wood and family, of Washington, who have been spending a two weeks vacation in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Wood, returned home last week.

Mrs. H. I. Wood and Mrs. Gerald Womack spent Thursday with Mrs. W. D. Burnett.

Mrs. Illia Andrews spent Thursday of last week as the guest of Mrs. John Hackworth.

Miss Ruby Wildman entertained the Sunbeams of Bethlehem church of which she is a leader, on Saturday. A nice program was rendered; the children played games and she took them "chinkapin" hunting. They all enjoyed themselves greatly. She made pictures of her class.

James B. Angel called at the home of Irvine Roberts Saturday.

Mrs. Gerald Womack and Mrs. H. I. Wood called to see Mr. Irvine Roberts one day last week.

Mrs. Illia Andrews spent Wednesday night of last week at the home of T. C. Andrews.

Mrs. Sydney Nance, son Albert, and daughter, Louise, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Miles.

Miss Maude Ethel Miles was a weekend guest of Miss Margaret Hensley.

The Bethlehem congregation had the pleasure of extending congratulations and best wishes to the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Vifgil Holdren, nee Miss Sadie Roberts, on Wednesday night at prayer meeting; also at Sunday school Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hackworth and son, Thomas, were visiting their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Wildman, Sunday.

Mrs. Ora Hackworth spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Roberts.

We were sorry to hear about Mrs. Jack Roberts, who fell from her porch on last Sunday morning. She was somewhat painfully but not seriously hurt, and was able to be a B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

Melvin Wood suffered a nervous breakdown at the Wood reunion immediately after the noon hour, which soon wore off and Melvin became his real self again, feeling fine and was able to attend the Bethlehem B. Y. P. U. of which he is an active member.

It seems that our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. have taken on new life since the church has adopted the curtain system. Our Sunday school rooms and B. Y. P. U. rooms have been curtained off. We are hoping to have our church wired for lights in the near future.

Let's not forget our prayer meeting every Wednesday night at the church. Come one and all and bring some one with you.

Mrs. Illia Andrews expects to leave this week for Roanoke, where she will make her home with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Overstreet. We hate to see her leave, but wish her much success and happiness in her new home.

Wishing all the readers of the dear old Bulletin peace and happiness, we are the same old friends.

STEWARTSVILLE

The revival being conducted by Rev. J. E. Sassaman for the past three weeks at the Barnhart Baptist church, closed Sunday night.

Rev. L. P. Foley is conducting a revival at Parish Chapel at Chamblissburg this week.

The Every Ready class of the Union Sunday school held its class meeting with Ruby Spradlin Friday night.

Among those starting to college recently are: Rebecca Simmons, Harrisonburg; Maxine Ferguson, Roanoke; Elna Spradlin, Radford; Christine Ferguson, Roanoke, and Rodney White, Roanoke.

H. D. Club Entertains

The Longview H. D. club entertained the Stewartsville school faculty and ministers of the methodist and Baptist churches Tuesday evening with a picnic supper at the club house.

Mr. E. T. Ferguson welcomed those present, basing his talk upon there being the three greatest organizations in theUnited States present, the home, church and school. Mr. J. A. Johnson, principal, introduced each member of the faculty, telling the grades they taught. Mr. Foley, Methodist minister, was called upon to return thanks and supper was served. Several boxes of food was sent to the sick.

After supper Edna Spradlin and Mrs. Roy Mitchell sponsored very interesting games and contests. The last game was one of songs and as it seemed they were all in a singing mood, the rest of the evening was spent singing old songs, led by Mr. Mahan.

BEDFORD—GLADSTONE

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Watson, of Bluefield, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Anderson and daughter, Nancy Gale, were visiting at the home of Mrs. R. C. Beard recently.

W. O. Beard accompanied by Burgess, Shelton and Dalton, of Altovista, were fishing on the James Saturday, and called by to see his mother, Mrs. R. C. Beard.

Friends here are glad to know that Edward Watson, of Bedford, who has been sick, is well again.

We are also glad to know that Mrs. Eugene Wood, of Bedford, Route 5, who has been right sick, is much improved.

W. H. White, who has been sick at the home of Mrs. R. C. Beard for two years, seems to be better at times.

A. A. Babcock and H. C. Beard paid a flying trip to Winginia lately.

Mrs. R. C. Beard, who has been very much under the weather from a fall she received, hurting her side, which has been very painful. We hope the injury is not serious; she seems to be some improved at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Martin, Louis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watson and daughter, Mildred, Miss Edna Sowerby and Jim Billie Watson, visited Altivista Park and had a picnic recently for the benefit of Mrs. Watson's brother, Fred Sowerby, who is keeper of the Park, and report a very nice day.

Mrs. R. C. Beard, H. C. Beard and W. H. White were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Anderson at Monroe.

SNOOKS.

BEE MOUNTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Quarles, of near Shady Grove, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Drewry recently.

Miss Dessa Richards is spending a while with her brother, Mack Richards, near Cloverdale.

Mrs. W. T. Drewry, Mrs. Minnie Drumheller, and Miss Ruby Flowers, were shopping in the Magic City Saturday.

Mrs. George Drewry, of Vinton, is spending a few days with her sister in Ohio.

Mrs. J. T. Drewry and son, Charles, and family motored to Leesville, Altavista and through Pittsylvania county recently, seeing old friends.

Mrs. George White is on a trip to New York City, visiting a sister there, and expects to go to Cleveland, Ohio, to see a brother, Luke Wright, who is ill in a hospital there.

LAZY KID.

EMMAUS

Mrs. C. W. Shannon, of Giles county, spent a few days last week with Mrs. W. W. Higginbotham.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. French and family are spending their vacation in Tennessee.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Royal Bowyer, nee Miss Agnes Updike.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones and family, of Waynesboro, spent a few days recently with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Huddleston and little daughter, Miss Maudie Richardson and Donald Mason were visitors in the community on the second Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Gilbert Richardson and Mrs. Catherine Thomas were shopping in Roanoke one afternoon recently.

FACTS OF INTEREST ABOUT THE NAVY

The gun salute of Naval Vessels originated from the firing of the charged guns before entering a port, thus signifying peaceful intentions.

The first lighthouse in America was erected on an island in Boston harbor in 1716, and is still in use.

The first airplane to be launched from a U. S. Naval vessel flew from a wooden platform erected on the bow of the U. S. S. Birmingham on November 14, 1910, at Hampton Roads, Virginia.

