"POLITICAL HERESY"

Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio seems to be a survivor of that almost extinct species—a man who puts the welfare of his country above partisanship or political considerations. Lausche is a Democrat, but is not of that variety which holds that his party can do no wrong. Last week he was at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., attending the annual conference of Governors, and made a frank and honest statement of his position in the race for the United States Senate in his state between Robert Taft, Republican, and J. T. Ferguson, Democrat. He told newsmen covering the conference that "my general disposition would be to vote for the Democratic candidate for the Senate." Then he added:

"I will vote, when I determine the issues, for the candidate I believe will serve the nation best. If I decide that candidate is Ferguson, I will vote for him. If I believe it is Taft, I will vote for him. I will not allow my party interest to overcome my interest in my country."

The man reporting this incident used the right word when he said Democrats were "stunned" by the Governor's statement. Among Democratic leaders, the idea of a Democrat voting for what he considers the best interest of the country and against a candidate of his own party amounted to "sheer political heresy"—was simply unthinkable. President Truman, trained in the Pendergast technique, put in his two cents' worth, saying that were he a resident of Ohio he would vote the straight Democratic ticket.

That is one of the main troubles with this country—entirely too many people vote the "straight ticket" when they go to the polls. Party, with this class of voters, comes first, little thought being given to what "the party" is doing to the country, or the class of candidates "the party" sets up for the people to vote for. "Straight ticket" voting is largely responsible for the mess we have in Washington today, and until the voters do their own thinking and, like Governor Lausche, vote for principle and the best interests of the nation as a whole, control of the government will remain in the hands of that element who have no vision above the political level. There are millions of Democrats who hate present party leadership and all it stands for, yet, at every election, go to the polls and vote for party nominees simply, and only, because they carry the party label.

The American people, especially we of the South, must break away from this system of voting. The party name is meaningless, or should be so, when it is debauched to stand for things which are utterly opposed to the things we believe in and to principles of justice and government which we hold dear and detrimental to the welfare of the country. Would there were more leaders like Governor Lausche, who place good of the nation above party and have the courage to state their convictions.

OUR EXPANDING ECONOMY

Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans have an unholy fascination for Senator Fulbright of Arkansas. He cons them over as ordinary men pore over crossword puzzles or concentrate on their old golf scores; he collects them where lesser men content themselves with trying to accumulate a fund of good and serviceable anecdotes, appropriate to any and all occasions. Frequently he shares his choicer finds with fellow Senators and on Tuesday he had a honey. This concerns a $300,000 loan made last year to a Texas firm that was sure its fortune could be made in the business of drying and powdering eggs. And well it may have thought so, for while the commercial demand for dried and powdered eggs is small and highly competitive, the Texas firm frankly planned to use the money borrowed from the first government agency to process eggs which it would sell to a second government agency, the Commodity Credit Corporation, which would then store them in a nice cool cave in Kansas until they had to be destroyed or sold to a third government agency, the School Lunch Program, or to foreign governments who would pay for them with funds supplied by a fourth government agency, the Economic Cooperation Administration. Senator Fulbright, enthralled by the spectacle of a government lending money to a firm to make something that it then has to buy and having no use whatsoever for, can get rid of only by giving someone else the money to buy it, described this as a circle and strongly hinted that he thought it was a vicious one.—Richmond News Leader.

GOLDBEACH, OREGON, REPORTER: During the last 100 years the per capita debt of the people of the United States has been multiplied 600 times in size. In the year 1850 the public debt was $2.77 per person. The Treasury Department reported in February this year that the debt now amounts to $1,698.00 for each man, woman and child in the United States. About $6,800 for the average family.

ON THE GOAL LINE

Unofficial reports on the hospital campaign give strong indication that when final reports are turned in at the meeting tonight, the goal may have been reached. However, should this not be the case, it is certain that we will be so close as to make final success reasonably certain. In any campaign of this kind all reports are never in on the deadline set. This is especially true when large rural areas have to be covered, and returns will be coming in ten days or two weeks after the campaign is officially closed, and these may be sufficient to swell the total to the $350,000 needed to be raised.

An encouraging feature of the campaign is contained in figures in the last report made. Six of the 12 divisions already had exceeded their quotas, a number of others were nearing the goal, while a few were lagging, having reported less than fifty per cent of the amount assigned them. These quotas were not haphazardly fixed. They were set only after careful study and are based on the known financial resources of the parties and industries to be contacted. It is not unreasonable, therefore, to expect that before the campaign closes all of them will be at or near the goal.

There has always been the hope, which is now strengthened by the present outlook, that the amount sought would be exceeded. It is recognized by everyone conversant with the operation of hospitals that all institutions of this kind require an operating surplus to tide them over the first few years until they can be completely organized and placed on a self-supporting basis. This is essential if fiscal worries are to be avoided, and so it is devoutly hoped that Bedford people will not be satisfied just to raise the minimum amount required. If this minimum can be exceeded by a substantial surplus to take care of expected deficits of the first few years of operations, the hospital will, from the very start, be in better position to meet the health demands of Bedford County people than if it is compelled to adopt a close-fisted fiscal policy to avoid going into debt too deeply. We trust that the public will keep this phase of the matter in mind and continue their support of the campaign even after it becomes assured that the minimum amount has been raised.

SOCIALIST SEES THE LIGHT

When Socialism takes over a government it has the noblest of intentions. Followers of this system really want to make life better, but socialism in practice always winds up by regimenting the energies and resources of the nation and weakening the moral fibres of the people. The present situation in England is a good illustration of this. The Socialist came to power five years ago, and the results have been given by a member of that party who finally saw the light.

Speaking in the House of Commons on May 6, 1946, Ivor Thomas spoke in glowing terms of what the Socialists were going to do. "Today, over a wide field," he said, "private enterprise has become a stumbling block to economic advance. In the new Renaissance the new and potent instruments which science has placed in the hands of man are matched by a new and fruitful principle; the principle of public enterprise based on the service of the many instead of the private profit of the few; a principle which is as much in advance of private enterprise as private enterprise was of the feudal guild."

Disillusionment came fast in the case of Mr. Thomas. In another speech before Commons, made October 27, 1948, he said:

"The most obvious results of the government's activities in the past three years has been an immense concentration of power in the hands of the State and a corresponding weakening of the power of the individual to stand for himself. The itching fingers of the planners cannot leave well enough alone. Their grasping hand stretch far beyond the confines of industry to the man who wants to run up a building for himself and the woman who keeps a pig, or a few hens, in her backyard. On top of the universal control of our economic life, the government is now wiping out the last vestige of independence by confiscatory taxation. For long I had hoped that a labor party, pledged to sensible courses of reform, would be the best bulwark against the evil flood of communism. Today, I regret to see that it is no bulwark, but a leaky dam."

Today this country is much farther along the road to socialistic government than was England ten years ago. The whole tendency of the present administration in Washington is in that direction. It may seem a small matter to the average American when the government takes over some industry, as it is now doing in the case of electric power. But when government owns or controls great industries, it is inevitable that it will reach out and grasp control of agriculture, labor, small business, and finally, everything. The initiative of the people withers, their moral fibre weakens as more and more they become dependent upon the government for their livelihood. If we don't want this to happen in America, it is time we awake to the fact that it is already in the process of happening; in fact, is far along the road.

OVERLOADING OF TRUCKS

Unquestionably, many truckers (principally from out of State) have abused Virginia's load limit laws flagrantly. These violations have reflected contempt for the Virginia General Assembly, the State Police and the Highway Department; they can not be condoned. It sometimes is difficult to take a dispassionate view of the issues involved when the truckers behave in this fashion. Yet it seems to us that the answer here is not to punish all truckers by denying the industry a safe and reasonable load limit, but rather to crack down on violators with penalties so stiff that overloading will become unprofitable. The new penalty law enacted by the Assembly of 1950 should achieve this aim.—Richmond News Leader.