The insignia of a globe map of the world in the rating badge of a Navy electrician originated through an error. The orginal order called for a globe (electric light). The manufacturer used a globe map and this was not changed.

A Naval warship slides down the ways on the average of one every ten days. The U. S. Navy has doubled in size in the last one and one half years.

The square flap opening of a sailors pants was developed because of the ease with which it could be ripped open if the man was accidently thrown into the water.

The collar of a bluejacket's uniform originated from the shield which was worn to protect the uniform from the tallow which was worked into the sailors plaited pig tails, coiled on the nape of his neck to protect him from chopping saber blows in hand-to-hand conflict.

OBITUARY

W. C. Royer.

William C. Royer, 65, managing director of the Jefferson hotel in Richmond, died in that city Monday of a heart ailment with which he had suffered for several months. He had been director of the Jefferson for six years, having gone to Richmond in 1935 to direct a program of renovation at the faomus old hostelry and remained as director after the work had been completed.

Mr. Royer was a native of Bedford, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Royer, and began his career in the hotel business by working as clerk at the local hotel when a boy. The business appealed to him and he decided to make it his life's work and at the close of his career was ranked as one of the leading hotel executives in America. After gaining necessary experience in smaller places, he went to Atlanta, Ga., nearly thirty years ago to assume management of the Piedmont, where he remained for ten years. He resigned this position to accept a similar one at the new Biltmore, in the same city, and remained with that hotel for a decade also, giving up to serve on the board of the National Hotel Code Authority and represented that authrity in eighteen states. After giving up this work he went to the Jefferson. He was for a time executive committeeman for Georgia in the American Hotel Men's Association, and was active in the social life of Atlanta for many years.

Mr. Royer was food administrator of the State of Georgia during the World War, was president of the Georgia Hotel Men's Association for a year, and president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's Association for twelve years. He was president for three years of the International Conference of Hotel Promotion, now known as the Hotel Sales Managers' Association. Since moving to Richmond he had served as chairman of the board of the Virginia Hotel Association.

Mr. Royer is survived by his wife, one sister, Miss Clara Royer of Bedford, and three brothers, Edgar Royer of Seattle, Wash.; John Royer of Baltimore, and Robert C. Royer of Roanoke.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning at Centenary Methodist church, Richmond, of which he was a member, and the remains were then taken to Lynchburg where interment was made yesterday afternoon in Spring Hill cemetery.

Miss Josephine Meador

On September 17, 1941 at 12:40 o'clock the death angel entered the home of Jasper T. and the late Nora M. Meador and claimed for its own their daughter, Josephine, who had been in failing health for sometime, but was ill in bed only one week and her going so suddenly was a great shock to all. Josephine was only 25 years, 11 months and 4 days old. We cannot understand why she was taken so early in life. But we know God never makes a mistake, and we feel that Josephine has gone to meet her mother who preceded her in death 14 years ago. She united with Radford Baptist church several years ago and was a girl with a lovely disposition, making friends every where and she was the joy of her home; so much company to her father and brother.

Josephine is survived by her father and the following brothers and sister: G. M. and H. T. Meador, of Altavista, W. E. Meador, of Lexington, N. C., E. E. and R. B. Meador, of Moneta and Mrs. Emory Kasey of Moneta. Also two nieces and four nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at the home, Friday afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. H. L. Cooper and Rev. L. P. Foley with burial in the family cemetery. Active pallbearers were R. C. Carner, Guy St.Clair, Russell Steele, Ed Bays, Clyde Hannabass and Pete Meador.

Honorary pallbearers were Eugene DeLong, J. C. Thomas, Dr. S. L. Rucker, Jr., Dr. Billy Rucker, Russell Bays, Hubert Ayers, Bob Ayers, Otey Snead, Hampton Meador, Winston Dinwiddie, Thomas Poteat, Oat Kasey, Fred Meador, J. K. Nichols.

Flowers, which were beautiful were carried by Mrs. Russell Steele, Mrs. Pete Meador, Mrs. Warren Craghead, Mrs. Homer Ayres, Anne, Eunice and Ruth Peters, Antholeen Ayers, Mary Poteat, Reba Peters, Helen Hanger, Virginia Kasey, Christine Meador, Lucy Ayers, Forrest Kasey, Melvin Meador, Marvin Meador, and Carol Meador.

Songs sung were "Nearer My God to Thee," "Rock of Ages," "Does Jesus Care?" "Sweet By and By," "Over There" and "Shall We Gather at the River?"

Josephine cannot come back to us, but we can prepare to meet her, where there will be no more parting or sad good-bye.—One Who Loved Her

Mrs. C. L. Eubank.

Mrs. Miller Johnson Eubank, wife of Rev. C. L. Eubank, prominent Baptist minister, died Monday night at her home in Scottsburg, Va., following a long illness. She was a daughter of the late J. L. and Mary Elizabeth Cottrell Johnson, and born and reared at the family home a short distance from Mons. Mrs. Eubank was a member of the Baptist church and a devout Christian woman who found her greatest happiness in giving a helping hand to her husband in his ministerial work. Besides her husband she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. R. Collins, of Newport News; one sister, Mrs. M. S. Bryant, and three brothers, R. L. Johnson, Dr. E. L. Johnson and L. D. Johnson, all of Bedford.

Funeral services were held at the Scottsburg Baptist church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Dr. Frank C. Wiley, pastor of the First Baptist church of South Boston, and Rev. H. L. Weston, pastor of Clover Baptist church. Following the service there, the body was brougnt to Bedford and interment was made in Oakwood that afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of her brother, D. E. L. Johnson, with services at the grave by Dr. H. P. Clause.

J. S. Merriken

Joseph S. Merriken, 70, died at his home near Staunton early Tuesday morning. He had been in failing health for several years. Mr. Merriken was born in Augusta county, a son of Joseph H. and Martha Smith Merriken. He was educated at the Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind, where he learned the trade of printer, which he followed until forced to stop work on account of his health.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cora Griffin Merriken; one son, William H. Merriken, of Bedford; a brother, Lester S. Merriken, of Staunton.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the home of Hamrick S. Co., conducted by the Rev. Dunbar H. Ogden, Jr., of the First Presbyterian church. Burial was in Thornrose Cemetery.

Those attending the funeral from Bedford were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chase, William H. Merriken, Mrs. S. I. Griffin, Mrs. S .T. Barger and Mrs. Frank R. Griffin.

Marshall Ferrs.

Marshall Ferris, 74, of Blue Ridge, died Tuesday night in a Roanoke hospital. Surving are two daughters and six sons: Mrs. M .C. Parker and Mrs. Albert France, of Roanoke county; David, Artur and Daniel Ferris, of Blue Ridge; Elmer Ferris, of Spout Springs; Holston Ferris, of Salem; Arvis Ferris, of Washington, D. C.; three brothers and a sister: Jesse Ferris, Joseph Ferris and James Ferris, of Blue Ridge; and Mrs. Betty Gross, of Webster.

Mrs. L. O. Casey.

Mrs. Cora L. Casey, 65, of Lynchburg, widow of Leonard Otey Casey, died Wednesday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. H. Wood, near Evington. Another daughter, Mrs. H. M. Doss, of Lynchburg, and three sons, Edward J. Casey ,of Richmond, James A. Casey, of Appomattox, and Raymond J. Casey, of Lynchburg, also survive.

H. L. Dooley .

Harry Lee Dooley, 48, of Thaxton, died Wednesday morning in a Roanoke hospital. Among the survivors are his widow, Mrs. Parry Dooley; a brother, A. R. Dooley, of Roanoke, and a sister, Miss Dorothy Dooley, also of Roanoke.

Miss Martha F. Saunedrs.

Miss Martha Frances Saunders, 84, died on Sept. 17th at her home near Chamblissburg. Among the survivors is a sister, Miss Ekie J. Saunders, with whom she lived.

Mrs. Stanley has resigned her position at the Salta Corporation in order to join her husband in Petersburg where he is now stationed.

U. D. C. Meeting

Two new books have been presented to the William R. Terry chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy, by Mrs. Sallie Pendleton Turpin it was announced at the regular meeting held Monday. Mrs. J. K. Walker accepted the books and thanked Mrs. Turpin on behalf of the chapter. Two visitors, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. J. T. White, were present at this meeting. Mrs. F. W. Burks reported that markers had been ordered for six graves recently.

Ms. W. A. Fitzpatrick gave the principal talk of the afternoon. She was introduced by the historian, Mrs. E. L. Johnson, and spoke on the life of Alexander Hugh Holmes Stuart, whose family was prominently connected with the early days of Washington and Lee University, at that time called Liberty Hall. Stuart was born in Staunton in 1807 and took a very active part in public life during that period. Entering the legislature in 1836, he sponsored such projects as the construction of the valley pike from Staunton to Winchester and the establishment of a school for the deaf and blind. In 1841 he was elected to the 27th Congress and later became the Secretary of the Interior.

In addition to the talk given by Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the historian, Mrs. Johnson, gave a Founder's Day quiz, in which the questions centered around the reason for having such an organization as the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Student Takes to Crutches

One of our honorable Juniors, Charles Rucker by name, is getting around on crutches this week. It seems that while performing the athletic feat of jumping over a hedge, he came to grief, spraining his ankle. So if you see a sorry figure selling pencils on the corner at one of the halls, it will probably be said honorable Junior.

BAPTIST REVIVAL MEETING PRODUCES RESULTS

Barnhart Baptist church at Stewartsville closed its series of meetings Sunday night, Sept. 21. The three weeks of evangelistic endeavor by the people and the pastor was richly blessed of God. We can never know this side of eternity the full results nor blessings nor rewards that our Lord and Savious Jesus Christ will award us. Yet we know that He was with us and blessed us richly with some fruit for our efforts in theese meetings. There were 22 altoggether who came during the meeting, either by letter or to accept Christ as their own personal Saviour. The meetings were very well attended, not only by the people living in the community, but there were people from the surrounding towns and villages who also attended quite regularly. May we as a people richly blessed and newly stirred continue in the work of wining sould for Christ in the days to come. Your Servant in Christ Jesus,

REV. J. E. SASSAMAN.

We endure misfortune by calling it a blessing in disguise. When increase of population destroys comfort and privacy, we boast of being so crowded.

TAXES WON'T MEET THE BILL

The supplemental tax bill, designed to raise an additional three and a half billion dollars during the present fiscal year, finally received the approval of both houses of Congress and was signed by the President Saturday. Maybe some people, in reading of this tax measure while it was before Congress, got the impression that it carried all the federal taxes to be levied this year. If there be any such they will discover their error when they have to shell out a small tax on most every thing they buy and a larger tax next spring on what they earn this year. This new tax levy is extra, over and above the regular bill passed earlier in the year. This regular tax bill calls for some ten billion dollars and the one approved last week brings the total for the present fiscal year up to something over thirteen billions.

The thirteen billion dollar tax bill for one year is somewhat appalling, even in this era when anything less than a billion is small pocket change. But that isn't the worst of it, for the thirteen billion is nowhere near the total of what the government proposes to spend, in fact, is some nine billions shy of scheduled expenditures. As the Lynchburg News says, one doesn't have to be a "cautious conservative to be worried by that." For ten consecutive peace years the government has been spending from two to five billion dollars annually in excess of income, and, as a result of the war-created emergency, we find ourselves spending nine billions in excess of what we expect to take in, with this condition prevailing despite the fact that the thirteen billion of income is four times greater than government income during the decade preceding the depression. And for next year the prospects are worse still, as spending is expected to rise above thirty billions while anticipated income will not rise above fifteen billions.

Faced with such a situation, the sensible citizen would quickly conclude that either there must be an increase in income or a decrease in spending, or both, and to save himself from bankruptcy would map out ways and means to make outgo and income strike a common level. Public opinion, because of the realization that safety of the nation is at stake, would react violently against any proposal to curtail necessary spending for defense, but would support overwhelmingly any proposal for reasonable reduction in expenditures for ordinary expenses of the government. This last can be curtailed, but not sufficiently of course to take up the enormous deficit. To accomplish that taxes must be shoved up still higher, and we believe this should be done rather than increase the risk of national bankruptcy by further increase of the national debt. In our opinion the United States is faced with the most perilous situation in our history. Only by the utmost sacrifice from all the people can we hope to weather the storms of the present and the immediate future, and by sacrifice we mean cheerful willingness to give everything over and above a bare living during the life of this emergency. Germany prepared herself for offensive war by exacting from her people this kind of sacrifice and loyalty. America cannot hope to save herself by doing less, which fact it is best for us to face now than later.