Do You Remember?

"Father, must I go to work?"

"No, my lucky son,
We're living now on Easy Street
On dough from Washington."

"We've left it up to Uncle Sam
So don't get exercised
Nobody has to give a damn—
We're all been subsidized."

"But if Sam treats us all so well
And feeds us milk and honey,
Please, daddy, tell me what the h—
He's going to use for money?"

"Don't worry, bub, there's not a hitch
In this here noble plan—
He simply soaks the filthy rich
And helps the common man."

"But father, won't there come a time
When we run out of cash—
And we have left then not a dime—
And things will go to smash?"

"My faith in you is shrinking, son,
You nosy little brat,
You do too damn much thinking, son,
To be a Democrat."

To whom it may concern

About 10 years ago one of the favorite newsmen around town was a bright-faced, easy-going youngster by the name of Gene Payne. Gene was a small, thin boy with a white face and large blue eyes. He had a ready answer for all comers and the men about town who bought papers from him enjoyed kidding him.

We spotted Gene here at the Bulletin office and took him on as printer's devil. He was a good worker, quick to learn and quick to get around the shop, although when he first came to the office we had to sit on him occasionally to make him hold that sharp tongue of his in check. Men had laughed at him and encouraged his cheeky replies until he was well on the way to becoming unbearably impudent. The Boss took care of that, however, and I guess one of the first lessons Gene had around here was not in printing but in manners. The Boss, in particular, cannot stand a "saucy brat," and anything resembling "back talk" drew from him not a laugh, but a stony stare.

Ole Man Robbins, however, loved to tease and it was longer before Gene seemed to catch on to the fact that the difference in their ages gave the Ole Man a privilege which he himself did not have. I don't think Gene was conscious of learning all this, but learn it he did. You could see the change in him.

As far as I could tell, it was "root pig or die" with Gene almost from the time he could walk. He was hustling about, making his own way, or as much of it as he could, almost as soon as he could walk.

Gene stayed with us until he was in high school. When he reached the first year high, however, he decided to quit school and no amount of persuasion could get him to stay on. A little later he decided that a job outside during the summer would be good for him, so he started work for the State Highway Department.

From then on, we've only had glimpses of Gene, but we've watched his career with interest. For while he went from one job to another, and it looked as though he was never going to settle down to one. However, as Gene pointed out when he paid us a visit recently, whenever he changed jobs he buttered himself a little. His constant moving was not as haphazard as it looked, and he always learned something wherever he went.

He worked on the railroad for a month, for Sears-Roebuck for a month, and then his printing experience got him a job with the Stone Printing Company in Roanoke.

Doggedly Yours

I have said all along that who could resist a chance like that? Not I. I left the breakfast table and hurried to the phone before I could lose any nerve it might take to do what I was going to do. I called Tom Hughes and as he recognized my name and the kennel name it was a pleasing conversation. I told him of the seven-month-old male Cairn that I wanted to sell. The dog house that went with "Maxie," as I called the little silver-colored dog, seemed to make him laugh, and he made quite a few quips about it over the radio show a bit later. Anyway, Tom Hughes, "put on the dog" and for the next forty minutes Jimmy Kenels here in Bedford was sponsor for a very good, early morning musical show of records and transcriptions. First time for anything like that anywhere around here, and with the friendly delivery and easy voice that only Tom Hughes has on those local shows it was a joy to listen to.

Common Glory Opens 4th Season At Williamsburg

After three weeks of fast-paced rehearsals and intensive preparation in the amphitheatre at Lake Maoka, Williamsburg, by the technical staff of the production, "The Common Glory," Paul Green's symphonic drama of the founding of the Republic, which has become a national summer institution, will open its fourth season Saturday evening, July 1, at 8:15 o'clock for a two-and-a-half month's run.

The Common Glory is produced by the Jamestown Corporation and co-sponsored by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Development. It will be performed nightly beginning July 1 for eight consecutive nights, and thereafter except Mondays for the rest of the season, through Saturday, September 16. There are no matinees.

The sweeping outdoor drama of the American Revolution, which has been seen by a quarter of a million players from the 48 States and many foreign countries, is performed in a specially-built amphitheatre on the shores of Lake Matoaka, which Robert Edmond Jones, noted stage designer, has called the most beautiful outdoor theatrical setting in the world.

"The Common Glory" tells the story of the resistance in the Virginia Peninsula in the Seventies to the tyranny from overseas, which flamed first into open rebellion and finally into revolution under the leadership of Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, George Washington and the other Virginia patriots.

The role of Jefferson, leading character of the "Common Glory," will be played by Lawrence Hugo, of the New York stage, who has been seen by Broadway audiences to his credit. He began his career with Gladys George in "The Distant City," played the lead in Edward Chodorov's "Decision," and also appeared in two of the decade's top hits, "Skins of Our Teeth," with Frederic March and Tallulah Bankhead, and "Born Yesterday" with Paul Douglas and Judy Holiday.

"The Common Glory" in reality has two feminine leads, in the role of Patty Jefferson, appealing wife of the great Virginian, and Eileen Gordon, daughter of a Tory planter who is in love with a young Virginian frontiersman, Hugh Tay-Missouri, liberty was granted in the sixth anniversary of the commissioning of the Missouri, was served while the warship was anchored at Boston, Mass. Big Island Community

By MRS. CARL A. RICE

H. D. Club Meets

The Hunting Creek Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Robert J. Douglas, Mrs. J. J. Yoder, chairman, was in charge of the program, which was on Flower Arrangement.

The demonstration on the making of metal trays was continued from last month and was presented by the leaders, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Wade Tanner.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting.

Club Has Guest Speaker

Dr. Oscar C. Martin, Lynchburg dentist and president of the Booneboro Ruritan Club, was guest speaker Tuesday evening at the supper meeting of the local Ruritan Club. Dr. Martin in his talk enumerated the benefits a community could derive from a Ruritan club.

Each member was called on for a two minute talk on what Ruritan has meant to him.

During the regular business session members decided on the purchase of an institutional type gas cook stove for the lunch room of Big Island High School.

Reports were heard from committees, but none of the objectives had been completed to date.

The vice-president, Travis White, presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, G. R. Bird.

Bedford Lake Popular

Daily there are family groups and parties going to Bedford County Lake to take advantage of the picnic area, boating and swimming.

Pushing Hospital Campaign

A. T. Taylor, vice-president and general manager of the Big Island plant of the National Container Corporation, told members of the local union 1013, CIO, at their meeting Wednesday night that for every dollar contributed by them to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital the company would match it dollar for dollar.

Solicitation began in earnest and very man at the mill has been contacted and, with few exceptions, the response has been favorable. Pledges and cash continue to come in. There are still a few persons in the community who have not been contacted to date, but it is hoped that within the next few days the entire community will have had an opportunity to participate in the building of Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Attends Educational Conference

George Roy Bird, principal of Big Island High School, was in Charlottesville for four days of the past week attending conferences at the University of Virginia.

Legion Post Sponsors Dance

American Legion Post 217, is sponsoring a dance for Saturday, July 1, at the Big Island High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The music will be furnished by Bob Henry and Virginia Ridge Runners from Lexington, and Robert Stoner, of Natural Bridge, will call figures.

Church News

Dr. J. T. Edwards, representing the home for the aged at Culpeper, spoke at the Sunday School hour at Hunting Creek Baptist Church and at the morning service at Big Island Baptist Church.

Commencement exercises for the Vacation Bible School at Hunting Creek Church were held Friday night. The average attendance for the school was 100, and several days it was over that figure. The workers went miles to bring children to the school each morning.