AMERICA ALREADY INVOLVED

Paradoxical as it may seem, the United States is in the peculiar situation of being both out and in the war which has raged in the old world for the past two years. As between peace and war there has heretofore been no middle-ground. A nation was either at war or it wasn't, but that isn't true any longer. The present unpleasant predicament in which this country finds itself proves that it isn't true. No declaration of war has been made by Congress against the axis powers and Hitler and Mussolini have so far issued no declaration against us, but aside from these formalities we are in the war.

True, we have sent no armed forces to the European battlefields and units of our fleet are not lined up with the British navy in waters adjacent to the old world, but nevertheless America is to all intents and purposes involved in the great struggle. How long the pretense of not being engaged will be kept up no one can say, but the present hurried drift indicates the climax is not very distant. Washington long since abandoned any pretense of real neutrality; is every day openly flouting all international law regulating the conduct of neutrals, and more recent events have fallen just short of a declaration of hostilities. President Roosevelt has established certain defense zones, without fixing definite boundaries, and warned Hitler and Mussolini not to intrude under penalty of being destroyed if they do. Further, the navy department has announced that ships carrying food and war materials to Britain will be convoyed by American warships at least as far as Iceland, which cannot reasonably be regarded as short of an act of war, and which will furnish the spark should any warship of this country so engaged become the targets of German bombs from either U-boats or bombing planes. The German-defined war zones take in the whole north Atlantic to the coast of Greenland, in direct and entire dissent from the American position on the subject, and this difference must inevitably lead to some incident that will bring on open war. Germany has established a blockade of Britain and, with the result of the war possibly depending on the effectiveness of this blockade, Hitler is not going to lift it to avoid bringing America in or for any other reason.

Long before the first gun was fired in this second world war a large element in this country sensed the danger to America from the growing strength of the three dictator states—Germany, Italy and Japan. When war actually came in the early fall of 1939 this danger became more pronounced as a result of the tremendous power displayed by the German war machine in crushing Poland. A new threat had been unleashed against the world by the war lords of Germany and the conviction grew in America that at whatever cost the United States must take any action that might become necessary to insure the defeat of the central powers. When France collapsed after a brief campaign and later the Balkan States were overrun, and Russia was attacked, all revealing more clearly the real ambitions of the dictators, sentiment in this country became more and more pronounced for stopping the triumphant march of the Hitler crew at whatever cost in men and money. The progression of events in the old world during the past two years has made it plain that America cannot afford to let the dictators win this war; that our own naional safety and the preservation of liberty of action in those other countries from whom we buy and to whom we sell make it imperative that we act to defeat the mad lust for power of those who deliberately started this war, even to the use of all our resources in men, money and materials.

In his broadcast to the nation two weeks ago, President Roosevelt stated the American case when he said: "We have sought no shooting war with Hitler. We do not seek it now. But peace is not so dear that our rights and liberties must be sacrificed to keep us out of war." That sentiment is approved by the American people, and they likewise approve his further declaration that the American navy has been given orders to destroy any warships of the dictators, either surface or under-sea, found prowling in what America regards as vital defense zones of this country. Early in the war the general belief was that the dictators could be defeated without active participation of this country, but that belief has been gradually fading out until now it has almost entirely disappeared. It was fondly hoped in Washington that our contribution could be limited to furnishing supplies to the allies, and this to be made on a cash and carry basis entirely. This hope was blasted early in the war, and when France was beaten, leaving the fight to be carried on by Britain alone, danger confronting our own country was fully sensed for the first time. Apathy disappeared, the people fell in behind the President in his plan to give all possible aid to Britain on a lend-lease program instead of for cash, and as doubt has arisen that maybe this will not be enough, sentiment for entering the war has increased. Americans, while disliking the idea of war, have not closed their eyes to threat to their national security involved in a German victory, and for that reason are backing the Presiden's policy in dealing with the situation. Eventually the United States must take a hand if Hitler is to be defeated, is the opinion of a growing percentage of Americans, and some are urging that America enter now because, it is argued, to wait longer will make less certain the victory that must be had if Christian civilization is to be preserved upon the earth.

LET'S CEDE IT BACK

About the only unsettled boundary dispute in the United States has broken out again, with new complications. And, strange to relate, though the disputed line is some hundreds of miles to the north of us, Bedford county is decidedly interested, as will be revealed later. The State of Virginia and the District of Columbia are the principals in this dispute and we are rather hoping a settlement will be reached by Richmond accepting the Washington point of view.

When it was decided to build the National Capital on the Potomac, Maryland donated 70 square miles of land on the north side of the river and Virginia contributed 30 square miles on the south side, the two tracts composing the District of Columbia. Washington was built on the Maryland side and as the years went by without any utilization of the land on the Virginia side, a movement was started in 1846 to give back to Virginia the land on the south side of the river, and this was eventually done. This small tract of land, embracing only 30 square miles, is now Arlington county, and is very thickly populated. The boundary dispute was brought to the front again this year when the war department, finding no suitable location in the district, crossed the river to get its site for a huge new building, and long before this the government had spent $15,000,000 on an airport in the section ceded back to Virginia nearly a century ago. This naturally led to a demand from some quarters that the Federal government take back the land south of the Potomac and bills have been introduced in Congress to carry out this demand.

Bedford's interest in this dispute arises from a political situation which the Virginia redistricting committee is trying to smooth out. Arlington county, almost entirely peopled by government employees in Washington and others having business interests in the capital, demands representation in the Virginia Senate and, on the surface at least, is entitled thereto, as it has around 100,000 inhabitants. To satisfy this yearning for political recognition, the Fuller committee began swapping around other Virginia counties in order to make room for Arlington without increasing the membership of the Senate and in this reshuffling Bedford got cut loose from Rockbridge and tied onto Amherst and Nelson, though the reason for the suggested change was never given any very clear expression, at least we never saw any explanation that explained, to our satisfaction anyway. With Rockbridge as a partner in the Senatorial district everybody seems to be entirely satisfied, and while we might get along with Amherst and Nelson just as well, we recognize no compelling reason for the swapping. So, if the price demanded for preservation of our Senatorial district as it is depends on removing Arlington from the list of Virginia counties, we favor giving it back to the federal government.

COMMISSAR ICKES

Getting mad at Harold Ickles seems to be one of the inalienable American rights, and the cantankerous Secretary of the Interior furnishes abundant cause for its exercise. He is just that kind of person. There was a saying about some of the Puritan forebears: "They had all the Puritan virtues, but courtesy and grace were not among them." Harold happens to have been born in Pennsylvania and not in Massachusetts, but that describes him to a gnat's heel, except that his virtues, if any, are not easily discernible. He opens his mouth and puts his foot into it. He moves with the grace of an elephant with a sore toe and often sounds like one. He's the hired man of the American taxpayer, but he thinks his real job is to boss and abuse the public.

Could any procedure be more unreasonable and autocratic than his determination to inflict a fictitious gasoline shortage on the people of the eastern Seaboard states, after a Senate committee has carefully investigated the situation and reported in effect that no shortage exists except in Harold's mind? The real low-down on the situation, according to the best information we have been able to obtain, is that the big oil companies want the government to build them a pipe line from the oil fields of Texas and Louisiana to the Atlantic Seaboard, and they are using this alleged shortage to induce Congress to vote the money and establish steel priorities for the construction as a defense measure. Mr. Ickes has been sold on this scheme and is determined to put is through. Hence the inconvenience and loss of revenue to which the people of the eastern states are being arbitrarily subjected.—Northern Virginia Daily.

ADVICE TO DEBTORS

In a statement explaining the purposes of the recently announced installment-credit regulations Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, appeals to the people to reduce their debts or liquidate them while their incomes are at high levels. One might think this advice is in accord with general practice and hence superfluous. But the records prove the contrary. Instead of shrinking when pay rolls expand and people have more money to spend, debts contracted to finance consumer purchases actually rise at such times. For example, during the twenties, when the country was enjoying prosperity, the volume of consumer credit of all types nearly doubled, only to contract severely at the onset of depression. Now we are experiencing another rapid expansion of borrowing that has brought the volume of outstanding consumer credit to an alltime high.

Even if there were no defense emergency to worry about, it is evident that something ought to be done to control this type of borrowing. For it aggravates the up and down swings of the business cycle by adding to current purchasing power when business is booming and withdrawing it when the need for price supporting buying is greatest.—Washington Post.

ERROR IN TRANSLATION

If the United States enters the war, Germany will be "ready with all necessary forces to parry new eventual blows from the West," warns the authoritative Italian journalistic spokesman, Virginio Gayda. And not only that, but "Italy with her fearsome forces will hold her place worthily."

Could the reliable Associated Press have made an error in translating from the Italian? Signor Gayda is quoted as saying "Italy's fearsome forces."

Shouldn't the word have been "fearful"?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I had my introduction to cat fish this week. Sunday afternoon I went foraging, or so it turned out; my original intention was merely to pay a social call. However, my hostess said that her husband had been fishing and did I eat cat fish? I never had, but being assured that they were quite edible, some opinions to the contrary, I was quite willing to start.

The fish were enormous and still wiggling. I was told that it was quite an easy matter to prepare them. All you had to do, my hostess said, was to pour boiling water over them and skin them. It all sounded very simple. She had had a hard time giving them away, it seemed, just because some people had this queer antipathy to cat fish. Well, frankly, before this I had always had a vague idea in my head that for eating purposes cat fish stood in relation to the rest of the fish tribe as do cats to hogs, cows and sheep—something that you consume only under the stress of war. But I am nothing if not open-minded and so went home with two quivering cat fish tucked under one arm and a pan of rolls under the other.

I thought the pan of rolls was a wonderfully generous gesture. It was not until later that I figured out that it must have been conscience, no less, that lay behind that gesture. This unworthy thought came to me an hour later when I had soaked the two fish in boiling water, as per instructions, and was attempting to skin them.

Have you ever skinned a cat fish, having first soaked it in boiling water? It is an experience not soon forgotten. Even if you put it completely out of your mind, your nose will remind you for days to come. It sounds so simple. I started out by trying to cut the skin around the neck just below the gills. After sawing for fifteen minutes I hadn't gotten to first base—that skin is made of raw hide, no less. I think they use it to make shoes. I finally gave up and started with the tail and managed to get the skin off, in small sections (the hot water made it nice and slimy and easily torn) up to the neck.

Then came the small matter of chopping the head off. And what a head. I expected the thing to start "mewing" any minute. Besides that the now naked body was slippery beyond compare. Every time I thought I had a grip on the thing it would go slithering across the table. Finally I had to call for help. Mrs. TWR came to my aid. We wrapped the head in paper and she held it firmly down while I worked on the neck. In this fashion I managed to cut through to the backbone, but there I struck a real snag. Cutting that backbone with an ordinary kitchen knife, large size, was just like trying to cut through a California red oak with a pocket knife. I finally had to ring in the hand saw used for sawing ham bones to finish up the job.

By that time there were bits of skin all over the place. Every pan in the kitchen somehow seemed to have become involved. We scrubbed with soap and water. Still the oder of cat fish lingered. We scrubbed with soap, water and mustard. That helped. By that time the idea of eating fish of any kind was something definitely distasteful, so we wrapped the bodies carefully in oil paper and put them in the ice box.

By this time our cat, Nuisance, had "sensed" what was going on and was about to have a fit on the back porch. I hated to refuse his eloquent pleas, but somehow or other it seemed definitely canibalistic for him to eat those heads—there was almost a family resemblence—so they went into the garbage can.

Late that night we ate supper—nice hot rolls and pear preserves. It was not until the following night, when the house had been thoroughly aired that we felt equal to tackling the fish, in what I must admit was a definitely skeptical mood. We were in for a most pleasant surprise, however. The fish were good! In fact the meat equalled in flavor and tenderness any that I have ever eaten. There was an almost complete absence of bones and the meat was flaky and white like the fish steaks you buy from the store and have to pay well for. In fact, from that moment on I have been definitely suspicious of those fish steaks.

After all cat fish are very, very easy to get.

Yours truly,
... PRINTER'S DEVIL..

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO ALL CAR OWNERS

Critical times call for special consideration. The National Administration is taking every precaution for the welfare of the people of this country. Party lines are dissolving into a unity seldom, if ever before known.

In line with the example being set by the National Administration, we feel it our duty to call your attention to the fact that automobile production will be cut from 20% to 50% this year. It would be impossible to predict the production program for the next few years. The government rightfully has taken priority on oil.

That means that each and every one of you car owners should be mindful of the fact that your car, in order to give you long lasting, good service, should receive the best of care. Be certain that your car is properly lubricated by your authorized dealer at regular intervals. Have it checked at your garage periodically.

Remember your car will treat you just as well as your treat it, and also remember that your dealer has the proper equipment, the correct tools and the proper lubricants that are recommended by the manufacturer of your car.

Merely to have the repairs made as trouble arises is not enough; in fact, to wait until something goes wrong is foolhardy.