Dynmating Is

Threat to Fishing

According to M. Wheeler Kester, chief of the Law Enforcement Division of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, the commission is becoming concerned over the apparent increase in fish dynamiting in various areas of the state.

Mr. Kester said that while all game law violators are thieves in that they are stealing from the people of Virginia, the fish dynamiter is a particularly reprehensible law breaker. Dynamiting of the streams, the law enforcement chief pointed out, results in destruction not only of the adult fish, but also kills all the smaller fish that make up the major portion of the fish population and which in time would become the future adult population.

Because of this, a stream that has been dynamited repeatedly, as some Virginia streams are reported to have been, will be turned into a biological desert as far as a fish population is concerned and may remain so for years unless restocked by the commission.

Restocking is not always successful in these cases either, it was further stated, because the ecological relationships in the stream may have been disturbed by the explosives and several years may pass before the stream is again in suitable condition to provide for fish life.

Because of the particularly evil effects of this type of poaching, game wardens have been instructed to spare no effort in apprehending violators. However, Mr. Kester further stated that the game warden has a large territory to cover and is not always able to catch the dynamiters in the act. He said that he would make a special request to all people in the area where fish dynamiting is being done, to cooperate with their local warden in stamping out this threat to the sport fishing of the Commonwealth.

Play the Old Side

An elderly gentleman, whose memory had faded with the passage of the years, was fond of reading, but never remembered what he read. His daughter, who supplied him with books, realized this and gave him the same volume from time to time. On being asked, one one occasion, how he enjoyed the book, he said, "Oh, the subject matter is most interesting, but I believe the author has a tendency to repeat himself."

Blessing of Trouble

By REV. W. M. COMPTON

Our meditation centers in the 46th division of the Psalms. God's people have turned and returned to this little Psalm in times of stress and distress. It heads up in verse 10, which reads, "Give in, admit that I am God."

Hebrew scholars see three stanzas in this Psalm. Each stanza has a different focal point of vision: 1. God. 2. City of God. 3. Works of God. Each has also a different angle of vision: First, the upward look—GOD. Second, the onward look—City of God, Jerusalem. Third, the outward look—seeing the works of God.

The first stanza reads: God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea; though the waters thereof roar and be troubled; though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. The first word in this stanza is God. What is God? God is a spirit. Yes, but let us remind ourselves that there is but one living and true God, everlasting, without body or parts; of infinite wisdom, power and goodness; the maker and preserver of all things visible and invisible. Not only a mighty being, but He is our refuge and strength in trouble. Trouble is the feminine of a word that means "tight place," hemmed in by circumstances, hung up. We need not fear any phenomena. The earth may change, hills sink, billows roar, mountains topple. Let us be reminded that trouble is not always a calamity or a misfortune; it may often be our schoolmaster to bring us to God. It may be, and often is, the means for the working of God's grace in our hearts. I am not speaking theoretically when I give emphasis to the fact here revealed, that in the darkest hour of life's experience God is our refuge and strength. A tourist on the great Continental Divide in the far west saw an Idaho man who had climbed the towering peaks and was sitting in the sun. In explanation of his sitting there on the peak in the sunlight, the old man said: "All my fears and headaches are down in that little valley." May I say it makes but little difference whether we are on the mountain top or in the valley if we have the God consciousness we need have no fear. "Fear not, I am with thee; O be not dismayed, for I am thy God and will still give thee aid; I'll strengthen thee, help thee, and cause thee to stand, upheld by my righteous, omnipotent hand."

Having taken the upward look,

we are now ready to take the onward look. Read the second stanza:

"There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the Most High. God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God shall help her, and that right early. The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved; He uttered His voice, the earth melted. Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

Feeling onward by faith, we behold the City of God. Abraham looked for a city. In Hebrews we read: "God hath prepared for us a city." The figure here is that of a sparkling river flowing by and making glad the City of God. In Revelation we have a similar figure: "He showed me a pure river of water of life proceeding out of the throne of God and the Lamb. There were fruit trees on either side yielding fruit every month, whose leaves were for the healing of the nations."

The picture is not complete until we see and know that God dwells in the city. "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people, and God Himself shall be with them, and be their God." Not only so, but our God speaks. Saul of Tarsus on the Damascus road, and John on the Isle of Patmos both saw a vision of Christ, and both fell to the ground. God spoke to Saul, giving him the needed direction. He laid His right hand upon John, saying, "Fear not, I am He that live and was dead; and behold I am alive forever more." In the Psalm we are told that the heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved; he uttered his voice, the earth melted. How the people behind the iron curtain and all over the world today need to catch that vision and hear that voice.

Finally the outward look. But not until the up-look and the onward look are taken. The third stanza reads as follows:

"Come, behold the works of the Lord, what desolation He hath made in the earth. He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; he breaketh the bow and cutteth the spear in sunder; He burneth the chariot in the fire. Be still and know that am God. I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth. The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Come, behold, the works of Jehovah. Gaze upon the broken and charred weapons of ancient warfare. Perhaps these were the dis-

Prayer

Lord, we beseech thee, grant thy people grace to withstand the temptations of the world, the flesh, and the devil; and with pure hearts and minds to follow thee, the only God; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

carded weapons of Senacharib's army. Even here in the Old Testament we have revealed to us the fact that our God does not bring on wars, but He maketh wars to cease to the ends of the earth. Nations and rulers giving God the right of way, we would have a picture of the destruction of guns and other desolatory things. No submarines with their death dealing blows would ever infest the mighty deep. No warships with their massive guns would ever again sail the high seas; huge war planes, with guns and bombs—atomic or hydrogenic—would never again fill the air above with a tremor of fear, threatening to turn God's fair earth into a ball of fire. Submarines, battleships and war planes would become the discarded implements of modern warfare. God is our heavenly Father. He is also king, and when the kings and rulers of the earth yield obedience to His will, making Him king of kings and lord of lords, then I think that day will dawn of which Micah and Isaiah wrote, saying: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The world outlook today is not pleasing or gratifying. It is rather dark and dismal. But hope and courage come to us when we sense the outlook aright. God has not deserted His world. He is working and we are moving toward the dawn of a new day.

Few people live 50 years or more in this country as strangers to trouble. Are you troubled, perplexed, hemmed in by circumstances, far or near; are you in a tight place? Relax, be still, know that I am God. I will be exalted in the earth. I move toward the day.

"When through the deep waters I call thee to go, God will be with thee; O be not dismayed, for I am thy God and will still give thee aid; I'll strengthen thee, help thee, and cause thee to stand, upheld by my righteous, omnipotent hand."

BIBLE COMMENT FOR JULY 2

Jesus Spoke of Troublous Times In the Future

ANXIETY and speculation have marked every generation of Christians since the very beginning of Christianity itself.

It would be difficult to enumerate all the times that "the end of the world" has been predicted, and the number of times that those who had it all worked out in their sure interpretations of prophecy have been shown to be false interpreters.

Jesus spoke of troublous times ahead; He warned the disciples not to put too much confidence in "signs" and to be wary of false messiahs. So far as nation rising against nation is concerned, the two great World Wars of the past might fill that category; but there have been many wars and tumults since Jesus spoke those words, and some of them were on a world-wide scale as the world was that time.

Was Jesus predicting some definite day of catastrophe? Or was He speaking in general terms of the struggle between good and evil?

Whatever the future, the one sure thing is that Christians cannot be prepared for it unless they are always prepared. It is those who endure to the end that are saved, but the lesson of endurance is not learned at the end.