If you drive about 500 miles or more a week, your car should be checked each week. No matter how far you drive, your car should have a check-up once a month.

Hot Lunches

Now that fall days are here, hot lunches are in order especially if the children in the family come home to lunch, for they will need the extra energy provided by nourishing hot food. The following week's menus give suggestions for hot lunches that can be served quickly:

Monday

Chicken Noodle Soup
Toasted Cheese Sandwich on Whole-wheat Bread
Carrot Sticks
Baked Apple Milk

Tuesday

*Spanish Rice with Crisp Bacon
Bread and Butter
Tapioca Pudding Chocolate Milk

Spanish Rice with Crisp Bacon

4 slices bacon
1 cup rice
1 cup water
1 can (14 oz.) tomato juice
½ teaspoon salt
pinch of pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Cook the bacon until crisp, take bacon and 1 tablespoon of bacon drippings from pan. Add rice to the remaining bacon drippings. Add hot water, tomato juice, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 35 to 45 minutes, until rice is cooked and all liquid absorbed. In the meantime cook the chopped onion and green pepper in the 1 tablespoon of bacon drippings taken from pan at beginning. Chop the crisp bacon. Mix bacon, onion, green pepper and cooked rice together, being careful not to mash the rice. Serve hot. Serves six.

Wednesday

Cream of Tomato Soup
(add equal quantity of milk to condensed tomato soup)
Poached Egg on Toast
Mixed Fruit Salad Milk

Thursday

Casserole of Macaroni and Cheese
Vegetables in Tomato Jelly
Sliced Orange Milk

*Vegetables in Tomato Jelly

1 package lemon flavored gelatine
1 can (14 oz) tomato juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1¼ cups chopped cabbage
1 cup shredded carrots
salad dressing

Heat the tomato juice and pour hot juice over the lemon flavored gelatine dessert. Chill until it just begins to stiffen, then add lemon juice, chopped cabbage and shredded carrots. Pour into a mold and chill until firm. Turn out on crisp greens and serve salad dressing with each serving of "Vegetatables in Tomato Jelly." Serves 6-8.

Friday

Vegetable Soup
Toaster Crackers
Apple Sauce Milk

Stew for Nutrition

When there are children in the family, stew has a very special place in the menu both because it is nutritious and because children as a rule like it and will eat both meat and vegetables in adequate amounts.

The fact that stew is economical is an added advantage. But sometimes just because of this fact it isn't rated as highly as its fine flavor and high food value deserve. Perhaps one reason is that some homemakers let their stews become monotonous by never varying the ingredients. And sometimes they prepare them carelessly and serve them in unappetizing fashion.

Beef stew with dumplings is one of the most substantial and appetizing of stews.

Beef Stew with Dumplings

2 pounds beef neck or shank
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard
6 small onions
6 small carrots
2 cups peas
Salt and pepper

Have beef cut into 1-inch cubes. Shank, neck or flank are good cuts for this purpose. Dredge the cubes with flour and brown in hot lard. Season with salt and pepper, cover with hot water. Cover tightly and cook slowly until done, about two hours. Forty-five minutes before serving, add whole onions, carrots and peas. Fifteen minutes before serving, drop dumpling on top of the vegetables. Cover the kettle tightly and cook without removing the cover for fifteen minutes.

Kidney Stew

1 or 2 veal kineys
1 onion
½ cup water

Put onion in frying pan with a little butter. Add kidneys which have been cut up and rolled in flour with salt and pepper to taste. Heat bouillon and water, pour over kidneys and let cook one minute, then pour all into a sauce pan and let simmer until done. Add a dash of sherry, pour over a mold of rice and serve. This recipe serves four.

Baked Veal Steak

Have veal steak cut about 2 inches thick, wipe with a damp cloth. Put three strips of fat salt pork in the frying pan, or metal "sizzling platter." When fried out, put the veal in and brown on both sides. Leave in the dish and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Place on top six strips of fat salt pork and two celery roots cut in slices. Bake in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for three-fourths of an hour, baste frequently with the fried-out fat. Serve with brown sauce.

Deep Fat Fried Food

We like French fried potatoes and most all foods fried in deep fat, but rarely ever have them because they seem so much trouble to fix and because it smokes the house up so badly. Recently, however, we have learnthat the latter complaint is probably due to some fault in the method we use of deep-fat frying. If you have the same trouble it may be from one of the following causes:

Fat Should Not Smoke

A smoking temperature means that the fat is too hot for trying any foods. When fat begins to smoke, decomposition is taking place and a substance called acrolein is formed. This is what makes your eyes burn, irritates your throat, makes that peculiar odor and also disturbs the digestive system. It is only when foods are fried in fats which have reached the smoking temperature that they are hard to digest. Anyone with normal digestion can eat doughnuts and fritters and deep-fried croquettes, properly prepared, without thinking that he's being mean to himself.

Stuffed Broiled Tomatoes

Dice cooked ham into ½-inch cubes. Scoop out centers of tomatoes. Combine with any leftover vegetables, such as peas or green beans, and tomato centers. Moisten with mayonnaise. Fill tomatoes with ham mixture, lay a slice of uncooked bacon on top of each and place in broiler oven for long enough to cook the bacon and heat the tomato and stuffing.

THE NEW CHEVROLET NOW ON DISPLAY

New massiveness, contributing to the smartest styling ever designed for the nation's No. 1 sales volume motor car, characterizes the Chevrolet offering for 1941, according to company engineers. The new car in now on display at the Auto-Service and Electric Corp., and is presented in three lines ranging from an economy model that incorporates unusual refinements to a luxury line surpassing all previous presentations in the lowest-price field.

As in past years, the new car is presented in the Master Deluxe and Special Deluxe series. The Fleetline series, introduced mid-season last year in sedan only, is represented again by sedan, known as the Sportmaster, and the new Fleetline six-pasenger Aerosedan.

The same attention to finished detail that is apparent in the exterior of the new models is noted at once inside the car. Smart styling, fine materials, and excellent design have produced the most beautiful and comfortable interiors that Chevrolet ever has offered.

Though wheelbase on all models is unchanged from 1941, remaining at 116", stylists have set the over-all length at 195⅞ inches, creating a long, low, sleek car that combines sweeping lines with a generally rugged appearance.

A new, lower, wider, more massive grille with its heavier bars gives an instant impression of bigness, while the blunter, deeper hood, front splash shield, and more widely spaced Sealed Beam headlights contribute to that effect. Greater length is indicated at nce by the new elongated front fenders, which flow back into the front doors, swinging with the doors as they are opened. The new fender design permits desirable clean, smooth surfaces.

Because the unusually successful Chevrolet engine developed for 1941 is retained with only minor refinements for the new year, power output remains virtually the same, assuring the same high performance characteristics so generally acclaimed last year. Axle ratios and tire sizes likewise are unchanged, insuring hill-climbing ability, acceleration, and general over-all performance at the 1941 level. Fuel and oil economy, long a Chevrolet trait, is also thus assured.

Much broader and deeper than before, the new hood extends back to the front edge of the front door, displacing the former cowl side panel and making a cleaner line. Hood side panels are integral with the hood top and are raised with it, facilitating greater access to the engine compartment.

To harmonize with other appearance units, the re-designed front end emblem is a massive shield of gleaming finish inlaid with red and blue enamel. Headlamps now are 7⅛" farther apart, with a total of 54" between them. Flush-type lamps have been relocated into the grille proper. Greater sturdiness is apparent in the new bumpers and guards, for increased depth makes the bumpers appear more massive and increased crown depth assures greater resistance to impact.

On the trunk, license light and trunk handle have been revised in accord with the theme of massiveness throughout. The trunk handle and its base form a shield with the license lamp on top. Projecting from each side of this shield on the Special Deluxe and Fleetline models is a wide-spread pair of wings. Just above this unit the license plate is mounted and above that appears the name Chevrolet in script.

On all body styles except the Station Wagon appears a new body belt molding of about the same width as in 1941. Running full length along the lower half are three sharp-peaked raised ribs.

Eye-appealing color schemes have been evolved for the interiors of new 1942 Chevrolets throughout the entire line. Upholstery in the Master Deluxe series is a pleasing light gray, while a rich brown "Fleetweave" broadcloth is employed in the Fleetline models. New color treatment of the instrument panels does much to high-light the smartness of the new design, with plastics and bright-work trim judiciously used.

Mechanically, only minor improvements and refinements are apparent, remaining the same. The stabilized with the chassis for all three lines remaining the same. The stabilized front end mounting that has contributed so largely to the car's easy ride and smooth handling is retained with refinements to allow for the new front-end design.

Chevrolet's time-proved hydraulic brakes now carry a mechanically operated stop-ilght switch, replacing the former hydraulic-operated device. The new switch eliminates all possibility of fluid leakage resulting from failure of the stop-light switch.

The unique vacuum-powered gear shift originaeed by Chevrolet and a Chevrolet feature through the past three years, is retained for 1942.

Following are the 1942 lines and models: Fleetline Series—Sportmaster Sedan and Aerosedan. Special Deluxe series—Sport Sedan, Town Sedan, Five Passenger Coupe, Business Coupe, Cabriolet and Station Wagon. Master Deluxe Series—Sport Sedan, Town Sedan, Five Passenger Coupe, Business Coupe, Coupe Pickup and Sedan Delivery.

How'd you get along with your wife in that fight the other night?"

"Aw, she came crawling to me on her knees."

"Yeah? What did she say?"

"Come out from under that bed, you coward."

FARMERS MAY AID U. S. DEFENSE BY PROTECTING LAND

Bedford County farmers are urged by the USDA Defense Board to protect more acres with winter cover crops for national defense as an immediate precaution, and for conservation of soil productivity as a long-time economic precaution, says William R. Walker, chairman of the local board.

Covering the land during the winter with a crop that keeps green roots in the soil is an excellent farm practice at any time, but it is especially necessary now as a defense measure because of the conservation of plant food, which will greatly relieve the strain on industrial supplies and facilities necessary for defense.

Can Use the AAA

Mr. Walker says that the AAA program offers considerable assistance in this undertaking, as soil-building credit may be earned to help pay the cost of seeding.

Winter Cover Crops

Soil-building credit for winter cover is given for a good stand and growth of fall-seeded oats, rye or barley, or mixtures of these crops, from which seed is not harvested by mechanical means and the crop is left on the land as a temporary mulch. As an alternative, these crops may be turned in the spring for green menure and earn credit, but they cannot be used for credit for both winter cover and green manure.

Vetch seed is available through the AAA as conservation materials in lieu of payments earned on the farm, just as lime and phosphate are obtained. Probably the best procedure for the average farmer to follow, says Mr. Walker, is to seed winter legumes if practicable and earn two credits. Other legumes may be seeded in a seeding practice, or, barley, rye or oats may be seeded for credit as winter cover or green manure.

For instance, farmers may seed winter legumes this fall, such as crimson clover, vetch or Austrian winter peas, and earn credit for a seeding practice. If a good stand and growth is disked or plowed under in the spring as green manure an additional credit may be earned. These crops may be used to earn credit two ways and will build up the soil at the same time.

Credit may also be earned in a seeding practice by seeding other legumes and grasses as sericea, domestic red clover, alsike clover, white clover, crotalaris bluegrass, orchard grass, rye grass, or mixture of legumes or perennial grasses. Credit may be earned by seeding only. Turning the above crops for green manure does not count as an additional AAA practice as in the case of crimson clover, vetch and Austrian winter peas.

TOBACCO STATISTICS

On September 1 a total tobacco crop (all types combined) of 1,255,865,000 pounds was indicated as compared with 1,288,212,000 pounds on August 1. A tobacco crop of this size would be about 14 percent less than the 1940 production and about 10 percent less than the 10-year (1930-39) average production. Reports on Dark tobacco, both "fired" and "air-cured," indicated a higher yield on September 1 than a month earlier but for all other classes lower yields are in prospect than on August 1.

As a whole the prospect on September 1 for the dark-fired tobacco types was somewhat more favorable than earlier in the season and a crop of 73,666,000 pounds is now anticipated. Such a production, however, represents a dark-fired tobacco crop nearly 29 percent less than that produced in 1940 and about 41 percent less than the 10-year average production. The decline from last year's crop is due both to reduction in acreage and in yield per acre. In Virginia, the dark-fired tobacco area has suffered from excess of rain followed by hot, dry weather. The Eastern dark-fired district of Kentucky and Tennessee has had fairly good growing conditions. Rains in the latter State during August benefited crops crops which were beginning to feel the effects of dry weather. Tobacco in the type 23 area has made its growth under rather dry conditions and its appearance is not as favorable as that in the type 22 area but the leaf will likely weigh heavy for its size.

A 3-day coat school will be held October 21, 22, and 23. All Home Demonstration club members planning to make or remodel a coat please notoify the Home Demonstration agent by next week.