It would be better for us, and better for others, if we were to heed the plain teaching of Jesus, and strive to follow His example in word and in deed, instead of spending time and energy speculating about doubtful matters. The world is undergoing a certain degree of turmoil today. The future is hazy. We know not what may befall us, or what the world of tomorrow may be like. But the word of the Lord shall not pass away. There is our place of anchorage and faith. Hold fast to God's word, and do our duty. That is the best preparation for whatever is to come.

ness very quickly. Shelled peas deteriorate faster than unshelled ones. Therefore, freeze the peas as soon as possible after picking, and immediately after shelling.

Wash shelled peas and sort out the over-mature ones, and any other undesirable pieces of split peas, skin, or trash.

Blanch for one minute in boiling water. Count the time from the moment the water returns to a boil after the peas have been added. At the end of one minute, remove the peas and put them in ice water until cold all the way through. Drain.

Peas are packed dry. Fill them into a moisture-vapor proof package, leaving one-half inch of headspace. Press out air, and seal the package. Place in the locker immediately and freeze at 0° F.

Next week, we discuss packages. If you have any questions about packages now, ask your locker operator. He will be glad to help you and show you what is available. You can count on him to help you find a good package.

3 Bedford Students Make Dean's List At Mary Washington

Fredericksburg, Va.—The scholastic honor roll at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia for the second semester of the current year, announced by Dean Edward Alvey, Jr., lists the names of 280 students who have achieved an average of "B" or above in their courses, with no grade less than "satisfactory." This represents approximately 21 per cent of the semester's enrollment and of this number 188 are on the Dean's List for the second time this academic year.

Among the 280 students, over half of whom are Virginians, are Virginia Gardner Wallace of Bedford, on list both semesters; Mariabel Sutherland and Nancy Lee Parks of Bedford, June graduates. Miss Sutherland was also listed both semesters.

Alice Chaplain Makes Honor Roll At Radford College

Radford, June 23—Miss Alice Chaplain, Bedford, has been placed on the honor roll at Radford College for the Spring Quarter ending here June 3 according to J. P. Whitl Register, in an announcement recently. Miss Chaplain, who received all A's and B's for the quarter is among eighty-nine students to receive this honor.

During World War II there were 10,825 Virginians serving in the United States Marine Corps. Included in this number were 164 women.

Virginia Advances Rapidly in Processing Of Meats

Virginia has advanced rapidly in recent years as a meat processing state, with hogs making up the bulk of the slaughter, says George Herring, animal husbandman at V. P. I.

The upward trend is expected to continue because of increased slaughtering facilities.

Herring points out that Virginia is exceeded only by Georgia, Tennessee, and Texas among the 14 southern states in the slaughter of hogs.

In 1949 there were 889,000 hogs slaughtered in Virginia, excluding those slaughtered on farms. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, however, reports marketing of only about 525,000 head of Virginia hogs, Virginia, therefore, produced for market less than 60 percent as many hogs as were processed. Most of the hogs brought into the state for processing come from nearby states to the South, although some come from the corn belt states. As for other meat animals—plants in Virginia slaughtered 88,200 cattle and 132,500 calves last year. The average weight of cattle was 890 pounds, and of calves, 200 pounds. Sheep and lamb slaughter is light in Virginia with only 18,200 head slaughtered at an average weight of 86 pounds.

When you're machine sewing on sheer fabrics such as voile, chiffon, organdie, and tissue gingham, use a fine machine needle. Home economists at V. P. I. suggest a size 11.

FOOD FREEZING

Frozen peas are one of our best frozen foods. If frozen properly, they can hardly be distinguished from peas fresh out of the garden, and they are easy to freeze properly, said Roy E. Moser, Jr., Fruit and vegetable processing specialist, extension service, V. P. I. recently.

Thomas Laxton, Telephone, Wando, and Freezonian are four varieties which have been recommended for freezing in Virginia. Pick the peas for freezing when they are at their best for use as a fresh vegetable.

Fresh peas lose their quality rapidly. They lose their sweet-

THROUGH A GLASS... DARKLY

She's frightened. She's seeing the world for the first time through dark glasses. It's no wonder you and I are frightened. Ever since we were old enough to reason, we have been seeing the world through dark glasses. It's just as Paul said:

"Now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face."

We spend our years wondering why things happen as they do... why hatred flourishes and love withers... why sorrow seems inevitable and joy so rare. Apparently, we were not meant to understand... not here!

Some truths God has revealed to us; these our Churches teach. Other truths God will not reveal until another day; to prepare us for that day our Churches strive.

Until at length we gain that complete vision, we are happiest and strongest when we live faithfully in the truth already revealed. Even with dark glasses a man can see as long as he walks toward the Light.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Navy AJ-1 Plane Crashes Near Bedford Thursday

A burning Navy AJ-1 plane crashed near Otter Hill southeast of Bedford last Thursday night about 8:30, hurtling to their deaths the three crew members.

The Bedford Fire Department sent a truck to the scene, but the wreckage did not catch on fire. Members of the Life Saving Crew and local police officers also went to the scene of the accident. The crash attracted hundreds of people and a traffic problem was created on the country roads in the vicinity of the accident. By early Friday morning, however, state police were in control and barred everyone but officials who came to investigate the crash.

Navy Investigator C. M. Campbell, who has had 12 years experience in trouble-shooting air accidents, said that the physical evidence of the crash was scattered over a wide area. Witnesses did not give, and to him the cause of the accident was puzzling.

The bodies of the crew members were horribly mangled, and remnants of the plane were scattered over a wide area. Investigators found no evidence of fire, but people who saw the plane flying low stated that it was ablaze before it crashed.

The AJ-1's are a new type of aircraft and are jet propelled for quick take-offs. The plane left California that morning for a non-stop flight to a naval air base in Maryland, and had been in the air for approximately 11 hours when it crashed.

Tried in Trial Justice court were Truly Orange and his son James of Montvale for cursing and abusing B. A. Ramsey $10 each and a 30 day suspended jail sentence.

Johnny E. Orange, of Thaxton, who was involved in an accident, and who failed to give his name and address $50.00; for failing to report an accident $15.00 and driving without a permit $10.00.

FOLKS AND ME
It is a funny thing, but true, That folks you don't like don't like you.
I don't know why this should be so, But just the same I allus know, If I am "sour," friends are few; If I am friendly, folks are too.

Hogan-Hudson

The marriage of Miss Jewell Hughes Hudson, daughter of Mrs. M. C. Hudson, of Big Island, to Walter Jennings Hogan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hogan, of Lynchburg, took place, Wednesday, June 21, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. P. Cunningham, on Floyd Street, Lynchburg. Dr. W. Wesley Shrader, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

An altar of white gladioli, carnations and white roses, backed by ferns and flanked by candelabra served as a background for the service. Mrs. Helen Smith, contralto, and Mrs. James Eberhardt provided nuptial music.

The bride, who was escorted by her brother, James DeWitt, of Lynchburg, wore a gown of embroidered organdy, fashioned with fitted waist and long gathered skirt. The bodice had a button effect from neck to waistline, short sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. Her fingertip veil was held by a head band of ribbons and pearls. She wore short nylon mitts and carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and fleur de Mohr, centered with an orchid.

Miss Ann Hudson was her sister's maid of honor. Her gown was of pink frosted organdy over taffeta, fashioned with lines similar to the dress of the bride. She carried a bouquet of pink asters, roses and lupins and her headpiece was a flower tiara.

Dawn Cunningham, niece of the bride, was junior bride's maid. She wore a pink dress of dotted swiss, carried a miniature bouquet and wore a headpiece similar to that worn by the maid of honor.

Mr. Hogan was his son's best man.

A reception was given after the ceremony. Assisting the hosts were Mrs. Francis Hontig, of Lynchburg, and Miss Cornelia Bassett, of Martinsville.

For traveling, the bride wore a suit of beige linen with navy blue accessories. Her flower was a white orchid. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hogan will make their home in Lynchburg.

KEELER-CARNAHAN

Miss Margaret Crowther Carnahan became the bride of Owen Floyd Keeler, Jr., of Alexandria, at 3 o'clock Saturday, June 24, at Brick Presbyterian Church, Rochester, New York, with Dr. Harold E. Nicely, officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Carnahan, of Rochester, New York, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Floyd Keeler, Sr., of Bedford, Virginia.

The church was decorated with white baskets of flowers, ferns and seven branch candelabra.

The bride wore a gown of white silk satin fashioned with a yoke of marguerite, elbow length balloon sleeves and a bouffant skirt en train. The veil was of nylon illusion caught to a cap of French lace. Her bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride had as her maid of honor her twin sister, Patricia S. Carnahan. She wore a gown of French blue chiffon, with a shirred bodice and lace top. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragons and yellow pansies with a wreath of matching flowers in her hair. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry S. Chaney, of Martinsville, and Mrs. James S. Ruff, of Rochester. They wore gowns identical to that of the bride.

Carol and Thomas Fisk, twins, were flower girl and ring bearer. Carol wore a white organdy dress and carried a basket of white snapdragons and blue delphinium.

The bridegroom had as his best man, James S. Ruff, of Rochester. Ushers were William James Carnahan, Jr., of New York City, brother of the bride; James M. Arnold, Edward A. Turner and Robert B. Baumer, all of Rochester.

The bride's mother wore a rose lace gown with matching hat and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a green chiffon gown with lace jacket, matching hat and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Oak Hill Country Club. The fireplace was decorated with white flowers and ferns.

The couple left for a trip to The Cloisters, Sea Island, Ga. Upon their return July 15, they will make their home in Alexandria.

Committee To Study Negro High School Site

C. H. Jennings and E. C. Hatcher were appointed Monday by the Board of Supervisors to represent the board on a committee composed of two members from the Town Council and two from the Bedford County School Board to study the feasibility of buying a site in the town for the proposed new Negro High School.

The school board had voted at a previous meeting to have the school built on a site east of town on Route 460. However, since then opposition to this plan has snowballed, both by Negroes living in Bedford and others, and this special committee has been appointed to look into the matter.

The committee will report its findings to the Town Council, the School Board and the Board of Supervisors at a future date. After that joint meeting will probably be held.

Company A To Go on Two-week Tour July 8

Company A, 116th Infantry, Bedford's National Guard unit, will go on a two weeks training period, beginning Sunday, July 8. This year the training will be at Camp Pickett, Virginia.

The entire 29th Division, which includes several units from here, the District of Company and all of Virginia, will have a two weeks intensive training period.

The Bedford company will travel by National Guard trucks sent here from Richmond for the trip.

Gullott-White

Miss Mary Elizabeth White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. White, of Bedford, became the bride of Robert Eugene Gullott, of Washington, D. C., in a ceremony performed in the First Methodist Church of Hyattsville, Md., on Sunday, June 25, at 3:30 p. m. Edgar Wells Beckett, pastor of the church, read the ceremony.

Wearing a floor length dress of white organdy with a fitted bodice and a finger-tip veil caught by a tiara of peralized orange blossoms and carrying a white Bible topped with gardenias with ribbon streamers interspersed with lily of the valley and babies breath, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Davis White, of Roanoke.

The bride's maid of honor, her sister, Miss Katherine White, of Bedford and Hyattsville, Md., wore a floor length dress of pale blue frosted organdy and carried a pyramid bouquet of blue delphiniums and pink painted daisies.

Miss Hannah Long, of Selbyville, Delaware, bride's maid, wore a matching dress of pink frosted organdy and carried a bouquet of blue painted daisies and delphiniums.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his son, Robert Gullott, Jr., of Arlington. The ushers were Tyler D. White, of Bedford, brother of the bride, and Carl Hoffman, of Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Mrs. White, mother of the bride, was attired in a blue lace dress and wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

The church was decorated with palms, cathedral candles and tall baskets of white gladioli and ferns.

John Wells, church organist, presented a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. William Sharpnack, friend of the bride, who sang "Because," "Oh Primrose Me," "I Love You Truly," and "Oh Perfect Love" at the close of the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social hall of the church.

For traveling the bride chose a brown and white checked suit with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow rose buds.

After a northern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gullott will reside at 5701 43rd Avenue, Hyattsville, Md. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Sharpnack, of California, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharpnack, of Plainfield, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Werner, of Baltimore, Md.; Misses Frances and Elizabeth McMahon, of Federalburg, Md.; Miss Elizabeth Harrow, of Delaville, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. Tyler White and daughter, Miss Gladys Robertson, of Bedford.

Key-Newman

Miss Margie Ann Newman and Parnes Owen Key were united in marriage on Saturday, June 24, at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. J. H. Grey, on Westview Avenue.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Earl Newman, of Bedford. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Toons Key, of Route 2, Bedford.

Spray or Dust Now For Tomato Late Blight

The county agent has just received a letter from S. E. Fenne Extension Plant Pathologist, VPI, stating that weather conditions for the past weeks have been ideal for late blight and suggested that farmers start spraying or dusting immediately to prevent infection getting a start. It is highly important that one or two applications of the fungicide be put on tomato plants before the disease appears.

Insoluble copper, as a spray or as a dust, is the recommended material to use. Directions for mixing it are usually found on the container. Use two pounds actual copper to each 100 gallons of spray (for instance, if the copper is 50 per cent, it will take four pounds to get two pounds of actual copper).

If a dust is preferred, a seven per cent ready mixed material is best. However, five per cent copper dust may be used if great care is used in its application.

A new chemical, zineb, sold under the trade name of Dithane Z-78 and Parzate, has also proved to be effective in the control of tomato late blight. These materials may be hard to get in Bedford.

No matter which material is used, the important thing is to start spraying or dusting before the disease appears. Do a thorough job, make certain that every leaf and fruit is covered on both bottom and top sides. Applications must be repeated about once a week and after rains.

The addition of insecticide, such as rotenone, is usually not necessary, and is of no value in the control of late blight.

Woman's Day Will Be Observed by Local Church

The Divine Gospel Singers of Lynchburg will appear at the Washington Street Baptist Church on Monday night, July 3, at 8:00 o'clock for the benefit of the Woman's Day Program.

On Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock the church will sponsor a woman's ball game at Pogue Stadium.

The Gospel Four of Yanceyville, N. C., will sing at the church on Friday, July 14, at 8:00 p. m. The public is invited to attend all these services. All proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Woman's Day Program.

Seven Juniors Selected For Boys State

Seven high school juniors from Bedford County will be sent to the American Legion sponsored Boys' State at V. P. I. July 16 to 23. This group, representing all high schools, with the exception of Big Island, is being sent by Bedford's Howard-Cannady Post 54. The Big Island post will send two delegates from the Big Island school.

Selected to attend from Stewartsville is Everett Alfred Dooley, 16, Route 1, Vinton. Floyd Eugene Chandler, 16, of Goodview, is alternate.

Templeton, 17, of Route 4, Lynchburg and James Earl Zimmerman, 16, Bedford representing Bedford High School.

The boys will leave at 1:00 p. m. Sunday, July 16 from the Palace Hotel in Bedford, Gates Richardson, adjutant of the local post, state.

G. E. Heller and G. P. Heller are expected to attend Boy's State in official capacities.

Police Chief

Ches Wilkerson

Police Chief Chester Wilkerson has been laid up since Sunday with a sprained back. He was able to get around the house Wednesday but is still confined.