Meeting of Executive Committee

The meeting of the Executive committee was held on September 22. It was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. H. B. Gordon. Roll called and minutes read by Mrs. Tom Booker in absence of the secretary. The chairman called for reports from those who attended Blacksburg: Mrs. S. W. Gray, who represented the executive committee; Miss Dorothy Overstreet, who represented Rural Youth; Mrs. Tom Booker, who represented the Homemaking Board.

Mrs. C. H. White, treasurer, gave a report on the state of the treasury.

Nutrition, a Survey in the State, was given by Miss Sally Guy Davis. Farm people were urged to produce more pork, chickens, eggs and milk.

Before planning the month by month program, Mrs. Atkinson gave a few suggestions offered by Miss Cameron on how to approach the study of nutrition. Miss Davis assisted in the month by month planning for the year 1942. Mrs. Gordon gave a report of the Achievement Day committee that met prior to the executive committee meeting. The date was Tuesday, October 28th. Miss Helen Ricks, District Agent, was selected as the speaker for the day. The program will appear at a later date. Miss Helen Ricks was introduced to the group as the new District Agent. Thanks and appreciation were extended to Miss Sally Guy Davis for her many years of service as District Agent. She has been assigned counties farther east.

Those present were Miss Davis, Miss Ricks, Mrs. H. B. Gordon, New London club; Mrs. T. J. Booker, Hunting Creek club; Mrs. Joe Kern, Mrs. S. W. Gray, Calvary; Miss Dorothy Overstreet, Edgewood-Goode; Mrs. Robert Johnson, Bedford; Mrs. C. H. White, Forest; Mrs. Wyatt Watson, Fairview, and Mrs. Lela C. Adkinson.

New London H. D. Club

The New London Home Demonstration club met September 10, at the home of Mrs. Harold Lee with ten members present. "Buying a Coat" and "The Communities Part in National Defense" were the topics discussed at the meeting.

Mrs. M. L. Carter gave the four characteristics to look for in buying a coat as (1) Quality of Material; (2) Conservative classical design; (3) Construction and (4) trimmings. She mentioned that one should look for the possibilities of altering the length of the coat and also told how the "Wool Labeling Act" requirements make it easy for one to know what per cent of wool is being purchased. General types of wool were also listed and the most outstanding features of the fall styles discussed.

A paper stressing the importance of home and community work in Nutrition as a defense measure was read by Mrs. S. R. Crockett. In this paper it was brought out that many people are undernourished not because of poverty but ignorance. The increasing importance of hot lunches for school children was also discussed. It was reported that this idea is being carried out in the local school, New London Academy, in renewed and added facilities to accommodate its many students.

The club gave its hostess a surprise shower. A game "Fairy Godmother's Gifts" preceded the actual shower and then the more tangible gifts were presented. Refreshments carried out the pink and white color combinations.

Mrs. Lee served the following members: Mrs. T. D. Abbott, Mrs. O. L. Brown, Mrs. M. L. Carter, Mrs. L. M. Fuqua, Mrs. Horace Gordon, Mrs. Carl Hicks, Mrs. J. W. Inge, Mrs. Lela Atkinson and Mrs. S. R. Crockett.

MEMORIAL

In sad but loving memory of my dear father, J. F. Hawkins, who died three years ago September 25, 1938.

Just a tribute of love and remembrance,
Of one who was worthy of praise,
For his love, kind deeds and sweet patience,
Will go with us the rest of our days.

This life is so empty without you,
Our eyes shed many tears,
God only knows how we miss you,
At the end o fthree long years.

Some may think I'm not lonely,
When at times they see me smile,
But little do they know the heartache,
That I suffer all the while.

Peaceful he thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low,
Thou no more will join our number
Thou no more our songs will know.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farwell tears are shed.—
—His Daughter, Mrs. Sam Woodford.

MEMORIAL

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, Iraiah D. Coleman, who departed this life Sept. 24, 1935

September brings sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest;
You were called from a world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.

The happiest hours I ever spent
Were by my husband's side;
The saddest hours I ever spent,
Were when my husband died.

We miss your gentle footsteps,
We miss your tender care;
We miss your loving voice,
We miss you everywhere.

But now the family cord is broken,
And a home I have no more;
But I hope to meet you, dear Damon,
On that happy golden shore.
—Written by his loving widow, Willie Rice Coleman Pinkham.

MEMORIAL

In loving memory of my dear father, J. F. Hawkins, who died two years ago, Sept. 30, 1939:

In the morning as the dawn is near,
And daylight brightens up the sky,
We think of you, dear father,
And the happy days gone by.

Thoughts of you come drifting back
Within our mind to stay,
To know that you are resting
As we live our lives day by day.
—His daughter, Mrs. Goldie Walker.

Hotel Committee

the price of lumber is up. It was pointed out in reply to this that if a "convenient time" to build is awaited, Bedford will never obtain a hotel. The first time the subject was brought up for discussion here, it was stated, was in 1921, and the hotel still has not been built.

Other doubts were expressed as to whether or not a hotel would ever be a paying proposition here and the competition of Hotel Roanoke was especially cited. Mr. Stoll, however, in his report gave several illustrations of similar projects in towns such as Waynesboro, Radford, Narrows and Martinsville, all of which have been successful. None of these places, he maintained, was any better located than Bedford to insure the success of a properly run hotel.

It was finally decided that a new committee would be formed to investigate the matter further. This committee will include many business men who have not been present at the two meetings already held. The general opinion seems to be that the estimate of $120,000 turned in by Hockenbury System, Incorp. is far too high, that it would be impossible to raise $65,000 of this amount by the sale of stock locally at this time. However, the new committee hopes to work out some plan whereby this estimate can be reduced materially.

A meeting will be held for further discussion of the hotel problem at 8:00 p. m. in the supervisors' room at the courthouse, Tuesday, October 7.

Baby Weighs Only One Pound at Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, Bedford, Route 3, have a new daughter, born on September 18. The baby was born three months prematurely and weighed only one pound. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas have two other children, Frances, age 13, and Johnnie, age 10, both of whom were premature babies, having been born two months ahead of schedule. Frances weighed only 3 pounds, 2 oz. at birth, but now tips scales at 105 lbs. Johnnie, now a robust boy of 60 lbs., weighed only 2 lbs. 12 oz. at birth.

They are the grandchildren of Mrs. J. R. Thomas, of Bedford, and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Goad, Bedford, Route 3, near Body Camp.