Not One to Bank On

Warehouseman Jones was very proud of his first bank account, and carefully checked each statement he received. When he had accumulated two hundred dollars, he presented the teller with a withdrawal slip for the entire amount. "Why are you closing your account, Mr. Jones?" queried the teller, handing him the money. "Have you lost confidence in us?"

"Oh, tain't that, tain't that at all. And I ain't closing the account. I want to see to count the money to see that it's all here."

A teamster, eating at a strange cafe, complained to the waitress that the silver was not clean. "I wouldn't let that bother you," said the waitress, calmly. "You know it is said that we must eat a peck of dirt before we die." "That's my bet," answered the driver, "but it has not been said that we must eat it all at one time."

Over 81% of the commissioned members of the Marine Corps at present time were originally enlisted men.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr.

Bed-Ridden Man Accused of Selling Bootleg Whiskey

A potent woodpile which was found to contain 65 half gallons and 18 pints of illicit whiskey was raided by ATU and ABC investigators Saturday in the Goodview section of the county.

The discovery was made in the process of executing a State search warrant on William Prather, 42, who has been bedridden for the past 20 years with a broken back. According to the investigators, Prather suffered his injury as the result of a railroad accident. He lost the use of his lower limbs and has been a paraplegic ever since.

Nevertheless, they added, he has a pretty wife and is the father of two children, aged ten and 13. Prather, they stated, refused to identify the person who has kept him supplied with illicit whiskey. Although placed under arrest, he was permitted to remain at home. It is expected that when his case comes up it may develop into a bedside trial. He is charged with the possession and sale of illegal spirits.

Those participating in the raid included ABC investigators John R. Pugh and H. C. Matthews, ATU investigators Marion A. King and Steve Hughes, and Sheriff Rucker Mitchell.

And Mrs. Scott Poindexter were Mrs. S. F. Armstrong and daughter, Miss Shiela Armstrong, and Mr. and Mrs. John Harris of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Alvin Wood and son, Tommy, attended preaching at Sedalia Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of the Clyne-Sandersons.

Willie Burnette received word Monday of the serious illness of his nephew, Elmer Burnette, in a hospital in Roanoke.

Lots of people from around here went to the Southside the past several days to view the airplane crash that occurred last week, killing three. They reported it the worst they ever saw.

Well, news is scarce so will sign off for this week. Just Peggy

Huddleston, Rt. 2

By MRS. W. S. MITCHELL

Mrs. A. L. Nichols and Mrs. Ruby Mitchell called to see Mrs. Babe Woodford while one evening last week. Mrs. Woodford is not feeling so well.

Mrs. B. D. Krantz has been having back trouble for the past week, and her daughter, Mrs. Hudson, and boys are staying a few days with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Krantz, Roanoke, were visiting around here Saturday.

Well, it was a terrible shock to the people around here and in Otter Hill community when a plane crashed one night last week, when three lives were lost.

Mrs. Otho Murphy spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Sam Mitchell.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Artie Kirby is sick. Hope she soon gets better.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Woodford and children, of Front Royal, were around here last week.

Mrs. B. B. Fuqua went to Bedford one day last week to see a doctor. She is not feeling so well.

Some of the farmers are combining their wheat. It looks to be right good.

Miss Mary Ann Nichols has returned to her home here after spending awhile in Newport News with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Guthrie. Miss Delores Guthrie came with her to spend awhile.

Miss Rachel Kirby, of Lynchburg, spent the week-end at her home here.

Vacation Bible School is in progress at Bethesda M. E. Church this week.

LAUREL GROVE

By MRS. GARLAND DEWITT

Thought for the week: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. These words were spoken by our Lord Jesus when questioned by the Scribes and Pharisees about associating with sinners. Remember them, when ridiculed by your so-called friends when you are trying to save a lost soul for His kingdom.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Dinkel, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. DeWitt, W. C. DeWitt, Mattie DeWitt, Owen and Scott Watson attended church services at Salem M. E. Church on Sunday morning. The Rev. J. Carroll Fink conducted the services.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kennedy, Earl Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. John Dinkel attended church services at Allen Mountain Chapel Sunday afternoon. Dr. J. H. Grey conducted the services.

Mrs. John Dinkel and a number of children from the community are attending the Vacation Bible School at Salem M. E. Church this week.

Mrs. Joe DeWitt, of the Peaksville community, is slowly improving from an illness of virus pneumonia. Many friends and relatives called on her last week.

We regret to learn that Mrs. H. M. Agee doesn't show much improvement from a gall bladder attack.

Well, blackberries are getting ripe and the berry pickers will be out after them. Chiggers or no chiggers, berry rolls are mighty good. Yum-yum.

This is all for now. If anything comes up will let you know next week.

Diamond Hill

By MRS. R. E. HAWKINS

The Vacation Bible School ended last Friday night, and had a good attendance every night; everyone had a wonderful time in this special study period of the Bible.

Those attending from Diamond Hill were George Meador, Mrs. Roenna McMannaway, Nellie J. Meador, Mrs. R. E. Hawkins, Phyllis, Darlene and Bertha Hawkins, Helen, Mildred and Pauline Meador, Nancy, Alvin and Nelson Chewning, Clyde Hannabass, Joan Hannabass, Jean Hurt and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hurt.

We are sorry to note that Irene Overstreet remains so ill. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. R. W. Daniel, of Bedford, Route 4, is spending a few days with the Lee Harris family and Mrs. Bryant Meador.

Mrs. R. W. Daniel spent last Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Red Overstreet and family. Others visiting in the afternoon were Nancy Chewning, Lola Mae Overstreet, Mrs. R. E. Hawkins and girls.

We wish to express our heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Bill Jones and her family in the passing away of one of her sons last week.

Miss Myrtle Saunders and Mrs. Gladys Dillon, of Vinton, were visiting the H. E. Dillons one day last week.

Ben Dillon, of Hardy, was seeing the H. E. Dillons one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hawkins and children and Mrs. H. E. Dillon attended the Home Coming Day at the Baptist Church in Rocky Mount the third Sunday and visited Mr. and Mrs. George Sink and family awhile.

Nancy Chewning spent a recent week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Pete McLain in Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Red Overstreet and children were visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dillon Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hawkins and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harvey and family, in Roanoke, Sunday afternoon.

Nancy Thomas spent the week-end with the three Hawkins girls. Jean Harvey is visiting with the R. E. Hawkins family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Deboe, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McLain were visiting relatives at Chatham one Sunday recently.

The WMS met at the church last Wednesday night, with nine members present. Mrs. Roenna McMannaway was in charge of the meeting. Jean Hurt had a wonderful program from the Royal Service book, with different ones taking part. Pearl Overstreet won the Bible quiz.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Minter and Mrs. Hubert Peters enjoyed a wonderful trip recently down through North Carolina and Tennessee.

The quarterly conference was held at Diamond Hill Church Saturday with a good attendance. Dr. Carroll, district superintendent, brought a most inspiring message at the 11 o'clock hour. Everyone seemed to enjoy the day.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sink and children were visiting in the H. E. Dillon home Friday night. Bob Meador, the Lee Harris boys, John Lewis, Jimmy Meador and Mrs. Sink played and sang. This was John Lewis Dillon's birthday. Cake and soft drinks were served by the hostess and enjoyed by all.

SHADY GROVE
By MRS. G. H. POWERS

Everyone is quite busy these days. Farmers are busy with their crops of corn, hay, etc., while the housewife is occupied with the many, many things it takes each day to keep a home. The health of the community seems to be very good at present; no one on the sick list. Of course, some of us are always grunting, but not one is really sick.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Howell and Betty Hesson spent the third Sunday in Lynchburg with relatives. Jack Wheeler is building a house near Sol St. Clair's home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Powers and children were visiting her mother, Mrs. John Bothe, near Hardy, awhile Sunday.

Miss Mary Pollard is spending a few weeks visiting friends in Washington and Baltimore. She will be accompanied home by Mrs. Moore and daughter, Madeline, and will visit her sister, Mrs. G. H. Powers, while they are here.

The church recently bought and put up screen doors and windows in its new parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Powers and little daughter, Judy, visited his parents one night last week.

Mrs. H. E. Howell and Betty Hesson and Mrs. Chappell spent Friday in Roanoke.

Mrs. Kenneth Howell and little son, of Vinton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Light, near Chambersburg, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pruett and son, of the Wheeland community, were visiting in the Watson home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wilkerson, of Kelso, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilkerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood called on Mr. and Mrs. L. C. DeWitt Monday night.

lack she suffered several weeks ago.

R. L. Eubank, of Wheat's Valley, spent Saturday night with Lynwood DeWitt and attended Sunday school at Laurel Grove Church Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Wheat and son, of the Wheeland community, were visiting in the Watson home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wilkerson, of Kelso, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilkerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood called on Mr. and Mrs. L. C. DeWitt Monday night.

Former Boonsboro Man Killed Near Locke Mountain

John L. Feagans, 43, of Madison Heights, was killed and another man was injured Tuesday night in a noncollision accident at the foot of Locke's Mountain on Route 501, about three miles from Boonsboro.

Mahlon West, 45, of Lynchburg, sustained rib fractures and multiple lacerations, and a third occupant of the car, a 1941 Ford 2-door sedan, was Martin Ellis, 28, Route 5, Lynchburg, was apparently uninjured.

State police were trying to determine who was driving the car Tuesday night.

Mr. Feagans was born at Boonsboro November 29, 1907. He was a son of Mrs. Carrie S. Feagans, who survives him, and the late Marshall L. Feagans. He had been employed at Meade Corporation since 1928, and was a member of Boonsboro Methodist Church.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his wife, two daughters, one son, two brothers and four sisters.

BEDFORD, ROUTE 4

By MRS. OLLIE B. ANGEL

We are glad to say the health of this neighborhood is fairly good at this time. Mrs. J. W. Kirby has been quite sick at the home of her son, E. L. Kirby, but is much improved now. Mrs. Dock Spradlin has also been on the sick list, but is improving we are glad to say.

Wheat harvest is on and wheat is fairly good. A lot of farmers have combined and are well pleased with the results.

Our sympathy goes out to the families of the three men who lost their lives in the plane crash last Thursday night.

Gertie May Spradlin is spending awhile with Miss Patricia Campbell in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allen, Lynchburg, were dinner guests at A. M. Angle's Sunday. Mrs. Ollie Angel, who is home now after being out nursing for quite awhile, was also present.

Sunday school is progressing nicely at Ephesus Church. There are 127 on roll, and all seem to be taking an interest. We hope that much and lasting good may be accomplished.

Mrs. Jane Angel is spending this week with her sister in Lynchburg.

Ladies of the neighborhood all report that their gardens are doing nicely. Vegetables are very plentiful and some apples are ripe. There are not many peaches, but we are glad to have those which did survive the late frosts.

The Rev. R. L. Treasler preached an interesting sermon at Ephesus last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goad and Mrs. Eula Creasy were bedtime visitors of Mrs. Ollie Angel Sunday night.

Cy Painter Named Baseball Coach at Alexandria High

A recent issue of the Alexandria Gazette carried a story stating that Cy Painter, former coach at Bedford High School, has been named baseball coach for George Washington High School of that city. He succeeded Ray Sanger, mentor of the Presidents for the past four years.

In commenting on the change, Athletic Director A. E. Doran said: "I think we have a very adequate replacement in Coach Painter, who formerly was a varsity coach and of a state championship team at Bedford High in Bedford, Va., before coming here. Painter did a marvelous job with the junior varsity this year and is looking forward to working with the varsity group next season."

HOMEMAKERS' ITEMS

Treat your rayon curtains as gently as possible if you want them to wear well. It is generally best to wash them by hand in lukewarm water using a mild soap or synthetic detergent. Rinse very carefully until you are sure the soap has all been removed, and squeeze out the water gently. Roll the material in a turkish towel, and press while damp with a medium warm iron. Iron lengthwise for best results in keeping the curtains in shape.

trade in BEDFORD

And help to build a stronger community for us all. As the town grows, the county profits in increased employment opportunities for county youth and better markets for county produce.

Only by working together and supporting each other in every way can we reach the maximum strength of our county.

A county with a strong, thriving town as its county seat will have good roads, good schools, good markets. The strength of a county depends upon the strength of its trade within the county—its trade depends upon you.

H. D. Club News

By MRS. LELA ATKINSON

The Calvary Home Demonstration Club has changed its regular meeting date of July 6 to Thursday July 13, and will hold an all-day meeting in the county demonstration room for the purpose of making aluminum trays. Members will convene with materials at 10:00 a. m. and will serve covered dish luncheon at noon. Tray making is the demonstration for the month, and all day session is required for a finished product.

A. S. Beecher, assistant horticulturist, V. P. I., will spend Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7, in Bedford assisting the home agents in landscape work in the county.

Clay H. D. Club

Mrs. L. C. Wright was hostess to the Clay H. D. Club on May 24 with 11 members present. The chairman, Mrs. Elmo Lindsay, presided, and led the devotionals. Members answered the roll call with preferred likes for the month of May. The club leaders gave interesting demonstrations on annuals—flowers for home use. A discussion was held on how to raise money for the club. The social hour was much enjoyed in the newly decorated home of the hostess, also refreshments in keeping with the season. The next meeting will be with Mrs. S. G. Parker on June 28.

Homemaker's Items

When you're machine sewing on sheer fabrics, such as voile, chiffon, organdie, and tissue gingham, use a fine machine needle. Home Economists at V. P. I. suggest a size 11.

Delicate flavored honey is on the list of plentiful. That means it's a good buy. Here are some ways you can use it. Spread it on toast, waffles, muffins, pancakes and other hot breads. You may like it in salad dressings, custards, and puddings. Try honey in making candied vegetables and for glazing ham. Honey also adds flavor to jellies, jams, fruits and cereals.

Starch may be the villain behind the scratches on your iron. When starch sticks and scorches on a hot iron, many women are tempted to scratch it off with a knife, and that mars the plate of the iron. Here are a few simple ways for removing the starch without damaging your iron. If the iron is hot, shake salt on a piece of paper, and rub the iron back and forth over the salt until the starch rubs off. You can remove the starch from a cool iron by scouring it with fine steel wool or a moist cloth dipped in fine scouring powder. Some times just rubbing with a moist cloth will do the job.

Good Housekeeping H. D. Club
Mrs. Tom McLaughlin and Mrs. Henry McGhee were hostesses to the Good Housekeeping Home Demonstration Club on June 9 with 19 present. Mrs. McGhee conducted the devotionals by reading the 23rd Psalm followed with prayer and a song. Members answered the roll call with flowers blooming in their gardens. A sum of $5.00 was donated to 4-H club summer work by club members.

Mrs. R. G. Johnson spoke on the Bedford County Memorial Hospital campaign and what the club might do to assist in this worthwhile cause.

Household Hint

A piece of parchment or aluminum foil in the bottom of your broiler pan or on the broiler rack serves several purposes. It means easier cleaning up afterwards. It field brought a very inspiring message—foods as fish filets without breaking on the "Be Sure You're Served Well Find You Out." Our reg-foods more quickly too, so they canular minister is in school in Tennessee to the table piping hot, as his son brought the mes-broiled foods should. Broiling is cooking by means of dry heat. It's important to follow the rules, to avoid drying foods out too much. Steaks, lamb chops, and ham should not be sliced too thin. For Patmos next Sunday night, July 2, broiling, ham should be at least 2 1/2 inches thick. Some foods, Miss Nancy White will preach to one-half inch thick. Some foods, the congregation. All who can, like fish, can be brushed with fat during the broiling process to keep them from drying out.

There will be no choir practice Wednesday night at Patmos. The missionary meeting was held Saturday night in the church. The annual picnic for the Bedford sub-district will be held Friday night at the County Lake.

Social News
Mrs. W. R. Johnson visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nichols one day last week.

Those visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson and family on Sunday as dinner guests were Misses Colleen and Lois Ayres, Hilda Goode, Shirleen and Iris Jean Dellis, Frances Nuckolls and Wilson Johnson. Afternoon callers were Lynwood Johnson, Wayne Hudson, Ralph Johnson, and Randall Crouch.

Miss Hilda Goode visited Miss Colleen Ayres over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Osby Johnson and granddaughter called on Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson Sunday evening.

There was a hail storm in this community Sunday. I think a lot of damage was done. The wind blew down several trees at Staunton Church; the hail tore all of Alvin Ferguson's tobacco down, and lightning killed a calf belonging to Jess Mitchell. Lightning also struck a tree in front of Patmos Church.

I think almost everybody got a laugh out of my letter last week, due to an error of mine or the editor's. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dellis and family and Mr. and Mrs.

GOODVIEW

By RACHEL DICKERSON

There was a large crowd present for Sunday school and preaching Sunday, and a wonderful sermon was delivered by our pastor, the Rev. Doby Salmon. Our goal for Sunday school next Sunday is 101, so let's go over the top. We missed it by six last Sunday.

H. E. Thomason seems to be somewhat worse at this writing. We are sorry to hear that he does not improve.

We had a record crowd at prayer meeting last Thursday night. Come on out each Thursday night and enjoy the Bible study.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eversole had as their guests on Sunday, June 18, his mother and sister and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arrington; Mrs. Gibson, of Troutville, Mrs. Eversole's mother.

Mrs. James Jones and children spent Saturday night with her mother in Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Paris Saunders, of Rocky Mount, and Linda Livingston, of Winston-Salem, N. C., were visiting Mrs. Rosa Saunders last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Thomason and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Salmon and daughter, Marie, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lynch and Miss Martha Lynch called on Willie Lynch recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Eades and daughter, Sue, and Jerry Eades, of Kenneth Eades, were visiting Mrs. Stewart Thomason one night recently.

Boyd McLain was seeing Henry

Roanoke, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Saunders Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Cundiff spent the day Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Thomason.

Miss Joanne Anderson spent Saturday night with Miss Juanita Thomason. Charlie Eades was in Montvale Tuesday, where he expects to enroll in school the first of July.

Mrs. Charlie Dickerson and Shirley Jean spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Callahan, in Roanoke.

Miss Juanita Thomason, Lander Elliott, Miss Joanne Anderson and Henry Driggs motored to Princeton, W. Va., Saturday.

Mrs. Mollie Hemp, of Covington, was a recent visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Laxton.

Mrs. Hester Creasey and Mrs. Hensley Prather were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Newman on Tuesday afternoon.

We are sorry to note that Hensley Creasey lost a cow Monday night.

Mrs. Rosa Saunders, Miss Helen Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Paris Saunders were visiting Mrs. Jimmie McLain and Misses Hallie and Una McLain one Sunday recently.

J. P. Dickerson was in Bedford Saturday.

Miss Hallie McLain and Mr. and Mrs. Russell McLain were shopping in Roanoke Friday. They were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hannabass in Roanoke that night.

Mrs. Rosa Saunders and daughter, Hester, and Mrs. Paris Saunders called on Mrs. G. L. Turner one night recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eversole had the following for dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones, Billy and Ann, Misses Rachel and Edna Dickerson and Susie. Mr. and Mrs. James Jones called after dinner.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Charlie Howell, who died recently. Also to the family of Tom Perdue.

Shirley Creasey cut her foot on Thursday night and was seeing a doctor Friday.

Mrs. Hester Creasey, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Creasey and daughter, Shirley; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Prather and Kaye were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Warren Holdren Saturday night.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. Cora Goff, who died Saturday. Funeral and burial were at Goodview Baptist Church Monday at 2:00 p. m.

The ones who have been wondering if summer is ever coming, can cease their wondering with the thermometer monkeying around nineties.

I don't know whether it's my poor writing or the type setter's poor reading, there is no Dan Dooley—it is Don, and no Ray Bramblett, it is Roy.

Next Sunday the Dooley clan will have their regular reunion and picnic at the home of Bud and Mrs. Overstreet. That's the place to go, if you are looking for a good feed and a royal welcome.

The people around and about have about finished cleaning up after that twister wrecked trees, gardens, flowers, and everything wreckable.

The foxes have taken a liking to Mrs. Hamilton's chickens after wrecking Mrs. Overstreet's hen house. Mr. Overstreet took a pot shot at a red one last Sunday as it was hunting its Sunday dinner.

The reports of people getting burned to death will cease for the present and drownings will take over.

Since the Government and Communists have taken over and chaps not allowed to work until they are 18 years of age, and a flock of high school graduates hunting white collar jobs, what is going to become of the farms?

Mrs. Bertha Atkinson Gray, daughter of John and Julia Atkinson of Vinton, is taking treatment at Duke's Hospital in Durham, N. C. We hope she will soon be well again.

Wiley Wills, a former resident

Ever French toast those sandwiches you serve with soup or salad? It makes them especially hearty. Use the same egg and milk mixture you use for making French toast. One egg beaten with two tablespoonsful of milk is enough for four ordinary-sized sandwiches. Don't soak the sandwiches. Just dip them, and then brown them slowly on both sides in a little hot fat. Cheese, peanut butter, and many meat sandwiches are good French-toasted.

International custom has permitted Marines to land on foreign soil to protect American lives and property without becoming belligerents.

MONETA BODY CAMP

By MRS. A. M. WITT

The thunder clouds are still passing and keeping the land wet enough to make crops grow very fast. The land is too wet to cultivate at this writing. Almost all of the wheat crop has been harvested, some combined, some cut with binders, and a few still out the old fashioned way with the cradle. The wheat seems to be right good in this community.

P. D. Turner has purchased a new combine which does pretty work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stevens and Miss Janice Stevens visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Witt last Thursday evening.

Mrs. May Pollard came back home Thursday after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. H. Wildman, in Bedford. We are glad she is improving again.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Witt and family visited Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stevens and family Thursday of last week.

Rodney Bowden has gone to work in Salem and likes his position very much. He was home to spend the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. English and little Jimmy were week-end guests of her homefolks, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stevens.

Mrs. Allen Witt visited Mrs. Walter Gibbs recently.

Mrs. Warren Crouch visited Mrs. W. L. Creasey last week-end and she went with Owen to visit his father, W. L. Creasey, Sunday.

The Moneta 4-H Club is preparing to give its play in Blacksburg this coming Thursday night. The play has great educational value on conservation, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woodbridge, of Lynchburg, visited W. L. Creasey Sunday. Mr. Creasey received a large number of birthday greetings and wishes to thank the many friends and neighbors who remembered him.

Raymond Ellis and some other members of his family visited Mrs. Ellis last Saturday.

G. M. Bowden is at home for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Bowden visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Witt Sunday evening.

T. W. Ellis visited Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ellis last week-end.

Mrs. May Pollard visited Mrs. Allen Witt Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard McBride visited homefolks recently, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Onnie McBride.

There was a large crowd of people at Moneta Sunday afternoon to attend the ball game and to hear the Tennessee Buddies make music and entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stanley and family visited the G. M. Bowden family one evening recently.
